Mrs. Chris Rivers has just returned from the coast where she has been spending the past few weeks traveling with her son and his family, of Gladstone.

The grange will not hold its regular monthly meeting Saturday, the 28th. They are going with the Relief corps and the G. A. R. to the Oaks, on their annual outing.

Rev. and Mrs. Jones, now of Ione, Ore., are spending their vacation at Gladstone park. They took in Chautauqua and are staying over for the Bible conference. Mr. Jones was formerly pastor at Parkplace. They are making a great many calls. Everyone is glad to see them again. They took dinner with Mrs. Brayton on Monday.

Mrs. Myrtle Hansell, formerly Miss Holmes, is visiting at her home here for a while. Mr. Hansell came with her, but hurried away because of business.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Brown Hiesse, ro@onesettz -i have moved to Sheridan, Ore. They left Saturday afternoon. They want to be near one of their sons, who is in poor health. It was a little hard for them to go, as they had been here for twenty-seven years.

Mrs. Griep and her son moved into their new house Sunday. The house was built on the property joining their old place, and is very home-like and cozy.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold, formerly of Clackamas, moved back again last week. They came here to be near their son.

STAFFORD

Winter wheat begins to turn, pastures are getting dry.

Autos by the dozen took old and young to Chautauqua last week and quite a number helped to make up the twelve hundred who attended the Pioneer association last Thursday, and took the ride to Multnomah Falls on Friday.

Almost the whole country met on Saturday evening to give Mr. Aerni and family a good-bye handshake and a God speed to their new home, as they are shortly to move to Logan. They will be missed by their many friends.

It is reported that Conrad Schrader's family have the whooping cough.

Mrs. Gage went to Portland last Wednesday and returned home Sunday, having attended the meetings of the Pioneers, attended to some business, done some shopping and made numerous calls upon old friends.

The Ladies' Circle met with Mrs. Thomas on Thursday and began work for the Red Cross.

Eva Holton has been quite ill. Her father came to see her on Wednesday and left Thursday.

The crusher on the hill by the Hayes house has broken down twice recently, but under the direction of Supervisor Peters it looks as though we might keep out of the mud a little next winter, for which we shall be duly grateful.

Zack Ellingsen and daughter, Christina, have gone for an outing at Long Beach.

CHERRYVILLE

Haying all done here.

Jack Frost made his appearance here Sunday night, doing but little damage, but up at Welche's potatoes and beans were badly nipped.

Hay was all secured here without ever being touched by any rain.

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Mrs. Quinn's Experience Ought to Help You Over the Critical Period.

Lowell, Mass.—"For the last three years I have been troubled with Change of Life and the bad feelings common at that time. I was in a very nervous condition, with headaches and pain a good deal of the time so I was unfit to do my work. A friend asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which I did, and it has helped me in every way. I am not nearly so nervous, no headaches or pain. I must say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the best remedy any sick woman can take."

—Mrs. MARGARET QUINN, Rear 253 Worthen St., Lowell, Mass.

Other warning symptoms are a sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backaches, dread of impending evil, timidity, sounds in the ears, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness, inquietude, and dizziness.

If you need special advice, write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass.

POULTRY PICKINGS.

During the period of high egg production many eggs are cracked, broken and lost because ample nest room is not available. Give chickens plenty of ventilation at night. Give them enough floor space in their hovers. Don't force them to stay in small quarters. Put in fresh nesting material often and insure clean eggs. Gather the eggs at least once daily. Keep them in a cool, dry place. Eggs absorb odors very rapidly. Keep them away from decaying vegetables, onions, kerosene or other strongly odorous things. Market the eggs regularly, two or three times a week if possible.

GREENS FOR FOWLS.

Poultry Not on Range Must Be Supplied With Succulent Feed.

If there is a shady spot in the back yard not suited to other garden crops it may be possible to grow some green feed for the chickens on it. Oats and field peas, before the hottest weather comes, and millet and cowpeas later in the summer, if sown thickly, probably will yield cuttings of feed that will be much relished in the small henry. While such a practice may not be in harmony with the best cultural advice, many city dwellers with limited space will wish to utilize all available garden room this season, even for only small returns.

Dense, continuous shade under old trees and shrubbery that have drawn heavily on soil plant food obviously will be of little value for this purpose. But in many back yards ground shaded by buildings and small trees, not wholly removed from the day's sun, might well be expected to produce some green stuff for a small flock. If the chicken pen is large enough a small sowing made inside and protected by woven wire with one inch meshes stretched about two inches above the ground may be made. This allows the chickens to pick off the green blades as they grow through the netting without injuring the roots.

Another way to furnish green feed to hens not on range is by sprouting oats in trays or boxes. This method is used by many poultrymen for large and small flocks. The oats are soaked for twelve hours in warm water and then spread out in a layer one-half to one and one-half inches deep on a floor or in a tray or tier of flats which have openings or holes or a one-fourth inch mesh wire bottom covered with burlap, so that the water drains freely. The oats may be stirred daily and sprinkled or allowed to sprout without stirring until ready for feeding. They are usually fed when the sprouts are from one to one and one-half inches long, although some poultrymen prefer to allow the sprouts to grow two or three inches long before feeding. Oats need a moist and warm atmosphere in which to sprout quickly, so that it is necessary to furnish heat or to keep them in a warm room during the winter, while they may be sprouted out of doors during the rest of the year. It takes from six to ten days to sprout oats, depending on the temperature. The oats are fed—roots, sprouts and all—at the rate of about one square inch as they grow in the tray to each fowl.

Disinfectant For Hen Houses.

A good disinfectant spray is made at home in this way: In one gallon of kerosene dissolve one pound of naphthalene flakes. Let it stand for a day or so before using, giving it a good shake from time to time. A box painted on the inside with this may be used to put lice infected fowls in, covered with a burlap cover, and left for awhile. This is a good treatment to give a turkey hen when taken from the nest and before she is to be shut up with her brood, to scatter trouble over them. She may be kept in for eighteen or twenty minutes.

Chicks In Summer.

Placed on a fresh range, chicks will find bugs and worms and require less feed. The edge of the cornfield is an ideal place for summer chicks. Here are some essentials for making summer chicks grow well: Provide shade. Put the brooder or coop under a tree or else make a small artificial shade. Spade the ground under the sunshade to give the chicks a place to shuffle.

Keep Down Insect Pests.

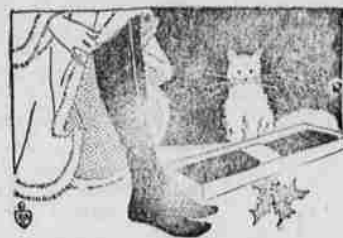

Extra precautions should be taken in early summer to keep the young chickens free from lice and disease, both of which cause thousands to die every year.

THE WEARY WAY

Daily Becoming Less Wearisome to Many in Oregon City

With a back that aches all day, With rest disturbed at night, Annoying kidney and bladder troubles.

'Tis a weary way, indeed.

Doan's Kidney Pills are especially for kidney trouble.

Are endorsed by Oregon City citizens.

Mrs. Henry Larson, 905 John Adams St., Oregon City, says: "I was subject to backache for several years. It used to be so bad I couldn't rest well day or night. When I was on my feet a great deal my back ached like a toothache. Nights I couldn't get to sleep on account of the constant pain over my kidneys. My kidneys also acted too freely. I felt all played out and had no ambition to do anything. The least exertion made me tired and nervous. Since I have been taking Doan's Kidney Pills my back feels stronger and my kidneys act more regularly. Doan's have proved beneficial in every way."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Larsen had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

About the State

Resume of the News of the Week from All Parts of Oregon

Eighteen were injured when the O. W. R. & N. crack Overland Limited passenger and mail train No. 17 crashed head on into a 2200-ton freight at Hindman, 16 miles east of Baker, at 6:20 o'clock Monday morning. One man may die from the effects of his injuries.

The known injured are:

W. D. McAllister, La Grande, brakeman.

James Grouch, La Grande, fireman, freight train, injured ankle and rib.

George Marin, Council Bluffs, Ia., transient, injured pelvis, hurt internally.

Slightly injured:

Homer Gilliam, Baker; N. M. Vilma, Portland; J. E. Vilma, Portland;

William B. Mattison, Seattle; Mrs. Andrew Howat, Salt Lake City; Philip Schmidt, mail clerk, Baker; Allen E. Marcer, colored waiter, Omaha, Neb.; M. E. Ford, colored porter, Portland.

As a result of a raid at Astoria on the Hammond Lumber company's steamer Santiam Monday morning by F. J. Richard, special agent of the state, Sheriff Burns and Deputy Spicer, about 40 quarts of whisky were confiscated. A portion of the liquor was found in a locker in the captain's cabin and the remainder was in the fore-castle.

In Justice Carney's court Monday Captain L. A. Nelson, master of the Santiam, was found guilty of having liquor in his possession illegally and was fined $150. Seven of the steamer's crew were found guilty on a similar charge and were fined $50 each.

At the hearing Monday of the Mount Hood Railroad company, which has asked the state Public Service commission for a 15 per cent increase on all freight, a strong protest was made by apple growers.

During the course of the proceedings, attended by Commissioners Campbell and Corey, Ashley Wilson, superintendent of the line, offered to withdraw the petition in so far as it pertained to the fruit itself. This failed to appease the orchardists, who declared that the increased rate on containers, spray materials and other commodities would be ruinous for them.

One hundred fire fighters were sent from Portland Monday night, with full equipment, to make war against forest fire in progress in the Crater national forest, near Prospect.

The order for this large company of fire fighters, specifying that they must be woodsmen, was given to A.

W. Jones, of the Municipal Employment bureau, at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon at the United States forest service office in Portland. At 5:30 Mr. Jones reported that the 100 men had been procured. They left last night at 7:30. The promptness with which the call was met is considered remarkable.

In the Two-Mile school district, where two buildings have burned down within the past year, the directors, at a recent meeting called an election for the purpose of voting on the construction of another building to replace the new one which was destroyed three weeks ago.

Considering the unusual fate which has pursued their efforts of the past to furnish the district a school house, the directors are considering the erection of a concrete building, as nearly fireproof as it may be constructed. Sheriff Gage has been requested to investigate the last fire.

William Riggan, convict at Salem, who recently confessed to the murder of William Booth near Willamina, also told the officers that he not only had knowledge of the Hill murders committed near Ardenwald several years ago, but that he was standing outside the door of the Hill home when the murders were committed, guarding the door while another man did the bloody deed.

It has been learned that the officers have been attempting to check up on this story, which involves one of the suspects arrested after the murder was committed, but who was released on an order of the court after an investigation had been made.

Frank J. Matzger, of Baker, formerly lieutenant in the Coast Artillery corps, Oregon National guard, arrived in Eugene Monday to enlist as a private in the organization.

Mr. Matzger, who has been the manager of the Oregon Fruit company's business at Baker for several years, gave up his commission at the time he left Eugene several years ago. Yesterday, in answer to his country's call for men, he resigned his position with the fruit company to enter the service. He has a wife and two children.

Miss Anna Taylor, of Baker, has received notice that part of her homestead near North Powder has been contested by the federal government on account of mineral deposits. This land has been examined several times before and was reported as non-mineral. Miss Taylor will have completed her three years in two months and wishes to prove up, as she is in poor health. This contest may delay her proof for some time.

Mrs. Capital A. Briscoe, wife of Dr. L. E. Briscoe, of Rogue River, died in Roseburg early Monday, following a few hours' illness. The newly-born child probably will live, according to the physicians. Mrs. Briscoe was 20 years of age and had resided here most of her life.

The Business of Getting On in the World

WHATEVER the future holds for you, your everyday actions are increasing the amount of it.

If your attitude toward money today is one of reckless disregard for the future, undoubtedly you are storing up trouble.

If it's the same tomorrow, more trouble.

But, if your thoughts are turned toward the sensible things that mean, finally, more money in your savings account, the danger of trouble, sometime in the future, diminishes.

Have you a savings account? Is it always uppermost in your mind? Does it receive a fair share of your income? Are you doing everything a sensible person should to avoid the troubles that overwhelm so many people, almost within speaking distance of you every day?

Have you a regular "bank day"?
