HUSBANDMEN WIN

Farmers' Exchange Proves Benefits of Co-operation.

New Jersey Farmers Set an Example Worthy to Be Followed in Other States—A Business That Nets 29 Per Cent on Capital Stock.

That co-operation of husbandmen is of inestimable benefit is well illustrated in the annual report of the Monmouth County (N. J.) Farmers' Exchange, says a writer in the American Agriculturist. The conditions will interest farmers and truck growers throughout the east. The report covers the year ended Nov. 30. It shows that the members made a net profit of 29 per cent on the capital stock, the year's business totaling nearly $1,000,000. This great volume of business was due in large part to the bumper crop of potatoes in Monmouth county, admittedly the largest yield this section has ever had.

The manager's report shows that a total of 2,575 cars of farm products were shipped by the exchange during the year. Of this number over 2,000 cars were potatoes, an increase of 1,283 cars over 1910, or an increase of 163 cars over the combined shipments of 1908 and 1909. This large shipment of potatoes represents 411,188 barrels. Other produce sold through the exchange during the year includes 4,329 barrels and 10,387 bushels of apples, 1,882 barrels and 1,500 bushels of pears, 3,596 barrels and 90 bushels of cucumber pickles, 560 crates of tomatoes, 591 crates of berries, 129 barrels and 210 bushels of melons, 1,617 packages of miscellaneous products, 8,578 crates or 265,888 bunches of asparagus, 350 crates of celery, 211 crates of cranberries and 4,000 bales of hay and straw. These goods were placed in 136 cities in twenty-two states and in one foreign country. In addition, the exchange sold direct to its members 20,000 barrels of seed potatoes and handled 22,000 bags of fertilizer.

During a part of August and September there were several weeks when shipments from the exchange averaged fifty to sixty carloads of potatoes alone a day. On Aug. 12 eighty-five carloads were shipped, representing $30,000 as the day's business. The exchange manager could have used 100 cars with these cars any one could have procured them from the railroad authorities, who were not prepared to meet the rush.

It is freely admitted by members that without the exchange they could not have received for this immense crop the average price, $1.35, paid them. Membership in the exchange has increased during the year from 550 to 800, and the capital stock has gone up from $31,274 to $40,370 at the time Manager Ingling made his report the other day. Since then I understand there has been a further increase in the capital to nearly $55,000. It is the purpose of the directors to increase the stock to $80,000 or $85,000, after which not more than one share will be sold at a time and then only to new members. An innovation is to be made by the exchange next year when all potatoes will be purchased by weight. Members have been warned against digging potatoes faster than they can gather up, to avoid having them sun-picked, and they were advised further that it would be to their advantage to grade their tubers.

SUCCESSFUL CO-OPERATION.

Houlton, Me., the Seat of a Great Grange Enterprise.

The grange store at Houlton is a splendid success, and its business is rapidly increasing. The institution occupies its own large buildings, which include, besides the store proper, a great storehouse and a gristmill in which custom and commercial grinding is done.

During last year, which ended June 11, the store did a business of $193,856.89. The cost of running the store was $4,352.31, and the net increase for the year was $6,646.65. This business is run on a margin of 5 per cent on goods (7) flour and sugar, which are sold at no per cent and grass seed, which is sold at 2 per cent. The semi-annual report of June 11 showed the assets of the institution to be $3,390.68 over the liabilities, with $7,837.35 in cash on hand. The only liability of the institution is the increase due the grange, which is represented by the goods and cash on hand. During the six months ended June 11 the store did a cash business of almost $82,000.

From Temple of Ceres.

It is said that the gavel block used by the master at the last meeting of the New Hampshire state grange and through the courtesy of George H. Moses, United States minister to Greece, was made from the marble taken from the ruins of the temple to Ceres, where were formerly given the most sacred rites of the Eleusinian mysteries on which the priests of Demeter have founded the beautiful and impressive work of the seventh degree.

Prepare the Man for the Meal.

To prepare the man for the meal is important in its way as preparing the meal for the man. It is useful to keep in mind the following easily forgotten facts:

1. Digestion depends upon certain juices secreted by the body. These juices require plenty of water as well as some salts and proteins. A good amount of water half an hour before a meal may make a world of difference in one's ability to digest, especially in hot weather when quantities of water are thrown off through the skin.

2. The psychic juices which begin the digestion of food are the result of appetite pure and simple. If a man eats without having his psychical juices aroused either by hunger or by an appetizer, he is trying to make bricks without straw, as the unscientific people say, his efforts can only end in broadening his body with food that he cannot digest or get rid of.

3. Digestion is a process that requires the services of the blood. During digestion nothing exciting should be allowed to draw the blood away from the stomach. Quiet, cheerful, conversation and pleasant surroundings during meal times aids digestion very materially.

4. Slow eating is an excellent habit. If it is acquired in youth it should be encouraged, but do not allow it to be talked about at table. It may be carried too far and prove a nuisance. Fairly thorough mastication with longer sauce will be better than the most perfect mastication without it. —Martella John Ladd in April Nutrilus.

Superstitious.

"What! Did you let the examinations go by again, Carl?" "I'll tell you, father. On the way to the college I met an old woman, and then I turned back again." —Flegende Blätter.

The Usual Course.

Haughty Lady (who has purchased a stamp)—Must I put it on myself?

Clerk (very politely)—Not necessarily, ma'am. It will probably be better if you put it on the letter.

Lightning Rods.

There were no lightning rods in ancient times. The first one that the world ever saw was set up by our own illustrious countryman Benjamin Franklin shortly after the year 1752. He had just had his celebrated experiment with the kite, in which he demonstrated the identity of lightning with electricity, and was therefore prepared for the construction of the rods for which the world had waited so long. It is not generally known that Franklin was as distinguished in science as he was in statesmanship and diplomacy.—Exchange.

As It Really Was.

On the morning after his first appearance on the stage the confident but untalented youth met a friend who had witnessed his first performance. "What do you think of my acting?" asked the would be Hamlet. "That wasn't acting," replied the friend. "That was misbehavior."

Men's Clothes.

Since 1825 the clothing of men has grown simpler and simpler, and if the course of evolution has taken away from the picturesque of the crowd it has added to the dignity of the man.—Men's Wear.

Unreasonable.

"I say, old man, you're never returned that umbrella I lent you last week." "Hang it all, old man, be reasonable. It's been raining ever since." —London Punch.

A Faith Cure.

Towne—Do I understand you to say that Spender's case was really a faith cure? Brown—Yes. You see, the doctor and the druggist both trusted him. —Medford Drum.

STAFFORD

We are enjoying the beautiful spring weather. Some early garden has been planted. R. DeNol's wife and child and his wife's mother are very ill. The services of a trained nurse were secured Monday. Dr. Mount is in attendance. Eva Seeding is improving in health.

They are well over the grip at Mrs. Sharp's, though still weak.

There will be another rock crusher set at work over on the mountain road soon.

The Belkars are hauling clay for the Insulator brick and tile company. They are promised a long job.

Another man was recently looking over the 45-acre tract which Mr. Gage has for sale.

M. Schatz, with what men he can get, is at work on the roads.

A number from this vicinity attended the lectures at Oregon City by Mortimer Whitehead on Saturday last. He teaches that education and organization are to be the safeguards of the farmer in the future. We were glad to meet one of our county's deputies and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Dickson of Oswego Grange, also Mrs. W. Kirchem, who is one of the delegates from this county to the State Grange which meets in May at Corvallis. The latter was accompanied by her husband, who is a prominent farmer of Logan, and O. D. Robbins, also of Logan, who had been under the doctor's care for some days with a very bad hand, caused by getting a briar into his finger which almost caused blood poisoning.

Mrs. Fred Ellingsen has been to Woodburn to visit her daughter. Mr. and Mrs. Powell, who sold a span of horses and delivered them at Grants Pass, made the overland trip by wagon and returned by rail last Friday much benefited in health. They found the roads good except over the mountains.

Carlyle's Sneer at Gladstone.

J. E. Boehm, the sculptor, once met Gladstone at a country house and was immensely impressed by the extent and diversity of the statesman's knowledge as revealed in his conversation. Boehm was still full of the subject when the morning arrived for Carlyle's sitting for a bust, and to the philosopher the sculptor poured forth his admiration for Gladstone's intimate acquaintance with subjects so far apart as gardening and Greek. Carlyle listened for a time in scornful silence; then he said, "And what did he say about your work?" "Oh, nothing," said Boehm. "He doesn't know anything about sculpture." "Of course," growled Carlyle, "of course, and he showed his knowledge about things that you didn't understand. No doubt if you asked Blackie he'd say that Gladstone knew nothing about Greek, and the gardener would tell you that he knew nothing whatever of gardening."

How Sheridan Paid a Debt.

No one knew better the power possessed by a really polished compliment than Sheridan, and on innumerable occasions during that stormy life the atypical management of his did he extricate himself from a difficulty by means of one. A good instance is the following: An English nobleman who had married a beautiful actress once applied with much dignity in the greenroom to Mr. Sheridan for the arrears of her salary and vowed that he would not stir till they were paid.

"My dear lord," said the impecunious manager, "this is too bad. You have taken from me the brightest jewel in the world, and you now quarrel with us for the little dust she has left behind her."

The nobleman immediately burst out laughing, and the debt was canceled.—London Standard.

Graveyard Marriages.

A strange custom prevails among a certain tribe in the Caucasus. When a single young man dies some one calls upon a bereaved parent who has carried to the grave a marriageable daughter in the course of a year and says: "Your son is sure to want a wife. I'll give you my daughter, and you shall deliver to me the marriage portion in return." A friendly offer of this description is never rejected, and the two parties soon come to terms as to the amount of the dowry, which varies according to the advantages possessed by the girl in her lifetime. Cases have been known where the young man's father has given as much as thirty cows to secure a dead wife for his dead son.

The Doctor's Question

Much Sickness Due to Bowel Disorders.

A doctor's first question when consulted by a patient is, "Are your bowels regular?" He knows that 99 per cent of illness is attended with inactive bowels and torpid liver, and that this condition must be removed gently and thoroughly before health can be restored.

Reball Orderlies are a positive, pleasant and safe remedy for constipation and bowel disorders in general. We are so certain of their great curative value that we promise to return the purchaser's money in every case when they fail to produce entire satisfaction.

Reball Orderlies are eaten like candy, they act quietly, and have a soothing, strengthening, healing influence on the entire intestinal tract. They do not purge, gripe, cause nausea, flatulence, excessive looseness, diarrhoea, or other annoying effect. They are especially good for children, weak persons or old folks. Two sizes, 25c and 10c. Sold only at our store—The Reball Store. Huntley Bros. Co.

WHY PAY MORE THAN WE ASK

When you feel "Blue," Half Sick, Out of Sorts, and everything seems to go wrong, you can blame it on the Liver, as that organ is usually at fault.

For a Torpid Liver You Need

HERBINE

The Remedy That Puts New Life in the Liver and Regulates the Bowels.

A liver that is torpid exercises a demoralizing influence all through the body. It hampers the kidneys in their work, clogs up the bowels, throws bilious impurities into the blood and interferes with digestion. A person in this condition is pale, sallow and discouraged, feels bad, looks bad and his general condition is bad. Food digests poorly, bowels mostly constipated, suffers from dizzy spells, occasional headaches and prefers to sit around and do nothing in place of his usual hardy energy and cheerfulness.

Herbina changes all this by starting the internal machinery into activity again. Its reviving effect on the Torpid Liver is prompt and thorough. The Stomach and Kidneys feel its stimulating influence. The Bowels are purged of clogged conditions and regular daily operations re-established. As a result of this general scouring of the interior, functional activity is resumed everywhere and the purified blood goes coursing through veins, carrying new life and energy to every part.

Sold at Drug Stores, Price 50c per Bottle.
