

News of the County and Suburbs

Local and County Items of Interest to Our Readers

CHERRYVILLE

School began here on Sept. 13. Miss Katharine Reitsma, of Mt. Tabor, is the teacher, her last school being at George.

These gentle rains are reviving up all manner of vegetation, and doing lots of good.

Tom Galarneau, who returned from fighting fires up in the mountains last week, says that while on a lonely trail one morning early he saw a bear with his back to him, gently swaying back and forth as if in time to some inward melody or perhaps chuckling to think what a long winter's nap he had ahead of him. When roused from his revelry by a loud shout he ambled off as if in disgust at the interruption.

Rev. Mr. Runyan went to Salem as a delegate from the squatters here to the conference called by the Governor to confer about the railroad lands. Only the hand-picked delegates are allowed to participate, and no one will be allowed to ask questions of any speaker, and at the conclusion a lot of cut and dried resolutions will be sent to Washington, when Congress assemblies, as a full and free expression of the wishes and desires of the people of Oregon in this matter. The Portland Journal in a recent editorial on this conference says there is a nigger in the wood pile and that this Senegambian has a dirty deal up his sleeve to pull off on the people. It went wrong!

The Governor will be present at this conference and will spring his time-honored speech: "Oh! My Friends! The Mountains rise up to the skies and the rivers run down to the seas in Oregon." The people of this state have stood for a whole lot in this state but this choked and gagged public convention ostensibly to get an expression from the general public, especially those interested in these lands, is about the rawest deal ever sprung on them.

Professor Cooper has some remarkably fine specimens of Winter Banana apples that are already colored up in fine shape. It was thought probably that at this altitude this beautiful and valuable apple would not color to the extent that the market demands, but no one ever saw finer specimens.

A writer in the Saturday Evening Post cautions people about becoming too excited and wild when the stampede begins or the era of speculation that is about to break forth. He says this vast flood of money now landing on our shores will soon be seeking investment and that in all probability this oncoming financial stampede will be one of the biggest in our history. Let it come! The sooner the better.

The Rotary Club, which has for its motto a square deal, and the Golden Rule in all business, is becoming a great organization, with branches spreading in every direction. There is room for it, and it is high time that such an organization was started, as business heretofore has been conducted largely on the principle of get and grab all you can and beat the other fellow whenever you can. A man is a great character and very much looked up to if he has money, no matter how he got it.

The Guardians of Liberty, another organization that is gaining members rapidly. It cherishes and holds in high esteem genuine American liberty, and will resist and fight to the uttermost any attempt to foist upon his country any old world methods, either ecclesiastical or monarchical. In Denver and Buffalo they won a city election against all the reactionaries and non-progressives.

Fire broke out in an outbuilding lately, on the old Freil place and if it had not been for the damp spell the fire would have spread to the house. The fire is supposed to have started from a camp fire left by a hobo, he getting out of the rain and starting a fire to keep warm. Probably he neglected to put it out when he went away.

August Beidenstein drove three fine steers by the postoffice lately, selling the same for $75 apiece. These animals were in fine shape and had grown to maturity and become very fine and fat on the big range that extends in every direction around here on very little care when younger.

Lillian B. Averill has begun a term of school in the primary department at Sandy, and will have charge of some high school girls with whom she rooms.

EAGLE CREEK

Mrs. Viola Douglass and her granddaughters, Mildred and Florine Douglass, returned home from eastern Oregon last week.

Walter Douglass and Mr. and Mrs. George Douglass have returned home from eastern Oregon, where they have passed five or six weeks threshing.

H. H. Hoffmeister was a Gresham Fair visitor last Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Woodie, of Troutdale, were the dinner guests of their grandmother, Mrs. S. F. Howlett, last Saturday.

Mrs. H. S. Jones, of Portland, was a week-end guest at the home of her brother, Walter Douglass.

H. F. Gibson and wife spent Friday night with James Gibson, the former's father.

Mrs. Bell attended the Gresham Fair Saturday.

Miss Lulu DeShazer and Will Updegrave called on Mrs. Howlett Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Rosa Douglass, Miss Edna Kennedy and Mrs. R. B. Gibson accompanied Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Gibson to Gresham last Saturday and visited the fair.

R. B. Gibson was a Gresham Fair visitor last Friday.

Mrs. Metzger, of Gresham, entertained Miss Edna Kennedy Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. James DeShazer received a call from Mrs. Viola Douglass, Walter Douglass, Mrs. H. S. Jones, Mrs. R. B. Gibson and Mildred and Florine Douglass Sunday afternoon.

Eagle Creek Grange met last Saturday; but there was not a very large attendance on account of the busy season and the Fair. A committee of three was appointed to buy some oilcloth with which to paper the dining room. A short programme was rendered.

Carl Douglass and Ernest Hoffmeister returned home last Saturday from Eastern Oregon, where they were working through harvest time. Carl, who intends to run a farm this winter, purchased and brought home a fine black team, of which he is very proud.

EAST CLACKAMAS

M. Tong has his new house nearly ready to move into.

Mr. Koch will move into the Wilham's house vacated by Mr. Tong. J. Enghouse was scouting the Log-cabin country in search of young porkers to feed his corn crop to.

Nearly everybody is doing it—raising corn in old Clackamas in fact Oregon in general.

The Social Club met at Mrs. A. Haberlach's last week.

J. W. Bennett and son, Ranymond, motored to Washington last week.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Haberlach, Sr., left last Saturday for an extended visit in Wisconsin and other north-central states.

School opened Monday with a large attendance, with E. S. Boyer at the throttle.

Mr. and Mrs. Sandstone were visitors at Portland Saturday evening.

Mrs. H. H. Blake and daughter, and Mrs. Martha Sherwin spent the latter part of the week in Portland.

N. Sundinn is instructing some southern Europe fellows how to put gravel under railroad ties.

The rails are laid to Rock creek now, and the railroad is doing a rushing business hauling gravel for the company.

E. H. Cooper and wife and Florence Moore were visitors at the Cedar Ranch Springs Ranch Monday evening.

Mrs. Grace Gottberg was a visitor at Cedar Springs last Wednesday.

Gus Haberlach Jr., and wife took dinner in Portland Sunday.

Edgar Ingrham and family were transacting business at the Cedar Springs ranch Monday.

H. Van Water transacted business in Portland Monday.

The Social Club will meet at Mrs. E. R. Boyer's next Wednesday afternoon. A full attendance is desired.

Edna Boyer spent the latter part of the week at Oregon City visiting Bernice Gottberg.

CANBY

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Daniels and children have gone to Lane county to visit at the home of Mr. Daniel's brother, who lives near Creswell.

Harry Cockran and his brother-in-law have been cutting wood for Mr. Chubb.

There is another hardware store in Canby now, conducted by M. J. Lee.

There was a large crowd at the sale last Saturday at Mr. Bailey's, and most everything sold for a fair price.

Mr. Hart was calling on Mr. Hilton the fore part of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowlsby's daughter, who lives in Chicago, is visiting her parents at present.

James Doerflinger has purchased some lots in Canby and is going to build a new house on them in the near future.

There was the largest peach crop around Canby this year that there has ever been in these parts.

Mr. Toogood and family were visiting at Mr. Hilton's last Sunday.

We learned that Harry Smith and family are going to move on the Mott place this fall.

Mrs. Cochran and Mrs. Wilson were visiting Mrs. Burns last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Rape's daughter-in-law and her children are coming up to stay with them awhile soon.

MOLALLA

Walter Bowen has returned from Southern Oregon where he had been on a hunting trip. Accompanied by his wife, he visited his parents at Silvertown.

Mrs. Harry Hubbard and two sons have returned from Marquam, where they had been spending a week with Mrs. Hubbard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Harmon.

The work of cutting down the Robinson's hill has been completed. Fred Schaefer was the contractor and has done a good job. He moved over 600 yards of dirt more than his contract called for. The grade is about 7 percent. Crushed rock will be put on this road at once.

The receiver has disposed of the Homer Trullinger farm to L. Adams and has settled all claims against the land which included the Kellogg judgment for plastering the hotel and the $1000 for furniture. This leaves the hotel and equipment to satisfy the other creditors.

MOUNTAIN VIEW

Dr. Oral Welsh and wife have moved into their new home on Fifth street.

Frank Chanler returned from Washington last Tuesday and is now driving his jitney.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Gladden, of Portland, came up Saturday and visited Mrs. R. M. C. Brown over Sunday.

This part of Oregon City was well represented at the Canby Fair Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Clark entertained relatives from Portland last Sunday.

Harry Chandler has returned home after a three months' absence in Washington.

Ray Welsh has painted his new house.

Quite a number of vacant houses are being rented, and we hope to see Oregon City on the boom, especially after the new mountain water is installed.

Mrs. Amanda Hickman visited several days in Portland this week.

Grandma Stevens remains in a very serious condition from paralysis. She was brought in several days ago to her son George's home, where they are caring for her.

The tent tabernacle has folded its wings and departed for some other place where "the only true religion" will be taught.

A poor old horse, crippled and almost helpless, but neglected by its owner, was killed last Monday after complaint had been made to the humane officer.

HIGHLAND

School began Monday with Miss Bertha Whitcomb of Parkplace, as teacher.

Mrs. Geo. Hansen left last Friday for Aberdeen, Wash., where she has gone to join her husband, who is employed in a logging camp.

Frank Nicholas went to Oregon City Saturday.

Joe Wallace went to Portland on business Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. O. Caldwell and children, Mrs. Wallace and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Kandle motored to Lents last week.

Miss Lydia Martin returned to Oregon City Sunday after a few days' visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin.

Mr. and Mrs. O. Caldwell entertained Saturday evening in honor of Mrs. Caldwell's brother, Clay Long, who will leave this week for California.

The evening was spent in dancing and games. Dainty refreshments were served at midnight. The guests present were Mr. and Mrs. J. Welch, of Portland; Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Kandle, Mr. and Mrs. J. Wallace; Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Kandle, Misses Marion Mudgett, Bernice Mudgett, Clare Bert May Adams, Erna Meibis, Tillie Martin, Lydia Martin, Elsie Schram, Edna Vohs, Messrs. Lawrence Mudgett, Theodore Marshall, Lloyd Schram, Jack Grossmiller, Albert Martin, Sam Martin, Harry Bittner, Harold Vohs, B. Scott Cheever Sullivan, Clay Long and Mr. and Mrs. O. Caldwell and family.

CLARKES

Fred Zwahlen, of Tillamook, came here last week on a short visit.

Miss Elda Marquardt went to Portland last Monday.

Miss Engla Bergman is attending high school at Colton.

George Clarke and family visited Mr. and Mrs. Jason Clarke last Sunday.

A. F. Buche is helping Clark Bros. dry prunes.

Mrs. Griffith is on the sick list.

Mrs. Click and daughter Minnie, are visiting Mrs. Hofstetter for a short time.

Miss Elsa Buol, of Oregon City, was home on account of her father's illness, recently.

Claudius Bottmiller is visiting his sister, Mrs. Charles Ralph, at Oregon City for a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Larkins have gone to Nolan, Oregon, to visit their son, Vernon, who is ill.

A. Buoi is improving now, as per last report.

Miss Lydia Kleinsmith is working in Oregon City now.

Dewey La follette is attending high school at Colton.

Mrs. Henry Kleinsmith and children were in Portland and visited her sister, Muriel and family, last week.

VIOLA

There will be a social with refreshments, for the benefit of the school on Wednesday evening, Sept. 29. A program will be given by Miss Woodie's scholars.

William Hicinbotham and family were callers on Mr. and Mrs. Jake Lane, of Redland, recently.

Bob Mattoon and family and A. C. White, wife and baby, were up to the ice cream social Saturday evening, at the Bethel school house.

We understand that the party who went to serenade Joe Lacroy and bride, broke some windows, which was rather rough.

Mrs. J. H. Sevier is keeping house for Mrs. A. Hughes, while she is at the Canby and Salem fairs.

Wm. Hicinbotham intends to take people to the Fairs at Canby and Salem in his Ford.

Work is going on fine at present on the road. They are getting gravel out of Clear Creek.

MULINO

Mrs. Walter Waldorf has been quite ill, but is now much better.

Mrs. Walker, of Tillamook, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Archie Davis.

Mrs. Emma Lyons, of Lyons, is visiting with Mrs. Cook.

Robert Schuebel, the road supervisor, has about 13 teams hauling gravel on the roads.

Mrs. J. L. Daniels and children were visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Burns, of Canby, last week.

J. J. Mallatt has returned from T. L. lamook, where he has been visiting for some time.

OAK GROVE

Miss Nancy Fenwick went to Vancouver B. C. last week, where she will attend school.

J. C. Bowman spent a couple of days last week in Portland.

Mrs. Herbert Nesbit, of Portland, has returned home after a visit of several days with Miss Mabel Francis.

A Mistaken Identity

By DWIGHT NORWOOD

Friends were arriving for the funeral and on entering the house turned into the room where the coffin rested on supports. It had been left open, and any one who wished to have a look at the deceased was permitted to do so.

Mrs. MacElroy looked down upon the corpse with melancholy visage, then went to her seat and whispered to Mrs. Martin beside her:

"He looks very natural."

"Do you think so? I wouldn't know him."

Mrs. Gougle leaped forward and remarked in a subdued voice that she had been asked to go to the hospital where he had died and identify him. She was in doubt at first, but as she looked the features seemed to throw off the death look and take on a lifelike appearance. She would stake her life on his being Parker.

Nathan Parker had left home several days before to go to work at his trade—he was a plasterer—and had not returned. He had complained of dizziness and was seen to stagger as he walked down the street. Night came and he did not return. His wife was worried about him and fearful that he had collapsed. She would have gone to inquire of his employer, but her husband had told her that he was going to do a job on his own account that day and unfortunately did not inform her where it was.

That night was one of great anxiety to Mrs. Parker. She went to the grocery and called up every hospital in town, asking if a man of the name of Parker was there. They all replied that they had no such person among their patients. The next day passed without bringing the missing man's return. Mrs. Parker sent out a police alarm, but nothing came of it.

Then one day the missing man's son concluded to go the rounds of the hospitals in search of his father. At one of them he found that a man had died who had been taken in unconscious and no name obtained. He had fallen on a sidewalk, been picked up by a policeman and brought to the hospital in an ambulance. He had died the day before.

John Parker went in to see the corpse, dreading to find his father. He no sooner looked upon it than he covered his eyes with his hands. There lay the man he had feared to see. Then he went home and informed his mother of what he had found. After she had given way to the first outbursts of grief she asked John if he was sure that the body he had seen was that of his father. John said he was, but there would be no harm in sending some one else to identify it. Stephen Parker, the deceased's brother, went to the hospital and expressed a doubt that the corpse was that of Nathan. Then Mrs. Gougle, an intimate friend of the family, went to the hospital and confirmed John's report.

At the hour appointed for the funeral the family and relatives came into the room where the burial rites were to take place and took seats beside the coffin. A minister appeared, who conducted the services and dwelt at length on the virtues of the deceased. When all was over the undertaker put the lid on the coffin and screwed it down. While he was doing so a man, very pale, staggered in at the door.

"What's all this?" he exclaimed.

"Good gracious!" cried Mrs. Parker. "Who are you?" asked the minister, starting forward to head off the interloper.

"Who am I? I'm Nathan Parker. Who's that in the coffin?"

"Oh, Nathan," cried the wife, "is it really you?"

"Really me? Who else should I be?"

"Have you come back from the dead?"

"I haven't been with the dead."

"It looks like you, but I can't be sure."

Johnny went up to the intruder, looked him close in the face, then threw his arms around him, crying: "I made a mistake! I made a mistake!" Then Mrs. Parker took her husband away from Johnny and hugged him.

Meanwhile Parker, who had just got out of bed after several days, being either unconscious or delirious, succumbed to the shock of arriving just in time for his own funeral and would have fallen to the floor had his wife and son not supported him to a sofa. Johnny ran for a stimulant, and Mrs. Parker chafed his hands.

"Take that thing away!" he cried faintly.

Parker was put to bed and the corpse removed. As soon as he became sufficiently composed to give an account of his absence he said that while going to work the sidewalk and his head seemed to come together—he knew not how—and he was unconscious till he found himself in bed in a strange house. He called: a woman came into the room and told him that she had seen him fall, had gone out and had instructed several persons who gathered about him to carry him into her house. She had not the heart to send him to a hospital, but had sent for a doctor to attend him.

Parker asked how long he had been there, and when she told him it was a week he jumped out of bed, declaring that he must go to his family, who would be worried about him. On approaching his home and seeing a hearse at the door he feared his wife had died of fright on his account.

COLTON

Walfred Johnsen, Helmer Bloom and Carl Soderbloom have returned from the hop yards. They report the yield poor.

The sale is winning much favor in Meadowbrook. P. O. Chindgren and sons are erecting a second one, and A. L. Larkins, G. W. Hofstetter and L. A. Orem will each erect one this fall.

Royal Davidson is busy laying the foundation for a fine barn he will erect this fall. Clarence Orem is assisting him.

"You Can Do Better for Less on Third Street"

Store Opens 8:30 A. M. Saturdays at 9 A. M.	The Most in Value	The Best in Quality	Store Closes 5:30 P. M. Saturdays at 6 P. M.

Pacific Phone Marshall 5080		THE MOST IN VALUE—	Home Phone A 2112
—THE BEST IN QUALITY—

Surprisingly Great Are the Values Offered at This Extraordinary Purchase and Sale of

Dainty and Exquisite New Laces

WE WILL NOT BURDEN YOU WITH THE DETAILS OF THIS UNUSUAL AND FORTUNATE TRADE EVENT. WE ARE WILLING TO ABIDE BY YOUR VERDICT OF THE WONDERFUL SAVING POSSIBILITIES OF THIS GREAT SALE. INCLUDED ARE THOUSANDS OF YARDS AND HUNDREDS OF DAINY AND EXQUISITE PATTERNS IN DEPENDABLE QUALITY LACES SUITABLE FOR EVERY PURPOSE. HERE, WITHOUT A DOUBT, ARE THE GREATEST LACE VALUES EVER PLACED BEFORE THE WOMEN OF THIS CITY AND VICINITY. ARE YOU GOING TO PROFIT THEREBY?

THE NEW SILK AND METAL LACE FLOUNCINGS

In 9 and 12-Inch Widths at 59c Yard—For Values to $2.25—A wonderful assortment of these popular laces—9 and 12-inch widths in a full range of patterns in white, cream, ecru and black. Regular values to $2.25 a yard. This sale at 59c.

In 18 to 40-Inch Widths at $1.75 Yard—For Values to $4.50—These fine, high-grade Lace Flouncings are shown in both silk and silk metal effects in exquisite patterns. 18, 27 and 40-inch widths in values to $4.50 a yard. This Sale at $1.75.

WHITE ALLOVER SHADOW LACES, 59c to 75c QUALITIES at 25c YARD!

Over 300 yards to select from—dainty white Allover Shadow Laces, full 36 inches wide, shown in a splendid variety of patterns—qualities regularly sold at 59c to 75c a yard. They are now going at this sale for, per yard,

25c

3 to 12-Inch LACES AT 8c YARD For Values to 25c

Net Top, Cluny, wide Val., and Shadow Edges in 3 to 12-inch widths; also Venice, Cluny and Oriental Bands in 2 to 4-inch widths—all in choice new patterns. Values to 25c a yard. Sale at 8c

WIDE NETS At 79c Yard Regular $1.25 Grade

A 72-inch beautiful silk-finish. ed net, shown in white, ecru and flesh color.

CHIFFONS At 98c Yard Values to $2.00

Dainty colorings in large and small designs—plaids, stripes and checks.

SILK NETS AT 98c Yard Regular $1.25 Grade

Fine Silk Nets in 42-inch width. All the new Fall shades in large and small mesh.

BANDS, FROGS, GARNITURES AND TRIMMINGS

All Selling at Reduced Prices

5c YARD—For Narrow Silk Braids and Edges in both light and dark colors—values up to 25c a yard.

10c EACH—For Black Silk Frogs and Loops for both medium and small sizes. Regular 25c and 35c values.

Light and Dark Colored Silk Bands in values regularly sold up to 75c a yard. This sale at, yard, 10c

SCOTTS MILLS

The Scotts Mills Water company has been having a considerable amount of work done on its reservoir, having developed a large vein of water that was entirely lost before. This will make a great difference in the supply of water for the city use.

Dr. F. E. Hume reports the arrival of a boy at the home of Clarence Beyers.

Charles Scott of the Scotts Mills Flouring mills, is increasing the height of his dam two feet. The low water is causing Mr. Scott some inconvenience, but he hopes in this way to remedy the trouble.

NEEDY

Noah Kauffman is here from Iowa to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Kauffman, and many friends.

Vern Ransdell, who has just finished a new bungalow on his farm, has returned to Antelope.

Will Stewe took his little daughter back to Portland