DEATH TAKES D. HARRIS

Friday at his residence. He was 67 years of age. W. F. Harris, a son, survives him. The funeral was held Sunday afternoon, and interment followed in the Beaver Creek Presbyterian cemetery.

Mr. Harris was born in 1842, near Cardiff, South Wales, and came to America with his family in 1869, settling in Missouri. In 1871 he went to Colorado, and in 1886 he came to Oregon, purchasing a homestead at Beaver Creek, where he resided until his death. His wife died nine years ago.

YOUTH IS HURT

Son of Ed Olds Badly Injured when Lumber Falls from Wagon

E. W. Olds, the son of Ed Olds, of Oak Grove, was seriously injured last week while working on the Bull Run bridge, near Sandy; and as a result was taken to the Good Samaritan hospital in Portland, with a fractured leg and internal injuries. Young Olds was engaged in unloading lumber for the bridge work, and was behind a team coming down the Sandy hill.

The brakes on the wagon refused to work, and the horses became frightened at the weight of the load pushing upon them started to bolt. Their exertions upset the wagon, and the load of heavy bridge timbers fell, part of it striking young Olds. His right leg was broken, and his left leg badly bruised, while he also sustained internal injuries. He was rushed to the Portland hospital, where Dr. Rocky attended him.

At first it was believed that he would be crippled as a result of the accident, but later reports are that he will be all right, though it may be some time before he is able to be up and about again.

STREET SOON READY

Business Section of County Seat to be "All New" Next Week

Paving of Main street, Oregon City, will be completed by the middle of next week, according to Joseph Penso, of the Standard Paving company, the concern which is putting the new Worswick paving down in the heart of the county seat. When the job is completed the chief city of the lower Willamette valley will have a first-class pavement for the entire length of Main street for the first time in about 20 years; and farmers and others who come into town will not have to drive slowly for fear of dropping wheels on the rough street.

The Worswick surfacing, which has been applied to the southern half of the street, matches up well with the paving on the northern end; and the entire thoroughfare now presents an even surface well in keeping with the progressive spirit of the county seat. That is, it is in keeping with the new spirit of progress that is supposed to rule in the county seat; and as result of which the repaving of Main street was undertaken after two years of wrangling.

CHANCE FOR BOYS

Indiana Girl Wants Oregon Farmer for a Husband

John Cochran, deputy county clerk in Multnomah county, has the name of a brown-eyed maiden, 19 years old, of West Terre Haute, Ind., who wants an Oregon farmer for a husband. Any applicant in good faith may find out the lonely maiden's name by satisfying Mr. Cochran that he is no trifler. John Cochran used to be a good newspaperman on the Oregonian—when that distinguished paper had good men on its staff—so it will take some satisfying to prove to him that applicants are all right.

The nice little girl who wants a husband is particular. She doesn't want one who "swears and drinks." She wants a "nice man." She further states that her husband must be a man "who owns some little property and who cares to share it with a companion." Speaking of herself, the girl says "I don't know what it means to be bad."

Anybody who can't find a wife in Clackamas county, and who must have one, might write to John Cochran and see if he can qualify for an introduction.

OLD OPINION RECALLED

Prohibitionists Remember Ideas of W. E. Stone on "Dry" Matter

Recent discussion of the statewide prohibition law, and the announcement by William E. Stone that he would be a candidate for the republican nomination for district attorney, have caused some of the local prohibitionists to hark back to the days when Mr. Stone was city attorney, and to an opinion he offered the council at that time, and regular readers of this paper have been looking the matter up.

It appears that when the council was discussing saloons and the abolition of them, about the time that Oregon City voted dry, Mr. Stone informed the city fathers that anybody who had a government license could run a "blind pig," and wouldn't need a city license at all.

The Courier does not know whether Mr. Stone still holds this opinion, but if he does it would be interesting to see him try to make it work if he should happen to be elected district attorney.

BOY IS HURT

Firemen's Tournament Has Accident to its credit First Day

Harold Cook, the son of George R. Cook, got a little too close to some of the firemen competing in the apparatus races the first day of the Firemen's Tournament in the county seat Monday, and in the excitement failed to get out of the way of one of the speeding hosecarts that had just been smoked to a point of action by the smokers. The tongue of the hosecart struck him in the calf of the left leg, and then dropping of its weight, tore an ugly wound in the calf of the leg.

The injured lad was carried to Dr. Meisner's office, where the surgeon took over two dozen stitches in closing the wound; after which Bergen's ambulance removed the boy to his home. The lad showed great fortitude while the doctor was working over him, and though his pain must have been intense, did not even whimper.

Royal Reception Week holds sway at this store this week

THIS store will be a mighty interesting place to visit any day this week. In the old-fashioned days, perhaps we'd have called the occasion "Our Formal Opening Of Men's Fall Styles."

But that wouldn't do the coming week justice at all. No such time-dusty, age-rusty expression can describe this jolly new idea of ours. This is to be more than a mere "Formal Opening" week.

In fact, it's to be a very "Informal" Opening Week. A Cordiality Week—a "Come-and-Get-Acquainted Week"—a "Drop-in-and-Look-Us-Over Week"—in which everybody will have the carte blanc of the store, while not a mother's son will be importuned to buy or order anything.

ALL the sales that are made here this week will be made by customers who do their own selling: customers whose own sheer enthusiasm over what they see here simply won't let them refrain from ordering Royal Tailored Fall Suits. Of course, we'll oblige those customers by waiting on them as usual; with the infinite pains that always characterize our store service.

But everybody else will get just as many smiles and just as many courtesies.

Royal Tailoring means the utmost in custom Tailored clothes at $16, $17, $20, $25, $30 and $35

DANIEL TALBERT DIES

Pioneer Takes "Long Trail" After Life of Stirring Times

A veteran of the Indian wars in Idaho, in which he gave his country heroic service, and a pioneer of 1852, Daniel Talbert, a well known resident of the Clackamas section died at his home Monday at the age of 82. Mr. Talbert was a native of Kentucky, but since coming west allied himself thoroughly with the interests of the Pacific slope; and was a man of prominence in Clackamas county.

The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon, and interment followed in Clackamas cemetery. Mr. Talbert is survived by his widow, one son, Frank Talbert, of Clackamas; one daughter, Mrs. Bertha Gerber, of Montana, and a half brother, John Talbert, of Clackamas.

VETERAN ANSWERS CALL

D. A. James Buried with Military Honors by G. A. R. Post

David A. James, a member of Meade Post No. 2 G. A. R., and long a resident of Oregon City, died at his home on Washington street Monday afternoon. The local post conducted services at his funeral Wednesday afternoon, and interment was in Mountain View cemetery. Mr. James served for two years and nine months in the Civil War, and as a soldier made a record of which his family and friends have been proud.

He was born January 13, 1836, in Oswego county, New York, and was married November 26, 1859 to Ellen D. Kellogg, at Kato, Mandowoc county, Wis. The following children survive: Mrs. A. J. Hardin, of Michigan; Inis M. James, Oregon City; Mrs. Ella M. Colby, Blain, Wash.; David H. James, Tacoma; Donald W. James, Oregon City; Howard M. James, Silverton.

Estacada Girl Weds

Miss Pearl Bateson, of Estacada, and J. E. Lacrocy, of Viola, were quietly married in Vancouver, Washington, on the first of the month. Immediately after the ceremony the young couple left for San Francisco, where they will spend their honeymoon. Mrs. Lacrocy is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Bateson, who are well known in the Estacada district.

Orphans Have Outing

For some weeks the little tots at St. Agnes' Home have been looking forward to what became a realization last Sunday—a grand auto ride all the way to the City Park, Portland—a visit to the wild animals, and all other interesting things they could manage to lay their eyes on.

"How do I look, Sister?" was one of the many questions asked by a little boy when he was all ready to step into the auto for the delightful outing.

Fourteen autos drove up to the Home at 9 o'clock on Sunday morning, and it did not take very long to fill them with brightfaced youngsters—boys and girls to the number of sixty-three ranging from four to twelve years. The drive to Portland was a continued delight, and when the children reached the park, His Majesty, the king of beasts, was just in humor to give one of his prolonged roars as a token of welcome (at least the children thought so). "Oh!" said one tot, "the lions has great big long teeth and hollers so loud!"

When the happy party arrived in Oregon City another pleasant surprise awaited them. The Manager of the theatre invited them to attend a picture show, and the little ones enjoyed the different scenes exceedingly—of course making their own interesting comments on all they saw.

Along about 2 o'clock, all returned to the Home in the best of spirits and overjoyed with the delightful day, and having also enjoyed a splendid lunch which the ladies supplied for the party.

The Sisters wish to return their grateful thanks to the following gentlemen and their wives (the latter kindly taking care of the children) who so willingly took up the suggestion of Mr. Barlow and Dr. Hempstead, and made the day happy and long to be remembered by the little orphans:

Messrs. Barton Barlow, H. F. Martin, R. G. Price, Wm. Hammond, M. D. Latourette, James McNeil, E. E. Brodie, Dr. W. E. Hempstead, John Bannon, T. N. Burns, Leonard Williams, W. L. Mulvey, H. F. Tschirgi, H. C. Salisbury, F. T. Barlow.

BABIES GET RIDE

Wards of St. Agnes Home Given Outing in Automobiles

Babies and older children of St. Agnes' Home were treated to an automobile outing Sunday, when a dozen public spirited citizens of Gladstone and Oregon City donated their cars for the use of the youngsters. The tots were taken to the zoo in Washington Park, Portland; and later were brought to Oregon City and entertained at a local movie house.

While in Portland the little tots were fed on ice cream and other goodies, and were also given a substantial luncheon. The outing was the idea of Dr. W. E. Hempstead, our jovial county coroner; and after it was over the children united in voting him the nicest man they had ever met. Others who donated the use of their cars were also cheered by the tots.

"Our Army contained 91,416 men; Navy, 52,757 men. Great Britain, Army, 254,500 men; Navy, 137,500 men; France, Army, 720,000 men, Navy, 60,621 men.

"Great Britain's revenue was greater than ours by nearly $300,000,000, but our expenses for war and on account of war was more than $100,000,000 greater than hers. Yet the aggregate of her army and navy was nearly four times as great as ours.

"Germany's revenue exceeded ours by $60,000,000, but our expenditures for war and on account of wars exceeded hers by more than $50,000,000 more than hers, notwithstanding her army is eight times as large as ours, and her navy excels ours by 10,000 men.

"Although our revenue is nearly two and one-half times that of Japan, yet her army is nearly three times as large as ours with a naval force nearly four times the size of ours, yet our expenses for war and on account of wars is more than three and one-half times that of hers."

DR. WELSH WEDS

County Health Officer Ships Away to California for Bride

Casually remarking that he was going to visit the Panama-Pacific fair at San Francisco, Dr. Orel Welsh, county health officer, left Oregon City last week for a brief vacation. None of his friends suspected anything more was in the wind, but Tuesday night word was received that the county health officer had married Miss Grace Wolcott, at Santa Cruz, Cal. After the wedding Dr. and Mrs. Welsh left for the Golden Gate, where they will take a hurried look at the fair before returning to the county seat. The doctor and his wife are expected home the early part of next week; and congratulations and good wishes will be awaiting them.

Milwaukie to Issue Bonds to pay for Bull Run Installation

City Auditor Mathews, of Milwaukie, is asking for proposals for the $25,000 water bonds authorized at the recent special election. These bonds will run 20 years and bear interest at 5 per cent per annum, payable semi-annually.

There will be no delay in letting the contract and starting construction on the distribution system as soon as the bonds are sold, as the detailed plans are all ready for the fixtures. It is desired to get the plan completed by the first of the year.
