Straightened Him Up

Solomon Bequette, Flat River, Mo., writes: "Two years ago I was down on my back till I could hardly go. Foley Kidney Pills straightened me right up. I recommend them to all who have kidney trouble." Rheumatic pains, aching joints, sore and swollen muscles indicate that the kidneys are not properly filtering impurities from the blood. Foley Kidney Pills get right at the trouble and give prompt relief. Painful, irregular and sleep-disturbing bladder troubles also yield quickly to their tonic healing action.—Jones Drug Co.

DEATH CAMAS IS FOUND IN WILLAMETTE VALLEY

Death camas poisoning of sheep on a typical Willamette valley farm has led the Agricultural college extension service to investigate the distribution and control of that plant. Prof. W. E. Lawrence, assistant botanist of the experiment station, investigated the poisoning and makes the following report:

In the pasture where the sheep had died were found death camas plants in quantities sufficient to produce the death of several sheep and lambs. All parts of the plant are poisonous—bulb, stem, leaves, flower and fruit—to all animals, including man. It is known variously as sego, sego lily, and wrongly as lobelia. It is easily recognized in June by its conspicuous flowers which occur in small clusters of creamy white blossoms. It has grass-like leaves and an onion-like bulb.

When abundant in pastures it must be dug up root and branch or else sheep must be kept out. Cutting off the stem above ground is no help after the first year. Animals do not eat it voluntarily, but crop it incidentally, and a small amount of the plant is enough to produce death.

Further investigations of this and other poisonous plants of western Oregon will probably be made by Prof. Lawrence later in the present year.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists, 75c.

DAIRYING AND SOIL CULTURE

DISEASES OF COWS.

Bloat or Hoven Is Most Often Caused by Eating Wet Clover.

Bloat in cattle is also known as hoven, or tympanites. It is characterized by a filling up of the left flank and by the formation of gas, writes G. H. Conn, D. V. M., in Kimball's Dairy Farmer. It is brought about by a wide variety of conditions, but chiefly by eating spoiled feed or feed that is wet with dew or rain, or it may result from eating too fast, which produces indigestion, with a rapid fermentation and formation of gas. It may also result from choke, due to the closing of the gullet, which prevents the belching of the gas, and consequently the retention of gas causes the bloating. It may also result from the eating of frozen roots or grass or vegetables, such as turnips, cabbage, and the like. It is caused most often from eating clover which is wet with dew or rain and in many cases is fatal before the animal is found.

The swelling in the left flank becomes so great that it sometimes extends above the level of the back. Breathing becomes fast and difficult. The eyes have an anxious and painful expression. As bloating continues the animal shows symptoms of great pain and may reel and stagger when it walks. Death is caused from the pressing forward of the diaphragm upon the lungs, which results in asphyxiation.

If the animal is in immediate danger it should be tapped immediately. If it is not possible to procure immediately a trocar, which is made especially for tapping, use a sharp butcher or pocket knife. Do not attempt to procure antiseptics and sterilize the spot where the incision is to be made if the cow is in immediate danger. The animal should be tapped midway between the last rib and the point of the hip and about the same distance from the backbone. When the animal is not in immediate danger a rope gag is made by tying knots in a rope and placing this bunch of knots in the mouth and passing the ends of the rope up over the head, where they are tied. The animal by chewing the knots in an effort to dislodge them will cause the secretion of saliva with swallowing. The gas will then pass off by way of the gullet or esophagus.

There are several anti-ferments that are good for the treatment of bloat in preventing the formation of the gas. From two to four tablespoonfuls of spirits of turpentine given in one-half pint of linseed oil or in milk will sometimes be all that is required. Possibly the best treatment is one-half tablespoonful of formalin in one quart of water as a drench. This treatment has been credited to workers at the Kentucky State Agricultural college.

OVERALLS FOR HORSES.

Method of Protecting Animals From Flies In Hot Weather.

The following way of protecting horses against flies, described in Popular Mechanics, might be found useful in other regions than those mentioned:

During the summer months, in the Canadian agricultural communities adjacent to Hudson and James bays, farmers are forced to swathe their horses in heavy cotton overalls to save them from the painful bites of big bull flies. These insects are very prevalent in the fields and make necessary the use of coverings that will protect practically all of an animal's body. As a rule, the legs of a horse are left bare below the knees, but with this exception and that of his nose he is fully clothed. The hood that fits over the head covers the ears and has small openings to accommodate the eyes. When robed in this way the horses are able to work without serious interference.

See That Collars Fit.

Farm horses usually begin the spring's work in good condition and during the early spring and summer shrink rapidly in weight. Collars fit all right at the start, but soon the necks are smaller and the collars are loose, and if the weather is hot shoulder trouble begins. Then the "sweat" pad is put in to fill out the collar to fit the neck, which it does not do at all. The draft against the neck remains unchanged, and the poor horse goes ahead pushing against a collar that does not hug close to the neck. A good teamster will look to the collar adjustment every morning before he leaves the stable.

The Dairy Cow.

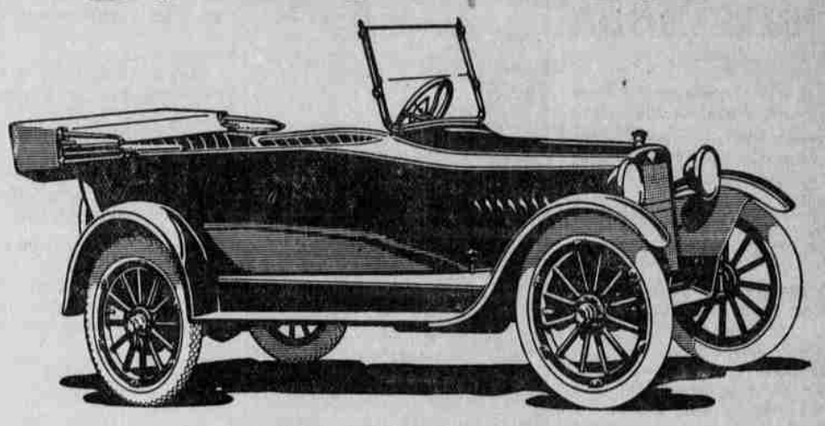
Give the dairy cow sufficient care and feed for best results and handle her products in the most sanitary way necessary for production of best human food.

Improve the Dairy Herd.

Weed out the poor producer cow. Use a pure bred sire. Save all calves from best producing cows.

EXCHANGE STOCK RANCH AND RANGE. 1120 acres; good land and ranch, 400 acres in cultivation, 300 acres or 400 acres more can be put in cultivation; mostly all under good barb wire fence; will produce fine wheat or rye; plenty of water for stock; fair buildings; 1 mile to school; 90 head Durham cattle; 45 cows and steers; balance young stock. Free of incumbrance. Must change climate on account health. Will exchange for farm in valley.—Dillman & Howland, 8th and Main street, Oregon City.

Compare this Car-- SAXON "SIX"



Price $1025.00 Oregon City

No Bigger Value Was Ever Offered for the Money--We stand behind it!

Read this unsolidited testimony--

"Last May, I purchased a Saxon 'Six' and on June 5th started on a long trip through New York State. Throughout the entire trip the car ran perfectly and I returned home without making a single mechanical adjustment.

"The Saxon 'Six' is light, staunch, and powerful—the three things necessary in a real car. I did not dealize just how powerful until I reached the northern part of New York State and made a three days' drive through the Adirondack Mountains. When it comes to hill-climbing the Savon 'Six' is certainly 'there' and for acceleration, well, forty miles an hour from a standing start in a city block is quite some record.

"Previous to buying my Saxon I owned several different makes of cars, but I have never received the value—dollar-for dollar—that I am getting out of my Saxon."

Obituaries

Eben E. Shute

Word has been received here of the death of Eben E. Shute, of Boyds, Wash., who was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Shute, of Maple Lane, and is well known at Clackamas. Mr. Shute is survived by his widow and two sons, Harlow and Hershell Shute, and two daughters, Mrs. Grace Soper and Mrs. Marguerite Hendricks, of Boyds; one sister, Mrs. George A. Brown, of Maple Lane, and a brother, Frank Shute, of Highland.

King Spurgeon

Many friends attended the funeral which was held from the Holman undertaking parlors Sunday afternoon. Rev. Curtis, pastor of the Christian church of Gladstone, preached the sermon and a quartet composed of Miss Marie Holmes, Mrs. M. E. Turner, Gilbert Hanson and Homer Hollowell sang sacred selections, with Miss Fayne Burdon at the piano. Many beautiful flowers covered the grave at Clackamas cemetery.

Mary Potter

Mrs. Mary Potter, of Clackamas station, died following a general collapse due to advanced age, at her home yesterday. Mrs. Potter was 87 years of age. She crossed the plains in 1852 and was married to William Guest, who was killed by Indians at Rogue River in 1855. In 1857, she married Edwin Potter at Jacksonville, Ore. She is survived by Mrs. E. J. Salef, of Los Angeles, Mrs. Lucy Budlong, of Vancouver, B. C., daughters; and John Guest, of Josephine county, and Geo. Potter, of Clackamas. The funeral date will be announced later.

Mrs. Louise Long

Mrs. Louise Long, wife of W. E. Long, of Gladstone, died at 10 o'clock Monday evening at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Scherzinger, of Clackamas Heights, of heart trouble, after being sick about two years. Mrs. Long was 27 years of age. She was married to Mr. Long in August, 1907, and three children were born to the union, two of whom survive. They are Charles and Johnny. A daughter, Aleta, died when she was three years of age. Others who survive are three sisters, Mrs. G. A. Spath, of Sherwood; Mrs. James McAnulty and Miss Alice Scherzinger, of Oregon City; and three brothers, John and Joseph Scherzinger, of Redondo Beach, Cal., and Leo Scherzinger, of Idaho. Funeral arrangements are being made by the Myers and Brady undertaking establishment. Interment will be in the Catholic cemetery, but the time has not been announced waiting word from Mrs. Long's brothers.

Robert Warner

Robert Warner, 61 years of age, foreman of the Crown-Willamette Paper company, complained to his wife that he was not feeling well when he returned from work Monday evening and, taking several sips from a cup of tea, he lay down upon a lounge and died in a few moments of heart failure. He is survived by his wife and a daughter, Miss Maud Warner; four brothers, Thomas Warner, of this city; Fred Warner, Powell River, B. C.; Charles and George, of Ontario, Canada, and a sister, Mrs. Robert Smith, of Rochester, N. Y.

Mr. Warner has been a resident of this city for 25 years, all of that time being employed by the Crown-Willamette company, in whose employ he had been in Califoronia before coming to Oregon.

Funeral services were held in the Congregational church here at 2:30 this afternoon. Rev. J. W. MacCallum delivered the sermon. Mr. Warner has been a deacon of the church for 25 years. He was a member of the Moose lodge, which attended the funeral in a body.

Burton T. Brown

Private Burton T. Brown, of Company I, Third Oregon Infantry, which has been stationed in Medford on duty for several months, committed suicide in the armory at 3:50 a. m. Sunday by shooting himself in the head with his rifle. Death was instantaneous. No cause is known for the act, except that he had complained of not having been able to sleep for several days. Brown was 19 years old, and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Brown, whose home is about five miles from Canby. He enlisted in the Oregon national guard several months ago. He was a member of the 1916 graduating class of the Canby high school.

No motive for his suicide could be ascertained at Canby, where the testimony of all seems to agree that he was of good reputation and well liked.

His brother, Donald Brown, went to Medford to bring the body to the former home. Another brother, Clifford, is stationed at Goat Island, having enlisted about the same time.

Funeral services were held at Canby yesterday morning. Interment was in Zion cemetery under the direction of the Holman undertaking establishment of this city.

Charles G. Marlborough

Charles G. Marlborough, of Oakland, Cal., died at Wilhoit Springs, Sunday evening, of Brights disease of the kidneys. The body was brought to the Holman undertaking parlors here and the funeral was held at two o'clock yesterday afternoon, interment being in Mountain View. Mr. Marlborough was 40 years of age. He came to Wilhoit two months ago in search of health.

Mrs. Marlborough and her sister, Mrs. Sarah Roberts, and a sister-in-law, Mrs. E. R. Roberts, were with Mr. Marlborough when he expired. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Marlborough, of Vermont, and is survived by two sisters and two brothers. Mrs. Marlborough was Miss Grace Roberts, of Oregon City, where the couple was married 10 years ago.

DR. HEMPSTEAD CALLED

Physician Accepts First Lieutenancy in Hospital Unit

Dr. Walter E. Hempstead, of this city, has accepted a commission as first lieutenant in the ambulance corps being raised under Dr. John W. Sellwood, of Portland. Dr. Hempstead expects to leave for American Lake, Wash., about August 1. He is a graduate of Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn., and came to this city five years ago from Oklahoma.

Auxiliary Organized

The mothers and friends of Company G, 3rd Oregon, have organized an auxiliary to do their bit to help those who have so nobly volunteered their services for their country, and have extended a cordial invitation to mothers and friends of this company to join the auxiliary or cooperate with us in any way they see fit, as we are very anxious to have all of Company G's mothers working together for our company's comforts and needs.
