Tax Hearing Postponed

The committee on the Oregon Tax Investigation, has announced the meeting scheduled for Oregon City, May 1 and the other meetings so scheduled for Southern and Southwestern Oregon have been postponed until after primary election, May 19.

Reason for the postponement is found in the fact that Walter M. Pierce, a member of this commission is candidate for governor and is the recipient of strong criticism for traveling about the state on this commission, with the taxpayers footing the bill.

After the primaries the commission is expected to complete its work.

Editor Gives Address on Grant

F. J. Toole gave an address on General U. S. Grant, at Willamette this afternoon. The occasion was the observance of the centennial anniversary of the ex-president's birthday under the auspices of the public schools.

ELM TREES MAY BE SAVED FROM DEATH SAY SPECIALISTS

Apparatus Needed to Apply Spray Is Expensive—Communities Should Cooperate

The elm-leaf beetle is now on the job in every park and wherever there are elms in Oregon ready to sap the life from these magnificent ornamental trees as soon as the leaves appear. Library Park in this city is doomed to destruction by these pests unless proper steps are taken to eradicate them. And all trees of this variety in the community must be treated if the remedy is to be effective.

There are two broods of the destroying beetles during the summer—one in June and a second in August. They eat and skeletonize the leaves which die and drop. The trees thus denuded of their oxygenizing agents endure only two or three defoliations before dying. And this will make the third season for these pests; so it is now or never in the matter of saving the elms.

Lead arsenate spray is effective but to reach the top of the trees powerful apparatus costing several hundred dollars is required. Hence communities should cooperate in the work of saving its most beautiful trees.

Papermakers Win
Playing ragged baseball, the Portland Kirkpatriks lost the first game of the season to Crown Willamettes Sunday on the West Linn field, 15-2. Stone, throwing for the locals, gave ten hits, but with errorless support, held the visitors to two runs. The papermakers rapped out 15 hits for 15 runs, and were out in front all the way.

The Portland Woolen Mills will oppose the Crown Willamettes on the same field next Sunday.

The Score:
R. H. E.
Crown Willamettes.....15 15 0
Kirkpatriks.....2 10 11
Batteries—Saone and Stapleton,
Brost and Boland.

RESIDENTS ON SOUTH END ROAD HAVE NEW CLUB

About fifty residents of the section extending along the South End road via Mount Pleasant formed on Friday evening last, a brand new Community club.

Much enthusiasm prevailed and the members of the new club hope to accomplish great things for their community by this cooperation.

This community has just succeeded in obtaining electric lights and the matter of obtaining pure mountain water should require only determined effort. Here's to them the fullest measure of success in all they undertake.

The officers of the new organization are J. M. Dadds, president; W. B. Lawton, vice-president; Mrs. R. F. Fisher, secretary and W. J. McCord, treasurer.

Bonus Legislation Still in the Air

The outstanding feature of the federal bonus problem during the week just passed was the announcement by Secretary Mellon of the treasury that there would be a deficit of some hundreds of millions in the government strong box next year, even without taking the bonus into consideration. This, and the statement of Washington politicians that upwards of 20 senators have expressed themselves as opposing a bonus in any form at this time, adds to the gloom of the ex-service man.

Just at this time, with elections in the offing, much favorable bonus talk comes out from Washington, but very little progress has been made in surmounting the barrier put up by President Harding, who has announced he will veto any bonus measure passed by congress which does not provide a means of raising the money.

PRESBYTERIANS ARE HEAVY LOSERS IN CHURCH FIRE

Fine Edifice at Seventh and
Jefferson Streets Badly
Damaged

LOSS IS ABOUT $3,000

Investigations to Determine Source
Still Under Way—Indications
Favor Incendiarism

At 2 o'clock on Saturday morning citizens were aroused by the alarm of fire which was destroying the beautiful Presbyterian church edifice at the corner of Seventh and Jefferson streets.

The fire department responded promptly and confined the flames to the edifice itself though the parsonage and other dwellings near by were in grave danger for a time.

The whole interior of the large Sunday school rooms, the kitchenette and the wall between the main auditorium and the annex are so charred that these interior portions will have to be replaced entirely. The roof is badly damaged, a considerable portion being burned away. All the Sunday school equipment, including chairs, tables, class division screens, piano and book case with literature was destroyed.

Investigation shows that the fire started over the top of the furnace which is covered with brick and asbestos, making it practically impossible for flames to have been generated from the furnace itself. The flames had burned only a few feet in diameter in the floor which has given rise to the belief that it was caused by some incendiary application at this point in the floor.

The front door, the Seventh street entrance, was ajar when the chief of the fire department arrived and who expressed the belief that both the Barclay building and the church were fired in the same manner.

At one o'clock in the afternoon on Friday, the last fire was built in the furnace to warm the rooms for a meeting of church ladies and only a few coals remained in the furnace later in the afternoon when the janitor made his last round of the day. The boy scouts met with their leader, J. C. Cochran in the church in the evening but all left at 9 o'clock. At 12:15 o'clock in the morning as Rev. Edgar left his study, a few feet from the Sunday school rooms where the blaze was discovered he glanced over that way casually and everything appeared normal. At 2:15 John Edgar, the pastor's twelve year old son, was awakened by the noise of the fire and gave the alarm beating to the telephone his father who also discovered the flames at almost the same moment.

Services of the church will be continued as usual, in the Shively Opera House. The Home Keepers' Economic School under the auspices of the Ladies' Missionary Societies will be conducted at the Methodist church.

Parkplace Home Badly Damaged
The home of A. W. Benz of Parkplace was badly damaged by a fire Monday afternoon. The fire started on the roof, either from a defective flue or from a spark from the chimney. The damage which was confined to the roof and upper walls is reported to be about $500. There was no insurance except on the furniture, which was removed from the building without damage.

Further procedure will be determined by petitions and remonstrances. The contract for road to the garbage dump will be built by day work, the cost not to exceed $40.00.

The next meeting will be on Wednesday, May 3.

The christening was performed by little Eva Adele Hawley, four and one-half year old granddaughter of W. P. Hawley, Sr. The little miss rendered her part perfectly and was presented with a large bouquet of American Beauty roses.

Those forming the christening party were W. P. Hawley Sr., W. P. Hawley Jr., and little daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Osmund, Mr. and Mrs. George Pusey and George Pusey Jr., Henry Pusey, Ralph Eddy, photographer, and other close friends of Mr. and Mrs. Hawley.

At the close of the ceremony the party drove to Seaside hotel where they enjoyed dinner.

Overseas Veterans Given Preference

The following recognition has been taken by the government of the overseas veterans in the matter of civil service appointments:

Under a ruling of the United States Civil Service Commission, citizens of the United States who served in the forces of the Allies during the World War will be given preference in appointments to civil service positions. Heretofore, the preference has been extended only to those who served in the American forces, to their widows, and to their wives under certain conditions.

In authorizing this extension of the preference, the Civil Service Commission states that consideration is given to the fact that service in the forces of the Allies was in a common commander-in-chief; that is, after March 29, 1918, when Marshal Foch was placed in command of all the allied forces.

SATURDAY IS DOLLAR DAY IN OREGON CITY

Local Merchants Stage Cooperative
Selling Event on Large Scale

The merchants of Oregon City have planned a selling event for Saturday, April 29, on a scale larger than has ever been attempted here in the past and it bids fair to be a real sale—it will be worth coming miles to attend.

In the past many dollar days have been held by individual merchants, sales which were successful because the buyers of Clackamas county have learned that when an Oregon City merchant advertises a sale it is a real sale, with real bargains in dependable merchandise backed by responsible firms.

An event of this sort, in which a number of the largest merchants cooperate is certain to be doubly attractive because of the variety of offerings. Hardware, furniture, drygoods, groceries and many other lines are represented and the wise buyer will do well to lay in a supply—such events do not come often.

Read the ads in this issue, they speak for themselves, then give your home merchant a chance to show you what he can do to help combat our mutual enemy, the High Cost of Living.

Drive Nets Many Books

The recent drive for books for the local public library netted about 300 books with others promised.

Wesley Carroll

Wesley Carroll, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Carroll, died at the family home in Willamette, Oregon, Easter morning, April 16th at 1:00 a. m. His death resulted from an attack of typhoid fever, with which he had been sick for over three weeks. The shock of his death was a blow to his parents and many friends who had not realized that his illness was so serious.

Wesley Carroll was sixteen years, seven months and twenty-eight days old at the time of his death. He was a junior in the West Linn Union High school and was well liked by all as a student and classmate; he was ever a studious boy, and maintained excellent records as a student. He was greatly interested in all lines of athletics, and was responsible for organizing "The Midgets" basketball team—one composed of boys weighing less than 125 lbs., and which played a full schedule of games during the past season.

His loss is mourned by a sister, Cecilia; a brother, Masley; and the father and mother. His funeral attended to the popularity of the boy in the community. The entire high school student body and faculty were present, as was also the Willamette grade school, from which he had graduated. Many beautiful floral offerings were sent by numerous organizations and friends and a very fitting tribute and eulogy was delivered by the Rev. Mr. Pettibone, pastor of the Baptist church.

Services are public and all are cordially invited.

ORATORIO SOCIETY RENDERS SPLENDID PROGRAM

Community Known for Its Excellent School and Musical Talent

CHORUS NUMBERS 46

Oregon City Audience Loud in Praise
For Rendition of "The Holy City"
On Sunday Evening

Last Sunday evening was musical evening with the celebrated Whitney boys' chorus at the First Baptist church, and the Colton Oratorio Society at the First Congregational.

We have all heard of Lindsborg, the singing community of Kansas, whose annual oratorios attract thousands of people as to a Bayreuth or an Oberammergau. But few have realized that in the backwoods of Clackamas county, in the very foothills of the Cascade mountains, Oregon has a community of singers who are not afraid to tackle the most difficult repertoire, a wealthy settlement of thrifty Swedes and Americans who from childhood have sung until their voices blend with unusual harmony.

Colton, a center of sawmills and students, boasts a high school of exceptional merit, and farmer boys and girls who spend the rainy winter evenings in rehearsing musical classics. Under the direction of Mrs. Mildred Anderson-Hult, supervisor of music is the high school, the Colton Oratorio Society on Sunday evening rendered Gluck's "Holy City" with a chorus of forty-six singers before a capacity audience at the Congregation church in Oregon City.

It is not too much to say that the solos, duets, trios, quartets and choruses would have done credit to singers of any conservatory of music, and that their joy in their work was a pleasure to behold. The Chicago Grand Opera artists commercialize their song, the Colton singers so far are singing as the larks sing, for pure love of melody.

Colton, the richest school district in Clackamas county, on account of the big timber interests, has consolidated grades and a union high with a dormitory with matron for students. Professor Edgar R. Means, at the head of the school for a number of years, is leading in every progressive movement. Mrs. Anderson-Hult, supervisor of music, delights in her work and every child sings, trained from the first grade up in concert and individual work. At Christmas time they gave a cantata, and ambitious musical efforts are annual occurrences. It is hope to have the Colton Oratorio singers some Sunday afternoon at the coming Gladstone Park Chautauqua. Many of them have been regular attendants there for years.

Sunday Schools Get Together

Carver, Highland, and Logan, Sunday Schools, will meet with the First Baptist Sunday School at Oregon City, Sunday, April 30, 1922.

Rev. A. J. Ware, serving these points, has planned an all-day service and luncheon. Pastor Pettibone, Supt. Barney, members of the County Missionary Committee and the Women's Union of the Oregon City church will assist; the Sunday School teachers will also help assign those over 12 years to the upper room of the church and the others to the lower room.

The Oregon City church and school will attend in mass, with full lunch baskets, and ladies at the church from 9:30 to 12 m. will receive the baskets, and arrange their contents on tables in the lower room. A chef will be in charge of each table of chicken, meats, salads, relishes, fruits, cakes, pies, puddings etc. In regular cafeteria styles. Sugar coffee, tea, milk, cocoa, water, linen dishes, knives, forks and spoons are provided by those in charge for 250 to 300 and these need not be brought in baskets.

The whole family, including the babies, is expected and a separate rest room for the little ones has been conveniently arranged.

Luncheon will be at 12 o'clock and all are to get thoroughly acquainted at this time and spend a season socially.

Song service of 15 or 20 minutes at 2 o'clock will precede reports, business, discussion, devotional exercises, with baptismal service and the Lord's supper at the close. Young people will be led by Elnora Schiewe at 6:30 and Boy Scouts of the church have a number on the program at 7:30 p. m. preceding the evening sermon by the pastor.

Services are public and all are cordially invited.

Mr. Lorenzo Adkins Buried on Sunday

The funeral of Lorenzo Adkins, who died at the home of his sister, Mrs. Sarah Adkins of Multnomah, Friday, was held at the Holman & Pace chapel Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. It was well attended, many friends coming from Multnomah. Rev. C. Morgan of the Congregational church conducted the services. The pall bearers were old friends of the deceased. His remains were laid to rest beside his mother in the Zion cemetery at Canby.

COMMERCIAL CLUB ENTERTAINS NEW MEMBERS

Two Hundred Persons Present to Celebrate Success of Recent Drive
—Program Varied

The Commercial Club played host to its several score of new members on Friday night last.

A business meeting was held prior to the first entertainment number. In this part of the meeting new by-laws providing for reorganization of the club were voted. Thanks were extended to Willard P. Hawley Jr., for his efforts to install radio connections for the entertainment, but which he found impossible on account of mechanical obstacles. All were disappointed at foregoing the pleasure of the radio concert.

O. D. Eby delivered an address of welcome to the new members and dwelt upon the value of interest and participation in the affairs of the organization.

Garland Hollowell sang several fine solos which were encored enthusiastically.

Then came wrestling matches the first between Chester Newton, coast champion at 125 pounds and Walter Whitcomb of the U. of O. Newton obtained the decision by two falls within five minutes. George Tatro and Reggie Russel wrestled to a draw in two bouts.

Then there were several fistic encounters, one between two little lads about nine years old who pounded each other around for awhile to the seeming great delight of the spectators, another between George Hale and Melvin Charles, whose animosity served as the basis for genuine effort to get even by pummeling each other. As a real fight for blood it struck 12; also Mickey Schulson and Jack Barry de-lighted the crowd with a lively slugfest and John Dun and "Crackie" Warren did likewise. "J. B. J.", sporting editor of the Morning sheet refereed and Ed L. Johnson was official timekeeper.

Frank Cramer in charge of the program kept things moving at a lively pace. The jazz orchestra played its best, and L. A. Morris supervised refreshments.

Banner-Courier Shop Has Small Blaze

The home of the Banner-Courier was saved from what might have been a serious fire. Thursday afternoon, when a quantity of oil soaked metal blazed up in the stereo-type melting pot in the rear of the shop.

Quick work with a small chemical powder extinguisher in the hands of Mr. Bochner, the shop foreman, was all that saved the day.

In the short time it took to snatch the extinguisher from the wall, the fire had flared up and was burning rapidly up the lower side of the stairway leading to the hall above, and the room was filled with flames and smoke.

By the time the fire department arrived the flames had been extinguished and while their services were not needed much credit is due them for their quick run.

OLD SINGER MILL SITE CHOSEN BY COUNCIL FOR CITY HALL

Measure Adopted — Only One Dissenting Vote That
of Dr. Mount

COUNCIL CHOOSE PLAN

Canemah Park Will Hereafter Be Known as Hawley Park—Resolution Adopted by Council

The city council at a special meeting held Monday evening with but one dissenting vote, that of Dr. Hugh S. Mount, accepted the old Singer Mill site as the site for the new city hall for which a bond issue of $35,000 was authorized more than two years ago. Plans presented to the council by Edmund Bergholtz of Portland showed that the site was adapted for a four story building, 55x70 feet, providing quarters for all city offices, city jail and fire department with the top floor designed for a municipal auditorium. The building as designed is of steel and reinforced concrete construction, and construction costs estimated at $33,000. City Attorney Oscar D. Eby stated that in his opinion there would be no legal obstacles in the way of choosing this property as the site for the city building. Attention was called by the architect to the scenic advantages of the site and the opportunity afforded to give the proposed building an attractive setting.

Other plans were presented by Ernest Kroner of Portland. The latter plans did not provide for an auditorium and it is generally understood that the Bergholtz plans will meet with approval.

Draft New Ordinance
A new ordinance covering the operation of wagons engaged in the whole sale trade and delivering goods for resale passed first reading and will come up at the next regular meeting of the council for final passage. A license fee of $120 per year payable quarterly in advance is provided for by the ordinance which exempts growers of produce from its provisions.

Name of Park Changed

The council adopted a resolution changing the name of Canemah Park to Hawley Park in honor of W. P. Hawley, Sr., of the Hawley Pulp and Paper company, who has rendered substantial assistance in promoting the establishment of the park, which is considered one of the finest automobile parks between Los Angeles and Seattle.

Commercial Club Makes New Plans

Just how soon the re-organization of the Commercial Club working system will be put into effect and begin functioning now depends in large measure upon the members of the Club themselves. Secretary Clay has sent letters to the members of the Club outlining the duties and provinces of the eleven departments of the Club. In the same letter a postal card has been enclosed upon which the member is to signify his choice of departments, and which he is to mail to the Club office. As soon as these cards have been received the membership of the various departments will be made out, and beginning with next week the first departmental meetings will be held. At the first meeting of each department the organization of the department will be made and the work of the departments for the year will be outlined.

Without exception a great deal of work is awaiting each department, and it is the earnest desire of the Club management that this work be started as soon as possible.

Much therefore depends upon how soon the membership of the Club sends in the cards indicating choice of departments.

Church Insurance Adjusted

The insurance adjusters have agreed to allow to the local Presbyterian Board of Trustees an amount equal to the necessary cost of repairing the church recently damaged by fire. This amount does not cover the piano, chairs and other equipment amounting to several hundred dollars.
