Easy to Prevent Gout.

"Simple gout is the easiest of all diseases to prevent," wrote Doctor Marine, the great specialist in this disease, some time ago. Iodine is known to be necessary to the normal function of the thyroid gland. Gout is an expression of deficiency of iodine in the thyroid, and the elaborate experiments made recently by Dr. O. P. Kimball on the school children of Akron, Ohio, furnish conclusive evidence that administering a minute quantity of iodine every day acts as a preventive in such regions where gout prevails.

Many poultry raisers gradually begin to slight the importance of grit. Lack of grit means poor digestion and impaired health. Regular poultry grit should be kept before the fowls in boxes or hoppers at all times. In addition, a load of gravel near the chickens' home would improve the health and increase the egg yield on many a farm.

A Problem In Battery Cost

A battery lasts two years and costs say, $24! Another lasts 18 months, and costs $19.50. Which is the most economical?

The first, of course. The buyer of the second pays $1.50 more for service from his lower priced battery; his advantage is the first-cost saving he makes.

The SJ (oversize) Willard Threaded Rubber Battery is still the standard battery—and the most economical battery you can buy. The SR (full size) is lower in price, and far more economical than the ordinary battery.
