

Music through a Real Diamond No Needles to Change

The diamond stylus is the secret through which Mr. Edison gave to the world the perfected phonograph—the New Edison Diamond Disc Phonograph. This finely mounted, highly polished diamond brings out those delicate overtones and fine shades of sound that give character and richness. The original is there—with all its distinctive beauty of tone!

New Edison DIAMOND DISC PHONOGRAPH

A musical triumph. The perfect result of four years' continuous labor by the world's greatest inventor. The New Edison has attained what all have been hoping for—perfect reproduction of sound. It is the beginning of a new era in music. It brings the music of the greatest masters, of the most renowned artists to your door in all their original beauty. You really cannot appreciate how wonderfully life-like is the tone of the New Edison, until you have heard it. Come in and let us play your favorite record for you. You will not be urged to buy.

JIT DRIVER FINED

Plunge Over Bluff in West Linn Proves "Bad Break"

James Chickos, a Greek, who has been operating a jitney between Oregon City and Portland for some time, Friday night of last week had a merry party on board while making a pleasure trip on the west side of the river. It is whispered that there was booze in the jit, too; and as booze and gasoline never mix very well, it was perhaps not surprising that the automobile left the road and plunged over a 12-foot bluff. County officials went to the scene of the accident and arrested Chickos, who was later given the alternative of paying $65 fine or spending 32 days in jail; sentence being passed in the West Linn justice court on a charge of violating the state speed laws.

Chickos had with him at the time a man who gave the name of M. Pappas, and another passenger who said he was John Andrews, both of Portland. There were also three "queens" in the "boat," who gave the authorities assorted names. When the automobile took its plunge from the road, one of the girls was sufficiently mashed up to need an auto to take her to her home in Portland. The other members of the party were only slightly bruised.

FAIR GIVEN BOOSTS

County Display at Canby to be Well Worth Repeated Visits

Clackamas county is going to have "some fair" at Canby next week, when the county will unite in showing visitors its produce and manufactures from September 20 to 23, inclusive. Not only will there be the usual exhibits, but the pick of the displays from the East Clackamas County fair, held last week at Estacada, will be shipped to the bigger show. Thus eastern Clackamas county will be sure of better representation than ever before; and unless signs fail, the eastern part of the county will carry off a surprising number of prizes.

To further interest in the fair, Mayor Jones, of the county seat, has issued a proclamation declaring Tuesday, September 21, a half holiday, and urging all Oregon City folk to attend the fair on that day. If the plans of the mayor bear fruit, all county seat stores will be closed Tuesday afternoon, so that everyone may have opportunity to visit the big fair. A special train from the county seat to Canby will run on this day, and will leave Oregon City at 12:14 p. m.

TO PROTECT WATER

County Seat Asks Nation to Reserve South Fork Watershed

Oregon City, through its council, has asked Uncle Sam to establish a special reserve of the watershed of the South Fork of the Clackamas river, so that the new water supply of the county seat may be kept free from contamination. After the reserve is established it will be illegal for any person to trespass in any way upon the watershed, and rangers will assist in keeping hunters, campers and fishermen from the headwaters of the stream.

This action was taken by the council last week, as the new water supply is nearly ready for service. All the steel pipe for the carrying of Oregon City's new "drink" has been laid, and as soon as the tests are completed, the reservoir cleaned out, and connection made with the city mains, the water will be turned on.

SLIGHT ERROR MADE

Record Wheat Yield Appears to have Been Matter of Oats

One of the leading articles in the Herald last week was to the effect that G. W. Scramlin had threshed 107 bushels of wheat to the acre from a six acre field. This was quite a remarkable yield and even Mr. Scramlin himself did not believe it when he saw it in print. Several other parties likewise had strong suspicions as to the veracity of the editor of this sheet, which were well founded. The article was untrue and misleading.

The editor got the item over the phone and some way or another he got it into his head that it was "wheat" when it should have been "oats." Mr. Scramlin's six acre oat field yielded 107 bushels of oats to the acre all right, but the wheat referred to went only forty bushels. We apologize to Mr. Scramlin and are sorry the error occurred.—(Canby Herald.)

ESTACADA MAN HAPPY

Inventor Perfects Automobile Jack and Expects Profits

W. W. Boner, the skillful Estacada mechanic has completed the building of a wooden frame jack for the convenient lifting of automobiles. This device is a simple one, yet appears to be an article that has long been needed by automobile owners.

The device can remain on the floor of a garage, and when the machine is driven astraddle of the frame-work it is a simple matter to hoist it to such elevation as is desired for working beneath it.

Mr. Boner expects to be able to manufacture this jack, so that it will sell for from $10 to $15, each and if the device proves the money maker, which its inventor expects, Estacada as a city will prosper.—(Estacada Progress.)

COMMENTS ON WAR

Correspondent Thinks He Sees Solution of World-Wide Conflict

Editor Courier: As I read the appalling details of the awful catastrophe of war that daily confronts us in the press, I am reminded of the reply made by a father to his boy who asked, "Pa, what is the difference between a civilized man and a barbarian?" The father answered, "A barbarian is a man who knocks you brains out with a club at arm's length, while a civilized man blows them out a mile away."

The present situation in Europe demonstrates, if any demonstration is needed, that there is no such thing as civilized warfare. War is butchery. It is wholesale murder. It stands for sorrow, suffering and death. As well talk of a constructive tornado as civilized warfare.

Like some mighty smog, the war god seems to be at work to pull down the temple of civilization, and turn the clock of progress back into the Dark Ages. Half of the world is convulsed by the earthquake of war. The devastations of fire and sword go on daily. A continent is torn and ruined by this awful Moloch. Through the inventive genius of man, new and tremendous dangers face the dismayed inhabitants in the cataclysm of war. In terror they must flee from their homes in the dead of night, leaving all they have behind, lest some bomb, spreading death and ruin, is dropped upon their defenseless heads from the sky.

The nerve-racking terror and the awful catastrophe of ruin caused by all that attends a war of such vast proportions as the present one can only be realized by those who are compelled to face the situation. Human suffering is the inevitable symbol of war. It is sufficient to stagger the imagination, and cause the heart to faint. Tens of thousands of men are but the pawn in the game of the nations, to be slaughtered—fed to the cannon—to maintain what is called national honor and commercial supremacy. Many of the sufferers are the widow and orphans who are left to mourn in poverty and unspeakable loneliness as victims of the great military struggle. Poverty, ruin, hunger, and famine are the real members of the alliance.

Then comes the burden of grinding taxation to foot the bills caused by the enormous expenditure of funds necessary to defray the expenses of the bloody contest. What the tremendous total will be, no one can ever guess. If the war is much longer continued, it is sure to bring financial disaster, resulting in the obliteration of credit. War means paralyzed industries and a staggering debt. After the glory of victory and the despair of defeat, will come business depression.

And when will war cease? Never while sin is in the earth. The present death struggle will doubtless end sooner or later, when some nation has won a conclusive victory, or all have worn themselves out. But peace will not be permanent or long continued. Not till the Prince of Peace comes, and all the nations are carried away like chaff from the threshing-floor, and the everlasting kingdom of God is ushered in, will there be real peace.

Men may talk of peace, and peace compacts may be negotiated with the nations; and all this is laudable, to be sure. But in the end, the work will come to naught. War will come again. Armageddon is ahead of us, a struggle before which the present contest pales in comparison.

The hope of the world is in the advent of the Prince of Peace. And it should encourage our hearts to know that His coming is near, even at the doors. By His advent He will make war to cease to the end of the earth. Glad day!

FERRY NOW OPEN

Canby's Efforts for Better Route Across River Succeed

The new ferry across the Willamette at Riverside, a short distance north of Canby, was put in operation last week; and is now ready for continuous service. The ferry will make it much easier to get to Canby from the west side of the Willamette, and will open up new trade routes to the enterprising city in the southern end of the county. Heretofore Canby has been almost isolated from this territory.

Quite a party of Canby celebrities assisted in the initial trip of the ferry making the trip to the landing in two automobiles. Those who travelled on the big boat on its first trip were: Messrs. Wilson Evans, W. S. Maple, Geo. Meeks, Geo. J. Limber, Rev. Downs, E. A. Priest, Jake Jager, Edgar Smith, Charlie Combs, Charlie Kellameyer, "Dad" Hill and G. E. Brookins.

HOG RECORDS MADE

Animal Sold at Top Price to Eastern Stock Fancier

A prize Berkshire hog raised by the Delaware College experimental farm, Newark, Del., known officially as Duke of Sussex Sixth, was sold last week for $1000 in cash—the world's record price for a registered porker—to C. H. Carter, of Westchester, Pa.

The Delaware College agricultural faculty have been raising registered Berkshires several years.

Federal Timber Sold

The District Forester at Portland opened bids September third on 98 million feet of timber on the Olympic Forest in Washington. The Snow Creek Logging Company of Seattle, which has been operating on National Forest land near Sequim Bay for several years, was the successful bidder, the rates bid being $1.70 per thousand for western red cedar; $1.15 for Douglas fir and Sitka spruce, and 50 cents for hemlock and amabilis fir. Thirty-three per cent of the stand is Douglas fir and eighty-three per cent western red cedar.

OREGON TIMBER TAKEN

Japanese are Large Buyers of "Big Sticks" from Beaver State

Owing to the increase in Japanese shipping resulting from the opening of the Panama Canal and the withdrawal of many European vessels from active service, there has been an enormous increase in the building of Japanese ships for commercial purposes. A very considerable amount of this work is being done in Nagasaki, which is becoming an important shipbuilding center. Recent contracts have been made with the Mitsubishi shipyard here for vessels aggregating 47,500 tons, which exceeds the total output of the Japanese ship yards on vessels of 1,000 tons or more for any year prior to 1914.

Although Oregon pine costs 70 or 75 percent more than the native pine, it is preferred for shipbuilding purposes. It is seldom used, however, for other construction. It is chiefly employed where long, straight poles are needed, and is the only kind used for tall masts. It is said to be about equal in hardness to the native wood, but many of the shipbuilders complain that it cracks more easily. If this is true it may pay American dealers to investigate with a view to treating wood in such a way as to overcome this disadvantage.

As Oregon pine has fewer knots than the native wood and has a more regular grain, it is much easier to work with and requires less labor. This is an important factor in Japan, where the cost of labor is very high, compared with other places in the Far East. A ship's carpenter here receives less than 10 cents United States currency.

The largest single shipment of Oregon pine to Nagasaki is now on its way. It consists of 2,000 tons of Oregon pine, which will be used by the largest shipbuilding yard in Nagasaki.

The Mitsubishi shipyard is the largest single user of Oregon pine, while the Mitsui Bussan Kaisha imports and distributes to the smaller consumers. Letters and samples, therefore, may be sent directly to them, and the English language may be employed.

HE PUTS ONE OVER

Mayor Jones Beats Council at Economy Game for City

Recent "economy" fits of the Oregon council have been outdone by Mayor Linn E. Jones, of the county seat, who has really saved some money for the poor and over-burdened taxpayers. Unlike the council, Mayor Jones didn't talk about what he was going to do—he just went ahead and did it. And it is not his fault at all that his good deeds have been found out, and here chronicled.

Before the Firemen's Tournament was held in the county seat it became apparent that Oregon City was going to need some more police badges. At about the same time the city of Gladstone also discovered that its guardians of the peace needed some nice new stars to wear upon their manly bosoms. Justice John N. Sievers, who is chief go-get-em for Gladstone, was intrusted with the duty of getting the stars, and he happened to mention the fact to Mayor Jones.

Mr. Jones said he was going down to Portland on a similar errand, and offered to save Mr. Sievers a trip, so he was authorized to purchase the stars for Gladstone. Gladstone wanted four stars, and Oregon City wanted eight.

Mayor Jones went to Portland, and entering an emporium where police badges are sold, remarked casually that he had been delegated by the city of Gladstone to purchase some bright and shining police stars and that they were to be charged to Gladstone. The clerk asked how many he wanted, and Mayor Jones answered, quite casually, that he would like a dozen. The clerk did them up in tissue paper and gave them to the mayor.

That is all. Oregon City has its eight stars, and Gladstone has its four. And one of these days Gladstone is going to receive a bill for twelve stars. And Oregon City won't get any bill at all.

This "economy" bug is great stuff.

"JITS" ARE WARNED

District Attorney Says Violations of Law Will Be Dealt With

District Attorney Gilbert L. Hedges this week served notice on all jitney drivers who operate cars in the county that they must be particularly careful to observe the laws, or else they will get in trouble. The warning was issued after the punishment of one Chikos, a Bulgarian, who in a moment of enthusiasm last week drove his car over a 12-foot embankment in West Linn, spilling his passengers in the underbrush and seriously injuring one. Mr. Hedges says that there must be no speeding on the roads, that all drivers must be duly licensed. The warning of the district attorney will apply to jitneys in the county seat as well.

Story Seems Worth Telling Even if It Is Exaggerated

A farmer who lives a few miles out of town caught the mail order habit one day when his fingers weren't crossed, and the bible had been moved from the sitting room table to make room for the mail order catalogues.

One evening the doctor came out where the children were playing and told them there was a new baby in the house.

"Who brought it?" asked the children, and the doctor replied that he didn't know.

"Oh, I know," said one little tot, "It's a Sear's Robuck baby, and I des bet papa will have to send it back 'cause it won't work."

CANBY HOME DESTROYED

Alarm Given Too Late to Save Home of Charles Huira

On Friday night of last week fire from some unknown origin broke out in the Chas. Huira house on west First street and burned the building to the ground. The fire was first discovered about one o'clock in the morning by one of the Brown boys of New Era who was returning through town home in a machine from a trip to Salem.

He immediately gave the alarm but by the time the chemical engine reached the scene the house was so far gone that no attempt was made to save it. The building was empty and it is not known how the fire got started unless it was started by tramps. Insurance to the amount of $800 was carried on the property.—(Canby Herald)
