Walluha Club Outing

Six young ladies, composing the membership of the Walluha club of Gladstone, and chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Burdon, have returned to their homes from a delightful outing at Bar View. The party spent almost two weeks at the beach and had a most excellent vacation while they enjoyed the hikes and the bathing and other pleasures incident to life at a coast resort.

In addition to Mr. and Mrs. Burdon the party included the Misses Fayne Burdon, Muriel Mollart, Gladys Bloom, Marjorie Read, Bella McFarland and Gertrude Edwards.

CROSSING THE LINE

When Neptune Owns the Ship and Holds High Carnival.

PLAYS SOME ROUGH PRANKS.

As a Vessel Nears the Equator the Sea King's Reign Begins, and For the Time Being No Passenger Is Too High or Mighty to Escape.

It is to be expected that the people shut up in the little republic that is bounded by the iron walls of an ocean liner should seek many ways of diverting themselves. Perhaps "republic" is not altogether a happy word to use in that connection, because no czar of the Russias ever had such autocratic power over his subjects as the captain of a great liner has over the travelers on his ship. But he uses his power very sparingly, and if his temporary subjects behave decently and obey the unwritten laws of the sea he lets them do about as they please.

They exercise their ingenuity in providing all sorts of entertainments to relieve the monotony of the passing days. Shuffleboard and deck golf, ring toss and bull board are a concert usually suffice for the brief journey across the Atlantic ocean, but on the more distant voyages to India or Australia or down the long coast of South America those mild amusements pall upon the voyagers, and they plan something more elaborate. Tournaments of various kinds, races of every sort, lectures and plays are the order of the day.

But the most time honored and extravagant revelries are sure to take place when the ship crosses the imaginary line between the northern and southern hemispheres. From time immemorial that has been the day dedicated to jokes and quips and pranks of all kinds. The captain's serious face relaxes; the mates and even the quartermasters and sailors are evidently concocting some huge scheme of fun; no horseplay is outlawed; no practical jokes are too rough; no exalted personage is too dignified to be exempt from Neptune's "rough house."

The most elaborate fun of that sort that I remember witnessing was on a trip from New York to San Francisco. The night before the ship was to cross the line we saw a spot of light off the starboard bow. It seemed to draw nearer and nearer, and pretty soon old Neptune himself, clad in oilskins and dripping water from his garments and his long white beard, climbed the black side of our ship and, standing upon the hurricane deck, surrounded by an admiring throng of passengers, announced that the next day at 2 o'clock in the afternoon we should cross the line and that he would welcome us to his domain with suitable "equator ceremonies." He spoke in thunderous and somewhat sepulchral tones. Then he disappeared over the side of the ship.

The next day at 2 o'clock Neptune was promptly on hand again. He prepared for his coming the sailors had arranged on the lower deck a great canvas tub, perhaps twenty feet square, filled with water to a depth of about three feet. The tub was surrounded by a rail, and Neptune, seated on a gorgeous throne, at first commanded that the passengers should be inflated into the mysteries of his domain. He had come aboard this second time with a great flourish of trumpets, and he was followed by a long train of fantastically arrayed subjects.

Those subjects ruthlessly seized the passengers, right and left, and Neptune commanded that the men should be shaved. They were seated on the edge of the improvised bathtub, and the barber appeared, wielding a lather brush nearly as big as a broom and a barbers razor also of huge dimensions.

Covering a victim's face with a liberal supply of lather, the barber raised on high his tremendous razor. But just as he was about to apply it to the face of the unresisting passenger, two of Neptune's myrmidons, standing in the great tub of water, suddenly pulled the victim over backward and immersed him completely. A moment later he emerged, spluttering and coughing, but making a desperate effort to appear good natured.

If any passenger was particularly dignified or dandified, if he had shown any overweening conceit in his own abilities, Neptune's slaves sought him out especially. The more spotless the linen, the more stylish the necktie, the more deckless the white flannel suit, the surer was the owner to have the starch literally taken out of him.

Of course not all of the 650 passengers could be inflated with these elaborate ceremonies. Most of those who were enjoying the fun to the utmost, and who were congratulating themselves that they had gone scot free, did not notice some sailors in oilskins climbing the masts directly over their heads. The sailors had a big hose in their hands. While the last victim was being submerged and the boisterous fun was at its height the heavens seemed suddenly to open, and out of a clear tropical sky a tremendous shower poured down upon the heads of all the passengers.

Few escaped a thorough sprinkling. The tables were turned on the hilarious onlookers, and the chief inflates took their turn in laughing at the others. When it was all over, Father Neptune served a bountiful collation, and to each passenger was given an elaborate and beautifully engraved certificate as evidence that he had received his sea christening and that he had the right henceforth to pass freely over the equator.—Rev. Dr. Francis E. Clark in Youth's Companion.

Allen Mount Dies

The six-months-old son of Dr. and Mrs. H. S. Mount of Oregon City died at the Mount home on Saturday from the effects of an illness that had threatened his life for several months. The baby was born on March 12 and had been given the name of Allen by his parents. A private funeral service was held from the family home.

WOMEN OBJECT

Oregon Suffrage Workers Call Down Anti-Women Clique

Six Oregon women, all prominent in suffrage work regardless of party lines, have arisen in protest against the methods of the "twin lovely berries on a single stem," as the New York Times characterized the Siamese Congressional Union and Woman's Party, and directed a letter to Miss Mary Fendall, who has been directing the campaign of these organizations against the democratic party in the northwest.

The women, Mrs. Frederick Eggert, Mrs. Sarah A. Evans, Dr. Esther Pohl Lovejoy, Mrs. J. A. Peibit, and Mrs. Millie R. Trumble, ratified the letter, which was sent by Miss Fendall on her arrival in Portland, and which contained an offer to explain the stand of the Woman's Party on the present campaign. The answer, written by Mrs. Eggert and concurred in by the other five women, reads:

"From the standpoint of our organization (The National American Women's Suffrage Association) which has spent years of patient endeavor in the cause of suffrage, always from a non-partisan standpoint, I, although I am a lifelong republican, am convinced that there is today no greater enemy to the cause, nor hindrance to its final victory, than the organization you represent, and which, in my opinion, will hold back our final triumph for many years. I reiterate my protest against your insults to the manhood of America and your tactics so damaging to the cause of American womanhood."

A SAFE TEST

For those who are in need of a remedy for kidney troubles and backache, it is a good plan to try Doan's Kidney Pills. They are strongly recommended by Oregon City people.

Mrs. W. H. Dempster, 216 Fourteenth street, Oregon City, says: "I used to be subject to weak kidneys. I was troubled more during the night because I had to get up several times. After I had taken Doan's Kidney Pills a few weeks, I got over the trouble. It is only once in a great while now that I notice symptoms of the former complaint, but a few doses of Doan's Kidney Pills soon puts my kidneys in good working order."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Dempster had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

WILSON'S SPEECH

President Accepts Renomination in Address at Shadow Lawn

President Wilson formally accepted his renomination Saturday afternoon with an address recounting the legislative record of the democratic party, a vigorous defense of his Mexican policy, his dealings with the European belligerents and an outline of his view of America's obligations for the future. He spoke from the porch of his summer home in New Jersey.

COOLNESS

A cool kitchen is the ideal one. The speedy creation of heat inside an electric range; freedom from open flame and actual placing of heat where and when you want it insures kitchen comfort.

CLEANLINESS

Imagine a kitchen with no burnt matches; no fuel odors; no sooty pots and pans; no coal or ashes; no smoke or grime; no discolored ceilings—just an electric range and cleanliness.

LABOR SAVING

An electric range delivers heat in the perfect form. No fuel; no flame; no matches; no dampers; no constant watchful eye needed. You simply turn a switch. The clock and switch key regulate your entire cooking.

EFFICIENCY

The same current will produce the same temperature in the same time. This means uniform results. Meat shrinkage is one-fourth to one-third less in an electric oven. This means food economy.

LOW COST

A model kitchen with all it's clean, laborsaving economy is possible for you on our low rate for cooking, 3c a kilowatt hour.
