TRIP FOR FARMERS

Many Expected to Enjoy Excursion to North Portland Yards

All details for the farmers' excursion from Clackamas county to the Portland Union Stock yards on Monday have been completed by the management of that important institution and Judge Grant B. Dimick, president of the Willamette Valley Southern. Mr. Dimick, himself a prominent stockman, is interested in getting a large representation of Clackamas county farmers to make the trip to Portland and as a special inducement has authorized reduced rates for travel on the Willamette Valley Southern.

At Portland the farmers will be royally entertained by the stockyards people and will be shown from one end to the other of the big livestock plant. Instruction will be given in the methods of handling cattle from the time they are shipped until they are prepared for the retail meat market, and the most approved treatment of animals on the farm will be discussed. The farmers who attend the meeting at North Portland will all be entertained at dinner and an interesting program will be provided for the lunch hour. The excursion train leaves Mt. Angel at 7:00 a. m., and leaves Portland on the return trip at 3:45 p. m.

REHEARSAL TONIGHT

Fallsarians Ready for Long Parade Tomorrow Morning

For this evening Captain H. E. Williams of the Fallsarians has ordered the last drill of the club in preparation for the long march incident to participation in the big parade of the Rose Festival in Portland tomorrow morning. The Fallsarians have had several drills this week and have earnestly prepared for their part in the parade tomorrow.

Captain Williams has drilled his men faithfully, trusting to their interest in the cause for which they are banded together to insure their attendance at drills. Last week the captain prepared and sent to each member a schedule of drills and this resulted in a very favorable representation at the drills this week. Tonight the practice periods will be concluded and every Fallsarian is expected to take part. The new official neckwear of the order will be distributed tonight, as well as the gloves.

A special car will take the Fallsarians to Portland tomorrow morning, and to board the carrier in a body the members have been requested to assemble at the Commercial club rooms in time to board the car at half past eight. At Portland the local club will be met by a delegation of Royal Rosarians and conducted to the place of formation for the parade, which starts at 10:30 in the morning. New style arm emblems and the new neckties will feature the uniform of the Oregon City boosters. The prize for appearance and numbers depends altogether upon the members of the club. The captain or other officers can do little toward capturing honors tomorrow unless they are supported by a large representation of members and for this reason those most interested are pleading for a maximum attendance.

After the parade the Rosarians and other Portland organizations will take charge of the entertainment of marchers and those who attend have been assured one of the most pleasant trips that the Fallsarians have ever participated in.

CADDIES STRIKE

Sheriff Wilson Called to Waverly Club to Preserve Order

A strike among boys ranging from ten to sixteen years of age, nevertheless a real strike, was staged on Saturday by the caddies at the Waverly Country club Saturday. About thirty little chaps left the course and collected for a council of war just outside the fence. The boys had been paid 20 cents an hour for their work on the course and when their demand for 25 cents was refused, they quit.

The spectacle of several dozen golf fiends carrying their own bags and golf sticks was the sight witnessed on Saturday afternoon. A few youngsters were secured as strikebreakers, but their numbers did not particular good to the players. As a result of the strike a great many more golf balls were lost on Saturday than on any other day in years and the players spent as much time looking for the balls as they did in playing.

Sheriff Wilson was called to the Waverly club to force the boys to be orderly and not to harm the few who acted as strikebreakers. The sheriff found no duty to perform as the strikers were orderly and did no damage to the club property or to the strikebreakers.

HEAR WITHOUT EARS

Police and Detectives are Using Lip Reading in Place of Dictagraph

Thousands of deaf people are today throwing away all hearing devices and enjoying all conversation. This method is easily and quickly acquired through our system. Absolutely the only thing of its kind in the country. Our proposition is entirely original. We guarantee results. It will amaze you. Cost is trifling. See will amaze you. International Encyclopedia says on Lip Reading. Hundreds of people with normal hearing are taking up Lip Reading for the many benefits gained. You can understand what the actors are saying in the moving pictures. You can understand what people are saying just as far away as you can see them. The eye understands beyond the range of hearing. Send no money, but mention this paper and state whether or not you are deaf. All particulars will be sent you absolutely free and with no expense to you. Address, School of Lip Language, Kansas City, Missouri.

Elks Entertain

With Dr. Clyde Mount as master of ceremonies the Elks held a most enjoyable entertainment at the lodge rooms on Friday evening, with a large number of the members present with their wives and friends. The program was featured by a minstrel number, lead by John Beattie and assisted by Dallas Armstrong, Charles Graham and Michael Myers, by the appearance of the Fallsarian quartette and by several other interesting musical numbers.

Lawrence Woodfin sang and also presented his ladies' quartette. Miss Marie Friedrich sang beautifully, as did Miss Freda LaGrand. Miss Sybil Oldstein at the piano and a recitation rendered by Miss Lillian Anderson were other interesting numbers. G. L. Hodges read very amusingly from the "Elk's Bussard."

Elected Cannot Serve

Seven republicans were elected to membership in the democratic central committee and two democrats were selected to represent their respective precincts on the republican election last month. This situation presented a question to District Attorney Hodges who sent it to Attorney General Brown at Salem for solution. The attorney general has ruled that the committeemen cannot serve on the committee of the party which they do not represent and other committeemen must be elected.

LET IT ALONE

To the Editor:—
Let good enough alone, applies more perfectly in connection with the Oregon prohibition statute than in any of the innumerable cases where the old saw has been used. Petitions being circulated throughout the state have for their purpose amendment of the present law, and as they offer no improvement to the law as it exists they should be squelched. One of these petitions call for initiative measures permitting the manufacture of beer within the state and the other would prohibit altogether the importation of liquor.

It is obvious that the former would bring back the old days that no one cares to see again. It would practically make a saloon of every hotel, restaurant or grocery store in the state, for it would be legal to establish distributing places anywhere, provided the beer was sold in the original package. The original package feature is an old wheeze in prohibition business and is a death knell to real prohibition. Delivery could be made to any person, within certain limits as to quantity, and the old time joyrides, with their deaths and their crimes and their sin, would be with us again. The curse of the saloon would return to us.

Prohibiting importation absolutely would deprive those who take advantage of the importation permission of that long cherished blessing—personal liberty.

But if importation were prohibited and manufacture within the state were permitted things would be worse than ever. Those persons who do not care enough about liquor to import it from outside the state would return to their drinking habits and the old conditions would prevail, without a doubt.

The brewery interests are carrying for the home manufacture of beer, singing their song to the tune of depriving home labor of the benefit of the money that is now sent out of the state. The liquor interests resort to lies and misstatements to carry their point, just as they have always done. One little brewery, as a supporter of the present law has pointed out, could manufacture in a single week as much beer as is imported into Oregon within one twelvemonth.

Liquor interests, however, are not so short sighted as to foresee the manufacture of only as much beer as is imported. They foresee plainly the return of the old conditions, where so many people would return to beer as a beverage and refreshment and intoxicant that the breweries would thrive and their owner's pocket-books would wax fat once more.

"Let good enough alone," is an admonition that should be heeded by the thinking people of Oregon. The proposed amendments are not worthy and should be strangled.

C. WELLINGTON.

FALSE FOUNDATIONS

Interesting Subject for Sermon at M. E. Church on Sunday

Are we satisfied in the light of our own conscience? Are we growing better in the life we live? Will that life stand the horrifying tests of the dying hour? These were pertinent questions asked by the Rev. J. K. Hawkins to a large congregation at the Methodist church on Sunday evening, when the pastor took as his subject, "False Foundations."

Basis for his sermon was found in the Creator's words in the sixth chapter of Matthew, where He said: "He who heareth these sayings of mine and doeth them shall be likened unto the man who buildeth his house upon the sands."

It should be much more important, said the pastor, to build the foundation for a life of immortal destiny than to lay the foundation as modern builders do for a building, in a solid and durable manner. The mistakes of building a weak foundation for the hereafter were pointed out by the pastor. Morality is not enough as a foundation, infidelity or unbelief is a false foundation and the doctrine that, because of conversion, God, in His infinite love, will not bring the wicked to account for their wrong doing.

Prefacing the sermon on Sunday evening the pastor and congregation entered into a thorough discussion of pending prohibition legislation. A unanimous vote was polled in favor of supporting to the letter the present law and of throwing the support of the church membership against proposed amendments.

REVIVAL ENDED

Rev. J. K. Hawkins Concludes Splendid Campaign at Clarks

A splendid revival campaign lasting three weeks has been concluded at Clarks by the Rev. J. K. Hawkins of the Oregon City Methodist-Episcopal church and the result has been a remarkable improvement in religious conditions in the neighborhood, with thirty-seven people professing faith during the campaign.

At some of the meetings the Rev. Mr. Hawkins preached to a congregation containing more than 200 persons coming from a radius of a few miles about Clarks. Within a radius of two miles Mr. Hawkins took a census of the church membership and found that the number of Methodist families outnumbered those of all other denominations together. There were 19 Methodist families, 6 Roman Catholic families, 3 Lutheran, 2 Baptist, 1 Presbyterian, 1 Adventist, 1 Evangelical, 1 Welsh-Congregational and 7 families with no expressed preference.

Dr. T. B. Ford, district superintendent of the Methodist church will hold a meeting at Clarks and on Sunday will preside at an all-day meeting and basket social. At this time the sacrament will be administered together
