TO DISCUSS PLAN
Suffragists Arrange Important Meeting in Portland
 Mrs. William Kent, wife of Congressman Kent of California, and member of National Executive Committee, will be one of the speakers at the Oregon State Convention of the Congressional Union for Woman Suffrage. Mrs. Kent will give the history of the Susan B. Anthony Amendment at the first business meeting to be held on September 7th at 2:30 p. m. in the Hotel Portland parlors. As the Congressional Union has for its primary object the passing of this federal amendment, the history of it for a first number on the program of the convention is most appropriate. At the open meeting of the convention to be held at the Baker Theatre Wednesday evening, September 8th, Mrs. Kent will speak on the "Reason for Organization in the Suffrage States." This talk will bear on the primary object of the Congressional Union, for voting women consider that they are bound to have a more certain influence on the Congressmen and Senators when they are organized for a definite purpose.
 Another feature of the convention will be the discussion by Miss Virginia Arnold, of Washington, D. C., who is the state organizer for Oregon, of the Shafroth-Pomeroy bill, and of the proposed Susan B. Anthony Amendment, both before Congress, and their relative values to the equal suffrage cause. Interested persons who are in doubt about the provisions of these two bills are particularly requested to attend this meeting on Tuesday afternoon, September 7th and to become familiar with these two issues. Many more interesting features will occur.

HARD HEADED MISS
Estacada Party Broken up by Queer Accident to Members
 On Thursday evening, August 19th, a number of the young people of Garfield and Estacada gave a surprise party on Phil Standish in honor of his 33rd birthday.
 During the early evening, while playing "pon-pon-pull-away" Mrs. Helen Dunlop collided with Miss Rachel Reed, their heads coming together with sufficient force to stun both of the girls. On examination it was found that Mrs. Dunlop's cheek bone had been badly broken and her upper jaw crushed.
 Mrs. Dunlop was taken to Portland early the next morning, after receiving temporary medical treatment in Estacada. At the Good Samaritan Hospital Friday afternoon, she was operated upon by a specialist, who set the fractured bones, accomplishing a very delicate operation.
 At last reports, Mrs. Dunlop was getting along nicely, but is forced to remain at the hospital for treatment for a week. The doctors report that there will probably be no disfigurement, as the operation was done thru the roof of the patient's mouth, with no incision on the outside.
 Miss Reed, aside from being stunned, was none the worse for her part in the collision.—(Estacada Progress.)

A Plateau in Papua.
 The most singular plateau in the world is in the island of Papua. The plateau is 6,000 feet above the sea, and there are summits towering 5,000 feet higher, but owing to the proximity of the equator the great plain is covered with luxuriant vegetation. The climate is a perpetual May, birds sing in every bush, and the only animals are a few marsupials, such as ground kangaroos and opossums. Yet this lovely region is almost deserted. The Papuans live in the sweltering coast jungles and rarely visit the uplands.

Crater Lake's Gamy Trout.
 Whether it be from the temperature or the quality of the water is not known, but it is the testimony of experienced anglers that, pound for pound, Crater lake trout are harder fighters than trout found elsewhere.
 "Around the edges of the lake," said the general superintendent of the park, "there is no foliage to entangle your hook and line, and it is the ideal place for the amateur fisherman. When I was there the lake was so clear that you could see to a depth of forty feet. The first fish I caught I saw take the fly. I saw every motion of his body until I finally landed him on the bank, which I only did with the aid of one of the concessioners in the park. I do not know of any other place in the world where an amateur fisherman can swing his fly in any direction without danger of catching it on some twig and when he hooks his fish watch every motion as he fights for freedom. I agree with Emerson Hough in every word that he has said about fishing in Crater lake."

District of Columbia.
 The municipal government of the District of Columbia, including the entire city and adjoining territory, is vested by act of congress in three commissioners, two of whom are appointed by the president from citizens of the district having had three years' residence therein immediately preceding their appointment and confirmed by the senate. The other commissioner is detailed by the president of the United States from the corps of engineers of the United States army and must have held rank senior to captain or be a captain who has served at least fifteen years in the corps of engineers of the army. The commissioners appoint nearly all the subordinate official service of said government except the board of education, which is appointed by the supreme court of the District of Columbia. There is not an elective officer in the District, and the people living there have no vote in a presidential or other election.

Legends of the Red Rose.
 As to the origin of the rose there is a legend that a Jewish maid of Bethlehem (whom Southey names Zillah) was beloved by one Ham'ul, a brutish sot. Zillah rejected his suit, and Ham'ul vowed vengeance. He gave out that Zillah was a demoniac, and she was condemned to be burned, but God averted the flames, the stake budged, and the maid stood unharmed under a rose tree full of red and white roses, "then first seen on earth since paradise was lost."
 From other sources it would appear that the rose was first white, and the Turks say it was colored with the blood of Mohammed and will never suffer the flower to lie on the ground, while, contrary to this, the Greeks hold that it derived its color from the blood of Venus when she trod on a thorn of the white thorn when going to the assistance of the dying Adonis.

The Jocosse Gods.
 What humor could be wider than that of life itself? Franz Schubert on his deathbed read the complete works of J. Fenimore Cooper. John Millington Synge wrote "Riders to the Sea" on a secondhand forty dollar typewriter and wore a celluloid collar. Richard Wagner made a living during four lean years arranging Italian opera arias for the cornet. Thomas Henry Huxley's wife called him "Hal." Herbert Spencer sang bass in a barber shop quartet and was in love with George Eliot. William Shakespeare was a social pusher and bought him a bogus coat of arms. Bismarck was afraid of his mother. The greatest soldier in Hungarian history was named Ilungadi János.—Owen Hatteras in Smart Set.

Code of a Bellhop.
 A New York bellhop who bought a hotel had a code for the art of getting tips which is as follows:
 Play the honeymooners hard. Newly wed men like to make a splurge before their brides.
 Don't waste time on "big bugs." Shower attention on the women. If they tip at all they tip liberally.
 Don't "stall." Do your part and then leave it to the guest.
 Don't persecute tightwads. Shame them with faultless service.
 Don't make yourself obnoxious by greed for tips.
 Above all, save.—Exchange.

His Chosen Profession.
 "And what do you expect to be when you grow up, Bobby," asked a minister, "a lawyer, like your father?"
 "No," Bobby replied. "Mother says I'm too much like papa to make a successful lawyer. I did think I'd be a drum major, but I guess I'll be a lion tamer."—Chicago News.

Egypt's Desert.

Kick of an Ostrich.
 An angry ostrich is a great fighter. He strikes out with his feet, and his legs, being immensely strong, he can with no great amount of exertion, kill a man.

NOT ENOUGH CHILDREN
 ever receive the proper balance of food to sufficiently nourish both body and brain during the growing period when nature's demands are greater than in mature life. This is shown in so many pale faces, lean bodies, frequent colds, and lack of ambition.
 For all such children we say with unmistakable earnestness: They need Scott's Emulsion, and need it now. It possesses in concentrated form the very food elements to enrich their blood. It changes weakness to strength; it makes them sturdy and strong. No alcohol.

GEORGE STILL LUCKY
Anti-Saloon League Assists Brownell in Publicity Stunt
 Good times have sure dawned again for George C. Brownell, who "does not intend" to become a candidate for anything political at the next election. Of course if the people beseech George to be the standard-bearer—but that time hasn't yet come.
 George recently made some remarks about the so-called prohibition law, that will go into effect in Oregon with the coming year. Now blossoms into full bloom the Honorable Christian Schuebel and R. P. Hutton, master mind of the Oregon end of the Anti-Saloon league, and announce that with the assistance of Attorney General Brown and Dr. J. E. Anderson, author of the 24-quarts-of-beer-and-two-quarts-of-booze dry law, they will prove that George doesn't know what he is talking about at a "monster mass meeting" at the First Baptist church, Oregon City, on October 17.
 It is hoped that Mr. Brownell will be on hand, so that he can be "confounded and refuted." George, probably, will be on hand—it will give him a chance to talk some more, and to get some more publicity, and to say again that he "doesn't intend to be a candidate."

 Sub-rosa, it is said that George isn't tickled to death with the "monster mass meeting" idea. It is said he would rather have a single-handed debate with any of the defenders of the dry law. But, since the debate doesn't seem likely at this writing, George will probably put up with the "monster mass meeting"—for it will be better than nothing.
 Isn't it great how George and Teddy Roosevelt always have luck?

GRASS ON FIRE
Weird Blaze Calls out County Seat Fire Department
 Fire that suddenly broke out in the rear yard of a house occupied by Fred Greenman's mother, gave the county seat fire department a run last Friday afternoon. A chemical tank served to put out the flames, which were licking hungrily at the woodshed when the apparatus arrived on the scene.

 What set the grass on fire is not known. It was suggested by some who ran to the scene, and found the day exceedingly warm, that the sun's rays had started the miniature conflagration; but probably a spark blown from a nearby chimney set off the dry grass.
Finnish Respect For the Law.
 In Finland there is a deep and prevailing respect for law.
 "Can I have a shot at an elk?" asked a stranger of a peasant who lived on the fringe of a forest well stocked with this noble game.
 "No, sir. It's against the law."
 "What is the penalty?"
 "Two hundred Finnish marks."
 "All right. Will you come along with me if I agree to pay the fine?"
 "No, I won't. It's against the law, and I'm not going to break it."—Russian Characteristics.

HERE are so many contributing causes which lead to a defective spinal column, that to enumerate them would require an almost exhaustless review of life from cradle to grave.

The position assumed by the child at the school desk, or the man or woman while at work, suggests the tendency for abnormal spinal curvature; also a fall or bruise, no matter how slight, may easily throw the spinal column out of plumb, and these may cause the fatal pressure upon the nerves and throttle the life giving currents, leading to disease of the organs.

Chiropractic Adjusts Spinal Defects

It lifts the pressure from the nerves, permitting them to nourish the famished and worn out tissues and organs. Nature is then able to bring about normal conditions, which mean Health.
