LOAN ACT WILL BENEFIT FARMER

RURAL CREDITS BILL, SIGNED
BY PRESIDENT, CREATES
NEW BANKS

INTEREST RATE IS NOMINAL

Experts Explain Working of New Law
Which Will Provide Cheap
Money for Farmer

The recently enacted rural credits bill, properly called the Federal Farm Loan act, is said by prominent economists in Oregon and elsewhere, to be one of the most important congressional enactments in a decade. Its far reaching benefits will prove a boon to the farmers of the nation, say such experts as Dr. Hector Macpherson, of the Oregon Agricultural college, who is an ardent worker in behalf of the proposed Oregon rural credits legislation upon which measure voters in this state will ballot in November. Dr. Macpherson spoke upon the subject of rural credits at the Gladstone chautauqua recently.

Under the terms of the federal bill farmers can borrow in amounts up to 50 per cent of the appraised value of their lands and for periods of from 5 to 40 years at a rate of interest which will not in any extent exceed 6 per cent.

The act, as signed by the president, provides for the creation of a bureau in the treasury department, consisting of four members appointed by the president with the consent of the United States senate, no more than two members being of the same political party. The secretary of the treasury is ex-officio a member of the board and its chairman. The term of office is eight years and the salary of the members is $10,000 annually. One member of the board is designated by the president as the farm loan commissioner and is the active administrative head of the board. No member of the board while a member can serve as an officer or director of any institution engaged in the banking or farm mortgage loaning business.

The act provides that as soon after the appointment of the federal farm loan board as possible, the board shall divide the United States, including Alaska, into 12 districts, to be known as federal land bank districts, to be designated by number.

These districts shall be proportioned with regard to the farm loan needs of the district, but no district shall contain a fractional part of a state. In each district a federal land bank shall be established in such city as the board shall designate, and each such bank may, with the approval of the board, establish branch banks within the district.

The act provides for the temporary organization of federal land banks by a board of directors appointed by the farm loan board, who shall manage the preliminary operations of the bank pending the time its capital stock is subscribed and its charter is granted by the board.

The capital stock of the farm loan banks is divided into shares of the par value of $5, and may be subscribed for and held by any individual, firm or corporation, or by the United States government or any state government permitted under its constitution to make such investments. The bank, before beginning the transaction of business, is required to have a subscribed capital of $750,000. Stock owned by the United States shall not be entitled to dividends, though state owned stock is so entitled.

Books for the subscription of the capital stock of the loan banks are to be opened in each of the 12 districts as soon as possible by the federal farm loan board, and if within 30 days after the books are opened, the minimum capital of $750,000 is not subscribed it is the duty of the secretary of the treasury to subscribe the balance on behalf of the United States.

As soon as $100,000 of capital has been subscribed, however, permanent organization shall be effected by the election of nine directors, who shall assume charge of the bank. Each of these directors holds office for three years, and six of the number are to be known as local directors and to be elected by the farm loan associations, while the remaining three are to be known as district directors and are to be appointed by the federal farm loan board. Directors must have been residents of the district for at least two years, and at least one district director shall be experienced in practical farming and actually engaged at the time of his appointment in farming within the district.

The act provides for the organization of corporations, to be known as national farm loan associations, by persons desiring to borrow money on farm mortgage security. Each of these associations shall have a board of directors, elected in the same manner as directors of national banks, who shall elect a president, vice president and a loan committee of three members. The directors and all officers, except the secretary-treasurer, shall

HAWLEY ADDS TO STOCK IN BIG MILL

HUGE CHECK MADE IN PAYMENT FOR BRUNNER AND BRIX BROS. SHARES

What is probably one of the largest checks ever made out by a Clackamas county firm or individual, and a check that will rank high among the greatest that any bank in Oregon has ever handled, went through the Ladd & Tilton bank of Portland this week with the signature of Mrs. E. C. Hawley, wife of W. P. Hawley, Sr., affixed. The check called for the payment of $182,880 in cash to the bank.

Mrs. Hawley made out the huge paper fortune in payment for the block of stock owned by Phillip Brunner and Brix brothers of Portland in the Hawley Pulp & Paper company mill in Oregon City. The Portland bank handled the transaction for the principals and for that reason payment was made to the bank. The stock was held in escrow by the bank and turned over to the Hawleys upon the payment of its enormous value.

Mr. Hawley, previous to the purchase of the Brunner and Brix stock shares, had an unquestioned control of the great Hawley industry and the acquisition of shares valued at $182,880 this week further added to his control of the great corporation.

The check made out and signed by Mrs. Hawley in payment for this block of stock calls for an unusual amount of money and because of the interest it holds by reason of its value it has been neatly framed and will ornament the Hawley offices here.

CARTLIDGE ANSWER RENEWS SCHOOL WAR

TEACHER AND HUSBAND ANSWER COMPLAINT FILED BY
SUPT. F. J. TOOZE

For the purpose of enhancing his personal popularity with the public and the board of school directors, Fred J. Tooze, superintendent of the Oregon City schools, has been guilty of falsehood, demoralizing habits, conduct and influence; ignoring merit in the disposition of honors to pupils and teachers; neglect of responsibility, and several other sins of omission and commission, according to an answer filed in the circuit court yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Cartlidge in connection with the superintendent's recently filed $20,000 damage action against them.

Mrs. Cartlidge was until this spring head of the English department at the local high school and resigned in the heat of the anti-Tooze fight. Mr. Cartlidge has been prominently identified with the quarrel through the publication of Bulletin No. 1 and his general support of the cause of the teachers.

The answer to Mr. Tooze's complaint contains a series of charges against the city superintendent that are substantially the same as those contained in Bulletin No. 1, which was the inspiration of the damage action started by the city superintendent.

With reference to the bulletin in question the Cartlidge answer to the Tooze complaint says:

"During the several years preceding the publication complained of by the plaintiff and during the year in which said matter was published as aforesaid, defendants were informed that plaintiff's acts, conduct and habits had a demoralizing and baneful effect on the pupils attending the high school and as well as discouraging and disorganizing influence on the teachers thereof. In particular said defendants were informed of numerous occasions on which plaintiff had uttered falsehoods to teachers, pupils and members of the board of directors of the said school district, the facts of such falsehoods and their nature coming to be commonly known among teachers and pupils of said high school; of other occasions on which plaintiff had deceived pupils or teachers or school directors; of occasions on which he had taken to himself entire credit for plans and methods of instruction that rightfully belonged to teachers under his supervision; of other occasions on which he had ignored merit in the disposal of honors among pupils; of occasions on which he had acted with a motive of currying favor with members of the board of directors; of other occasions on which he had evaded responsibility that was rightfully his and had shifted the same upon teachers under his supervision, for the purpose of enhancing his personal popularity; of other occasions on which he had used his position to intimidate teachers of said high school."

District Union Service
The annual union services of all of the denominational churches of Estacada, Currinville, Garfield and Springfield will be held all day August 6 in the grove adjoining the Zion church in Garfield. Among the speakers will be President Talbot, of Kimball college, of Salem, and Dr. Nugent, pastor of the Union Congregational church, of Newburyport, Mass.

LARSEN IS IN JAIL AS BOMB SUSPECT

DANE CONFESSES AND REPUDIATES STATEMENTS. HE IS THOUGHT INSANE

STORY IS PROBABLY FICTION

Emancipated Prisoner Confessed to Gain Freedom That Was Promised Him

Any connection with the San Francisco bomb outrage which cost the lives of several and injured scores in the bay city a fortnight ago, was flatly denied by Chris Larsen, of Copenhagen, who has been held in the county jail here for more than a week, in conversation with Henry Harkson, royal Danish vice-consul of Portland on Tuesday morning. Mr. Harkson was called to Oregon City by Sheriff Wilson in an attempt to get Larsen to tell a straightforward story of his actions.

Mr. Harkson talked with the prisoners for some time in the presence of the sheriff and reporters and later had a private chat. As a result the consul agrees with Sheriff Wilson, Judge Anderson and physicians who have examined the man, and is of the opinion that he is insane. Larsen is a Danish subject, although he says he has been in America nearly 25 years.

Late last week he appeared at Milwaukee and appealed to Marshal Sam Riley for protection from the hirings of a Seattle dentist who was trying to get his money from him. The prisoner claims to have about $1200 on deposit in the Iberian bank of San Francisco. He states that he left the bay city three months ago and since that time has been in Portland, Seattle and Tacoma, where he has sought work as a cook.

In Seattle he had dental work done and the practitioner learned that he had money in the bank. After a threat to get his money the dentist hired "shadowers" to follow Larsen and to secure the money in some way or other. These men, says Larsen, hounded him in Seattle, Tacoma, Portland and followed him to Milwaukee. He has had much trouble with dentists, according to the story he tells. In Oakland a dentist so distorted his face that he became an outcast, being unable to secure work or companionship because of his facial appearance, which seems to be perfectly normal.

Larsen, who is a pack of bones, apparently suffers more from the ravages of hunger than from dentists, detectives and the sensation-seeking newspapers in Portland and Oregon City which have attempted to saddle the San Francisco crime upon his frail shoulders. He is alleged to have confessed his crime to a fellow prisoner and to Burns' detectives. To Mr. Harkson the prisoner said that he had been promised his freedom if he would confess the outrage. Wishing freedom he, of course, confessed. This confession he repudiated in every detail before the Danish consul and said that he had not been in San Francisco for three months; that he had no acquaintance with labor leaders, I. W. W.'s, anarchists or others who might be behind the bomb plot.

He has told conflicting stories, but the recital of his actions for the past three months was given repeatedly and in detail to the Danish consul on Tuesday morning. He still contends that he is being followed by employees of the Seattle dentist and it is they who have caused his arrest and detention here.

Officials have practically banished suspicion that Larsen was connected with the bomb explosion at San Francisco and consider him more or less harmlessly demoted. He will be held in the county jail for several days pending the establishment of some of his statements to Consul Harkson. The consul will investigate through San Francisco references given by Larsen in an effort to ascertain that he is truthful when he says that he left the bay city three months ago and to make sure that he lived at the addresses mentioned.

Larsen asked Mr. Harkson not to acquaint his San Francisco friends with his predicament because he did not want to let them know that the trouble he was in for no cause that he had knowledge of. After a thorough investigation of his statements is made, Larsen will probably be brought up for another medical examination to determine whether he will be released or sent to Salem.

Cazadero Eligibles Tested
Post office inspectors are making investigations at Cazadero with a view to the appointment of a postmaster to replace the official who recently tendered his resignation to the department. The exact date of examination will be announced by the inspectors and they will gather information from whatever source permissible under the civil service rules touching the suitability of eligibles.

TEACHERS REGISTER FOR SUMMER SCHOOL

J. E. CALAVAN HAS ARRANGED
FINE PROGRAM; EDUCATORS
ORS TO SPEAK

The first few days of the annual County Teachers' institute being conducted by the county school department at the Barclay school in this city have been unusually successful, judging from the attendance and the interest displayed by teachers from all parts of the county.

On Monday, the first day of the institute, 85 teachers had registered and before Tuesday night more than 100 had signed the rolls. The registration for the first day of the annual session this year was better by a good many teachers than the attendance on any first day since the institutes have been held in Clackamas county.

Superintendent J. E. Calavan is in direct charge of the institute and for the instruction of the many teachers gathered here has assembled a program that is a model, not only from the viewpoint of diversity but from that of the men and women who are speakers and lecturers. The superintendent himself will take several hours during the summer course to address the teachers and to outline the plans and ambitions of the school department, that they may be the more capably carried out when schools open next fall.

The classes will continue on each week until August 18. Educators of national renown are among those who will speak to the teachers at the several sessions.

All teachers within the county who have not had 27 months of actual teaching experience are required to attend the institute unless they have attended a summer session at one of the standard schools or colleges of the state or are graduates of an accredited normal school. Also all teachers who wish to take advantage of the professional certificate, in spite of the other requirements, will be required to attend at least three days of the annual institute.

The faculty of the summer institute comprises Mrs. M. L. Fulkerson, Miss Lena Ulen, Brenton Vedder, school supervisor, T. J. Gary and F. B. Guthrie. In addition to this staff Superintendent Calavan has enlisted the service of such noted educators as President J. H. Ackerman of the Monmouth Normal school; J. A. Churchill, state superintendent of public instruction; President J. W. Kerr of the O. A. C.; President W. T. Foster, of Reed college; Dr. H. D. Shelton of the U. of O.; the Rev. W. T. Milliken of Oregon City; H. C. Seymour, state leader of industrial club work for the

CANBY IS TO BUILD NEW WATER SYSTEM

COUNCIL AND LEE HAVE FAILED TO AGREE AS TO PRICE
ON SYSTEM NOW IN USE

The M. J. Lee water system which serves the community in and about Canby may have to be replaced by municipal service, or, at least replaced to large extent, as Mr. Lee asserts that he will continue the operation of his plant even after the municipal plant is installed in case he and the council do not come to an early agreement.

According to S. A. Cobb, city engineer of Canby, who has charge of the proposed work on a municipal system, construction will be started early this month and the plant and distributing system should be completed within two months.

The source, if a new one is created, will be a well drilled on city property in the southern part of the city, and this will be the base of the gravity system. A reservoir could only be built at a great distance at much greater expense and as a result the container will be erected over the source of supply. The container will be a tank of 75,000 gallon capacity and will be filled from the well by an oil burner and pump. When the base and source of supply is erected the work on the distributing system to all parts of the city will be rushed to completion.

For a considerable time the city council of Canby has made efforts to come to terms with M. J. Lee, owner of the system that has supplied the community with water for a number of years. What the council wanted and the desires of the owner were expressed in different words, however, and attempts to arbitrate on values proved practically unavailing. The Canby council stood divided upon question of paying the price, $5,000, asked by Mr. Lee, and has since ordered the purchase of main pipes, taps, fire plugs and other necessary equipment to an up-to-date water system.

In case Mr. Lee submits to the verdict of one half the council or in case the council unites in its effort to purchase his system, it will be incorporated in a project which means a great improvement in the distribution of water in the city. In such an event

COUNCIL FIGHTS BITTER BATTLES

SEXTON CLARK OUSTED BY VOTE MAJORITY. BULLARD
GETS THE JOB

PROPERTY IS ASSESSED AGAIN

Mayor Would Acquire Water Front
Land for City. May Rebuild
the City Hall

Pop! Pop! So go the fireworks in the city council.

The latest depreciation of the characters, moral and physical, of the majority by the minority, comprising Councilmen Templeton, Metzner and Albright, was injected into the meeting of the aldermanic body last night with an oratorical volley of accusations against the majority, especially directed at Councilman Van Auker, by Councilman Templeton.

Templeton, leader of the minority and, therefore, its most vociferous spokesman, charged Van Auker and his mates on the north side of the table with several of the cardinal sins, ranging from an intimation of graft to the charge of a frame-up in the majority ranks to oust W. H. Clark, sexton of the cemetery.

As a result of the vote of the council Clark will be replaced as sexton by Frank Bullard, the majority candidate, who was elected over the strongly expressed objection of Templeton, who brought into his objections bitter personalities against Van Auker. Templeton charged Van Auker with having hit Clark with his fist on one occasion after a wordy altercation between the councilman and the sexton, on October 9, 1915. The blow found Clark unprepared for counter-attack and broke the sexton's eye glasses. Templeton, Metzner and Albright voted for the retention of Clark and lost to Buckles, Van Auker, Cox and Andrews. G. W. Gillette was an aspirant to the sexton's position, but his name was not placed in nomination.

"A man with prejudice in his heart to the detriment of the efficiency of city government has no business in the city council," said Mr. Templeton. Albright rose to the occasion by saying that Van Auker worked against Clark's re-appointment and engaged in fist battle with that gentleman because the sexton would not "come through."

Templeton proceeded to "take the bull by the horns" as chairman of the cemetery committee and stated that the committee would exercise its right to oust the newly elected sexton in accordance with the power granted by the city charter. This subject was dropped immediately, however, with the final statement by Templeton that it was "a rotten, dirty piece of business."

The reassessment of property in the Tenth street sewer district will be ordered as a result of the elimination by councilman order of certain assessed property which should not have been included in the district when the previous assessment was made.

In a speech early in the meeting Mayor Hackett brought about the appointment of a committee, comprising Metzner, Cox and Van Auker to investigate the possibility of the city acquiring title to property along the river front, especially on both sides of the bridge for a considerable distance. The mayor advocated such acquisition strongly and it is entirely probable that his plan will be carried out if the committee finds such a thing possible. The value of this property to the city for municipal docks and other purposes is demonstrated daily, according to Mayor Hackett. It is his idea to improve certain parts of the property, if the city can acquire title reasonably, with municipal docks and other facilities for the accommodation of shippers.

The committee appointed will no doubt work along the general plan of getting as low a value as possible and in some cases induce individual owners to give the land into the perpetual keeping of the city. The city already holds what is known as a tax title to the water front land.

Mayor Hackett was full of business at the meeting last evening. He stood sponsor for several ambitious ideas. He recommended the trial of a new paving material introduced by E. D. Olds of Oak Grove, and suggested that the trial be made on the improvement of Molalla avenue. He also recommended the reconstruction of the city hall building so that the lower part of the structure could be made a revenue producer through the creation therein of store rooms, and that the hallway and stairs to the second floor be moved to the back of the building so that the entire upper floor could be made into one room for the greater accommodation of the council and for rent for different purposes.

Another vitriolic outburst from Templeton came when City Engineer Miller, acting in the place of the absent recorder, John W. Loder, started to read the monthly report of the finance committee, signed by Council-

COUNTY GETS LARGE CHECK FOR SCHOOLS

SHARE OF IRREDUCIBLE SCHOOL
FUND INTEREST AMOUNTS
THIS YEAR TO $20,493.06

Only Multnomah, Lane and Marion counties profit more from the annual apportionment of interest from the state's irreducible school fund than does Clackamas county and County Treasurer Dunn has received a check from State Treasurer Kay for $20,493.06 as this county's share of the fund.

The total amount of the interest collected on the fund in the past year was $369,482.96, which sum is $9417.96 in excess of the amount collected in 1915. The increase allows the state treasurer to increase the per capita apportionment of the fund to $1.77 from the apportionment of last year, which was $1.75.

There are 280,748 children of school age, including all between the ages of 4 and 20 years, in Oregon. Of this number, 11,578 are in Clackamas county, and this year the school fund provides the county with $1.77 for each of these children. The increase in the school population of the state over last year is 2996. The increase in the fund more than offsets the increase in the school population.

Multnomah county gains the most from the fund apportionment and has since the fund was created. This year that county gets $20,746.17 or $253.11 more than Clackamas county. Marion county profits in the sum of $23,732.16 or $3239.10 more than this county.

The apportionment by counties: Baker, $11,189.94; Benton, $7373.82; Clackamas, $20,493.06; Clatsop, $9457.53; Columbia, $6665.85; Coos, $12,016.53; Crook, $5177.25; Curry, $1486.80; Douglas, $11,818.29; Gilliam, $2086.83; Grant, $3738.24; Harney, $2674.47; Hood River, $3623.19; Jackson, $11,804.13; Jefferson, $1816.02; Josephine, $5175.48; Klamath, $4954.23; Lake, $2709.87; Lane, $20,746.17; Lincoln, $3902.85; Linn, $14,384.79; Malheur, $5784.36; Marion, $23,732.16; Morrow, $2672.70; Multnomah, $94,234.80; Polk, $9425.25; Sherman, $1906.29; Tillamook, $4115.25; Umatilla, $12,451.95; Union, $9439.91; Walla, $5872.86; Wasco, $7490.64; Washington, $14,741.10; Wheeler, $1970.01; Yamhill, $12,349.29.

BOYSEN COMES BACK AND LANDS IN JAIL

BOOTLEGGER FORGETS PROMISE
TO STAY AWAY. COUNSEL
DESERTS HIM

Fritz Boysen, notorious as the proprietor of the infamous Hotel Belle at Milwaukee that has caused Clackamas county peace officers many sleepless nights, has apparently arrived at the end of his rope and is resting peacefully behind the bars of the county jail for the first time in his career as a law breaker.

Boysen was arrested on Tuesday evening at the Milwaukee hotel where he was enjoying life in his shirt sleeves. Recently Boysen was sentenced to six months in jail and a fine of $500. The former penalty was suspended upon Boysen's promise to leave the county and never to return.

Boysen seems to have cherished the thought for years that he could hoodwink the county officers, however, and bravely returned to his old place of business on Monday for the purpose according to his story, of arranging business matters with his successor.

On Wednesday Boysen's former counsel, it is said, refused to handle his case and present to the court a petition for a writ of habeas corpus. Such a writ is the only possible thing, say attorneys, that can keep Boysen from languishing behind the bars for the term designated when he was convicted recently. Boysen is very apt to remain here as the guest of the county for six months.

Sheriff Wilson and Constable Frost found Boysen lounging about the Milwaukee hotel just as he did in his palmy days and they made short work of bundling him into their machine for the trip to the county bastille.

MERCHANT BUNCOED

Stranger Gets Handful of Change and
Package of Medicine

One of the stone-age stunts that made the bunco game such a success in its halcyon days was "pulled" on the Huntley Drug company on Tuesday by a stranger at the Willamette hotel, and the company as a result is out of pocket in the sum of $19.80 and the value of a package of medicine.

The stranger asked over the phone to have a package of medicine sent to him and change for $20, saying that such was his smallest coin. A messenger was despatched and delivered the medicine. The stranger saw that the boy would not give up the package until he had the $20, so the bunco-steerer overpowered the lad, took the change and fled.

Descriptions of the character have been sent broadcast. The messenger boy gave chase and then searched for officers while the stranger made his escape.

PUBLIC SERVICE IS HEAVILY TAXED

ASSESSOR JACK GIVES FIGURES TO SHOW CONTROL OF CORPORATIONS

COMPARES PROPERTY VALUES

Three-Fourths of Corporation Tax in County Is Paid by the
P. R. L. & P. Co.

Public service corporations have a prominent part in the support of Clackamas county government through the payment of heavy tax assessments, as is shown by figures and facts compiled by County Assessor J. E. Jack for the information of Clackamas county people.

In a measure the net of power producers, railways and electric service corporations make up the burden of the tax revenue of the county that is levied upon the property and enterprises of less than one half the county. The fact that 54 per cent of the entire area of Clackamas county is in national forest reserves and, therefore, exempt from taxation or other assessment makes the burden on the remainder of the county far larger than it would otherwise be. But the public service corporations come to the rescue of the smaller taxpayers because of their extensive holdings and enterprises within the county.

Taxation of public service corporations, most of which do an inter-county business, is assessed by the state tax commission and returns submitted to the county assessor. The figures prepared by Mr. Jack cover the assessments of the past year and the assessments were made by the state department.

One fifth of the total assessed valuation of the county is owned by public service corporations, says Mr. Jack. This amounts to $6,085,961.98. The total assessed valuation of the county is something over $30,000,000.

The heaviest individual taxpaying corporation doing business in this county is the Portland Railway Light & Power company, which operates several power plants in addition to its net of track. More than three-fourths of the entire public service taxation is paid by the P. R. L. & P. Co.

There are power plants at Bull Run, Cazadero, Oregon City and River Mill with a valuation as assessed of $1,411,720. There are 902.013 miles of power lines within the county paying taxes on a valuation of $1,096,651.83. These properties alone represent almost 8 per cent of the total assessed valuation of the county.

An itemized statement of the assessments follows:

Cazadero main line track, 21.38 miles, $23,200 a mile; side track, 13.76, $11,600 a mile. Oregon City, main line track, 9.61 miles, $23,200 a mile; side track 4.84 miles, $11,600 a mile. Bull Run main line track, 4.36 miles, $17,400 a mile; side track, .71 miles, $8,700 a mile.

Southern Pacific, main line track, 21.70 miles, $34,220 a mile; side track, 6.42 miles, $17,110 a mile.

Hydro-electric power plants: Bull Run, $251,720; Cazadero, $406,000; River Mill, $406,000; Oregon City, $348,000.

"There are 101,121 acres of cultivated land in Clackamas county; 527,745 acres of uncultivated land, of which 200,000 is fit for clearing and cultivation," says Mr. Jack. "This cultivated land is taxed on a valuation of $6,115,840 and the uncultivated land is assessed on a valuation of $9,717,520, including the valuation of the heavy holdings of the Oregon & California Railroad company, commonly called the Oregon and California land grant. Improvements, not including planted property, are valued at $1,280,765 and the value of unplanted lands, with their improvements, is $17,219,625."

From the figures denoting the valuation of public service properties and the comparison with the value of other property it can readily be seen that the corporations doing business in Clackamas county are important to its material welfare and that their support of the county treasury is of such proportions as to take from the shoulders of minor taxpayers a very heavy burden. The assessment against these companies is not arbitrary, but is evolved after a thorough study of valuations on the part of the state tax commission.

It is the farsightedness of city and county officials in the county that does everything possible to protect the property and the interests of the corporations. They are an undeniable asset to the county and officials with the proper interest in the welfare of the community at heart, aid as much as they can in fostering the maintenance and development of public service organizations.

Married at Vancouver

A marriage license was issued on Friday at Vancouver, Wash., to Forrest Ott of Oregon City, and Miss Gabriella Johns, of Salem.
