Will Be in Operation in Short Time
Effort to Provide Free Toll
Is Under Way

When the Clackamas County Business Men's Association met on Thursday last and brought up the matter of furnishing means of transportation across the Willamette river until the new bridge is completed, a great big proposition was launched.

A committee of seven consisting of W. A. Huntley, James Brady, F. J. Toole, S. F. Scripture, Clarence Farr, Henry Streibig and M. D. Latourette was elected to formulate plans for a campaign to put a ferry on the river.

This committee met at once and organized with W. A. Huntley as chairman and began laying plans for raising money, operation, etc.

Further and more complete plans were laid at the following meeting two days later. Fred Morey offered to rent a barge to take charge of the preparation of the ways and to run said ferry on any plan agreeable to the committee.

The plan finally evolved was to form an association out of the Clackamas County Business Men's Association in order to give the matter concrete form and legal standing. The first step in this matter has been taken in the election of officers as follows, president, W. A. Huntley; vice-president, James Brady; secretary-treasurer, Arthur Beattie; board of directors, W. A. Huntley, J. A. Brady, Wm. Andresen, H. W. Streibig, C. P. Farr, H. Larsen, H. Straight.

The new organization will be incorporated under the name of The Oregon City-West Linn Ferry Company, Inc. The capitalization is placed at $5000 and shares at one dollar each. Each contributor will hold one share of stock for each dollar subscribed.

The money for financing the ferry has been raised by subscription chiefly from the business and professional men of Oregon City. To date about $4000.00 has been subscribed by private citizens and business men. And to this amount the Oregon City council has added $500.00.

It is probable that a contract will be awarded to Fred Morey to prepare the ways at Seventeenth Street and on the West side of the river and to operate the boat.

It is probable the operation will cover ten or twelve hours regularly with the remainder of the 24 hour day and night special service.

At this hour there is effort being put forth to furnish free transportation during regular hours.

The county court has recognized the value of the ferry to Clackamas county by giving material assistance. The plan of operation will be strictly cooperative. If there is any profit it will accrue to the subscribers including Clackamas County.

SHORT CHANGE MEN PUT UNDER ARREST

Several Business Houses Worked Before the Buncoes Were Halted
By City Police.

Two young men giving their names and addresses as W. N. Wishard, Berkeley apartments, and Ed. Garrison, 183 Holladay avenue, Portland, were arrested by Oregon City police as they were attempting a game of short change in Eddy's Dry Goods store on Saturday afternoon.

They had been in several stores, where they had tried to work their game, which was to buy an article and then confuse the clerk in the exchange of the money, claiming more than was due them. They got away with $10 at the Lents confectionery store where Mrs. Lents (the proprietor) notified the police. Chief May soon spotted the men and followed them into Eddy's store, and put them under arrest while attempting their swindle again.

On Monday they were taken before Judge Nobel who held them to the circuit court for trial. Both are about 24 years of age.

RESOLUTION URGES LOCAL EMPLOYMENT

Business Men's Association Appealed
To In Behalf of Clackamas
County Workmen

The Clackamas County Business Men's Association in special session assembled at the Oregon City Commercial Club parlors on Feb. 1st, 1922 at 8:00 P. M. having listened to the complaints of workmen of Oregon City that those in charge of the construction of the new bridge across the Willamette River at this City were employing outside men in preference to local Oregon City and West Linn laborers and skilled workmen, passed the following resolution:

That Whereas, it has been reported to the Clackamas County Business Men's Association that outside workmen are being employed on the Oregon City-West Linn Bridge in preference to home laborers and workmen, and

Whereas, the funds appropriated for said bridge are expended from the public treasury, and

Whereas, said bridge is paid for very largely out of local funds and,

Whereas, Oregon City is a working-man's town and the home of a large number of efficient skilled workmen and laborers, and

Whereas, many are now seeking employment,

Therefore, Be It Resolved: That the Clackamas County Business Men's Association go on record as being in favor of the employment, wherever possible, of Clackamas County and especially Oregon City and West Linn skilled workmen and laborers in the construction of said bridge, and that a copy of this resolution be sent to the State Highway Commission, representatives of the bridge contractors and to the press of Oregon City, and that the members of this body use all their influence to bring about such employment.

Red Men Plan Home In Oregon City

At Tenth and Water streets Wachen-Tribe 13 of the Improved Order of Redmen of this city will erect a modern fireproof lodge home. The lot has been purchased but the plans for building are tentative though it is expected that it will contain dining, gymnasium and club rooms in addition to the lodge room.

The site is a most desirable one, 65 foot front on the river and down town property. The Banner-Courier extends congratulations to Wachen-Tribe on their fine, progressive plans.

Church Advertising Discussed by Pastor

"Shall the Church Advertise" was the title of a very interesting sermon by the Rev. Caradoc Morgan, at the Congregational church last Sunday morning.

Declaring against sensation in advertising the speaker endorsed a dignified and consistent appeal for the church by public announcements through the medium of the press.

Outstanding among the speakers' statements were the following: "Any program of Church Advertising should have as its object the making of the church as the most potent factor in the life of the community."

"If the church has not been recognized in the general life of the community, it is not because the church has not the goods which the community needs most, but because the goods have not been presented and represented in such a way as to convince the people of the community of their value."

"The church is the conservator of the city's morals. It is the indicator which measures the moral status of the people."

"It is possible to make the church service sufficiently attractive and inviting as to appeal to the most cold and callous class in whom the spirit of public worship has become dormant."

"Jesus did not believe in empty seats. His command was 'Compel them to come in that my Father's house may be filled.'"

"In the gospels nowhere do we find any opposition to a legitimate and dignified program of church advertising in order to fill God's house."

"An empty seat is the heart-break of the preacher and the great sorrow of God."

"Empty seats are the most expensive things in the church. Like full seats they should be producing dividends—religious interest, voluntary service for the good of the city, and financial support."

If the church represents the greatest firm in the world, and has the goods that the world needs, no time should be lost, and no methods overlooked to herald this fact to the world. "Church advertising is a medium through which the public will be educated along religious lines. Indeed, would in the end be led to live Christian lives."

"Spiritual things need to be advertised as much as material things."

"In order to compete with secular agencies, which by their nature, and through lack of proper supervision are becoming a menace to society, the church should advertise."

NEAR EAST RELIEF RECEIVE FINE CONTRIBUTION

The Hawley Pulp and Paper company has turned over to H. G. Edgar county chairman of Near East Relief the contribution of the company and its employees secured in the campaign just closed the sum of $506.

The spirit shown by all in these contributions has been manifestly generous and sympathetic. The amount is noteworthy in this day of ceaseless drives. The men who labor are quick to respond when the facts are clearly presented and when the cause is just.

W. P. Hawley, Jr., has given much of time and effort in making this campaign a success. Many little bodies will be clothed and many walls of hunger stopped by this generous offering.

LAW ENFORCEMENT IS TOPIC OF DISCUSSION

Former Committee of One Hundred Is Reorganized For Civic Betterment

At the Congregational Church, on Monday night seventy-five men representing nearly every business, profession and industry in the community met together and reorganized the Committee of One Hundred. A committee of this kind and including many of the same members was a strong factor several years ago in putting over the program abolishing the saloons from Oregon City and later assisting materially in the prohibition campaign which resulted in a dry Oregon.

C. H. Dye was elected president; R. E. Cox, vice president; A. J. Ware, secretary. A review of condition in relation to law enforcement and law defiance was made.

C. H. Dye declared that the people of the city and county had responsibility in the matter and should act as officers in law enforcement.

Simon Macdonald cited instances to show conditions far superior to what they were in the wet days of yore.

C. Schubel took the stand that the Sunday closing of pool rooms is a great factor in law enforcement. During the past month these places have been closed on Sunday by order of Mayor Shannon with marked improvement over street loafing and immoral conditions.

Mayor Shannon spoke of the effort to enforce the law and the recent criticism on the administration for lax condition at certain dances, by the Legion, among whose membership he declared have been many violators. L. A. Henderson and Arthur Beattie, legion members, declared the ex-soldiers are victims of world conditions and that those guilty of drunkenness and other becoming conduct did not represent the legion as a whole.

Among others who took part were District Attorney Stipp who spoke of the work accomplished in bringing booze vendors and booze-boozers to justice and let it be known that his office is ready to assist. J. R. Bowland, Rev. H. G. Edgar and Rev. Caradoc Morgan, Max Telford, W. W. Woodbeck, R. W. Kirk, Rev. Thompson and Rev. Pettibone also took part in the discussion.

THIRD CITY HALL LEASE IS KILLED

Council Refuses by Vote of Four to Three to Accept Terms of Proposed Lease

With Councilman Bridges absent on account of quarantine over his home, the city dads at 7:30 last evening faced the biggest, most determined crowd of citizens, both men and women, who have been in the council room at one time since the days of long ago.

The usual reports were made and accepted and then the proposed lease for the city hall building was brought forward and then the fireworks began to boom.

J. E. Jack declared that the resolution passed at the last meeting was illegal as only 4 members of the council had voted for it; but more is required only in case of ordinance.

It was shown that the passage of the ordinance then before them meant instruction to the Mayor and Recorder to enter into lease with Justin and Montgomery, and that it would be necessary to give a deed of perpetual easement to alley back of Busch's store to Busch and Sons in consideration of the latter giving up their lease to the city property, and which lease has now 26 months to run.

Councilman Mount put up a winning fight, aided by Jack and Cross, against the ordinance declaring that the city ought not to give perpetual rights; that there was a thousand dollar bond connected with the transaction; that the city would be better off if it held the present lease over at the $600.00 now received from Busch and Sons than to get $150 per month offered by Justin and Montgomery. After a verbal tilt between Krassig and the speaker and councilman Pettibone, Metzner and Cross had reviewed the situation briefly, the vote record was: Ayes—Metzner, Pettibone, Krassig, V. A. Auker, Nays—Jack, Cross and Mount. Whereupon the mayor declared the ordinance lost and emphatically stated that since this was the third time the city had gone to the trouble and expense to pass such ordinance through first reading and then had killed it the third time on second reading such matter would never come up again while he is mayor. Thus ended for the present the leasing of the city hall building.

He was stationed at San Diego for two years and also at Fort Bliss, Texas. After his discharge he toured the southern part of California and also visited at Tia Juana, Mexico. After visiting his parents at Gladstone, he expects to be employed in Portland.

FARM CONFERENCE MAPS OUT GREAT PROGRAM

Move to Repeal the Eight
Hour Law Blocked by Labor Head

HAS HOT SESSION

Crop Insurance, Farm Credits, Reductions in Freight Rates, and the Farm Bloc Are Endorsed.

The national agricultural conference called by President Harding and lasting five days last week, closed on Friday, having adopted a live program for the improvement of the conditions of farming.

The legislative needs of the farming industry were thoroughly discussed, including the hours and costs of labor. In this latter phase of the discussion, Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, succeeded in defeating the proposition to repeal the eight-hour law.

However, this victory for labor was partially offset by a later resolution which provided that both railroad corporations and railroad labor should share in the reductions now affecting all industries. This refers to the inevitable reductions of freight rates and the positive future reduction in the salaries of officials, clerks and trainmen before there is a fair ratio obtaining between producer and carriers.

The conference went on record as favoring representation of this country at the European economic conference at Genoa in order that provisions for marketing American products of the farms and factories in foreign countries may have there a "friend at court." It was contended also that this country should participate in the conference in the interest of favorable credits in the exportation of crops.

The Muscle Shoals project was endorsed in the interests of production of fertilizers for the farms and the development of hydro-electric power for the nation's use. This endorsement was of special moment since big corporations are opposing bitterly the "Ford Plan" to develop this wonderful asset for the common good.

Among other legislative needs demanded by the conference are:

1. Resolutions of the Farm Bloc in congress.
2. Reduction in wages of railroad employees to correspond to the reduced prices of products.
3. Reduction of freight rates to the level of those of August, 1920, or about 20 per cent.
4. Financing by the government, the exportations of agricultural surpluses.
5. The establishment of fair exchange values for farm products in comparison with other commodities.

Further legislative recommendations include federal investigation looking towards the establishment of a crop insuring bureau; the reenactment of an excess profits tax in corporations; short term credit of from six months to three years' time; the creation of a bond marketing agency for the sale of farm bonds and cooperative marketing.

WEST LINN TO HEAR FAMOUS PITT PARKER

The Great Cartoonist Will Lecture and Sketch Here on February 4th

Pitt Parker, the noted picturing philosopher, who is to appear at West Linn on the evening of February 4th, at Union High School Auditorium, as one of the star numbers of the local lecture series, is responsible for the following much-quoted gems of Parkerized philosophy:

"The so-called labor problem is becoming a loafing problem."

"Working conditions, even when bad, have frequently been found to be better than loafing conditions, in the same community."

"In industry, conservers are as essential as creators, brains as brawn, capital as constructors, promoters as producers."

"The man who never fails to get my goat is the one who is always butting in."

"Work is the only thing that increases a man's worth."

"The town's wealthiest merchant may be the poorest man in town."

"Don't kill time—there is no open season. If you have nothing to do, don't do it; others will do it while you are doing something."

GOOD ROADS MEETING WAS FILLED WITH PEP

Committee From Clarks Booster Club
And County Judge Discuss
Market Roads.

According to announcement the noon period of the regular Live Wire luncheon was taken up by discussions of market roads.

County Judge Cross led the way with a twenty-minute resume of the road situation in this county and in explanation of his viewpoint regarding market roads building. He referred to the building, through Clackamas county of two roads, the Pacific highway and the Mt. Hood loop at a county cost of only $323,000, while they cost over $2,000,000. "Road making is a science," said the speaker, who deplored the present waste and urged suggestions from those present, on how to eliminate it.

He gave as his idea that it would be better to make of both bond and marketroads only market roads and to apply all the road funds available on these market roads. Under this plan he pointed out, that 300 miles of hard surface highway could be built in six years or during the bond period.

The members of the Clarks' Booster club committee were called upon and expressed the most friendly attitude toward Oregon City and urged cooperation in building a market road from their community to this city.

Roscoe Garv recalled that Oregon City is the market for Clarks, that the people of his community cannot build side, market and base of bond roads at the same time on account of the cost and favored the idea of making the bond road from Oregon City to Clarks a market road. E. E. Berger and W. L. Clarke followed Mr. Garv endorsing the same ideas and making a fine impression for their community by their frank forward appeals for Live Wire cooperation.

O. D. Eby in a vigorous speech, aimed at the county judge, denounced the county court for its road policy, and threatening it will reorganize, so determine who was holding up the road program.

L. A. Henderson also favored the bond road program in a brief talk. He also favored the market road idea but was unwilling to wait for the completion of the market roads before going on with the bond roads.

Upon motion a committee consisting of M. D. Latourette, O. D. Eby, L. A. Morris, F. J. Toole and E. L. Pope were appointed a committee to investigate the Clarks-Oregon City market road to report back their findings to the Live Wires on Tuesday evening next, at which time the regular weekly luncheon of the Wires will occur.

Health Association Will Meet

Canby District Has Growers Association

More than 50 berry growers in the Canby-Aurora district first met at Canby, January 7th, to consider the proposition of the Oregon Growers Cooperative Association to establish a receiving station at Canby in the event that 100 acres were signed up. With the cooperation and aid of Ed Biehn of the field department and C. R. Thompson of Sheridan, the local growers launched a campaign for new members with very gratifying results.

Thirty-five members so far have signed up with a total of 136 acres, mostly bearing. New members are being signed. In addition to the above acreage, the association has 15 members with 114 acres of prunes in the district adjacent to Canby, Mulino, and the section southeast of Oregon City.

Evans explained the work of the association and later signed up 14 members. A three days membership campaign by volunteer committee of growers aided by two members of the field department, resulted in a total membership of 42 with 209 acres, mostly bearing. Several more prospective members are yet to be visited. A receiving station will operate at Hubbard.

OUR UNCLE SAMUEL MAY NOT GO TO GENOA CONFERENCE

FRENCH ACTS ANNOY

President and Secretary Opposed to Acceptance Before the Senate
Acts on Pacific Treaty.

The United States is withholding acceptance of an invitation to participate in the European economic conference called to meet in Genoa in March of this year. The purpose of the conference is to take up problems of economics, including trade and finance in the hope of establishing matters in Europe and bringing back renewed prosperity to all the nations.

The United States is interested in the stabilization of European currency and in her laws of commerce since the American farmers and manufacturers profit from favorable markets for our products and from a firm and favorable condition of exchange including rates. Hence this nation might profit from participation in the conference.

The nations of Europe are anxious that the United States shall take part in the conference as she is the most influential, the most benevolent and powerful nation in the world today and can be of the greatest service in adjusting the various problems sure to arise among the nations represented.

The United States, however, is holding in obedience her acceptance of participation in the conference pending the action of the European governments in bringing the disarmament conference to a successful close. If through selfishness or political intrigue European nations do not settle disarmament and other questions fairly this country will send no representatives to the conference.

President Harding and Secretary of State Hughes are opposed to participation in the commission on German reparation and will not favor acceptance to the Genoa conference before the senate shall have acted upon the Pacific treaty. France's opposition to naval reduction has dampened American enthusiasm in helping Europe to recover herself again. It is up to Europe to "Play Ball" and to play on the "Square."

Woodmen Install Lodge Officers

At Willamette hall on Friday night last, Willamette Falls camp, No. 148, W. O. W. installed officers for the year. They are: F. A. Mead, consul commander; G. C. Critser, advisor; W. L. Swidow, banker; E. H. Cooper, clerk; G. A. Anderson, manager; Otto Erickson, escort; Herman Anthony, sentry. Wm. Hammond was the installing officer.

Mr. Ray, manager of the local J. C. Penny store has just returned from a business and pleasure trip through Kansas, Nebraska and Missouri, where he has been investigating possible locations for a number of new stores. About March 1, the first store will be established at some point in Kansas. Mr. Ray reports that business conditions are fair throughout the middle west and much activity is expected with the coming of spring.

Farm Bureau Meets Are Very Interesting

The Farm Bureau meetings held this week at various points in Clackamas county have been well attended and interest has been at high pitch. The meeting at Molalla on Wednesday was attended by over two hundred persons.

George Mansfield, state president, is giving daily addresses. Other prominent speakers included in the state organization and in the local memberships have been taking part also. The movie picture drama portraying rural life has been a very attractive feature. The membership campaign has been a success.

The last of this series of six meetings will be held tomorrow at Oswego where there is promise of a large attendance.

Great Britain Will Pay United States

The United States will soon be richer by $170,000,000 if the financial plans of Great Britain carry as the latter is preparing to pay the interest amounting to $350,000,000 pounds sterling as an installment of interest on the war loans from this country.

The British officials are ready to pay this installment although the congress now in session is debating the proposition of the refund whereby the war loans may be reduced or cancelled. Europe hopes, of course, that her debts to America will be refunded holding that such action would stabilize international exchange rates.
