

DRY LAW UPHELD
BY HIGHER COURTDISTRICT ATTORNEY HEDGES
WINS IMPORTANT CASE
AT SALEM

WILBUR MUST SERVE TIME

Version of Law Held by Judge J. U.
Campbell is Approved by Supreme Court

Holding the indictment sufficient, and also that no errors were committed during the trial, the supreme court Tuesday affirmed the conviction of Julius Wilbur, proprietor of the Friars' club, for violation of the prohibition law. The opinion was written by Justice Moore and affirmed the decision of Circuit Judge Campbell, of Clackamas county.

Intoxicants for the sale of which Wilbur was convicted, it was alleged, had been sold at the Friars' club by one of his employees, and, besides contending that he could not be convicted for the acts of his agent, Wilbur also alleged that the indictment was insufficient because it did not give the name of the purchaser of the liquor.

"As the general prohibition statute, now in force in Oregon, makes it unlawful to sell intoxicating liquor for beverage purposes, it is believed the indictment in the case at bar is sufficient without naming the purchaser, and that the statute, authorizing such omission, does not violate the clause of the constitution invoked," said the court in disposing of the latter question.

Referring to the former question, the court said that "if the principal would avoid conviction for an alleged violation of law in such a manner, he must not keep or have about his premises and under his control alcoholic beverages, which might be illegally sold by his agent or servant on account or for his benefit."

Friends of prohibition congratulated District Attorney Gilbert E. Hedges on the important victory he had achieved for the dry laws. Mr. Hedges defended the suit for Clackamas county after Wilbur had been convicted for selling liquor. He also prosecuted Wilbur during the trial of the case.

When the point in dispute was before Judge J. U. Campbell, of the circuit court, he held with Mr. Hedges that the indictment was sufficient in itself and did not need to name the buyer. This contention is upheld by the supreme court of the state.

Wilbur was sentenced to six months in jail and a fine of $300 by Judge Campbell. He has 20 days to make other legal moves and if he is unsuccessful must begin his sentence then, the authorities have declared.

PEOPLE BLAMED
FOR CONDITIONSTEMPTATIONS PUT IN WEAK
MEN'S WAY, DECLARES
GOV. CARLSON

Declaring that the people themselves were largely to blame for the conditions that prevail and that the public provides many of the temptations, and, when weak men fall, clamors for revenge, Geo. A. Carlson, former governor of Colorado, gave what one chautauquiste said last night was the "soldest speech heard at Gladstone in many years." Governor Carlson said:

"Civil progress can come only by projecting individual effort into the government. No thought is more vital to the citizen than his relation to the state. Duty makes it necessary to throttle the pleas of the flesh, and since we have entered the world war, the people have come deep and hard thinking to do. However, the war may carry some recompense, for out of it the day may be hastened when service will be the ideal all over the globe. America's example of entering the conflict for Liberty may be the impetus that will carry the ideal to realization.

"Our enemy is at the front; his sword is drawn, he is united, and it behooves America to stand solidly behind her declaration of independence and down the autocrat. The descendants of the American Revolution, of the Civil war, cannot go back. Their unbounded loyalty and devotion to the cause is the price of progress they must pay. It may be a tremendous price, but out of it may come the birth of a world nation to bind the hearts of the whole people to Liberty."

Governor Carlson told of the killing of a policeman who had been active in suppressing the activities of bootleggers and he declared that it was the respectable man who made bootlegging possible that also shared the responsibility for the murder, even though his hand did not actually

EDUCATORS SHOWN
MILLS OPERATINGRECEPTION ALSO TENDERED
VISITORS AT HISTORIC Mc-
LOUGHLIN HOME

Five hundred school teachers, delegates to the convention of the N. E. A. in Portland this week, visited points of interest in Oregon City yesterday and attended a reception given in their honor at the historical home of Dr. John McLoughlin, father of Oregon City. The educators were shown through the Hawley Pulp and Paper mill, the Oregon City Manufacturing plant and the mills of the Crown-Willamette company in West Linn. They also viewed Willamette Falls, the source of power for the mills named.

At the Hawley mill they were presented with souvenir passes to the plant, as the buildings are guarded by soldiers of the 3rd Oregon and strangers are not allowed inside. The passes were printed on pulp. Expert papermakers acted as guides for the visitors and explained the methods of manufacture as they passed by the immense machines.

At the McLoughlin home the visitors were treated to loganberry juice and cakes and roses and other flowers were showered upon them.

THREE START SUITS FOR DIVORCE HERE SATURDAY

Three divorce actions were started in the circuit court here Saturday. Mrs. Hazel Maryott claims her husband, Newton L. Maryott, abused her and continually attempted to borrow money from her mother, Mrs. Maryott's mother lives with her daughter and contributes half of the living expenses, according to the complaint, and buys much of the clothing for a minor child. The couple was married in Seattle, June 17, 1913. Mrs. Maryott asks the custody of the child.

Mrs. Etta McCoy would be free from Virgil McCoy, who, she charges, deserted her. They were married in Seattle, October 8, 1912, and have no children.

As a sort of New Year's resolution, John L. Wood left Mrs. Minnie Wood January 4, 1913, her complaint for a divorce claims. They were married in Portland, April 20, 1912. His last known address was 510 Eighth street, Vancouver, Wash.

WOMAN ARRESTED WHEN SHE CALLS FOR CAMERA

Constable D. E. Frost was reading a newspaper in Judge John N. Sievers' office Thursday evening when Delia Schlegel walked in and inquired for a camera which she had left at Clackamas station a few days previous. Frost recognized the woman as the person wanted by Sheriff W. J. Wilson for the alleged theft of clothing belonging to Mrs. Hayward, of Clackamas, and he called the sheriff, who placed the woman under arrest. The officers said she was wearing some of the clothing at the time.

She was taken to Clackamas later in the evening and returned the clothing. Friday morning she paid for them and was allowed to go. The young woman was formerly Mrs. Leonard Mann, but was divorced last June. She has figured in other affairs on the police records in the past several years, according to the officers. Miss Schlegel paid for the clothing Friday morning and was allowed to go.

CALL PROVES HOAX

Sheriff Unable to Find Threatening
Husband at Jennings Lodge

Answering an urgent call to come to Jennings Lodge late Sunday night, Sheriff W. J. Wilson and Constable Jack Frost searched in vain for the man supposed to be causing the trouble. The officers were summoned by telephone by a man who said it was a case of life and death. When they arrived on the scene they learned that Mrs. Ruby Hancock, who figured in a raid on a Portland house recently, had seen her husband near her home and she declared he threatened to harm her. No trace of the husband, George Hancock, could be found by the officers.

Grammar Students Graduate

Graduating exercises were held by the grammar school students of Milwaukie Friday evening. Prof. J. E. Calavan, county school superintendent, delivered an address and Mrs. Pearl D. Wissing, chairman of the school board, presented the diplomas. The graduates were tendered a flower shower at the close of the program and were nearly covered by the flowers. Misses Bernice and Anne Fisch played a piano duet and Mrs. Howell gave a violin solo.

Asks $15 Alimony

Asking the custody of a minor child and $15 a month alimony, Mrs. Bertha M. Prain has started suit for divorce from Jack Prain, whom she married in this city November 21, 1913. Mrs. Prain claims her husband deserted her July 3, 1916.

LOOK FOR YOUR WAR
DRAFT NUMBER HERE
OR IN COURT HOUSENumbers on Registration Cards Have No Connection With New Numbers Which Will Be Ones Used In the Drawing

Below are printed the "serial numbers" by which the men who have registered for war will be drawn. These are the official numbers and if you are drafted into the service it will be by the number preceding your name in the following authentic list. These numbers are different from those on the individual registration cards which were placed there for purposes of identification and have no connection with the drawing. The time for the drawing has not been set. Due publicity will be given the fact when it occurs.

The following rules are taken from the regulations prescribed by the president and were chosen with care by the editor of the Courier. They give the pertinent features of the draft regulations in regard to the manner in which men will be chosen or exempted and the method of appeal from the decision of the local board.

The president will authorize the governor of each state and territory and the commissioners of the District of Columbia to apportion for him the quotas to be drawn and furnished by the several local boards within each such state, territory or the District of Columbia.

The president will also authorize the governor of each state and territory and the commissioners of the District of Columbia to allot to counties and to cities of 30,000 population and over the credits to which such counties and cities are entitled for enlistment in the National Guard and in the Regular Army as provided by statute.

A list of such persons so designated shall be made by such board, showing their names and residences, the order of their liability for service, and their respective "serial numbers." This list shall be posted in the offices of the respective boards, in a place accessible to public view.

Within the same time, three days, if practicable, the local board shall send by mail to each person so designated notice of such fact. The local boards will first make the physical examination of all persons so designated in accordance with the provisions of the regulations and of special regulations which will be issued in due course. Local boards will bear in mind that all persons accepted by them will be reexamined for physical disability by the Army surgeons when such persons arrive at the rendezvous camps.

The physical examination having been completed, the board will next consider the matter of exemptions from service. The local board will issue certificates of exemption to all those whom it exempts under these regulations. The local board will issue a certificate of discharge to each person whom it discharges under these regulations. These certificates of exemption and of discharge will be on forms provided by the Provost Marshal General, and shall be absolute, conditional or temporary, as the case may require.

The local board shall also, within the time specified, two days, send by mail to each person who has been certified to the district board having jurisdiction as called for service and not exempted or discharged, a notice advising him of this fact.

Appeals may be taken from the final decisions of the local boards to the district boards, either by the person who has been called or by the person who filed the claim for exemption or discharge in respect of such person or by the government.

The business of the district board will be, first, to hear appeals, and second, to exercise original jurisdiction in the matter of claims made for discharge by persons engaged in certain industries, including agriculture. After the closing of proofs in any particular case of appeal from the local board the district board shall decide the case, and shall notify the person of the decision. If the decision is against the person in whose behalf it is made, such person stands as called for military service.

If the decision of the board is that the person should be discharged, it shall issue to the person a certificate to that effect. The regulations prescribe the procedure to be followed by the district board to keep itself advised as to the holders of these certificates, and for the modification or withdrawal thereof.

Each district board shall certify, on a form prepared by the Provost Marshal General for that purpose, to the adjutant general of the state, territory, or District of Columbia, as the case may be, the serial numbers, names and detailed addresses of all persons called by local boards within the jurisdiction of such district board who have not been exempted or discharged. Upon receipt of such certification the adjutant general shall by mail notify each man whose name has been so certified that he has been selected for military service and shall order him to report in person at a specified time and place, to be fixed pursuant to advice from the adjutant general of the army, for military service. From the time so specified each man so notified shall be in the military service of the United States.

Detailed regulations governing the last step of the execution of the law—the assembling of selected persons and the posting of them to the colors—will be prescribed hereafter.

The entire list is not printed this week because of lack of space, but the additional names and numbers will be printed next week. The list is posted in the court house.

URGE COUNCIL TO
NAME INSPECTORWATER COMMISSIONERS SAY
INCREASE IN WATER WASTE IS ALARMING

A water inspector with powers to punish violators of the water laws is sought by the water commissioners, who presented a petition to the city council Thursday night asking that body to grant the request. The petition points out an alarming increase in water waste and the commissioners say an inspector is necessary or expensive meters will have to be installed. The matter was referred to the commission and the city attorney to draw up an ordinance for the appointment of an inspector and make regulations governing use of the city water.

Two claims, presented to the council by Dr. Orel Welsh for $5 and $1.50 for professional services, were referred to the city physician, Dr. J. W. Norris, after Councilman Templeton, chairman of the finance committee, had objected to their payment. A claim for $42.50 for two doors on the city elevator was sent back to Frank Busch for reduction, the council agreeing that it was too high.

A resolution was adopted changing the grade of Main street at 18th and paving and grading Molalla avenue and Prospect and East streets was authorized and a resolution from the Women's club, of this city, was read endorsing the transfer of city property for the 13½ acres of land controlled by the water board and which it is proposed shall be used for a city park site.

Nine arrests were made during the month of June, according to the chief of police. Five of these were for drunkenness. One man was sent to the insane asylum and the other three arrests were for petty offenses.

ROOTERS GO WILD
OVER ONE-HANDERWILSONVILLE PLAYER MAKES
TWO PUT-OUTS AND ONE
ASSIST IN INNING

Chautauqua baseball fans simply "went wild" yesterday afternoon at the game between the Kirkpatrick and Wilsonville, which resulted in a score of 4 to 3 in favor of the latter aggregation.

The reason for the "insanity enthusiasm" was a one-armed phenomenon named Henry Hasselbrink, who plays right field for Wilsonville. Hasselbrink got two putouts and an assist in the first inning; he stole three bases after beating out three bunts and got a clean single in five times at bat, and scored two of the four runs made by Wilsonville.

Hasselbrink wears a glove on his only hand and when he made the assist that figured in the third out he removed the glove from his hand after catching the ball and made a perfect throw from right field that cut off a Kirkpatrick runner at third base. His brilliant playing was easily the feature. Wilsonville and the Oregon City Redmen will play today and tomorrow.

FIVE DIVORCES GRANTED
BY JUDGE J. U. CAMPBELL

Five divorces were granted by Circuit Judge J. U. Campbell here Friday and one new divorce complaint was filed.

Olein M. Ulshoeffer claims Claire Ulshoeffer deserted her in October, 1915. They have three children and were married in Oregon City, July 29, 1911. She asks for the children.

Gladyes New was granted a divorce from Jefferson New and she was restored her maiden name, Gladyes Hull. Minnie Hendricks was given the custody of an adopted child and a divorce from Robert E. Hendricks.

Susie Carter McCormack may resume her maiden name, Susie Munce Carter. She was given a divorce from Homer McCormack.

Pearl Sexton was divorced from B. D. Sexton. She may resume her maiden name, Pearl C. Shoffer.

J. A. Covington was divorced from Etta B. Covington.

CITY WILL CUT GRASS

Property Owners In Milwaukie Warned to Clear Up Premises

Unless the property owners cut the grass and weeds in front of their property in Milwaukie, the city officials will have the work done and charge the owners, it was agreed at a meeting of the Milwaukie council. The council approved the engineer's estimate for the improvement of 31st street and ordered several crossings repaired.

Crowd Attends Lecture

The lecture given by Rev. J. W. MacCallum under the auspices of the Loyal Order of Moose in the Congregational church Friday night was attended by a large audience. Rev. MacCallum took for his subject "The Land of the Claymore and Heather."

GOOD PROGRAMS

AT GLADSTONE

WIDE INTEREST EVERYWHERE

Willamette Valley Southern Will Run
Special Trains To Chautauqua
Grounds Next Three Days

Chautauqua opened Tuesday morning bright and early, with a corking good program, a good attendance and a "tent city" snugly arranged in Gladstone Park sheltering about 800 people. The first day's program was enjoyed by nearly 2,000 people. The big Chautauqua runs for thirteen days, and the last program will be given on Sunday night, July 22.

There is everywhere a wide interest in the Chautauqua throughout Clackamas county. The Willamette Valley Southern will run special excursions on Friday, Saturday and Sunday of this week from points as far south as Molalla, and trains will return after the evening performance in the big auditorium.

Everyone is talking most highly of the program. There is a wealth of high class entertainment, recreative and intellectual features that please all.

Every man, woman and child in Oregon City should be at the park Friday, the 13th. It will be Oregon City day, and the big feature is Lo-Zito's Royal Venetian Band.

Next week's program will feature the "Chimes of Normandie" Company, the Onagawa Japanese troupe, James Goddard, great baritone, the Smith-Spring-Holmes Co., and many other stellar attractions.

The program for the next three days follows:

FRIDAY, JULY 13th—"Oregon City Day"—Morning, 8:00-12:00, Summer School and Junior Chautauqua Band; 10:00, sermon, lecture, "The Curstone Critic and His Wife," Rev. W. C. Buckner; 11:00, Forum, "March of the Young Brigade," Miss Gladys Hannon; 1:30, Prelude, Lo-Zito's Band; 2:00, Community Lecture, "The Adventure of Being Human," Lorene Wilson; 3:30, Base Ball, Oregon City Redmen vs. Kirkpatrick; 7:30, Grand Concert, Jos. LoZito and Royal Band; Popular Selections, Mary Adel Hays.

SATURDAY, JULY 14th—Morning, 8:00-12:00, Summer School and Junior Chautauqua; 10:00, sermon, lecture, "A Man Four-Square," Rev. W. C. Buckner; 11:00, forum, Oregon Consumer's league; 1:30, prelude, Wassar Co.; 2:00, lecture, "Misunderstood Mexico," W. L. Mellinger; 3:30, baseball, Oregon City Redmen vs. Kirkpatrick; 7:30, prelude, Wassar Co.; Moving Picture Lecture, Mawson Antarctic Co.

Guthrie; 1:30, special music, Tyrolean Alpine Singers; 2:00, sermon, "What's Under Your Hat?," James Whitcomb Brougher; 4:00, special concert under direction of Hartridge G. Whipp featuring Gaul's "Holy City" by Chautauqua Chorus of 100 voices, assisted by leading soloists of Portland; 7:30, Tyrolean concert, Graus Alpine Singers; 8:15, lecture sermon, "Playing the Game," Wood Briggs.

Navy Recruits Banquet

Life is not all dreary drills and rigid regulations at the naval training station in San Francisco bay, according to a letter received from Mitchell Story, formerly of this city, who is stationed at Goat Island. He says the Fourth of July furnished the occasion for a big "spread" for the boys at the station and that all of the Oregon recruits are enjoying themselves while getting ready to take their places on the battle ships of America.

Carpenters Install Officers

Officers were installed by the Carpenters' union at a meeting here Saturday night and about 35 new members were initiated into the union. The officers are H. C. Tozier, president; E. A. Parker, vice-president; Thomas Cook, financial secretary; Glen Mills, recording secretary; Mr. Eby, conductor; W. Snidow, Gilbert Terry and R. Lowry, directors.

Would Collect on Lost Note

Giuseppe Bisio has started suit to collect $600 on a promissory note alleged to have been given by Severino Bisio September 13, 1916. The complaint states that the note was lost in Bend, Ore., some time in October, 1916, and that the defendant was notified but has failed to pay. Six per cent interest is asked.

Willamette Pilot Fined

Justice of the Peace John N. Sievers fined Captain G. C. Skinner $10 and Leo Geher, of Wasco, five dollars for speeding Saturday. Captain Skinner is a Willamette river pilot. Both men were arrested by Motorcycle Officer H. E. Meades.

VITAL TRUTHS ARE TOLD BY JOHNSONLECTURER INTERPERSES HIS OBSERVATIONS WITH WIT-TY STORIES

"I am not here to entertain and please. I am here to tell a few vital truths and leave on the first train," said Dr. Andrew Johnson, noted speaker, who opened the Chautauqua lecture course before 2500 people at Gladstone park last night. Then Dr. Johnson proceeded to do all three of these things.

His "vital truths" were interspersed with humorous stories that not only pleased his audience but kept them in a continuous uproar of laughter during the hour that he occupied the platform. In his lecture, which he calls "Eli and Dennis," Dr. Johnson touches on many phases of human endeavor and shows several methods by which he believes conditions might be changed for the better.

"In this country we emphasize the dollar mark. This is shown most forcibly in the manner by which we have entered the war. When we needed men we passed a conscription law to force the men to join whether they wish it or not. On the other hand, when we wanted money we asked for volunteers. Now I believe in the conscription law because the man who refuses to defend America should not be allowed to remain here, but we ought also to conscript the money necessary to carry the conflict to a successful conclusion," declared Dr. Johnson.

Dr. Johnson's remarks were greeted with an prolonged round of applause. He said that the community that squanders its child life is wasting its opportunity and pointed out that a guardian is appointed only for orphans who have inherited money and not for children whose parents died leaving nothing.

He admonished his audience to get a hold on the boys and girls and keep them from becoming sinners instead of wasting too much time on the reformation of sinners. Referring to the title of his lecture, Dr. Johnson said:

"I know a man who gets all he can and cuns all he gets. When he dies he will leave a pile of money behind and as his coffin is silently lowered into the grave we'll say he 'got there Eli.' There is the other fellow who has always been ready to help promote the public interest, who gives his time and his money that his community may be a better place in which to live. When he dies, he'll probably leave nothing, and his saddened friends will kindly remark, 'he's a gone Dennis.'"

Dr. Johnson declared that the

SERIOUS CHARGES
AGAINST ROTTERYOUNG MAN HELD IN COUNTY JAIL IN DEFAULT OF
$2,000 BAIL

Paul Rotter, of 1106 Monroe street, this city, is held in the county jail on a statutory charge in default of $2,000 bail which was fixed by Justice of the Peace John N. Sievers Saturday after listening to testimony in the case.

Rotter was taken into custody by Chief of Police Lee French as the latter was talking to the father of the girl named in the complaint. The prisoner was bound over to the grand jury after evidence for the state had been presented by District Attorney Gilbert E. Hedges.

The case promises to develop considerable interest here as the girl's people are prominent residents of this city. Rotter's parents also live here. He was arrested about a year ago on a vagrancy charge.

GET YOUR RECEIPTS

Number Who Gave to Red Cross
Makes Individual Reply Impossible

Receipts for the amounts donated to the Red Cross in the nationwide drive recently are being sent out as rapidly as possible, said E. G. Caulfield, treasurer of the Oregon City chapter, yesterday, but owing to the large demand for receipt books all over the state it has been impossible to get sufficient of the blanks. The receipts are being sent in batches to the school clerks of the various districts and persons who contributed to the fund can facilitate matters by calling on the clerks for their receipts, as considerable expense and work would be involved in sending them by mail, said Mr. Caulfield.

Portland Contractor is Fast Man

J. P. Whitlock, engineer in charge of the construction of the bridge over the Willamette at Salem, was fined $10 by Justice of the Peace John N. Sievers, Monday, for speeding his automobile on the highway near this city. Other speeders arrested by Motorcycle Officer H. E. Meades are C. J. Crough, E. J. McClung and Mrs. Carl Whitman.
