PROTECTION NOT ECONOMIC IMPERIALISM

Yves Guyot, editor of the "Journal des Economistes" of Paris, commenting on Great Britain's return to the policy of protection, says: "British statesmen, under the pressure of the 'tariff reformers' are now taking up the old protectionist formula—the British Empire must be self-sufficing. Since we are in a war largely provoked by the economic imperialism of Germany, it is ironical to see free traders like Lord Balfour of Burleigh becoming converted to economic imperialism."

Surely Great Britain has experienced, through loss of blood and treasure, what it means not to be self-sufficing. She has learned today that military and commercial preparedness must go hand-in-hand. Economic imperialism on the part of Germany has indeed been the cause for the war, but it is difficult to imagine just what part the policy of protection had therein. The underlying cause was Germany's lust for territory, particularly in Mesopotamia. Several great students of European affairs agree that the Bagdad railroad had more to do in bringing on the European war than any single factor, and yet one rarely hears that railway mentioned in discussion today.

For many years the loosely knit German Confederation was the victim of British competition in manufactures. The Germans never essayed the development of an industry that Great Britain did not proceed to break it down by dumping English products in Germany at ruinous prices. Bismarck saw the evils wrought by free trade and in 1879 he put Germany definitely on a protective basis. The result was astonishing. In a very few years Germany was underselling England in English markets in many goods. Then the Chamberlain school of "tariff reformers" came to the bat and began to argue for protection. Balfour of Burleigh is a late convert. The Balfour who visited here was converted by Chamberlain while that statesman was alive. The protective policy to which England is returning now is the same policy which Chamberlain fought for.

After Bismarck's deposition by the present Wilhelm he remarked: "This young man will lose more territory than I ever won for Germany." The Iron Chancellor foresaw the day when, if she tended to her own knitting, Germany might say, as she did three years ago: "Germany works for all the world, but nobody works for Germany but Germans." But he feared the land-lust of the present European maniac, and events have proved he had reason for his fear. The economic imperialism of Germany lies not in protection to home industries, but in the desire for conquest of foreign territory.

POLITICS OUR GREATEST CRIMINAL

That is the saying of Edgar W. Howe, of Potato Hill Farm, Atchison, Kansas, a successful man of mature age who thinks clearly.

The progress and development of Oregon has been blocked too much by men who put politics first and still threaten this state.

They are now trying to defeat the good roads measures enacted and submitted to the people June 4, at the special election.

Most of these opponents of good roads, railroads, utilities and business in general bigger than a peanut stand are politicians.

Colonel E. Hofer says, they have no constructive mental equipment.

They would not build a mile of highway, or put a dollar into anything like an industry, but prefer to make the big noises.

They pretend to want to protect the people but are really active in public affairs to loot the taxpayer and get more political power.

If Oregon wants to drive investments and wideawake people away from this state let the people vote down the good roads propositions June 4.

This would hold the development of the state down to a minimum, to hold down the values of property and the profits of business to the low level of inactive mossbackism.

EDITOR IMPROVES ON MAIL SERVICE

A striking illustration of the absurd business methods of the postoffice department in the handling of mail is furnished by Congressman Edmund Platt of New York. Mr. Platt lives in the city of Poughkeepsie on the Hudson. Directly across the river is the town of Highland. A ferry and a railroad bridge connect the two communities, but instead of utilizing those means of transportation in carrying mail from one place to the other it is sent 75 miles up one side of the river to Albany, and brought down 75 miles on the other side to its destination. Mr. Platt is the publisher of a newspaper, and he has found that it does not pay either in time or money to send his papers 150 miles to get them two miles, so he patronizes the ferry.

In deploring the vast sums of money that warring nations have to spend and proposing that international disputes should be settled in the court room, one should consider the lawyers' fees.

Applicants for enlistment whose teeth are bad are being refused by the government, but that was not the reason which prompted the turning down of Teddy.

Fifty Years Ago

Taken from Oregon City Enterprise, May 18, 1887.

The Overland mail for Oregon, Washington and Idaho will hereafter be forwarded direct in coaches between Salt Lake and the The Dalles, thus saving a week.

The six Indian reservations of Oregon contain a reputed Indian population of 8,571. This gives each agent an average of something over 1500 Indians to manage. The three agencies at Grande Ronde, Alsea and Siletz have an aggregate population of 2,740.

Sunday School Excursion—On last Thursday week, through the favor of the president of the P. T. company, the Sunday school children of this city were given a free steamboat excursion to Rock Island, where they enjoyed a picnic.

Married—On the 8th inst., at the residence of the bride's father, in Linn City, Clackamas county, by J. M. Moore, Justice of the peace, Mr. E. A. Reed and Miss Mary Ann Gregg.

Oregon Paper—The paper mill at Oregon City is about to take a step forward. The machinery has been improved so much that 75 or 80 reams of wrapping paper per day are only an easy day's work, and its rapid production has accumulated a pretty good stock beyond immediate requirements. Some time during the present week the machinery will be started on Manila paper.—Oregonian.

Public Meeting—A. R. Richardson, of Portland, auctioneer of that city, will address the citizens of this place today at the store of William Barlow on Main street. No admission.

CITIZENS ORGANIZE TO DIRECT CONSERVATION OF FOOD PRODUCTION

State Field Worker N. C. Maris, of Oregon Agricultural college, talked to a good-sized audience of citizens at Gladstone on Thursday morning on the necessity of co-operation in food production during the war. He convinced his hearers that every vacant lot in the city should be cultivated. At the termination of Mr. Maris' talk an organization was perfected with O. E. Freytag as president, the purpose of which is to carry out these ideas.

William Hammond was elected vice-president; W. T. McNulty, secretary; W. E. Hempstead, M. D., chairman of the publicity bureau; A. O. Hollingsworth, of the canvassing and information committee; Brenton Vedder, on the seed committee; H. E. Cross, on the ploughing committee; Mrs. W. E. Hempstead, in charge of the canning and drying; Mrs. Gault, of the poultry work; Mrs. Goodwin, of the Belgian Hare committee, and O. E. Freytag, temporarily in charge of supplying labor.

Information relative to this work may be secured by calling up Mr. Hollingsworth, A-66, who desires, especially, to know of any vacant lots which may be secured.

APPEAL IS MADE TO YOUNG BOYS TO AID IN PRODUCING FOOD

The first step in the appeal to the boys of Clackamas county to get behind the government's movement to have them undertake agricultural work this summer has been taken by the local representatives, Professor E. B. Flitts and T. D. Case.

At the Oregon City high school Wednesday morning, addresses were made to the students and the men were met with a hearty reception from the boys. Enlistment blanks were distributed and these will be signed by all those intending to take up the work as suggested.

Professor Flitts pointed out that arrangements had also been made to include those who had made their plans for the summer. This includes those who will not devote their entire time to agricultural work but who will promise to do what they can toward the production of foodstuffs during the summer months.

Mr. Case will visit the Willamette school today and will speak at Canby tomorrow in the same movement.

Reasons for Road Bonds.
OREGON CITY, May 18.—(Editor of the Enterprise)—There will be no greater taxes than at present. The automobiles now wearing out the roads, will pay for 20 miles of road in Clackamas county, the repairs on which now cost the county $15,000 per annum, which money will be used by the county court to build other market roads.

Help the county court build the roads of the county by voting to give the state 20 miles of road to build and maintain without one cent of cost to the county or the taxpayer.

MAN CLAIMS HE SHOT BOOTH AND EXONERATES

HILLSBORO, Or., May 31.—According to a story told today by William Riggins to Sheriff Applegate, but which is not generally fully accepted, circumstantial evidence is again at fault and William Riggins and Mrs. William Riggins are guiltless of the murder of the latter's husband near Willamina October 8, 1915, and Riggins is guilty.

With details that apparently check up with the crime in all particulars, Riggins told today of seeing Branson and Mrs. Booth together, as was brought out at the trial, and how later, when he saw Booth coming across a field, he shot at him first with a rifle and then with a revolver.

By means of a rough map which he sketched he pictured the scene of the crime and described how the wounded man fell on the bank of the stream in the position in which the body was found.

The story was told to Sheriff Applegate in the presence of Deputy Me Julian and George Riggins, father of the prisoner, and when it was written out Riggins signed it and swore to it before County Clerk Kurail.

INCREASE OF OVER 12 PER CENT IS SHOWN IN COUNTY'S ACREAGE

An increase of about 12 and a half per cent in the amount of acreage under cultivation this year over the amount cultivated last year is shown by records that are being compiled at the office of the district agricultural agent here from reports of farmers in all parts of the county.

The crops showing the largest increases are oats, barley, corn, hay and beans. A fall-off of is shown in fall sown wheat, with an increase in spring sown wheat.

In speaking of the results of the survey which is being carried on under the direction of the National Council of defense, Prof. E. R. Fitts, in charge of the local office said: "A twelve and a half per cent increase in acreage is remarkable when the backward season and the unfavorable weather are considered. Clackamas county farmers in accomplishing this result show patriotism of a high order. It is a splendid response to the president's appeal for increased production."

No marked changes have taken place in the number of livestock on the farms, but a slight decrease is noted in dairy cattle and feeding hogs, while brood sows, sheep and brood mares show a small increase.

Many farmers are short of seeds and they are being put in touch with a source of supply, in many instances within the county. Seeds needed and seeds for sale, labor needs and machinery requirements are all being listed and the district agents office will be a clearing house for the distribution of labor and exchange of seeds and supplies.

A great number of the needs of the farmers can be met within the county if some means is at hand for keeping the different parts of the county in touch with each other.

Lack of machinery is handicapping some farmers and an effort is being made to work out a plan to meet this need. The labor situation seems to be well in hand at this time, but the need is indicated of a large number of extra hands at harvest.

REPAIR MAN INJURED WHILE WORKING ON CANBY PHONE SYSTEM

Fred Gol, a repairman for the Pacific Telephone company, while employed in making repairs to the line of the company near Canby on Wednesday, met with a painful accident, when the spurs that are used for holding to the telephone pole penetrated his foot. Mr. Gol was at once taken to the office of Dr. H. A. Dedman, of Canby, where he was given medical attention, and later brought to this city by A. E. Joyner, who had taken the men to Canby, and W. J. Smith, another employee of the telephone company.

Mr. Gol had accompanied the local manager, P. J. Houlton, Ray Woodward and Mr. Jelley, of Portland, and W. J. Smith, to Canby to make repairs to the company's line, and had been at Canby but a short time when the accident happened.

Mr. Gol, who is one of the most experienced men of the company, has been connected with the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company for the past nine years. He was taken to his home at Fifteenth and Washington streets, where he will be confined for about a week.

Portland Couples Married
Marriage licenses were issued to two Portland couples Wednesday at the office of County Clerk Iva M. Harrington, when Esther Marie Petterson and Gordon Carl Kinney, 130 East 51st street, and Helen Underwood and Archie Lockman, 1114 East 6th street, were given permission to marry.

Miss Petterson and Mr. Kinney were married by the Rev. W. T. Milliken and Miss Underwood and Mr. Lockman were married by the Rev. J. W. MacCallum.

MORE MONEY NEEDED SO TAX ON INCOMES WILL BE INCREASED

WASHINGTON, May 17.—Confronted by a demand from Secretary McAdoo for more money than the war revenue bill was drafted to raise, the house began today a revision of the income tax schedules. On a viva voce vote the house adopted, in committee of the whole, the first of a series of amendments offered by Representative Lenroot of Wisconsin, raising surtaxes on incomes above $40,000 25 per cent. This first amendment increased the surtax on incomes between $40,000 and $50,000 from 11 per cent as proposed in the bill, to 13 1/2 per cent.

Lenroot's amendments will add 25 per cent to all the higher surtaxes. Majority Leader Kitchin said it would be necessary to accept the amendment in view of Secretary McAdoo's statement that the bill must produce $2,252,500,000, instead of $1,800,000,000 as originally estimated.

In his announcement to the house, Leader Kitchin said he had just been informed of the need by the treasury department of several hundred millions more in revenue.

Representative Hill Republican member of the ways and means committee, suggested that "we withdraw this bill from consideration and take it back in committee for re-drafting."

Kitchin did not agree to this suggestion, but announced that under the circumstances he would offer no opposition to the series of Lenroot amendments which will provide a 25 per cent increase in all surtaxes on incomes above the $50,000 to $80,000 class.

The first of these amendments was immediately offered by Lenroot, who moved to raise the surtax on incomes between $40,000 to $50,000 from 11 to 13 1/2 per cent.

Kitchin estimated that the Lenroot amendment would produce at least $60,000,000 additional.

If the house adds 25 per cent to the surtaxes of the pending bill the income surtax will be as follows:

From $40,000 to $50,000, 13 1/2 per cent.
From $50,000 to $100,000, 17 1/2 per cent.
From $100,000 to $150,000, 21 1/2 per cent.
From $150,000 to $200,000, 25 per cent.
From $200,000 to $250,000, 30 per cent.
From $250,000 to $300,000, 33 1/2 per cent.
From $300,000 to $500,000, 37 1/2 per cent.

In excess of $500,000, 41 1/2 per cent. The lower surtaxes and normal taxes were not changed and but one unsuccessful attempt was made, to amend the lower rates of the income tax section.

STATE LIME BOARD NAMED BY GOVERNOR WILL HELP FARMERS

SALEM, Or., May 21.—Three members of the State Lime board, created by chapter 397, laws of 1917, have been appointed by the governor, as follows: Benton Howers, Ashland, recommended by the Taxpayers league; H. G. Leedy, Corvallis, recommended by the state grange; John Shimanek, Crabtree, recommended by the Farmers union.

The warden of the state penitentiary is an ex-officio member of the board and these four will select the fifth member.

Under the provisions of the law, the board is to acquire in the name of the state, lime deposits, and manufacture it into products best suited to agricultural use. The product will be furnished the farmers at cost.

CHILD IS RESCUED BY MOTHER FROM AN OLD WELL NEAR MOLALLA

MOLALLA, Or., May 19.—The 4-year-old son of Victor Larson Tuesday fell in an unused well, which had been dug by the construction crew which put in the Molalla-Canby branch several years ago. The little one was rescued by his mother as he was going down for the third time.

BARTON MAN IS RELEASED ON $1200 CASH BOND

Preliminary hearing for William Barton, who was arrested Wednesday on complaint of H. F. Gibson, charged with threat to kill, has been set for Wednesday May 23, before Justice John N. Sievers. Mr. Barton appeared before Justice Sievers Thursday afternoon and deposited $1200 cash bond, guaranteeing his appearance next week. He has retained attorney C. H. Dye for his defense. Barton is alleged to have driven Gibson from Niemann's home with a shotgun when the two became involved in a controversy.

MACHINERY READY FOR DRAFTING IN OREGON

The law compels every one to register who has attained his 21st birthday and who has not reached his 21st birthday. The law, the halt and the blind must present themselves for registration. It makes no difference whether aliens are Chinese, Japanese or any other race, they must register. The aliens, of course, will not be drafted into the army, but the government desires a record of them and one purpose of the war census is to obtain accurate data as to the number and employment of aliens of military age now in the United States.

An immense amount of detail work will be necessary to classify the men who have not registered. Their occupation, physical fitness, qualifications and adaptability for specific lines of activity must be noted and arranged before the selective draft is made for military purposes.

According to the government estimates, 10 per cent of the population of Oregon will be registered and from this amount the selective draft will be taken.

The circular to the county sheriffs of the state, advising them of the details of the conscription law makes the following reference to the registration of absentees:

"If you find you will be unavoidably absent from your home precinct on war census day, you should apply at the earliest possible date to the county clerk of the county in which you may be at the time, whether in Oregon or elsewhere, who will fill out your registration card. He will then give you the card, which you must mail to the registrar of your home precinct, in care of the sheriff of your home county, in time to reach the registrar by war census day. If you live in Portland, or a city of over 30,000 population in another state, mail the card to the registrar in care of the mayor. But remember, the burden of having your card reach the registrar of your home precinct by war census day is on you."

Registration of the sick: Men of military age who are too ill to go to the voting booth to register must send a competent person before war census day to the county clerk to explain the circumstance, and secure instructions from the federal regulations which these officials will receive from the government.

Penalties: The penalty for failing to appear to register, or for giving false, misleading or incorrect answers, is imprisonment. There is no alternative of a fine."

FLOUR DROPS AGAIN

Another decline in flour prices was announced Wednesday in Portland, as a result of the lower wheat market. The reduction was 40 cents a barrel and it puts the wholesale price of the best family patent flour at $12.50 a barrel. There has now been a total drop of $1.20 in flour from the high price that prevailed early this month.

ODDFELLOWS IN GRAND LODGE SESSION ELECT OFFICIALS FOR YEAR

EUGENE, Or., May 22.—The Patriarch Militant of the I. O. O. F., at a session last night elected W. M. Green, Eugene, vice-president of the council, and W. E. Wadsworth, of Harburg, treasurer. H. M. Beckwith, of Portland, president of the council, and S. E. Watkins, secretary, of Sherwood, were elected last year for terms of three years.

The principal contest to come before the grand lodge Wednesday will be the election of grand warden. There are six candidates.

Seaside and Corvallis are after the grand lodge meeting for 1918.

R. F. Kirkpatrick, of Pendleton, was unanimously elected grand junior warden of the grand encampment of the Independent Order of Oddfellows. He will, after three years, advance to the position of grand patriarch.

Earl S. Williams, of Milton, retiring grand patriarch, was elected as grand representative to the sovereign lodge for two years. Robert Andrews, of Portland, is the other grand representative from Oregon.

Other officers of the encampment are:

Sol S. Walker, Oregon City, grand patriarch; A. H. Knight, Canby, grand high priest; P. A. Hanta, of Baker, grand senior warden; E. E. Sharon, Portland, grand senior scribe; W. W. Francis, Albany, grand treasurer.

Mr. Sharon was elected grand scribe for his 24th consecutive term.

LIVE WIRES' FIELD OF BEANS ARE SOON TO BECOME A REALITY

The bean field of the Live Wires of the Oregon City Commercial club, consisting of 15 acres on the Thomas F. Ryan tract in the Mount Pleasant district is being plowed and will be planted within a few days. Judge Grant B. Dimick has offered the use of a machine seeder from one of his farms and the Wires have volunteered, almost to a man, to do the cultivating, either in person or by proxy. Judge Ryan will receive one-fourth of the crop as his rental for the tract, though he made an alternative proposition to take $150 in money, and Judge Dimick has indicated his desire to pay the money to the owner and take over an assignment of his share of the crop. The money with which to finance the work of plowing, seeding, cultivating and harvesting will be obtained from the local banks, the amount being estimated at $250.

H. T. McBain presided at Tuesday's luncheon of the Wires, and urged the members to get in closer touch with the people of the Eastern Clackamas district, so as to dispel the agitation for the creation of Cascade county.

G. F. Johnson, secretary of the promotion department of the Commercial club, advised the Wires that in their haste to do something for somebody they had endorsed both Ben S. Patton and Bert Jewell for the position of deputy game warden for Clackamas county, and it developed that the Wires had been under the impression that two positions were to be filled, and in order to get out from under the organization concluded to withdraw both endorsements and let the fish and game commission select its own deputy, without any recommendation from the Live Wires.

It was announced that Commissioner Adams, of the state highway commission would be the speaker at a good roads rally to be held in Oregon City June 1.

BARTON MAN, CHARGED WITH THREAT TO KILL, IS BOUND OVER TO JURY

William Niemann, of Barton, who was arrested last week on the complaint of H. F. Gibson, charged with a threat to kill, was bound over to the grand jury by the justice court Wednesday morning. Justice of the Peace John N. Sievers presided.

According to the testimony of the several witnesses to the affair, Niemann and Gibson became engaged in a discussion at the home of Mr. Niemann. When the argument grew warmer, Niemann is said to have driven Gibson from the house with a shotgun and threatened to kill him.

Niemann is at liberty under $1200 cash bail.

DR. MOUNT GOES TO FORT WARDEN AS LIEUTENANT

Dr. Frank Mount, a prominent physician of this city, left Wednesday night for Fort Warden, Washington, an army post near Port Townsend, upon orders from the United States war department.

Dr. Mount will be attached to the regular artillery with the rank of first lieutenant.
