GROCERS PICNIC PLANS NEARING COMPLETION

Preparations are being made by the committee in charge of the 22nd annual grocers' picnic, which this year will be held at Gladstone park, Wednesday, July 26th.

For several years the grocers have held their picnics at Bonneville, but in selecting a location this year, the committee endeavored to get within reach of the valley towns, as attendance from these towns has been growing each year.

Oregon City business houses will close and the citizens of the town will attend, as will all other towns in Clackamas county and vicinity.

Caravan trips seem to be the vogue, and the grocers are keeping up to style by planning such a trip. The purpose of which is to advertise their picnic. It is to be headed by Joe Dunn of the Hawthorne Ice Cream Co., and one hundred jobbers and manufacturers have entered automobiles. One day's journey will make the Newberg-McMinnville-Forest Grove-Hillsboro loop, and another will go south with Salem as its goal.

"One of the big advantages of the new location is its accessibility from D. R. Norton, secretary in charge of Portland and neighboring towns," said picnic arrangements.

"Thousands of persons who could not make the 45 mile drive to Bonneville, or on account of large families, could not afford to pay $1.50 per ticket to go on the train, will be able to go to Gladstone, where the round trip ticket, including admittance to the grounds can be had for 75 cents. Then again here we will be able to continue the activities up to a late hour. The day's picnic will be a part of our entertainment feature, will be kept going to 1:00 p. m. and there will be a free minstrel show in the big auditorium beginning at 8:00 p. m."

The usual athletic stunts will be featured. The baseball game will be a battle between the grocers of Oregon City and those of Portland, in addition to which a burlesque ball game will be staged, in which some of the "highbrows" will be represented by proxy.

The P. R. L. & P. will run special trains to handle the crowds.

Bands to Play
H. H. Haynes, chairman of the Booster Club, an association of salesmen who call on the grocery trade, is working on the organization of a massed band concert as one of the leading attractions. If this feature can be worked out the Royal Rostrian band, The Salem Cherrians, Newberg Berrians and the Vancouver Prunarians will take part. The Vancouver Regimental Band is also expected to participate.

The Gladstone grounds are adequate in every respect, and a dance pavilion is being erected.

W. W. Hill, Harry Corkill and J. C. Mann are the committee in charge of general arrangements and have to look after the sports, Guy Long, baseball, Harry Beckwith, transportation, Fred Ward, stunts, Bud Long, chatters and minstrel show. W. Hill will serve the refreshments and Harry Corkill will look after the comfort of the Dancers.

Non-Union Miner Killed, 9 Injured in Flat Car Explosion

MORDUE, W. Va., July 14.—Explosion of a dynamite trap killed one non-union miner and injured nine others here today.
Two flat cars, just ahead of the one in which the men were riding to work, were blown to splinters.
State police led by bloodhounds took up the trail of agitators believed to have placed the dynamite on the track.

Auto Racer Killed; Mechanic Injured

STRASSBURG, July 15.—Blasgo Nazario, Italian driver, was killed and his mechanic mortally injured today when their car turned over on the next to the last lap of the grand prix automobile race.
The race was won by Felice Nazzario in a Fiat car. He averaged 126 kilometers an hour for the distance of 802 kilometers. Davisca, driving a bugatti, finished second.
The ill-fated car, also a Fiat, was going a strong second into the last lap when a fire blew up and overturned the machine.
There were 18 starters, including three English cars and 10 French cars. Only five finished and the Fiat led throughout.

FIFTY-FOUR YEARS AGO

Taken from the Oregon City Enterprise July 13, 1867.

An Omaha dispatch says that several steamers on the upper Missouri river were attacked and several persons were killed. Six attacks are reported on the road west of Fort Harker. The white settlements near Saline river were attacked and the settlers driven away. Two women were killed and two girls made captive.

More Cherries—Dr. L. A. Lacey, of Springfield, has laid upon our table a cluster of the Royal Ann variety of cherries which ought to go to Paris, where all nice things are supposed to be this year.

At San Francisco on the 6th of July the thermometer registered 81 degrees.

Denver papers on the 20th say Sherman telegraphed Hancock on the 25th: "We must clean out all the Indians between the Platte and the Arkansas rivers; then proceed in force against hostile tribes beyond those rivers. We must not remain on the defensive, but follow and attack on all possible occasions."

The Fashion Saloon—Mr. J. C. Mann has lately fitted and refitted the after which he has opened the new business. We believe Oregon City has the best conducted saloons in this state, and the Fashion is one. The game of baseball has detracted somewhat from billiards, but if any of our friends feel disposed to take a hand with the cue, we can recommend the Fashion.

Another Match—On Monday next the Occidental Club of Vancouver having challenged the Clackamas Club of this city, a match game will be played by them on the grounds of the Pioneer Club at Portland, that being half way between Oregon City and Vancouver. The players will return to this city on Tuesday.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

Taken from the Oregon City Enterprise July 15, 1892.

Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Read, of Portland, were visiting friends in this city last Monday and Tuesday. Rev. Read was pastor of the Baptist church of this city for some time.

W. B. Biles, of Portland, spent Sunday in Oregon City visiting relatives.

Gorton's Minstrels gave a good entertainment at Shively's theatre last Friday evening.

George A. Harding is making sundry improvements about his drug store. New sills are being put under the store and the whole structure straightened up and put into good condition. The old frame building was erected about 30 years ago and has done good service.

At the Fish Hatchery—Superintendent Hubbard at the United States fish hatchery has got the racks set in the river and everything in readiness for beginning the season's work when the proper time shall arrive. For the first time in the Clackamas, trouble is experienced with water moss at the hatchery weir, and it is considerable trouble to keep the racks free of it. Taking salmon roe for hatching will begin in about four weeks, and if the supply of fish is sufficient more than ever before will be hatched this season.

Painful Accident—Last Sunday Marie Aschoff and Minnie Jagger of Marmot, were taking a horse back ride for pleasure to Elk Flat, when Miss Aschoff's saddle turned. She was unable to free herself, and her pony becoming frightened, jumped about her helpless form kicking and striking in all directions. Fortunately Christian Donovan, who was going to Salmon river, was present and promptly lent assistance. It was found that the pony had struck her right arm, and broke both bones above the wrist, causing many painful bruises about her body. A wagon was procured from Mr. Moore, and the patient brought home, where the arm was set in splints.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Burns spent Sunday in Oregon City visiting their son, Charles Burns.

W. P. Hawley and family have moved into a new cottage on Eleventh and Washington streets.

By Robert E. Smith
President Lumbermen's Trust Company Bank, Portland, Oregon

The "domestic tranquility" which the framers of the Constitution avowed, in the preamble to that instrument, as one of the results they sought to attain, seems as far distant as ever in the light of the recent warfare between striking miners and strike-breaking workers in Southern Illinois. This time our domestic tranquility was shattered in a particularly heinous and fiendish manner. It seems to have been established that the slain were all killed after they had ceased working and surrendered; that men were shot down as they ran, after being tied together and told to run, and finished off with knife-thrusts—all this while young girls and women applauded and urged the slaughter. The hitherto matchless butchery of the late war is recalled by such tales.

What is this tragical development of the coal strike and despite, too, the railroad strike which is just beginning—surely conditions which merit being called "adverse"—increased activity in fundamental lines of industry in the United States continues. The production of bituminous coal in recent weeks has been considerably larger than in the earlier weeks of the strike, but the reserves are being reduced at a rate which threatens a marked curtailment in industrial activity unless the striking miners soon resume work.

Many Cars Put Out

A record output of passenger automobiles and trucks was produced in May—250,000. (Figures for June are not yet available). Producers are of course in a state of immense gratification over this state of affairs, but there is a noticeable disposition to exercise caution in the matter of commitments which might entail a repetition of the sort of embarrassment experienced when demand fell off so sharply in 1921.

Commodity prices have displayed an upward tendency of late—not enough to cause any particular worry to the consumer, but still a tendency, and interest in the question of the probable future trend of prices has been greatly stimulated. Indeed, ever since the halt in the downward trend about a year ago, this has been a matter of serious concern.

The question, "What is normal in regard to prices?" has never been definitely settled, but the prices which prevailed in 1913 and 1914 are those which have been taken as a basis for comparison. Prediction regarding the future trend in prices is extremely hazardous, as opinions even among authorities differ some expecting that the general movement will be downward and others believing that for a comparatively long period prices will either move upward or remain at approximately present levels. Average world prices may be expected to be reduced materially as the volume of paper currencies, more or less depreciated in terms of gold, is reduced. The increase in the physical volume of business in the world as a whole and the expansion in production as recovery from the derangements of the war period progresses would also tend to reduce prices. In support of the contention that in all probability prices will fall below the levels of 1913 before an upward swing of any magnitude takes place is frequently cited the fact that after each of the major wars of the last century prices reacted to lower levels than obtained before.

Precedents of this sort are reliable guides only in so far as former conditions governing past events parallel those of the present, and surely important differences in this case are not hard to discover.

Taken all in all, predictions in such case are profitless and speculation is hardly better than a guess.

Italy Consolescent

That Italy possesses a strong recuperative power which it is exerting to such good effect that it is gradually throwing off the effects of the war is indicated by events of the past few months. The outside world feared for a time that Italy was in real danger of slipping into the abyss of bolshevism, but the fundamental soundness of the country's spirit is shown by its recent rapid progress towards convalescence.

Italy's loss in man power during the war amounted to 460,000 killed and 900,000 wounded, while the cost in money has been estimated at around 50 billion during the war years, to which must be added the expenses of the postwar period. Such is the magnitude of the debt that disaster for a time seemed threatened.

With a population one-third as great as that of the United States crowded into an area practically equal to that of Nevada, producing none of the major metals and minerals except iron and that in only small quantities, the chief resources of Italy have been the industry of its inhabitants, the fertility of its soil, the attractions of its history and climate for tourists, and the remittances sent home by its citizens employed in other countries. The policy of the Italian government is to prevent any further inflation of the banknote circulation and to reduce the amount outstanding as rapidly as conditions permit, since depreciation of the lire in terms of foreign money is one of the two chief problems of the country at the present time. The other is the heavy financial debt, funded and indebtedness, which even taking the foreign debt at par, works out at approximately 3,064 lire per capita. The foreign debt represents 40 per cent of the total, and it is easy therefore to understand feeling in Italy that a cancellation of all inter-governmental debts would be a highly desirable procedure.

Italy feels the results of restriction of emigration to the United States under our present immigration laws, as a heavy curtailment of the remittances received from Italian residents in the United States in prewar times ordinarily showed an adverse balance which was offset by income from the tourist traffic and remittances from emigrants. Despite all its handicaps, however, conditions have gradually improved and Italy now seems to be on the road to recovery.

Cuban Loan Expected
That Cuba confidently expects to float in this market within the next few weeks, with the approval of the United States, a $50,000,000 external loan as a result of the appointment of a new Cabinet and the adoption of a $54,000,000 budget is reported in New York. It is said that negotiations have been under way for some months with J. P. Morgan & Company and Kuhn, Loeb & Company, and that the chief obstacle to the consummation of the loan has been the unwillingness to proceed until the wishes of the United States as to Cuba's finances had been complied with. The Cuban Congress completed the steps necessary for such compliance some two weeks ago.

Treasury Surplus Predicted

S. P. Gilbert, Jr., under-secretary of the treasury, has announced that the government will balance its budget this fiscal year and that there will be a small surplus above current expenditures. Total current expenditures for the year will be about $3,900,000,000, which is about $500,000,000 less than the spending department's estimates. The government's expenditures are about $425,000,000 on account of public debt expenditures on account of the cumulative sinking fund and other debt retirements chargeable against ordinary receipts.

"In other words," said Mr. Gilbert, "the government has during the year now closing made that much progress in the gradual liquidation of its war debt. With its budget definitely established on this basis it should look forward to substantially similar progress each year in future." For the fiscal year beginning July 1, however, Mr. Gilbert said the prospects were not so good. The best estimates now available, he said, showed a budget deficit of "perhaps as much as $250,000,000, or rather $485,000,000 if, as it properly should be, the $125,000,000 of accumulated interest on war savings certificates of the series of 1918 is taken into account."

Palestine Municipal Bonds

The juxtaposition of the term "municipal bonds" and anything as ancient as Palestine seems incongruous, but it is authoritatively stated that the government of Palestine has authorized the township of Tel-Aviv (near Java) to negotiate an external loan of $20,000 at 6 per cent, maturing in 20 years. Dispatches from Jerusalem state that a representative of the municipality left Palestine on June 2 for New York where it is hoped to arrange for underwriting the loan. This is the first Jewish municipal bond issue in history.

Pennsylvania Has Income

One person in Pennsylvania paid taxes on an income of between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000 in 1920, and the second largest payment was on an income of between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000. There was only one person in each class, according to the returns. Three paid on incomes ranging between $750,000 and $1,000,000 a year, and seventeen on incomes of between $500,000 and $750,000.

GOLF GROUNDS MAY BE ESTABLISHED HERE SOON

Plans are under way for the establishment of a golf grounds, since a number of business and professional men are interested in this sport. Fred W. Humphrys, acting in response to the request, is making an effort to find suitable grounds. Desirable grounds have been found at West Linn, Oregon City, Gladstone, and in Canby. A meeting will be held by some of the golf enthusiasts in the Commercial Club parlors in the near future.

Auto Destroyed In Recent Fire; Suit Is Filed for Insurance

Suit to collect $1700 on insurance on a car burned in the recent fire which destroyed the Clackamas County Auto and Tractor company was filed by Stephen Chambers against the Importers and Exporters Insurance Company in the circuit court here Monday. The amount covered by a policy said to have been written on the machine by the defendant company.

Judgment for $7,588 with $400 attorney's fees was awarded Mary E. Dorey against Aaron Esch, and wife in the circuit court here Monday. The suit involved a controversy over the title to 79 acres in Section 7, T5S R1E. A judgment for $1500 on a similar suit over 74 acres in Section 12, T6S R1E was awarded to Thomas Slaughter against Henrietta Stanford.

U. S. Furnishes 469 Autos in Shanghai

CONTRACT ON CITY HALL WAITS; NEW BIDS ARE TOO HIGH

Architect Recommends Work
be Done on Force Account;
$35,000 Amount of Issue.

Bids for the new city hall, submitted to the council at its special session Saturday night, were rejected without detailed consideration. The entire amounts were exorbitant, the council decided, and it would be impossible to construct the building with the amount of money on hand.

Sixteen bids were presented either for the entire structure or for part contract work. The figure for the entire structure complete, under the proposals made would be $42,500, or nearly $10,000 more than the city contemplates spending on the building without fixtures.

The entire matter, according to Mayor James Shannon, will be held up until the regular meeting of the city council on August 2, when some plan of procedure will be mapped out. One of the alternatives is presented, according to Mayor Shannon, either to do the work on a cost plus basis or reduce the size and architecture of the building so it can be built within the limit of the bond issue of $35,000. Edmund Bergholtz, the architect, recommends the handling of the work on a force account.

The original estimates for the construction of the building ran about $74,000, but the architect explains the rise in the bids by an increase in steel, cement, sand and gravel.
