LOAN ACT WILL BENEFIT THE FARMER

serve without compensation, and must be bona fide residents of the territory within which the association is authorized to transact business, and must be shareholders of the association.

Ten or more persons who are owners or about to become owners of farm land may unite to form an association. Each person uniting in the organization is entitled to borrow not less than $100 nor more than $10,000 and the aggregate of all loans desired is required to be not less than $20,000.

When the association desires to borrow money of the federal land bank of its district it is required to subscribe for capital stock of the bank to the amount of five per cent of the face of the loan, the subscription to be paid in cash upon the loan being granted. This stock is to be held as collateral security by the bank for the repayment of the loan, but any dividends accruing on it are payable to the association.

The capital stock of the farm loan association is of the par value of $5, and no persons but borrowers on farm land mortgages are entitled to become members of the associations. Any one owning farm land and desiring to borrow upon it is required to make application for membership in the association and to subscribe for stock to the amount of five per cent of the face of his proposed loan, which subscription is to be paid in cash at the time the loan is granted. The stock is to be paid off when the mortgage is satisfied, but prior to that time is held as collateral security for the loan by the association. The interest rate on money loaned by the district banks shall not exceed six per cent per annum.

Whenever an application to borrow money is made to an association it is referred to the loan committee of the association for examination, appraisal and written report. If the report is favorable, it may be approved by the directors of the association and by them submitted to the federal land bank, together with the application. The land bank then submits the application and report to its appraisers who investigate the land as to whether it would furnish sufficient security for the loan, and make written report to the bank. If this report is favorable the loan may be authorized by the bank.

These loans must be secured by duly recorded first mortgages on farm land within the district in which the bank is situated. The mortgage must provide for the repayment of the loan on an amortization plan by means of a fixed number of annual or semi-annual payments sufficient to cover, first, a charge on the loan at a rate not exceeding the interest rate in the last issued series of farm loan bonds (which interest is never to exceed five per cent per annum); second, a charge for administration and profits not to exceed one per cent per annum on the unpaid principal. These two charges which will never exceed six per cent per annum, are to constitute the interest rate on the mortgage. The third charge is the amortization charge, consisting of fixing payments on the principal sum which will extinguish the debt within a definite period, not less than five nor more than 40 years. Provision shall also be made that after five years the principal can be paid in sums of $25 or multiples or by the payment of the entire principal at any installment date.

Under the act loans may be made only for the following purposes: To provide for the purchase of land for agricultural purposes; to provide for the purchase of equipment, fertilizers and livestock; for the erection of buildings and the improvement of farm lands; to liquidate existing indebtedness of the owner of the lands. No such loan shall exceed 50 per cent of the appraised value of the land.

In case of default in payment simple interest will be charged at the rate of eight per cent per annum.

The act also provides for the loaning of money by district land banks through agents in those cases where national farm loan associations have not been formed. These agents must be duly incorporated banks, trust companies, mortgage companies or savings institutions. Actual expense of appraisal by the agent is to be paid by the district bank and added to the face of the loan.

Provision is also made for the organization of joint stock land marks, which must have a capital stock of at least $250,000 before transacting business, and which must make farm loans under the same rules and restrictions as are imposed on the district land banks.

Both the district banks and the joint stock banks are authorized to issue farm loan bonds, based upon the first mortgage securities taken for prior loans.

One feature of the act provides for the examination of all state legislation affecting mortgage loans and foreclosures, and authorizing the farm loan board to refuse to make loans in any state where the state laws do not furnish adequate protection to the banks, until such time as the states remedy the defects in their statutes. This section also provides that when loans may not be made, requests it, the federal farm loan board shall prepare a statement showing the defects in the laws and the requirements of the board, so that the statutes may be amended, if desired by the legislature.

CITY COUNCIL FIGHTS BITTER BATTLE

man Cox, one member of the committee.

Because of the fact that S. McDonald, keeper of the city parks, enjoyed two half-days at the chalet, McDonald refused to sign the report so that it could be read. The reason for this was that McDonald was listed on the report to draw a full month's pay when he had missed at least this one day. Hurling bombs at the occupants of chairs on the north side of the table, Templeton intimated shady work on the part of McDonald's friends. The "north side" warriors compromised so that other city employees would not be deprived of their pay through delay in passing upon the report, and eliminated $250, one day's wage, from McDonald's allowance. Street Commissioner Babcock volunteered to take the blame for the mistake and said that he had not consulted McDonald as to the number of days or hours he had worked. The entire amount of the finance committee's report was $3,255.24, which represents the cost of administering the city government for the month of July.

After Templeton's impassioned verbal effort Councilman Cox pointed out the words in the city charter which forbade personalities in the transaction of the city's business. He mentioned the slurs and accusations thrown at him and his fellow councilmen on the north side of the table as a very disagreeable burden and asked that the mayor take steps to stop such remarks from the minority councilmen.

City Engineer Miller will meet with engineers of the P. R. L. & P. Co., in an effort to plan a means of lowering the company's tracks on Main street at Seventeenth and Eighteenth one and two feet respectively to conform with the grades of the street. The council failed to support the mayor's contention that this matter should be settled by the council at once.

The matter of supports for the Southern Pacific crossing on Fourteenth street was brought up and the city recorder will be instructed to communicate with the company in an effort to bring about a more safe condition at this crossing. Concrete bents will probably be asked to replace the present wooden structures.

TEACHERS REGISTER FOR SUMMER SCHOOL

O. A. C. and the Federal department of agriculture, and F. J. Toose, superintendent of Oregon City schools.

On Tuesday J. H. Ackerman, president of the Monmouth Normal school addressed the group of teachers. His lecture was instructive and interesting and carried a lesson to every one in the assembly room. Among interesting statements made by Mr. Ackerman were those which advised young people to seek progress in other communities than that in which they have been raised.

"At home, if your name is Henry," said Mr. Ackerman, "you will always be Hank to your friends. That overthrows dignity and is only one of several reasons why fame or even reasonable progress is more easily obtained elsewhere than in your home community." Mr. Ackerman advised that all teachers acquire the "thrift" habit and save a part of their earnings; that teachers should teach pupils the value of money and that all children should be trained to earn an honest living.

On Wednesday afternoon J. A. Churchill, state superintendent of public instruction, imparted many words of sound advice to the young men and women who are preparing to take in hand the task of moulding the lives of the younger generations in Clackamas county. Mr. Churchill's talk was highly instructive.

CANBY IS TO BUILD NEW WATER SYSTEM

the projected well drilling will be given up and the Lee system will be used as the base for a much larger one. In case Mr. Lee and the council do not come to terms the plan that is to be created will cost approximately $18,000, according to City Engineer Cobb. And Mr. Lee will continue the operation of his plant independently, according to the same authority.

Canby has had considerable just cause for complaint in the manner in which the business dealings between the council and Mr. Lee have been spread through certain newspapers. There seems to be a disposition on the part of all to settle the matter promptly and to the satisfaction of all concerned, in order that entire harmony will be preserved in the community, and it seems to be the consensus of opinion that the purchase of the Lee plant and the additions thereto proposed by the council would be to the best interests of the city.

Mr. Cobb has a contract with Canby for the erection of the new system. He is at present examining various types of pumping equipment in company with members of the council and will submit a report to the council at an early date. At the next meeting the council and Mr. Lee will probably have their final discussion and if at that time a settlement is not made the city will proceed with the work as outlined in its plans.

Obituaries

Mrs. Louise Heilman

After several weeks of illness Mrs. Louise Bauman Heilman passed away at her home in Canby on Saturday morning and was laid at rest in the Catholic cemetery on Monday of this week.

Mrs. Heilman is survived by her husband, Phillip Heilman and four children, Gertrude, Lawrence, Charles and Walter, in addition to the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. C. A. Lewis and Mrs. F. Grissen of Oregon City; Mrs. John Lane of Camas, Mrs. A. Schilling of McMinnville, Mrs. Mike Harias of Canby and Charles and Max Bauman of Canby. She was the youngest of the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. W. Bauman and was born and raised in Canby.

Mrs. Adaline Brady

Mrs. Adaline Brady, mother of Mrs. George Pusey, and for fifteen years a resident of Oregon City, passed away at the Pusey home at 10:30 last night from a complication of heart trouble and advanced years.

Mrs. Brady was born in Germany in March of 1832 and came to this country with her parents at the age of one year. For a number of years she made her home at Aurora and fifteen years ago came to Oregon City to make her home with Mr. and Mrs. George Pusey.

Mrs. Brady had been ill about two months before her death and her affliction, combined with the weight of years, presented a handicap which she could not overcome, although she had been in normal health previous to her fatal illness. She is survived by her daughter here, Mrs. George Pusey, and by a son, August Brady of Willamette. Funeral arrangements will be made and announced later.

MILL ADDITION DELAYED

Mr. Hawley Will Carry Out Original Plans at Later Date

Temporary postponement of the plan to build a second additional unit to the Hawley Pulp & Paper company's mill here, was announced yesterday by W. P. Hawley, Jr., son of the president and general manager of the big manufacturing. This projected addition was to have entailed the expenditure of approximately $1,000,000, according to Mr. Hawley, and would have been erected on the property on the east side of Main street between Third street and the alley between Fourth and Fifth streets. It was to accommodate the new building that the mill company recently asked the council to order the vacation of Fourth street.

It is understood by the announcement of Mr. Hawley that the proposed addition plan is not to be abandoned, but merely postponed. So many things are crowding into the attention of the mill owners that they have found it advisable to delay the proposed work at least until the addition now in course of construction is completed. This work will be done by the beginning of the new year and the second unit, in all probability, will be started shortly after that time.

Mr. Hawley yesterday expressed the opinion that the unit now being built would be ready at least a month before the time originally set. As soon as the building is sufficiently ready to house the new equipment it will be installed and the new paper machine will produce its first product before the end of the winter season.

Pensioners in Oregon

There are 7,119 pensioners of the United States government in Oregon, drawing $1,575,650.56 annually.

This total is larger than for both the Dakotas combined, nearly as large as Minnesota, and half that of Nebraska.

CONTRACT FOR CUT-OFF

County Court Will Hasten Pacific Highway Link

The county court at its August meeting, of which yesterday was the first day, granted to W. B. Kidd of Portland a contract for the establishment and grading of the Fly Creek cut-off on the Pacific highway this side of New Era. Mr. Kidd's bid was the lowest of those presented and amounted to $2894.50, which includes the work of cutting and grading the new road. Toward the payment of these costs the Southern Pacific company has donated to the county court the sum of $1250.

The Fly Creek cut-off will be a distinct improvement in the road system in this part of the county because of the fact that by its creation two steep grades are altogether eliminated from the Pacific highway, of which the new piece of road will become a part, and two more or less dangerous railroad crossings are done away with. It is partly because of the benefits derived from the latter elimination that the railroad company has been willing to donate toward the work in hand.

The entrance to the Pacific highway from Oregon City will remain unchanged and the new road will join onto the highway again near New Era. It is merely a new link in the chain and when completed will be one of the best links. The new piece of road is to follow the route established by the state highway department early this spring.

It is probable that the contractors will commence work on the cut-off immediately in order to take all possible advantage of the favorable weather conditions that are expected for the next few weeks. It is also intimated that the court has an idea of hurrying the completion of the new road so that it can be surfaced early next year if funds for such work are available.

In addition to granting this contract the county court denied a petition presented by residents between Boring and the Anderson communities, between two and three miles in length. W. R. Telford was the first signer of this petition and it is said that it was denied principally because of the very heavy expense attached to such a piece of work.

The G. A. Stangel petition was also denied. This petition asked for the construction of a road in the Wilsonville neighborhood at an approximate cost of $4500.

TO HAVE FIRE FIGHTERS

West Linn To Be Protected from Fire and Thistles

Five companies to constitute a fire department for West Linn were authorized at a meeting of the city council last evening by the final passage of an ordinance covering the matter. Apparatus and equipment is already owned by the city and the assembling of the five companies of the department will be the chief part of the work.

The companies are to be located one in each of these districts: west end of bridge, Bolton, top of hill, Sunset avenue and Willamette. Each company will be limited to 30 men. The chief and assistants will be appointed by Mayor John Lewthwaite, Jr. Officers will act until the first of the year when the mayor will make new appointments.

The council also ordered thistles cut from all streets and public property at the expense of the city and authorized that orders be given to property owners forcing them to cut weeds.

The council ordered that 2000 yards of crushed rock be placed upon the streets of the city.

STATE GETS $78,687.37

Apportionment of Road-Ad Fund Is Made by Secretary of Agriculture

Oregon profits in the sum of $78,687.37 from the apportionment of the federal road fund available for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1917, according to figures just made known by the secretary of agriculture. This is the first installment of the money to be apportioned to the states under the federal-aid road act approved July 11, 1916.

Before making the division among the states, the secretary, in accordance with the act, deducted 3 per cent, or $150,000, needed for administering its provisions. This left $4,850,000 to be apportioned among the states, one-third in the ratio of mileage of rural delivery routes and star routes.

Oregon's share, then, for the first fiscal year is $78,687.37, as contrasted with $291,972.81 for the state of Texas, which gets the largest slice of the melon, or with New York, which gets $250,720.27, or with Delaware, which state gets the smallest sum, $8,184.37.

After the first year the fund to be apportioned is greatly increased each year. In 1918 $10,000,000 will be apportioned; in 1919, $15,000,000; in 1920, $20,000,000 and in 1921 $25,000,000.

The act requires that the apportionment shall be made in the same manner each year. Different sums are appropriated each year and the apportionment must also take into consideration the population as shown by the latest available federal census and the mileage of rural delivery and star routes as shown by the certificate of the postmaster general for the next preceding fiscal year. A new apportionment, therefore, must be announced for each fiscal year.

The above apportionment does not take into consideration the $1,000,000 additional appropriated each year for ten years for the development of rural roads in the national forests.

Decrease in Live Stock

Cattle production in Oregon has decreased 9 per cent since 1909, and sheep production 11 per cent, according to figures just published by the Department of Agriculture.

CERTIFICATES GRANTED

Teachers Get Permits from State Educational Department

The state department of education has issued teaching certificates to several Clackamas county teachers for the coming school year. Among those granted are a five year certificate to Brenton Vedder, county school supervisor.

Other certificates are: One year—Mrs. Inez Snodgrass Larkins, Agnes V. Taylor, John L. Ashton, Mrs. Edith Landsdowne, Frank J. Spagle, Stare Edith Sterns, Inez Bailey, Ozelia Anderson, Elizabeth Davis Roach, Estella Salisbury, Nora May Wilson, Mrs. Alma Mills Meyers, Frank Dennis Braly. Five-year—Brenton Vedder, Otto E. Purcell. Special, music—Ethel Moreita Hickman. Five-year, primary—Reva B. Case.

Mrs. James Linn and little children, who have been in Oregon City from the mountains for the past six weeks on account of the illness of the former, left for Estacada Thursday. Miss Reta Benson, daughter of Mrs. Linn, will remain at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Linn, of this city, until she has fully recovered from an operation for abscess of the ear.
