PEERLESS WIRE FENCE

is all that the name implies. It is made of open hearth steel wire, heavily galvanized and will stand the test of time. Our prices will stand the test of comparison.

We Sell Wire Fence For Less

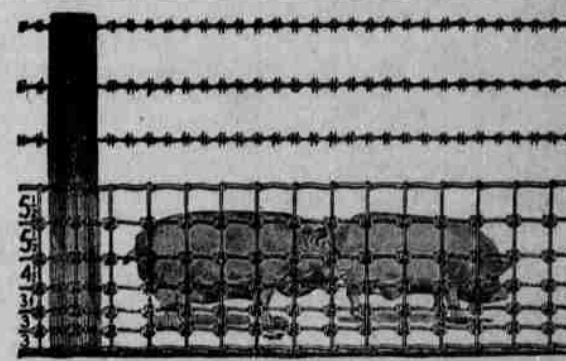

THIS IS HOW WE DO IT

We buy our fence in car load lots direct from the factory; hence a saving in freight and actual cost. We own our own store building and pay no rent; hence a saving in our overhead expenses. Those stores who pay rent must add this extra expense to the price of their merchandise.

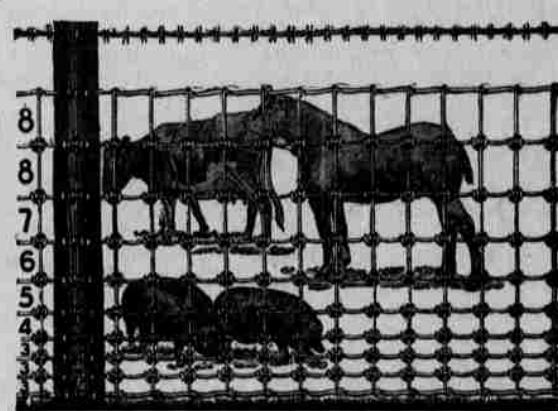

WE PAY NO RENT. THAT IS WHY WE SELL FOR LESS.

26-inch Hog Fence. A fence specially constructed to stand excessive strain. This fence is usually used with three strands of barb wire, which not only makes a durable hog fence, but a stock and field fence for all purposes.

The stiff stays of the Peerless fence make it superior for turning hogs, because they cannot root under it or lift it up. When properly stretched will do effective service for a lifetime.

Price Per Rod, 25c

49-inch Field Fence. The stiff stays of this fence make it a practical fence for any purpose.

It is especially recommended for a line fence.

The long knot which holds the wires together will not kink or slip.

The galvanizing on this fence is extra heavy.

RILEA SUFFERED MUCH

Oregon City Youth Lost in Mountains Nearly Famished When Rescued

Don Lucas of Grants Pass tells a story to the Rogue River Courier of the hardships that were suffered by Thomas Rilea, Oregon City young man, who was lost in the southern Oregon mountains during the Christmas holidays, that indicates the sturdy character of the youth and represents an outing that few would care to take. Mr. Lucas had just returned from a trip over the same trail, but under much more favorable conditions, as Rilea had to travel to reach the home of his parents at Agness.

Rilea had arrived at the home of his parents before Lucas left the mountains, the Courier says. He was in bad condition from exposure and from his long fast, but was gaining strength and will soon be all right again. When Rilea left West Fork on Friday morning of Christmas week he expected to make his way over the trail in a few hours. He left without breakfast and carried no lunch with him. On arriving at the top of the divide, nine miles from West Fork, the storm was blowing so badly that he could not proceed against it. In attempting to take the back trail, he found that his tracks had been entirely obliterated by the falling snow, and he was not able to return to West Fork. He therefore went down into a canyon away from the most severe of the storm, and built a fire. Here he stayed for two days, keeping his fire going. On Sunday he returned to the trail, thinking he could make his way out, but was still unable to proceed. When he got back to the canyon where he had had his fire, the flames had all died out and he had no more matches. So during Sunday night, and until Tuesday he lay in the canyon with his strength fast falling because of the cold and from the pangs of hunger. Tuesday morning he thought it best to return to the trail where rescue might be more probable, or where his body could be found if he was not rescued. During the last hour of his travel he was able to proceed but 15 feet. He was near enough to the trail, however, that he could make himself heard when Charles Pittinger came down the trail shouting, and was soon surrounded by the members of the rescue party. He was given such nourishment as he could take in his weakened condition, and was then assisted to Marial, arriving there at 11 o'clock Tuesday night. Wednesday he was taken on down the river to Pittinger's, and the next day arrived at his parents' home at Agness.

Son Cause of Father's Arrest
Because of his son's allegation that F. M. Keele had threatened the lives of the members of his family, Mr. Keele was taken into custody on Thursday on a charge of threatening to commit a felony. Keele, who is a woodcutter living in the vicinity of Barton, was given a hearing on Thursday before Justice of the Peace Sievers and was bound over to the grand jury. On Saturday Mrs. Grace Keele filed suit for divorce from her husband, charging him with cruelty. The couple was married at Moscow, Idaho, on April 10, 1895, and have seven children ranging in age from six weeks to 20 years. She asks for $20 a month alimony.

Estacada Stockmen Meet
The Estacada Cattle Growers' association, made up largely of residents of the Garfield section, held a meeting recently at the home of the president, A. W. Botkin, when the main subject of discussion was the proposed increase by the government of the rates for pasturing stock on public lands. The rate now is 35 cents a season for each animal, and the government plans an increase to 46 cents during 1917, 56 cents during 1918 and 66 cents during 1919, claiming that the latter price will be about two-thirds the rate charged by private owners for similar facilities.
