FIFTY-THIRD YEAR—No. 27.

OREGON CITY, OREGON, FRIDAY, JULY 11, 1919.

ESTABLISHED 1866

SOLONS ARE READY FOR DOCUMENT OF TREATY

WASHINGTON, July 9.—President Wilson will present the peace treaty and the league of nations covenant to the senate tomorrow.

The president will deliver a lengthy address, in which he is expected to outline the details of the negotiations recently concluded in Paris and tell why he feels that the United States should endorse the league of nations covenant. His address promises to mark the opening of one of the bitterest fights ever waged in the senate over ratification of a treaty.

It was announced at the White House today the president would place himself unreservedly at the disposal of the senate in its consideration of the treaty. He was reported as being "anxious and eager" to appear before any committee of the senate or of the house, or both, in open or executive session, to answer any questions that members might desire to ask with reference to the treaty and the league covenant.

Senators are Divided

While members of the senate foreign relations committee declined to predict whether the president would be invited before the committee, there was a general feeling that should he make known directly a desire to appear, he would be given the opportunity. The usual procedure would be for the committee to ask for the diplomatic correspondence leading up to the treaty, and since most of the Versailles negotiations were conducted orally, some senators believed the only alternate course would be to question the delegates personally.

Opposing this view, however, is the feeling of some committee members that it would be too wide a departure from precedent to invite a president before any committee of congress. It has been pointed out that the chief executive constitutes in himself a co-ordinate branch of the government, and as such has never dealt directly with such a subordinate body as a senate committee.

SALEM'S NEW PAPER MILL TO HAVE BIG MACHINE INSTALLED

The half a million dollar paper mill in Salem is not to be known officially as the Salem paper mill or the Spaulding mill, but as the Oregon Pulp & Paper company. Articles of incorporation were filed yesterday giving the capital stock as $800,000. It is pretty well understood that no stock is on the market but that it will all be subscribed for by men who are interested in paper mills with F. W. Ledbetter and Chas. W. Spaulding. The foot of Trade street now looks much different from what it did a few weeks ago. Excavations have been made for foundations and from now on the work of construction will go ahead, with the building first of the sulphate and pulp mills—Salem Journal.

The main machinery building of the Salem paper mill will soon begin to assume proportions just west of the building used by the Salem Water Co. as an office. There will be housed the great paper machine—the biggest, except one or two, and the best in the world. The large warehouse, standing there now will be removed to a new site at the foot of Trade street; the site now being prepared for it—Salem Statesman.

WORK ACCUMULATION DELAYS PRESIDENT'S TRIP TO THIS COAST

WASHINGTON, July 9.—President Wilson returned to his desk today after an absence of four months at the peace conference to find such a mass of official business that it probably will be two weeks before he can start on his tour of the country speaking for the peace treaty and the league of nations.

Plans for the trip have not yet been completed, but it was said at the White House that the president probably would so time his schedule as to reach the Pacific coast at the time of the arrival there of the newly created Pacific fleet, which is to start from Hampton Roads for San Francisco about the middle of this month.

CONTRACT LET FOR OREGON CITY OSWEGO ROAD

PORTLAND, July 9.—Of the contracts awarded, Clackamas county got 6.3 miles of grading on the Pacific Highway; the Oregon City-Oswego road. The county court is to do the work for $57,746.

When the highway commission adjourned yesterday it had let contracts for $1,713,113 of road work and placed another 100 miles under contract. Considering figures excessive, the commission held up several bids, aggregating 41 miles of paving, until the contractors knocked off $17,500.

After a long hearing, when cement men and the commissioners talked frankly, the commissioners admitting that they felt suspicious of the cement, the commission decided not to revoke its order placed with a California plant, but promised to help the Oswego factory by giving it business which will approximate the order awarded to the California concern. The Oswego plant wanted the California order canceled on the ground that home industry should be encouraged.

4TH CELEBRATED IN MANY TOWNS OF CLACKAMAS

Celebrations were held in various sections of the county July 4, and had their large and enthusiastic crowds. Sports, baseball games, orations, and music followed by dances were among the day's programs.

At Molalla one of the large crowds congregated at the grove near the city. Here a well arranged program was given following the big parade in the morning. There were over 50 decorated automobiles in the parade for which prizes were offered. The orator of the day was Judge Grant B. Dimick.

The program consisted of songs. The Veterans drum corps gave a number of wartime tunes and the old soldiers had to respond to a number of encores. A large number of children assisted in the program and put on a play, while others contributed to the Meadowbrook Quartet, Walter J. Stevenson, of Portland, Miss Vendia Hill, of Colton.

A baseball game between Molalla and Scotts Mills was played. The result was 6 to 7 in favor of Molalla, and 13 innings were played. Scotts Mills was well represented, and each team had their share of rooters. All kinds of sports were arranged for the afternoon, and the day's events closed with a ball.

The Goddess of Liberty was Miss Gladys Beattie, and her maids of honor were Miss Reva Everhart and Miss Leona Gregory.

At Sherwood George C. Brownell was the orator, and Mr. Brownell made a favorable impression on his audience. There was a large attendance at the celebration, people from miles around attending and listening to the excellent program.

A celebration was held at Beaver Creek and about 300 people attended and enjoyed the day's program in charge of the Beaver Creek Baseball team. A dance in the evening closed the day's program.

The Aurora celebration was attended by about 3000 people, and was the greatest celebration ever held there. The soldiers, sailors and marines were extended a most cordial reception.

The Twilight Entertainment committee held a celebration at the new Twilight hall Friday and it was largely attended.

The new hall was dedicated and sports and dancing and a musical program were among the day's features. Refreshments were sold on the grounds.

PRESIDENT SAID TO BE VIOLATOR OF FEDERAL LAW

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Charges that the president organized the council of national defense before war was declared, in absolute violation of law and thereby created a "secret government of the United States," which formulated war legislation, dictated policies the country was to pursue and befriended "big business," were made today by Chairman Graham of the special house committee investigating war department expenditures.

ESPEE BARS WATER

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Application has been made to the interstate commerce commission in behalf of the Southern Pacific company to amend its tariff on paper and paper bags from Oregon City to Portland and exclude the Willamette Transportation company from participation in the traffic.

Conservative Socialist, Now German Chancellor, Who Was Labor Leader

Premier Gustav Bauer

Herr Gustav Bauer, Germany's new premier, had scarcely been mentioned for Philipp Scheidemann's post until the crisis over the signing of the peace treaty came. Prior to his appointment as labor minister he was secretary of the labor unions of Germany. He is rated as a long-headed, conservative Socialist. He was the original choice of the Socialists for chancellor.

PORTLAND WOULD HAVE TRANS-ILLAMETTE SUBWAY FOR VEHICLES

PORTLAND, July 9.—Construction of a trans-Willamette vehicle subway, costing in the neighborhood of $1,000,000, was proposed to the city council Tuesday by Edward M. Cousins to do away with the necessity for a new bridge.

The west side terminal would be located at Ankeny and Park streets, under the proposal of Cousin, and the east side entrance of the tube would come to the surface at East Ankeny and Grand avenue. Cousin points out that the tube could be constructed for the cost of one bridge and would handle the increased number of horse-drawn and motor vehicles crossing the river. Streetcar and pedestrian travel would be cared for by the bridges, Cousin suggests.

Cousin states that the capacity of the bridges has already been reached; that unless added facilities are provided, serious delays will result to traffic, and that added bridges are costly and are obstacles to navigation and docking facilities.

NEW CHAMPION IS CROWNED IN JACK DEMPSEY

TOLEDO, O., July 5.—Though a new heavyweight champion has been crowned in Jack Dempsey and the exodus of fight fans has depopulated Toledo hotels, controversy still rages over the sensational defeat of Jess Willard here yesterday afternoon. So many unusual angles developed during the nine minutes of terrific fist-bombardment that scarcely two spectators saw the scene the same.

The uncertainty regarding the situation at the end of the first round when Dempsey left the ring believing that he had won with a knockout and the payment of such wagers as hinged on when Willard was stopped, furnished unlimited material for argument.

So weak was the sound of the gong and so great was the uproar about the ring that Referee Pecord failed to hear the bell and continued to count over Willard as he sat on the ring floor near a neutral corner, although Timekeeper Barbour ordered the clang when Pecord's arm was falling for the seventh time. The referee notified Dempsey that he won and the Salt Lake puglist was well on his way to his dressing room before his manager overtook him and told him that he was in danger of being disqualified on a technicality for leaving the ring.

The question of when Dempsey won was placed before several veteran ring officials by men who had wagers at stake and the consensus was that Dempsey stopped Willard in the third round, as the latter's second tossed the towel of defeat into the center of the ring before the bell rang for the beginning of the fourth session.

MINORITY URGES REPEAL OF WAR TIME DRY LAW

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Five members of the house judiciary committee, in a minority report on the prohibition enforcement bill made public tonight, declared congress should repeal the war time prohibition act or at least lift the ban in so far as it relates to the manufacture and sale of light wines and beer.

INTEREST KEEN IN COUNTY FAIR RACING PROGRAM

Interest is commencing in the coming county fair to be held at Canby October 1, 2, 3 and 4. This year's fair is promised to equal any ever held at the grounds, and the horse races that were cancelled from the program last year are to be one of the main attractions for this year.

The first day of the races will be for horses owned and raised in Clackamas county that have never raced for money, owner to drive and ride these horses, and the program is as follows:

First race—Trot and pace, one-half mile heat, two in three, $50.00
Second race—One-half mile running race, $50.00
Third race—Relay, one and one-half mile, change each half mile, $50.00
Ball game for the leading team in Clackamas county, $25.00.

THURSDAY, October 2.

First race—Free for all trot, three in five, $300.00.
Second race—Trot, three in five, $200.00.

Third race—One mile run, $100.00.

FRIDAY, October 3.

First race—Free for all trot three in five $300.00.
Second race—225 Pace three in five, $200.00.

Third race—Three fourths mile run, $100.00.

SATURDAY, October 4.

First race—219 pace, three in five, $200.00.
Second race—218 trot, three in five, $200.00.

Third race—One-half mile run, consolation, $100.00.

Edward Fortune, of this city, is to be superintendent of the races. At the 1917 races Mr. Fortune had charge of the racing program.

The banks of Oregon City are taking much interest in the coming county fair. Each will offer a silver loving cup for special exhibits, the cups to be won three successive years by the exhibitor. The Bank of Commerce will give a cup to the Community Club having the best exhibit; the First National Bank to the best grange exhibit and the Bank of Oregon City for the best livestock exhibit. A number of Portland firms are offering prizes this year, among these to be for the poultry exhibit, which will be in charge of Andrew Kocher, of Canby.

Dave Long, a booster of Clackamas county, whose home is at Hazella, is to have charge of the exhibits of the pavilion, and among the districts of Clackamas county exhibiting in this department will be Hazella. George Dehok, of Willamette, will have charge of the livestock department.

Among the manufacturing places to exhibit this year will be the Portland Flouring Mills, the first time this company has had an exhibit at the fair.

With the growing crops looking as they are at the present time, Clackamas county can have one of the best, if not the best fair ever held. Last year's season was unfavorable, with the war on and the aphids destroying a large portion of the crops, causing the fair to be far from a successful one as far as exhibits were concerned.

A carnival company has already secured reservations on the ground.

SHEEP STARVED OFF RANGES BY DROUGHT SENT TO MINNESOTA

DULUTH, Minn., July 9.—A Wyoming flock of 4100 sheep and two Montana flocks of 1200 each were here today to be placed on Northern Minnesota cut over land after being starved from their ranges by drought. More than 20,000 acres of Northern Minnesota land available for feeding starving stock of Montana and Wyoming have been listed with railroads by state officials. It is expected a million head of stock will be shipped here within the next few weeks for fattening.

ROOSEVELT ROAD LAW UP AGAINST FEDERAL FIGHT

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Oregon must amend the Roosevelt highway law before congress will appropriate money to aid in its construction. The United States does not and will not maintain military or other highways, though it has aided in construction. Even without the maintenance clause in the new Oregon law, there is a hard road ahead of the Roosevelt highway law.

License to weld was granted Monday to Myrtle M. Newman, 22, Oregon City, and Ben Collins, 29, Portland.

Trial By Jury

Ten thousand men in Portland laid down their tools and went out on a five-day strike as a protest against the incarceration of Thomas Mooney, convicted bomb-thrower. Many thousands in other cities followed the same course.

This so-called strike commenced on the Fourth of July, and as the following day was generally observed in Oregon as a holiday and the succeeding day was Sunday, the wheels of industry were not seriously affected.

Mooney was convicted in the California courts after a trial by jury. He was tried and convicted of first-degree murder and sentenced to be hanged, but the Governor of California commuted his sentence to life imprisonment.

This method of discrediting trial by jury, which is the greatest protection afforded by this country to its people, will not avail.

Fair-minded observers who have investigated the Mooney case declare he was fairly tried and that the jury brought in a verdict in accordance with the facts presented. We have the word of Mr. Wilson, United States Secretary of Labor, that not only was Mooney given a fair trial, but that trial by jury, as a principle of American citizenship, must be permitted to stand.

JOHN H. SIEVERS AND HALL LOSE IN HEAVY SUIT

PORTLAND, Ore., July 3.—After being out one hour and 30 minutes, the jury in the suit of Mrs. Parmella Tyler against George A. Hall and John N. Sievers, the latter an attorney of Oregon City and former justice of the peace, returned a verdict for the full amount asked for in the plaintiff's amended complaint of $21,942.47.

The verdict is given against both defendants jointly, which means that each of them is liable for the entire amount of the judgment.

The case has been on trial in Judge Kavanaugh's court for about a week. Dan J. Malarky appeared for the plaintiff, and Fowler and Hedges for Hall and Sievers.

Because of the element of fraud entering into the case, the defendants may be thrown into jail if they fail to pay the amount of the judgment.

Disbarment of both attorneys from practice in Oregon is expected as the result of an investigation by a special committee of the State Bar association. This committee began its inquiry last summer, but suspended its work when the suit was filed for fear its findings would prejudice the case. Disbarment in Oregon would mean that the attorney would not be admitted to practice before any court in the United States.

The probable result of this verdict may be that long years of legal training will go for nothing in the lives of these attorneys, who may be forced to take up work outside of the law under the handicap of this heavy judgment of almost $22,000. Criminal prosecution is possible but is not held probable.

Appeal to the supreme court may be taken, but such action would mean the filing of a bond completely covering the amount of the judgment, so that, if the appeal failed, the bond would insure payment of the judgment immediately. Until such a bond is put up, the defendants may be placed in jail by the execution of writs against their bodies.

If no appeal is taken, immediate payment of the judgment is necessary or the defendants may be imprisoned. In an action such as just completed which, though civil in nature, contains the elements of fraud and conspiracy, a judgment may be the basis of an execution against the body. That is to say, instead of issuing an execution against property of the defendant, his person may be "attached," and he may be lodged in jail.

Both Sievers and Hall may be put in the county jail if they do not pay the judgment or furnish the bond on appeal. They cannot be held for more than ten days on one execution. However, at the end of ten days another execution may be served upon them before they leave the courthouse after release from jail, and they may be incarcerated for ten days more, and so on, provided that during all this while the plaintiff, Mrs. Tyler, arranges to pay the county their board while in jail.

The only release from such confinement, except by payment of the judgment, lies in the making of a pauper's oath at the end of a ten-day period, in which oath the affiant swears that he has no money or property and that it is absolutely impossible for him to meet the judgment.

Hall Shows Up After Berry Trip

PORTLAND, July 7.—Fears over the supposed disappearance of Attorney George A. Hall because of his failure to appear when the jury returned its verdict and failure to obtain response to telephone calls to his home or office were dispelled Sunday, when he appeared and said he had been in the country picking wild blackberries. Both Hall and Sievers indicate they will file bonds preparatory to an appeal to the Supreme Court from the judgment against them of more than $20,000.

APPEAL MAY BE TAKEN IN HALL SIEVERS ACTION

PORTLAND, July 5.—Efforts to find George A. Hall, Portland attorney, who, with John N. Sievers and Ethel and Harry Henderson, was found to have defrauded the aged Mrs. Parmella Tyler out of $21,942.47 by a jury in Circuit Judge Kavanaugh's court Thursday, have proved fruitless since the verdict was reported. Attorneys for Mrs. Tyler are of the opinion that Hall may have left the city and gone beyond the jurisdiction of the Oregon courts.

According to the judgment, unless property is found to satisfy the debt execution may be returned against the person. Attorneys for Mrs. Tyler stated that such an action would be taken immediately against both Hall and Sievers unless a bond covering the full amount of the judgment was put up pending appeal to the supreme court.

Announcement was made Thursday by members of the investigating committee of the Bar association that disbarment proceedings against Hall and Sievers, temporarily held up pending the trial of the fraud action, would be set in motion again at once. This action was begun several months ago but postponed for the adjudication of the Tyler case.

John N. Sievers, former justice of the peace of Oregon City and attorney, co-defendant with George A. Hall in the Tyler fraud case, said that he intended to appeal his case to the supreme court and that he would perfect his appeal with the filing of the necessary bond shortly. Sievers' attorney, J. E. Hedges, of Oregon City, says that he believes he has a very good chance of obtaining a reversal of the verdict of the Multnomah county circuit court rendered against Hall and Sievers Thursday.

Transcript Filed In Sievers' Case

Transcript of judgment was filed here Tuesday in the suit of Mrs. Parmella Tyler against Attorneys George A. Hall and John N. Sievers for $21,942.47. The transcript was sent from Multnomah county.

A transcript was also filed against John N. Sievers in a suit of the First State Bank of Gresham for $125.

WELCOME GIVEN FOR PRESIDENT IS TRIUMPHAL

NEW YORK, July 8.—Escorted by a fleet of warships, the transport George Washington, bringing President Wilson home from France, passed quarantine and moved into New York harbor at 1:30 P. M. today. There began at once such a triumphal welcome as has never been accorded any other arrival at the nation's metropolises.

NEW YORK, July 8.—President Wilson, on his return to the United States today, brought with him the American draft of the German peace treaty and several protocols, which he will present to the senate Thursday. The German treaty makes 450 printed pages, with French and English texts side by side. It differs in many respects from the original draft which was published in the United States, but in essentials it follows the original draft.

The president also has with him the treaty by which the United States promises to assist France if she is attacked by Germany, which he may present with the treaty and the message which he will read to congress.

The message, which the president wrote on board the George Washington, contains about 5000 words and deals mainly with the general phase of the war and peace.

NEW HOME PURCHASED FOR USE OF ENTERPRISE

The Morning Enterprise will have new quarters by reason of a newspaper consolidation effected here Tuesday. Negotiations were concluded Tuesday morning for the consolidation of the Clackamas County Banner and the Oregon City Courier, two weekly papers, under the name of the Banner-Courier, with Hal E. Hoss, manager of the Banner, in charge of the consolidated property.

The Banner-Courier, after this week, will be issued from the Banner office on Main and Ninth streets, and as soon as the Courier plant is moved from the building it has occupied for the last five years, the structure will be enlarged and remodeled and will become the home of the Enterprise, which has occupied its present home on the second and third floors of the Bank of Oregon City building for more than 30 years.

C. W. Robey, for several years editor and manager of the Courier, has become connected with the printing and bookbinding departments of the Enterprise.

The consolidation, which has been under way for several months, is the natural result of an overcrowded field, and the entire business, plant and good will of the Courier has been purchased by the Banner corporation, and the Courier building has been purchased by the Enterprise.

WAR CHIEF OF PRUSSIA MUST FACE TRIAL SOON

LONDON, July 3.—The former German emperor will soon be placed on trial. Premier Lloyd George made this announcement in the house of commons today in his report on the peace negotiations. The German army, the premier said, was at present inadequate to disturb the peace of the feeblest of the neighbors of Germany.

The premier declared that the tribunal which would try the former emperor would sit in London.

The terms of the treaty with Germany in some respects were terrible, the premier said, but terrible were the deeds which justified it and still terrible would have been the consequences if Germany had succeeded.

German officers who had committed appalling crimes, the premier added, would also be placed on trial.

Mr. Lloyd George declared that the British delegation has taken a stand resolutely opposing any attempt to put a predominantly German population under Polish rule.

CHARACTER OF CARVER ASSAILED HE CHARGES

Upon the heels of strife of a serious character in the two paper mill union labor organizations here, a suit has been filed by W. E. Carver, a member of the pulp and sulphite union and an employee of the Hawley Pulp & Paper Co., against W. R. Smith, representative of the international paper makers' union, for $15,000 damages for defamation of character.

Carver alleges two causes of action, asking for a judgment of $5,000 in one instance and $10,000 in another. Smith is accused of terming Carver a "liar, fraud, crook, skunk and thief," and is said to have used these words in the presence of J. C. Williamson, George Williamson, Mrs. Beckman, A. Byron and John Doe Simpson at a labor meeting on June 28, and to have said, "He is everything but a man."

One of Carver's lower limbs is crippled, but he is able to perform manual labor, and was formerly an elevator operator in the Masonic building. After he joined the union, he permitted the use of a pool table that he owned at the union headquarters, and some weeks ago he demanded, in the courts, money for the sale of the table, contending that the unions agreed to purchase it. Along with T. J. McGrath, president of the pulp and sulphite union, he has been antagonistic to Smith and to George Dunmire, who is the business agent of both labor organizations.

Smith came here last year from the East, primarily to conduct the affairs of the unions during the paper mill strike, and has been in the Northwest much of the time since. Carver maintains that by reason of Smith's utterances, he will be unable to obtain any position of trust.
