AUTOMOTIVE PRODUCTS EXPORTS ON INCREASE

March exports of automotive products showed an increase of 38.9 per cent over the previous month, according to statistics compiled by the Automotive Division of the Department of Commerce. This is especially remarkable considering that February shipments increased 23 per cent over those of January. Passenger cars increased 44 per cent in number and 49.8 per cent in value, totaling 4,471 cars valued at $3,831,432. Motor trucks increased 29.9 per cent in number and 41 per cent in value, while parts for cars showed an increase of 26.7 per cent. Motor cycles were exported to the number of 1,573 valued at $402,039, an increase of 59 per cent in value, while parts for motorcycles increased 48.2 per cent.

Motor trucking would undoubtedly be resorted to in Rumania, owing to the deplorable condition of the railroads there, were it not for the poor state of the roads and street in the country. The use of trailers is particularly unfeasible as the city streets are generally paved with stones and the country highways and roads are in a state of disrepair and full of holes. The few trucks in use for transport between Bucharest and the river ports of Braila and Galatz need all their tractive power in pulling their own loads, says George Palmer, Bucharest, American motor vehicles especially the heavier types, are very popular in Poland says Trade Commissioner Smith, Warsaw, in a report to the Department of Commerce, largely due to the fact of the surplus war stocks sent into the country. At the present time, the sales of motor vehicles are hampered by the low value of the fish mark and the high price of gasoline, which sells for from 35 to 40 cents (U. S. Currency) per gallon. The Poles have consequently turned their favor to the lighter cars with a lower gasoline consumption. With the exception of motor equipment for agricultural purposes, the motor vehicles of Poland are largely concentrated in the cities and industrial centers. It has been estimated from reliable sources that there are about 2,500 passenger cars in the country, of which 200 are in the military service. Motor trucks number about 2,700 with 1,200 in the military and public service, and about 400 motorcycles, a large percentage of which are equipped with sidecars.

Motor accessories of recent issue will readily find a market in British Columbia, according to Consular reports from that province. American firms are gradually establishing factories in Canada and consequently the imports are diminishing from the 50 per cent of automotive products sold in Canada during the last few years. Until recent years most of the automotive products purchased in Canada were imported from the United States, but owing principally to the rate of exchange and the high tariff on this class of goods, American firms have gradually been establishing factories within the Dominion. Imports along these lines have consequently diminished steadily until now they are less than 50 per cent of the supply. There are about 50,000 motor vehicles in British Columbia which has a population of 700,000.

It is estimated from local data, by the Consul at Teheran, that there are 812 motor vehicles in all Persia, 283 of which are in the city of Teheran. Most of the remainder are in the various larger cities of the country. This number is a large increase from the last registration taken in March 1920, when there were about 400 passenger cars and 4 trucks in all Persia. The British, in their withdrawal from Persia during 1921, disposed of a large number of Fords and perhaps a half dozen trucks at auction. These cars were nearly all in a bad state of disrepair and it is doubtful if they will be in service for more than a year.

The total number of motor vehicles in Cuba at the present time number 19,689 passenger cars and trucks, according to an estimate made by Acting Commercial Attaché Jones, from figures given out by the various dealers. Havana is a "city of taxicabs" as is shown by the fact that there are 3,688 taxicabs and 3,775 private cars. In addition there are about 2,929 motor trucks and 30 trailers in the city. Only a small number of the cars in Cuba are located outside of the cities owing to the poor roads in the country. Traffic conditions are congested a good deal of the time due to the narrow streets in the cities and large number of taxicabs.

E. Donner, 606 Marion street, Portland and E. G. William of Gladstone, were fined $25 each by Judge E. J. Noble in the justice court Monday on charges of fishing without a license. The men were arrested by Chief Deputy Meeds and Deputy McDaniels. They also arrested Louis Luebeck, 601 Hulse street, Portland, on similar charges. He is to be tried in the juvenile court.

Four traffic cases were tried Monday in the justice court. Ivan Raney and Louis Minor were fined $5 and $10 respectively for speeding. Archie Gibson and Ed. L. Gaffney were fined $15 and $10 for using dealer's plates on private machines. Three of the arrests were made by Floyd D. Browne, state agent for this district and one by Carl Long, county traffic officer.

The number of voters registered in Clackamas county this year, shows a decrease of 536, or about 3.4 per cent, when the last registration was taken, according to the figures completed Monday by County Clerk Fred A. Miller. The total registration in Clackamas county is 15,747 this year. The registration in 1920 was 16,640, or 893 above the present figure.

The decrease is accounted for by the fact that 1920 saw a presidential election, which is always the heaviest period, Mr. Miller explains. It is probable he says, that with the increase at the time of the general election, the number will approximate that of two years ago.

The total number of women registered in the county this year is 5,934 as against 6,350 two years ago. There are 9,813 men and in 1920 there were 10,290. Republicans still bear the same four-to-10 average to Democratic voters who have a total registration of 6,439 while the former are listed with 16,862. Other parties, including Independents, show a decrease from 1059 in 1920, to 896.

The total registration in the 11 Oregon City precincts is 2,454. The male list totals 1490 and the female list is 964.

when it becomes impossible to see them. The widening of the curbs at the intersections of those streets with Main street is also suggested.

A resolution commending the efforts of the Good Roads department of the club in fostering a scenic highway on the banks of the Clackamas river, was adopted.

A resolution, extending the sympathy of the organization to the family of the late George Pusey, Jr., was unanimously adopted.

Lewis F. Pridemore, superintendent of the government camp at Mount Hood spoke on the possibilities of development of the grounds on the south side of the mountain as an all-year resort. He told of the sporting possibilities of the vicinity and renewed the invitation to the local people to visit the camp and to use their efforts in building it up as a summer and winter playground for the people of the state.

Reports were made by O. D. Ely and H. G. Edgar representing the South and West divisions and the playground committee. Affairs were still in "status quo" they stated.

FISH WARDENS WILL ACT AS FEDERAL OFFICIALS

Three state game wardens have been sworn in as regular customs officials to use every means to cope with the activities of the fish raiders at Oregon City, and were instructed by Assistant Customs Inspector John Klippel to "go the limit." If they find boats on the Willamette river after dark without lights in operation and placed in a conspicuous place as required by law, they are authorized to arrest all the occupants and bring them to Portland and lodge them in the federal corridor of the Multnomah county jail.

The invocation of the federal statutes has become necessary through the difficulties encountered by the fish wardens in trying to prevent the practice known as "dark drifting." "It seems to me that the fishermen at Oregon City have been taking the law too much in their own hands," Klippel said. "They have not only been violating the state laws, but the federal laws also. We propose to see that the federal laws are obeyed."

Fiegl said that the United States attorney's office would cooperate to the limit in enforcement of the federal navigation laws.
Deputy Game Warden Johnson returned to Portland Thursday and reported that the fishermen had threatened to knock him over the head and throw him in the river Tuesday night, when he attempted single-handed to inspect one of their boats and ascertain if it carried the equipment required by federal law. Johnson is one of the three commissioned as a customs official. After Johnson made the report he was told that he had full authority to act under the federal law, and he was authorized by Klippel to "go the limit."

Klippel said he does not propose to let the three specially commissioned men handle the problem alone. Without announcement the entire customs force will go to Oregon City some night and make a general cleanup.
