The things of permanent value which you buy today should be the kind of things to which your grandchildren will point with pride and say: "This was my grandmother's or my grandfather's."

There is no finer thing than

The NEW EDISON

"THE PHONOGRAPH WITH A SOUL"

It is the first and only phonograph that RE-CREATES music—that gives a result of such perfection and such realism as to make impossible the detection of a difference between the reproduction (Re-Creation) and the original music.

The New Edison as a musical instrument and as a piece of furniture is something that you can hand down with pride to your children and your children's children, and that will convey to them a proper appreciation of your ideals and your culture.

Come to our store. Let us show you an exact duplicate of the original three million dollar phonograph. Ask to see the Official Laboratory Model. Also ask for a copy of the book "Edison and Music." It tells a fascinating story of music and fine furniture.

Another Oregon Jersey Scores High

Starting test at the age of seven years and one month, Dolly Dimple of Rocky Run 325662, in the herd of P. A. Lux, Riverton, Oregon, finished with a production of 13,735 pounds of milk and 791.69 pounds of butterfat. This is her third official record, having completed two records in the state of Washington.

Her sire is Doctor of Fair Acres 108360, which bull has six daughters with records and one son in the Register of Merit. Her dam is Glades Rietress 242111, with three daughters in the R. of M., all full sisters. They have completed a total of seven records that average 7333 pounds of milk and 419.25 pounds of butterfat. This is a very good average as all but two of the records were made before the animals reached five years of age.

Milk and Meat for Poultry

When milk, either sweet or sour, is fed to poultry the proportion of meat in the mash or in other forms may be considerably reduced. In fact, it can be largely eliminated if all of the milk that the hens will eat is given them. Sour milk is to be preferred to sweet milk for poultry feeding. It is even considered unwise to feed the partially sour, or "blunk" milk, since it has a tendency to complete its souring process in the fowl's crop or stomach, thus interfering with the digestive process.

THE FOUR POWER TREATY

Educational
The following unique educational treatment of a subject difficult in the ordinary terms of the press for grade school children to understand is published in the belief that parents teachers, and children will find it both interesting and helpful.—Ed.

You've heard father say those four words many times haven't you?

You've seen him look up from his newspaper and tell mother this "four-power treaty" is before the United States senate for ratification.

That sounded very hard didn't it? But it isn't hard at all. It is just as simple as the school lessons you had last year, the ones that seem so easy now.

And if you read this article to the end, you'll know just as much about the four-power treaty and ratification as father or mother or your teacher.

What It Is
Now first of all, what is the four-power treaty?

Suppose you had a sack of marbles, big green agates and clouded ones too, and one of your friends had a baseball bat and another had a radio outfit and your sister had a set of very fine water colors.

Now suppose you were all jealous of each other and each wanted the things the other one owned, and besides that suppose there were several rough children, who might pick a fight with you just to take your things away. Then you and your two friends and your sister might get together and make promises. You might say—"Now, we are all fond of the things we own. We promise that not one of us will take anything away from the other."

Band Together
And we promise that if these rough children try to take anything away from any one of the four of us, all of us will keep them away. Each of us promises to protect all the rest of us.

Now, that's just what the four-power Pacific treaty is. For the problems of great nations aren't so much different from the problems which children meet every day. The four-power Pacific treaty is an agreement or promise between four nations. The United States, Great Britain, Japan and France. Our country has much business or trade in the Pacific ocean. It owns islands there too. Great Britain has much land in the Pacific, also. France has a country called Cochinchina. And all of Japan's land is in the Pacific ocean.

Washington Meeting

These countries think just as much of their lands and islands as you and your friends think of your marbles, bat radio set or water colors and they don't want any one to take their possessions away from them. So men from these countries met at Washington to sign the four-power Pacific treaty.

It says "This treaty is to keep away from us the fight and to make sure that we keep the land we own."

If any of us get into a quarrel we promise that all of us will hold a meeting and try to settle the trouble without getting into a war.

Likely So

Dobbs: Ah, how do you like this home brew? Fine, eh? I made the stuff out of my own head from an original recipe.

Hobbs: I don't believe I'll drink any—it might be wood alcohol.—Way-side Tales.

The world doesn't want to know your strife;
The world doesn't want to hear your tale

Of loss and worry—there's a life
Of sunshine in the dewy vale,
Of use and joy and love and cheer,
Of beauty, and it wants to know
Not of the things that make you dear,
But of the things that make you grow—

The hope, the trust, the cheerfulness
That comfort you and bless.

Then pray with hands and head and feet;

Thy muscles aid thy soul;
And God himself shall work with thee
And help thee win the goal.

I'll pray with every muscle tense,
With mind bent on my task,
And when my soul is ready, he
Will give the thing I ask;

My soul must grow in height to reach
The thing my idle lips beseech.

WHY IS THE BRUNSWICK THE PHONOGRAPH SUPREME?

Brunswick

By means of exclusive methods of Reproduction and of Interpretation, Brunswick achieves perfect rendition of the so-called "difficult" tones. Methods which apply to no other phonograph or records.

The Brunswick Method of Reproduction, embodying the Ultona, which cushions the path of the needle by proper suspension, and the Oval Tone Amplifier of moulded wood, is exclusively Brunswick.

The Brunswick Method of Interpretation, which results in sweeter and more beautiful records, and assures thoroughly correct interpretations, has not been successfully imitated.

Hence, musicians, critics and teachers all will tell you that buying any phonograph, without at least hearing The Brunswick, is a mistake. And that to be without Brunswick Records is to be without much of what is best in music.
