

Umbrella Time

IS HERE AND OUR NEW STOCK OF UMBRELLAS IS ON DISPLAY

HE fall days are here and you want to be prepared for them; don't put off getting an umbrella until later, or the first thing you know you'll wake up some gloomy morn and find a steady, soaking down-pour of rain has blown up during the night.

Grab Father time by the forelock and get an umbrella today.

Also please bear in mind that for a birthday gift or as a remembrance an umbrella is appropriate and also very serviceable.

Drop into our store and make a selection from our very complete line of umbrellas; we have them in all shapes and sizes at a great range of price.

WE COVER UMBRELLAS

BURMEISTER & ANDRESEN

OREGON CITY JEWELERS
Suspension Bridge Corner

COUNTY AND CITY LOCALS

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Clyde, who for many years have lived at Gladstone, leave this week or next for the San Joaquin valley, California, where they have a fine farm, to spend the winter. Mr. Clyde says they may decide to remain in California after they become settled on their property there. They have sold their interests at Gladstone.

All Pattern Hats reduced. Call on Miss C. Goldsmith.

For good quality and the latest styles in millinery, call on Miss C. Goldsmith.

Mrs. Alex. Brown of Clackamas Heights left on Monday for San Francisco, where she will spend two months visiting with her daughter.

Neal & McClatchie make a specialty of repairing watches, clocks or anything pertaining to the jewelry business.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Latourette, Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Latourette and Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Latourette left Wednesday morning for Seattle, Wash., to attend the wedding of Miss Sallie Clay and John R. Latourette, of Portland. The last named is a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Latourette of this city. The wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents at Seattle Wednesday night.

Neal & McClatchie Jewelry store is five doors west of elevator.

M. A. Deaton of Sandy was a business visitor in Oregon City yesterday.

Robert Beattie of Beaver Creek spent Friday in Oregon City.

Mrs. Charles Oglesby and daughter, Aletha, together with Mr. and Mrs. Orville Oglesby, are at Richmond, Wash., spending some time with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Thomas of Calgary, Alberta, were in Oregon City last week before leaving for Los Angeles.

new the acquaintance of many friends here.

Wilson McCormick, who spent his boyhood in Oregon City, came here this week to visit friends. His home is at Glendale, Wash.

Carl Hyack has departed for Los Angeles, where he will make his home. Mr. Hyack has spent the past several months in eastern Oregon and returned to Oregon City only long enough to bid his friends farewell before leaving for the south.

Mrs. Cassie Evans of Canby is visiting friends at Caldwell, Idaho, and at other cities in that state. Mrs. Evans has leased her hotel property in Canby for a period of one year to Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Vaughn.

Miss Adah Mass, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Mass, spent the weekend at her home in this city. Miss Mass is taking a teacher's training course at the Monmouth Normal school.

P. L. Williams of San Francisco visited last week with his sister, Miss Ella Williams, at Mount Pleasant. Mr. Williams came north to attend the loggers' convention held in Portland last week.

For correct ideas in trimmed hats, Miss C. Goldsmith.

Mr. and Mrs. B. T. McBain, two children, and Miss Merle Keck, sister of Mrs. McBain, left on Saturday morning for Austin, Texas, where they will spend several weeks as guests of the mother of Mrs. McBain.

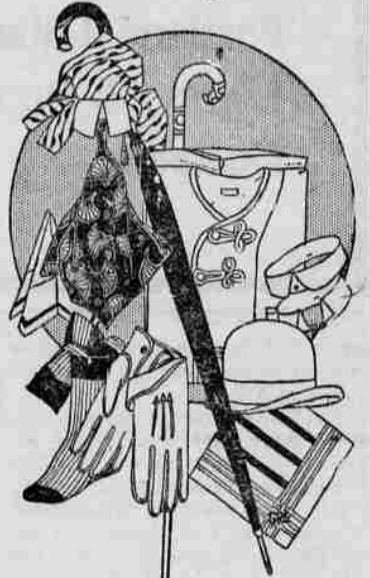

W. A. Barnum of Centralia, Wash., was a week-end visitor in the Mount Pleasant neighborhood. Mr. Barnum came here to visit Mrs. Barnum, who is teaching at the Mount Pleasant school.

Be careful you don't overlook our big club of four magazines which we are sending our subscribers this year.

When renewing your subscription to the Courier remind us of the big magazine offer you see advertised elsewhere in this issue.

George Ingram of Carus was a guest Saturday at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. J. R. Landsborough. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Parry of Schubeel were Oregon City visitors on Saturday.

Proper Neckwear Is All Important

We sell the standard collars that fit. We have all sizes and all shapes and the most popular brands.

We have just laid in a stock of the most beautiful ties. They are snappy and distinctive. No man who assumes to be a good dresser can afford to neglect a visit to our store.

We sell suit cases, gloves, mufflers, umbrellas, handkerchiefs, underwear and hosiery.

Miller-Obst
THE QUALITY SHOP
Suspension Bridge Corner

Mrs. Alice Quinn is at Silverton, her former home, visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Wesley Yoder.

John Evans of Hazeldeale came to this city Saturday to transact business.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Crawford of Salem have returned home, after a pleasant visit with Oregon City friends. Mrs. Crawford is remembered in Oregon City as Miss Grace Zinser.

Mrs. Ormond Goetz of Oak Grove was a guest in the county seat Thursday.

George Goebel, Canby resident, was on the streets of Oregon City Tuesday.

Notice

Mr. Farmer, we want your horse shoeing and have made the price as formerly, four new shoes $2 to and including No. 6; No. 7, $2.25; No. 8, $2.50, resetting $1, to and including No. 6; No. 7 and 8, $1.25.

We are prepared to sharpen your disc harrows. Give us a call and be convinced. Satisfaction guaranteed.

SCRIPTURE & MAY,
108 Fifth St.

JOHNSON WOULD BE CAPABLE ASSESSOR

HE SAVED COUNTY HUNDREDS OF DOLLARS DRAFTSMAN
HIRE LONG EXPERIENCE

G. F. Johnson

One of the most capable candidates who ever sought office in Clackamas county is G. F. Johnson, candidate for the office of county assessor. It is rare good fortune that puts up to the voters the election of Mr. Johnson. No man in the county, and very few in the state, are so well qualified by ability and long experience as is Mr. Johnson, who has been chief deputy for the past eight years. Mr. Johnson has been in tax assessment work for fifteen years and in three counties. In Baker county, as chief deputy, he revised the system of assessment and the work of the office in such an admirable way that his plans are still in use there. His experience dates from the time his father, Burr Johnson, a pioneer Oregonian, was assessor of Umatilla county, and Fred, as he is known to his hundreds of friends, was his chief helper. Mr. Johnson is responsible for revising the system in the Clackamas county office, which has saved the taxpayers so much money and eliminated all the former bungle-some work.

Mr. Johnson is a draftsman, in addition to being a competent assessor and office workman, and has saved Clackamas county hundreds of dollars in the past eight years by eliminating the expense of hiring a draftsman, which has been found such a burden to other counties. He has personally plotted every tract and piece of land within this county, most of them several times, and he has not accepted one cent above his usual salary for this work. He has made maps of every school and road district and every voting precinct in Clackamas county and he has checked over every item of work in and out of the office and knows every foot of land in the county.

Mr. Johnson has been a close student of tax assessment work for many years and that he is not only capable but familiar with every detail of the work is shown by the fact that he has held responsible positions in Umatilla, Baker and Clackamas counties, and in every case he has saved money for the taxpayer by doing his own drafting and by so revising the systems of work that expense and mistakes have been eliminated. His record of continuous and capable service in one

The Admirable Mr. Starkweather

By EDWARD T. STEWART

In the autumn I was invited to visit my friend, Mrs. Swinburne, who never returns to the city till November and sometimes later. I found there Miss Edith Harley, a young lady friend of Mrs. Swinburne. Miss Harley was very attractive, but she seemed to be absorbed in something. It was not long before I discovered that it was a young man. Whenever the family car came from the railway station she would rush to the door, then turn away disappointed.

When she and I were together she was constantly saying: "That reminds me of a friend of mine, who is very clever. He does everything so well. He was graduated at the head of his class in college and at the law school. Not that he is a bookworm or a grind or anything like that; he goes in for athletics. He has taken a lot of championship prizes at tennis and golf and is considered the best billiard player in his club."

"An Admirable Crichton," I put in. "Did you never hear of the Scotchman of that name who a couple of hundred years or so ago could out-jump, out-fence, out-ride any other man in the world?"

I felt much irritated at this fellow who was standing between me and a very pretty girl, and I suppose my words and the tone in which they were spoken indicated a desire to make a supposititious case a real one. Miss Harley made no further remark, and, looking at her face, I saw a faint smile, which I interpreted as indicating something between pity and contempt for one who even hinted that he might in any respect doubt this remarkable friend of hers.

There was a little room in Mrs. Swinburne's house off the dining room containing a writing desk and materials for correspondence. I went in there one morning to write a letter, and there on the desk was a sheet of note paper with the following words on it:

Dear Alonzo—When are you coming? We have no end of things to do when you arrive which we are keeping till you—

The note stopped here. It had evidently been left by mistake. Looking down into a wastebasket beside the desk, I saw an envelope addressed to Alonzo L. Starkweather, 110 North Walnut street. This, too, was unfinished, but Miss Harley had told me the city which her admirable friend honored by his presence, and I was thus led to believe that the unfinished letter had been intended for him.

If she is too modest to send for her paragraph, I thought, I will help her out. I wished to get sight of one who was fast becoming my rival, for, though I did not know it, I was falling in love with Miss Harley. I concluded to send the note to Mr. Starkweather, unfinished as it was. Doubtless he would understand that he was pined for, but the pinner was too modest to tell him so. There were some envelopes in the desk with the Swinburne address on the corner, and I put the unfinished note in one of them, addressed and mailed it. This was something I had no right to do, but I was mad with love and jealousy and scarcely responsible.

A few days later, after a spat with Miss Harley over her friend's accomplishments, to let off my ire I walked into the village. While there I dropped into the postoffice for the mail. I was handed the letter I had mailed to Mr. Starkweather, returned with a carrier's mark on it, "No such person there."

Slowly there came into my stupid noodle something that was scarcely credible. Mr. Starkweather was a myth. But why had this myth been conjured up? Was it for my benefit, and if so why had he been thus inflicted upon me? I came to no conclusion as to this, but I concluded to conjure up a female myth to match him. I wrote a letter to myself and sent it to town to a friend to mail to me. When I received it I opened it in Miss Harley's presence, read it, put my hand to my forehead and groaned.

"What's happened?" asked my companion anxiously. "She's very ill." "Who? Your mother?" "No." "Sister?" "No; a very dear friend."

I rest a glance out of the corner of my eye at Miss Harley and saw a combination of emotions.

"I must go to her at once," I added. "You have not told me of this very dear friend."

"You gave me no opportunity. You were too full of your own dear friend." She looked at me inquiringly, then smiled. "Do you take the next train?" "That depends upon when Mr. Starkweather is to arrive."

"Mr. Starkweather is not coming." Her smile was broadening. "In that case I would not think of going."

"Not even to a dear friend who is ill?"

I fear she has passed away. The letter says she was dying when it was written.

That was the end of Mr. Starkweather. In time I found I had been invited to visit Mrs. Swinburne for the express purpose of being caught by her very dear friend Miss Harley. They had concocted Mr. Starkweather between them for a bait. The hook is still in my gills.

line of work fits Mr. Johnson better than any other man to ask for election. He is conducting a clean and open campaign, standing entirely upon his record of ability and experience, shown during the years he has so capably served the people of this county.

Anyone who has visited the assessor's office within the past eight years will testify to the character of Mr. Johnson's work and to his ability to take up the assessorship in such a capable manner as to continue saving money for the taxpayer and to contin-use the businesslike administration of the office. Voters may be assured that their money will be spent for the greatest possible service if Mr. Johnson is elected.

(Paid Adv)

Wanted for $2000 Cash

A chicken ranch. Write description and price to Ralph Ackley Land Co., 210 Rothchild Bldg., Portland, Ore.

G. A. R. FOR WILSON

Local Members of Grand Army Join With Nation in Political Sentiment

That the members of the grand army of the republic, hale old veterans who have fought the political battles of this nation, as well as the battles of might and main, for fifty years, are almost solidly behind Woodrow Wilson for re-election. Most of the men in the grand army cast their first ballot for Abraham Lincoln, and they fought for him just as they have fought for every other president, although their battles may not have taken them to the fields of conquest and defense. And the men know when they are well off; they see that they have been treated as their years and faithful service warrant—and they will vote for Wilson.

Every G. A. R. veteran owes President Wilson a debt of gratitude and that the debt may be paid in the ballot box. Colonel John McElroy of Washington, D. C., a lifelong republican and for 32 years editor of the National Tribune, official national organ of the grand army, has refused to support Hughes, the candidate of his party, and has come out strongly in favor of Wilson through the columns of his interesting paper. He has refused to take the stump for Hughes.

"For me to take the stump for Hughes against Wilson would be to smite the hand that helped us," says Mr. McElroy. "We old soldiers owe much to President Wilson. The new widow's pension law comes more nearly to doing justice to the wives and dependents of old soldiers than any pension law ever passed. Commissioner Salisgaber, appointed head of the pension bureau by President Wilson, has been one of the most efficient pension commissioners we have ever had."

"Of course, most G. A. R. veterans are republicans. I am myself. But, however much we disagree with the democrats over purely party matters, as veterans of the Civil war we must admit a debt to President Wilson and his administration."

The Oregon City Courier and Oregon Daily Journal (except Sunday) $4.75.

SEVERE BRONCHIAL COLD

Yields To Delicious Vinol

Philadelphia, Pa.—"Last fall I was troubled with a very severe bronchial cold, headaches, backache, and sick to my stomach. I was so bad I became alarmed and tried several medicines, also a doctor, but did not get any relief. A friend asked me to try Vinol and it brought the relief which I craved, so now I am enjoying perfect health."

JACK C. SINGLETON.

We guarantee Vinol for chronic coughs, colds and bronchitis.

Huntley Bros. Co., Druggists, Oregon City. Also at the leading drug stores in all Oregon towns.

ALLEGED FORGER FOUND

Washington County Sheriff Gets Man Long Wanted in Clackamas

A search that has taken Sheriff Wilson from one border of the county to the other on several trips was ended Tuesday when that official was advised of the capture by Sheriff Reeves of Washington county of an alleged forger, charged with working Clackamas, Washington and Multnomah counties for many months. The man who passed the bad paper appeared to be a laborer. He would stop at a store to buy provisions, presenting in payment a small check. Invariably the check was worthless, but his victims did not discover this until it was too late for Sheriff Wilson to take effective action. The checks passed were signed George Randall, C. M. Hamilton, C. M. Carlson and C. M. Cooper, among others in Clackamas county. The banks involved in his work were the Bank of Oregon City and the First National bank and Ladd & Tilton of Portland.

MISS QUINN TO WED.

The engagement of Miss Emma Quinn, deputy county clerk, to Theodore W. McLaren, of Wilhoit, has been announced by W. W. Quinn, father of the young woman. The wedding will be within the next week and the young couple will make their home at Wilhoit, where Mr. McLaren is connected with the management of the Wilhoit springs resort. Miss Quinn has been a deputy county clerk here for a number of years, and left the county clerk's office on November 1.

Minnie Foster Wins

Minnie Foster won Circuit Judge Campbell's decision yesterday in her suit against P. J. and Anna D. Bannon et al., to quiet title to property in section 33, township 1 south, range 3 east.

Keeping Yourself Well

HOW YOU GET SICK

Sometimes you overload your stomach with rich foods. Your life may be an active one, and this you may care for all you eat. But a few days of inactivity show your system does not call for so much. You awake in the morning tired. Your body feels heavy; you know you are not up to the mark. Your digestion has not cared for the overload. Part of it remains. It generates gas that inflames the delicate linings. They fail to pour out the digestive fluids and neglect to absorb the life-giving elements. You know something is wrong. Your body gets weak, and soon opportunity is offered for some severe illness. Taken in time, the indigestion would not become serious. First remove the overload; then soothe the sore membranes; then build up the weakened body. It's simple to say, but not too easy to do. You need help. A tonic that will quicken digestion, help remove waste, soothe the soreness and arouse the system—that's just what you need. Peruna has an enviable record in this respect. It has aided many thousands in the last century to overcome just these conditions, and thereby prevent serious sickness. The tablet form is convenient for regular administration.

Manallin Tablets are the ideal laxative and liver tonic. They have no unpleasant effects and form a habit. 10c and 25c. The Peruna Co. Columbus, O.

School Children Should be Taught to Read Under the Best Conditions

There eyes should be given every opportunity.

If they need glasses buy the best you can afford.

If they complain of eye trouble let us make a thorough examination, and talk the matter over in a common sense sort of way.

Prudden
OPTOMETRIST
612 MAIN ST.
OREGON CITY
SUCCESSOR TO WM. A. SCHILLING

Chicken Raisers!

We Carry a Full Line of Chicken Feed

Three Great Stock Foods

Berkshire for Hogs—Holstein for Cows
Percheron for Horses

Mill Feeds

Bran—Shorts—Middlings—Oil Meal

Groceries

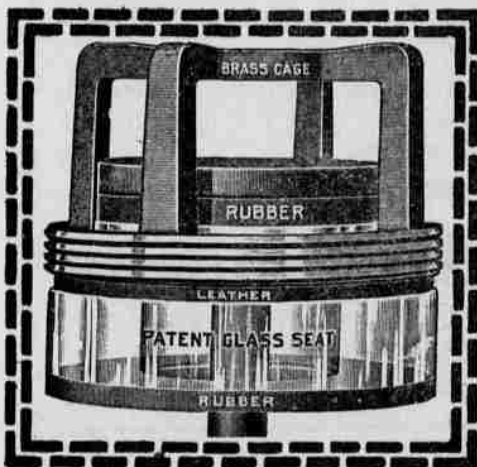

A FULL COMPLETE LINE
Send to Us for Prices on Your Winter Supply

We Buy and Sell

Poultry—Veal—Hogs—Eggs—Butter

Brady Mercantile Co.

1110-1112 Main Street, Oregon City, Ore.
Pacific 448 Home 3238
Undergrade Crossing On Twelfth Street

A COMPARISON

You wouldn't drink from a rusty tin cup with a clean glass at hand! Well then, why pay as much, or nearly as much, for a pump with a metal valve seat

AS FOR A

Myers Pump with the PATENTED GLASS VALVE SEAT?

Metal Valve seats may corrode or rust. GLASS VALVE SEATS CANNOT. Metal Valve Seats harden the check leathers quickly. GLASS VALVE SEATS DO NOT. The patent Myers Glass Valve seat is well protected and is as lasting as any metal seat and far superior.

For the sake of CLEANLINESS and service
BUY A MYERS PUMP

Mitchell
Portland - Spokane
Boise
Engines
Water Systems
Implements
Vehicles

We will gladly mail you a copy of our new Pump catalog upon receipt of your name and address. Ask for catalog No. 1 and state purpose for which pump is wanted

W. J. Wilson & Co.
Oregon City, Ore

Geo. Blatchford
Molalla, Ore.