

CHURCHILL SENDS OUT RULE ADOPTED BY BOARD

State Superintendent of Public Instruction Churchill has announced that the state board of education has adopted a rule to the effect that, after December 1, no standard high school shall accept work done in a non-standard or non-accredited secondary school, and that students of such schools before being admitted to any standard high school must pass written examinations in those subjects in which they apply for high school credits.

"Through this rule, this department hopes to strengthen the work of the smaller schools and to assist the standard high schools in maintaining a definite standard for the acceptance of work completed in other high schools," said Superintendent Churchill. "There may be an occasional student coming from a non-standard high school or a non-accredited high school who is well prepared to complete his work in a standard high school. Such a student, however, would be willing to stand a test covering his previous work. Enforcement of this rule will also encourage the smaller schools to meet the requirements of the state board of education."

HE PAID HIS SUB.

P. Leichtweis is a good farmer and a good citizen. And we have evidence to prove both facts. First, he is a good farmer because each year he has managed to bring from the favored soil of the Molalla country, where he lives, bountiful crops, and has added most of the things to his home and farm that make the farmer's life not only endurable, but actually enjoyable.

Second, Mr. Leichtweis has been a reader of The Courier for 35 years and we have his own statement that Kaiser "Bill" should be whipped to a shred for the good of humanity, if for none other of a score of reasons that Mr. Leichtweis will tell you. If reading The Courier for much more than a quarter-century and at the same time being a thorough patriot doesn't make a man a good citizen we would like to know what does.

Mr. Leichtweis has assured us of at least one more year of his patronage by paying his subscription in advance, as he always does.

Back in the old days, when peace and good will covered the world, The Courier was struggling along in a little town. But today it is the biggest weekly newspaper in Oregon in the best town in Oregon—and Mr. Leichtweis is only one of an army of readers who has advanced step by step with his favorite paper and with his America.

RURAL CREDIT FUND SHY SCHOOL MONEY USED

When mortgages are executed for two loans aggregating $3500, the state rural credit fund will be depleted, and since it is the policy of the land board to sell no rural credit bonds for less than par, no more will likely be put on the market until after the war ends. The applications for the two loans were approved some time ago, and it is expected that the mortgages will be executed in the next 10 days.

A total of $450,000 in rural credit bonds has been sold by the board. The last issue put on the market failed to secure a par bid, with the result that the state purchased them. The reason given by bidders for refusing to buy the bonds at par was that securities and bonds had dropped as a result of the war. All the bonds issued by the highway commission have been sold for less than par, and it is pointed out that as long as the commission pursues this policy in the sale of bonds it will be impossible to sell rural credit bonds at par, for the highway bonds are equally as good security. State officials say that the sale of the highway bonds at less than par has set a precedent that will operate to the injury of the state for years to come, as it proclaims to the world that the state's paper is not worth full value.

Pending the time when the rural credit bonds can be sold at par, the board will make loans from the school fund. There is now approximately $140,000 in this fund.

GREAT INSURANCE PLAN DESCRIBED BY M'ADOO

The Secretary of the Treasury, Washington.

To the Officers and Enlisted Men and Women of the Army and Navy of the United States and their Relatives:

The secretary of the treasury, through the Bureau of War Risk Insurance, has been charged with the administration of the War Insurance law enacted by the congress as a measure of justice to the men and women who have been called to give their lives, if need be, in the service of their country.

I wish to acquaint you with the benefits and privileges which your government has placed at your disposal. It is essential that you and your families at home should know of your and their rights under this law in order that full advantage may be taken of them.

To care for the wife and children of the enlisted man during his service, the War Insurance law compels him to contribute up to one-half of his pay for their support. The government, on application, will generously add to this an allowance of from $5 to $50 a month, according to the size of the family. Moreover, if the enlisted man will make some further provision himself for a dependent parent, brother, sister, or grandchild, they may be included in the government allowance.

If, as a result of injuries incurred or disease contracted in the line of duty, an officer or enlisted man or an army or navy nurse should be disabled, provision is made for compensation of from $30 to $100 a month to him, and should he die, compensation of from $20 to $75 a month will be paid to his wife, his child, or his widowed mother.

In order, however, fully to protect each person and family, congress has made it possible for every soldier, sailor, and nurse to obtain life and total-disability insurance. This insurance applies to injuries received while he or she is in the service or after he or she shall have left it.

Exposure to the extra dangers of war makes the cost of life insurance in private life insurance companies prohibitive. It was, therefore, a plain duty and obligation for the government to assume the risk of insuring hundreds of thousands of our soldiers and sailors who are making the supreme sacrifice. Under this law, every soldier and sailor or nurse, commissioned and enlisted, and of any age, has the right, between now and February 12, 1918, to take out life and total-disability insurance up to $10,000 at very low cost, with the government without medical examination. This right is purely optional. The soldiers and sailors are not compelled to take insurance, but if they desire to exercise the right, they must do so before the 12th of February, 1918. The cost ranges from 65 cents monthly, at the age of 21, to $1.20 monthly, at the age of 51, for each $1,000 of insurance. This is a small charge on a man's pay—small in proportion to the benefits it may bring. The premiums will be deducted from his pay, if he desires, thus eliminating trouble on his part.

To provide adequate protection until February 12, 1918, during the period when the soldiers and sailors are learning the details of this law, the government automatically insures each man and woman, commissioned or enlisted in the military service of the United States. It pays the man $25 a month during total permanent disability; if he dies within 20 years, it pays the rest of 240 monthly installments of $25 each to his wife, child, or widowed mother.

I desire to call the provisions of this just and generous law to the attention of our officers and enlisted men and women so that they may not be deprived of their rights through lack of knowledge. Full information may be obtained from the Bureau of War Risk Insurance of the treasury department, Washington, D. C. I earnestly urge that the officers of the army and navy give to the men under their command all possible aid in helping them to understand fully the benefits that this insurance may bring to their families and the small cost at which it may be obtained.

This is the greatest measure of protection ever offered to its fighting forces by any nation in the history of the world. It is not charity; it is simply justice to the enlisted men and women and to their loved ones at home, and each and every one of them should promptly take the benefits of this great law.

W. G. McADOO,
Secretary of the Treasury.

MRS. FISH LOSES DAMAGE CASE AGAINST COUNTY

Alice Etta Fish, injured last year in an automobile accident on the New Era hill, last Thursday failed to convince a jury in Judge Campbell's court of her right to $2000 damages and that body in 20 minutes returned a verdict for the county. Mrs. Fish's case was based upon the contention that there was a dangerous defect in the highway and that it had been impossible for her husband, driving the machine in which three were injured, to pass another vehicle on the road in safety. The county's counsel convinced the jury that the Fish machine had traveled 27 feet after leaving the main track on the road before it went over the bank. County Judge Anderson was a witness for the county Thursday and told of his personal inspection of the road immediately after the accident.

Frank E. Fish, husband of Mrs. Fish and driver of the car, and Amy Fish, their daughter, have similar cases pending against the county as a result of the same accident.

George Armstrong was foreman of the jury which heard the first of the three cases. Other members were W. W. Leete, L. Hale, R. E. Irwin, O. W. Boring, Elmer Van Fleet, H. C. Gilmore, P. J. Kayler, Frank Moore, R. G. Ashby, E. R. Leek and James Skinner.

PETTY'S PLEASE BABES

In keeping with their annual custom, Mr. and Mrs. James Petty, of Gladstone, last week placed orders for a supply of the best corn-fed turkeys Oregon City can produce and a great stock of candy for the Thanksgiving feast of the children at the St. Agnes Baby Home, Park place. The Thanksgiving dinner at the Baby Home is the particular hobby of Mr. and Mrs. Petty, and in the past they have spared no expense to make the day a happy one for the children who have no one to take such interest in them. At Christmas Mr. and Mrs. Petty furnish big baskets of useful little gifts for the babies.

PINCHOT WANTS NATION'S WATER POWER DEVELOPED

Nov. 12, 1917.
To the Editor of the Courier:
The great war in which our nation is engaged will be won not alone by food and men, but by mechanical power as well. Without mechanical power we could not make or move the weapons with which we fight—guns, ammunition, ships and supplies. Our national resources of power, whether from coal, oil, or waterpower, are national war necessities. We need them to win the war.

In this gigantic struggle our security requires us to use all these great resources, and to use them wisely and well. The people of the United States own some fifty million undeveloped water horsepower, or about enough to run every train, trolley, factory, mill, mine, and electric power plant we have.

For ten years the friends of conservation have urged the development of public waterpowers in the public interest. But development has been held back by a little group of waterpower magnates and their friends in congress who have blocked all legislation which would not give them these valuable properties forever and for nothing.

Today, when the nation needs all its resources, the same men who have been blocking reasonable waterpower legislation own and are holding millions of water horsepower undeveloped and out of use while clamoring for more.

The time has come when such obstruction threatens the nation's safety and success. We need the development of these powers in war even more than in peace. At the coming session of congress sound waterpower legislation should be enacted as a war measure, based upon principles fair to all sides. These principles I believe to be briefly as follows:

(1) The thing to do with waterpower is to develop it. Whatever restraints or restrictions the development of public waterpowers on terms fair to the public is against public policy and hostile to the general welfare.

(2) Waterpower belongs to the people. The sites where it is produced should always be held in public hands, for only so can effective control in the general interest be secured.

(3) Where public development is not desired, the right to use waterpower sites should be leased for periods long enough to permit sound, attractive and profitable investment, but never longer than fifty years. At the end of each lease all rights should return to the people who gave them.

(4) In order to protect the consumer against extortion, rates and service should be regulated by federal authority when state or local authorities fail to do so.

(5) Reasonably prompt and complete development and continuous operation, subject to market conditions, should be required. Already millions of water horsepower are held out of use to further monopoly by private corporations.

(6) Corporations or individuals who make money out of rights granted by the people should share their profits with the people.

(7) The public has a right to complete information about every business based on the use of public property.

These are the principles for which the friends of conservation have been contending. Many waterpower men believe them to be fair and sound. They will, I hope, commend themselves to you as wise and reasonable. I am writing to ask your support for immediate legislation, based upon them, when congress meets.

This is no time to give away public assets necessary for the welfare of our people both in the war and after the war; and we should no longer tolerate the selfishness of private interests which take the dog-in-the-manger position that they must have these waterpowers on their own terms, or no one shall use them at all.

As the president has said: "The supreme test of the nation has come. We must all speak, act, and serve together."

County Agents Meet

Agricultural agents of Clackamas, Baker, Walla, Benton, Washington, Marion and Douglas met last Friday and Saturday with State Leader Paul V. Maris at the Oregon Agricultural college to perfect the working program for the coming year. After the projects for each county had been determined the experiment station and extension service specialists outlined the assistance that can be provided from O. A. C. Agents of the various counties in order of foregoing list are R. J. Werner, Henry E. Tweed, Mac Hoke, Geo. W. Kable, N. C. Jamison, F. R. Brown and J. C. Hurd. All were appointed under the war emergency provision of the federal laws to speed up agricultural production to help win the war for democracy.

Construction Company Wins
The Oregon Engineering & Construction company, of this city, Friday won its suit for $1234.23 against the city of West Linn and its water commission for work done on the water system of the town. Judge J. U. Campbell signed a judgment order in the case. The West Linn commission claimed faulty work as a reason for refusing to pay the bill and has taken under consideration the matter of appealing to the supreme court.

Carson Hits Auto

An automobile owned by a restaurant proprietor at Milwaukie was damaged Sunday when a heavy truck, driven by "Red" Carson, of Oregon City, collided with it as it stood in front of the former Gratton hotel at Milwaukie. Carson, driving the heavy truck, struck the machine and sent it down over the bank at the side of the hotel. The machine swerved and ran into the hotel after it had reached the bottom of the bluff.

Too Sick To Work

Many Women in this Condition Regain Health by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Convincing Proof of This Fact.

Ridgway, Penn. — "I suffered from female trouble with backache and pain in my side for over seven months so I could not do any of my work. I was treated by three different doctors and was getting discouraged when my sister-in-law told me how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had helped her. I decided to try it, and it restored my health, so I now do all of my housework which is not light as I have a little boy three years old." —Mrs. O. M. Rimes, Ridgway, Penn.

Mrs. Lindsey Now Keeps House For Seven.

Tennille, Ga. — "I want to tell you how much I have been benefited by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. About eight years ago I got in such a low state of health I was unable to keep house for three in the family. I had dull, tired, dizzy feelings, cold feet and hands nearly all the time and could scarcely sleep at all. The doctor said I had a severe case of ulceration and without an operation I would always be an invalid, but I told him I wanted to wait awhile. Our druggist advised my husband to get Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has entirely cured me. Now I keep house for seven and work in the garden some, too. I am so thankful I got this medicine. I feel as though it saved my life and have recommended it to others and they have been benefited." —Mrs. W. E. Lindsey, R. R. 3, Tennille, Ga.
