

KEEP REPUBLICAN PARTY INTACT IS PLEA OF HAWLEY

Prosperity of Nation Declared Dependent upon Continued Support of Administration; Two Year's Record is Cited.

DEMOCRATS SCORED FOR EXTRAVAGANCE

Tariff Will Be Aid to National Industry Without Increasing Cost of Imported Products.

That the Fordney tariff will not result in increasing the cost of living, that taxes can best be equalized through the creating of larger incomes for those upon whom the burden of taxation falls, and that the safeguarding of the credit of the United States is dependent upon the reduction of national expenditures, were the salient points stressed by U. S. Representative Hawley in an address here Thursday night.

Hawley addressed a large audience at the Star theatre. He urged "down the line" support of the republican administration both in state and national politics. Return of the republican congress was vital to the continued support of President Harding both at present and for the election in 1924, he stated.

Republican Support Urged

"Oregon," stated the congressman, is vitally interested in the continuance of republican control. This state is primarily a producer of raw materials. Eighty per cent of her production is lumber, then follows wool, meats, grain, fruits and fisheries. When the east is prosperous, labor is employed and capital active. Large sums of money come into Oregon for the purchase of her products. This creates a proper business condition throughout the east, through the republican control, has reflected itself in the prosperity of this state."

The speaker declared that in the present agitation over the high taxes, the real relief was in bringing into the state more money for farmers and people who sell their products and thus increase their yearly income. It is necessary, he said to maintain the recognized standard of the state administration, but the increasing of the incomes would allow the payment of the same taxes, though they would not form a great burden as at present.

Tariff Said Law

The Fordney tariff, Hawley stated, is the lowest protective tariff ever placed around American industries. In comparison to the tariff of 1897, which averaged 21 per cent, the 1922 tariff is 16 per cent average. "The reason that the tariff will not, as our democratic friends claim, increase the cost of living, is because the foreigner already sells his product in America, not at a reasonable margin of profit, but at all that the traffic will bear," he said. The addition of tariff charges can only come out of the profits made by the foreign manufacturer or the importer, as the American markets cannot bring more return than is already being received from them." He pointed out that the Fordney bill would bring an income of $50,000,000 which under the Underwood tariff was being lost.

The speaker also cited figures to show that with the Underwood tariff, the lowest of its kind ever enacted, prices in 1920 attained a new high level. The enactment of a protective tariff, he said is always followed in the near future, by a fall in prices.

Democrats Said Extravagant

Touching upon the democratic administration which he characterized as both extravagant and inefficient, the congressman stated that when the republicans came into power, liberty bonds were two and a half times below their face value while today they are three billions above their face value. The democratic extravagances and needless expenditures during the year amounted to $15,000,000. He said. The total war debt of 25 billions is represented by ten billions of loans, payable to the United States by foreign nations. Had it not been for the democratic waste, the entire war debt would have already been paid by taxes levied and paid by the people of the nation during the war period, he stated.

At the time the republicans gained control of the house, there were six million unemployed, Hawley stated, and at the present there is comparatively no unemployment of a legitimate nature showing that the reconstruction has been successful. Illustrative of what he termed democratic wastefulness, he stated that the 1919 congress cut down by $908,000,000 the appropriation bills passed by the democratic house in 1918 but turned down by the senate in that year. Reduction of this expense in the operation of the government means the cutting of nearly nine hundred millions from the 1922 tax roll of the national government to be paid during 1923, the speaker said.

Dail Eireann Will Be Called By De Valera

DUBLIN, Oct. 27.—Eamon de Valera has just made a new move by summoning the second Dail Eireann which constituted the republican government and nominated a council of state. The following is its official report:

"The Dail Eireann parliament and government of the republic met yesterday in secret session, the former deputy speaker presiding. A clerk of the house was appointed. A resolution was passed calling upon former President de Valera to resume the presidency."

New Clue Is Found In Hall-Mills Case

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 30.—The watch that the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall wore on the night he was murdered under the crab apple tree on the Phillips farm has been located. The police are now seeking a negro who offered it for sale to Otto Bontill. The name of the man and his description are in their possession.

A week ago a negro, employed by Bontill told him that he knew where he could get him a good watch cheap. Bontill was interested and his employee led him to the home of another negro who showed him a Huntington engraved gold watch with open face, stem wind and stem set. The negro wanted $110 for it.

Bontill explained that he did not have the money with him, and on his way home to get it he picked up a paper with a description of the watch worn by the murdered minister, which immediately attracted his attention. In every detail, he thought, it fitted that of the watch he had just seen. Accompanied by the detectives, he returned to the negro's home, but the man was out. His wife, however, said the would try to get it for them if they would return later. They did so, but the woman then said her husband had not returned, and a general order has been sent out for his arrest.

According to information obtained from a reliable authority, the negro is almost a giant in size and strength. He has bushy hair and eyebrows and a ferocious jaw. This description tallies with that given by Mrs. Jane Gibbons, the only eye-witness, on her own statement of the tragedy.

Sinister forces are at work undermining the investigation of the slaying. It was learned today. Threats of death and bodily harm have been whispered into the ears of witnesses and sent through the mails. Threats have been made to newspaper reporters and shadowy forms flit about in the background of the investigation.

Stille troopers are guarding Mrs. Jane Gibson eye witness of the double crime, who it is now known has been threatened with death. Florence North, counsel for Charlotte Mills, also has received death threats.

To meet this menace, the investigation forces have set up a counter espionage system. A screen of secret service operatives believed to be working under the direction of the law enforcing agencies of New Jersey, has been thrown all about the principal characters, not only to protect them from possible harm but also to learn, if possible, of persons or organizations responsible for the terrorism efforts.

Mother of Rector Not Satisfied With Verdict Of Coroner

HAVRE, Mont., Oct. 30.—A coroner's inquest may satisfy the law, but the heart of a mother is not so easily contented.

The Rev. Leonard L. Christler, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal church here and widely known as the "bishop of all outdoors," was shot and killed by Mrs. Margaret Carleton in a fit of temporary insanity, and the most beautiful woman in Montana," then turned the gun on herself and committed suicide, according to a coroner's jury verdict rendered after several hours' deliberation.

"Margaret didn't do it," declared Mrs. Joseph Pyle of Butte, mother of the deceased. "I know she didn't do it, and I shall never be satisfied, in spite of the coroner's verdict until it is proved to me where the gun came from that did the shooting."

The mystery of the gun remains unsolved today. It admittedly was not the small calibre pearl handled weapon Mrs. Carleton was known to carry which sent the fatal bullets into the clergyman and his protégé of the chautauqua circuit.

MILLION PEOPLE FOUND DODGING INCOME TAX

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Government revenue agents and auditors, just now catching up with their after-the-war work, have made the startling discovery that more than 1,000,000 persons liable for taxes on incomes above $5000 have dodged payment either through not making returns or concealing assets.

This was learned at the treasury department today simultaneously with the inauguration of a drive on the part of the internal revenue bureau to catch the evaders.

Revenue experts estimate that the treasury can be enriched to the extent of $5,000,000 in collections from individuals who have failed to make any returns for four years.

WAR ON KLAN STARTED BY KANSAS OFFICIALS

TOPEKA, Kan., Oct. 30.—State officials today rushed plans to legally expel the Ku Klux Klan from Kansas. Attorney General Hopkins was drafting an injunction to prevent enlisting of members in Kansas while reports were circulated that other legal maneuvers would prevent the invisible empire from functioning in any way in the state if granted in court.

Governor Henry J. Allen in a speech in Coffeyville Saturday night attacking the Klan announced he had determined to make "parading with pillow slips" an unpopular pastime. He laid at the door of the Ku Klux Klan the recent flogging of the mayor of Liberty and declared that important information for legal action had been gathered by operatives.

Klan councils throughout the state were reported to have been called into session in orders issued today to formulate plans for a fight for existence.

Governor Allen on the eve of an election was in Western Kansas today carrying his appeal to the people to rid the state of the whitecaps.

Kansas Klan officials could not be reached today by newspapermen. It was reported that they were gathering for conference at an unnamed town.

Man Said Poisoned; Woman and Son Held By Officials

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 27.—Mrs. Tilly Klimek and her son, Joseph Klimek, were arrested early today and held pending an investigation of the illness of the woman's husband, Joseph Klimek, 52, reported dying from the effects of a slow poison.

Klimek, the police said, is at least his wife's fifth husband. Police and the coroner's office opened an investigation into the death of four men the woman is known to have married.

Klimek carried life insurance with several companies, the police said. During the course of his illness before Klimek was removed to a hospital, two dogs belonging to the family died after eating scraps from the table, according to the police.

ADMINISTRATION OF JUDGE CROSS SCORED BY RAIL

Member of Recall Committee In Statement Says Work on Monitor Barlow Penetration Roads Is Proven Inefficient.

PERSONAL HANDLING OF BUSINESS IS HIT

Prejudice and Favoritism Are Alleged; Inconsiderate Use Of Capacity Is Charged.

A statement to the recall committee, and to Judge H. E. Cross, citing alleged instances of inefficiency in handling of road work was made yesterday by L. A. Rail, one of the committeemen. He stated which attacks both the administration and the personal conduct of the judge, follows:

"I take this means of answering the challenge of Judge Cross, who attacked me in print without any proof whatever that I was interested in the recall. But attempting to solve his reason, I contend it was to satisfy his petty grouch. His guilty conscience being brought into action, caused him to attack people that he willfully wronged, as promoters of the recall, thereby admitting his guilt without trial.

"Under the voting privileges, is not the recall a part of our personal right, and should we be compelled to take the matter up with Judge H. E. Cross, and his able manager, W. W. Woodbeck, and a few sore heads from Main street, before we advance in our trusted right, as legal voters of Clackamas county."

"Since the recall is under headway, I will give my reasons for becoming a believer in the privilege of recall. That under the corrupt practice which exists under our direct primary law we are eligible to endorse an inferior candidate and the only way to remove him or her, is by the recall.

"Now there has been quite a lot said about commissioners Brocker and Harris as being instigators of the recall, in the beginning of the move. I will say that it is a deliberate falsehood. Neither Harris nor Brocker were interviewed, while seeking a quorum, required to organize. But with the inside information, and with their knowledge of the judges domineering temperament, in order to be loyal to the voters and taxpayers, they naturally would be forced into the ranks of the recallers.

"In connection with this article, I will ask Judge Cross a few questions: Why did you insist that Road Engineer Croomer apply the penetration on the Monitor-Barlow highway, when he informed you that the same would not hold? Did you not inform him that the object of laying the same was to foster the further sale of bonds? And isn't it a fact that the road went to pieces in less than ten days after it was opened to traffic? In other words, hasn't it been rebuilt inside of a year? Isn't it a fact that your court relieved me of $5,000.00 of special levy, which the taxpayers instructed me with? Did you ever call a voter from Killen precinct into your private office, provided for you by the taxpayers of Clackamas county, and coach him to vote against Harris in the primary election, and also inform him that I never did have any use for 'Louie' Rail?

Did you ever, in a gruff manner, ask an old man from the Marquam locality, who had come a long distance to interview the court, if you hadn't better get him a pillow, because the old gentleman was very tired and leaning against the railing of the court? How many times have you gotten up from the judge's chair and, in an impolite manner, left large delegations who were interviewing you in behalf of road affairs, and before leaving them, say that you had nothing to do with road matters—that it was up to Proctor and Harris?

"I, myself, was before your court with a delegation pleading for an offset to match a donation on certain roads and Cross informed us that the district had no finance. If such was the case, how has the supervisor been able to put thousands of yards of gravel on roads preferable to the supervisor—apparently for political purposes—some of it on party roads and roads which have neither been grubbed or ditched, wearing out millions of road by reason of the construction of the new suspension bridge connecting Oregon City and West Linn, and the closing of the old bridge to travel.

J. W. Moffatt presented a proposal to other interests for the balance of his remuneration. Mr. Moffatt did not secure the co-operation of the Crown-Willamette Co. and was unable to secure an approach on the west side and a bonded negotiations. The county court in view of the urgency of the matter agreed to contribute $4,000 of the amount necessary to build the bridge and after considerable negotiating, Oregon City contributed $4,500, West Linn, $5,000, to the county fund of $4,000, and these amounts coupled with contributions from the Crown-Willamette company, the Portland Railway Light and Power company, and the Hawley Pulp and Paper company made up the $18,000 paid to A. Guthrie and Company for the structure which has served as a connecting artery between the east and west sides, during the months the suspension bridge has been closed.

"The negotiations were openly carried on by the mayors and councilmen of Oregon City and West Linn, representatives from the manufacturing companies, the P. R. L. and P. Co., competent engineers representing all parties to the negotiations, Oregon City having J. Roy Stafford, present city engineer, and the county having the advice and assistance of the engineers connected with the state highway department. If the gentlemen sponsoring the recall, by their intemperate intent to convey the impression that there was graft on the part of Harvey E. Cross in awarding this contract, let them speak out, and make their charges definite enough that the grand jury will be justified in making an investigation. The time for loose and irresponsible talking has passed. Come into the open, gentlemen and speak words that can be understood. The contract for the temporary bridge is a matter of public record. The expenditure of public money for its construction was warranted."

CONFERENCE REQUESTED BY LEADER OF FASCISTI

ROME, Oct. 30.—Benito Mussolini, the Fascist leader whom King Victor Emmanuel has asked to become premier, arrived in Rome today for a conference with his majesty. He left the train at 10:15. A big crowd was on hand to greet the chief of the "black shirts" who overthrew the Facta government and virtually forced the king to recognize him as the political leader of the nation.

Mussolini hurried to the palace where he was received by the king at 11:15. He conferred with regard to the personnel of the cabinet which Mussolini is organizing.

"Within a few hours you'll have not only a ministry but a government," Mussolini shouted to the crowds around the Quirinal.

He had just emerged from his conference with King Victor Emmanuel. "Long live the King!"

The crowd surging below sent back a roar of cheers.

The turn of affairs is an out and out surrender to the Fascist chieftain and the 8,000,000 soldiers supporting him.

The Fascist leader refused to accept a compromise. His invitation to form a ministry only came after he had refused point blank to participate in any cabinet headed by former Premier Salandri.
