PATRIOTISM OF THE PRESS

The service rendered to the government of the United States in the sale of the Liberty Loan bonds of 1917 by the press of the country is record evidence of the generous patriotism of the newspaper men of America. It is recorded in the pages of thousands of American newspapers, many of them printed in foreign languages, from the largest daily to the smallest country weekly. The newspapers of the country "came across" with liberal donations of space in news, editorial, and advertising columns.

Newspaper men have observed with deep and peculiar pleasure the wholehearted activity of the men of their fraternity in the country in promoting the sale of the Liberty Loan bonds. The influence and assistance of all publications in making the loan a success are simply incalculable. Their efforts greatly contributed to making it a double success in that it was not only largely oversubscribed but the Liberty Loan bonds were placed in every community in the United States, in cities and in remote country districts, in mining towns and manufacturing centers, among farmers and country merchants as well as city bankers and large commercial and manufacturing houses.

It was a great educational campaign. Readers of their country paper in the country homes and new American citizens from papers printed in their old language, and others just learning our language, who in the evening spelled out the news in the great daily papers, were informed of the purposes and objects of the Liberty Loan and instructed in the nature, value, and terms of government bonds, especially the Liberty Loan bonds of 1917. The whole nation has made a long stride forward in financial education through the Liberty Loan campaign of 1917 as conducted through the press of the country.

The country press, which without compensation gave liberally of its limited space, is equally deserving of praise with the larger papers. In their respective spheres all classes of publications in the country covered their field thoroughly and well. The press of America can look back on the work it performed for the Liberty Loan as a great public service, ably, thoroughly and unselfishly performed.

The following letter to the press from Secretary McAdoo expresses his thoughts on the subject:

The Liberty Loan campaign was essentially one of education, and without the generous and patriotic support of the press of the Nation the hope of those in charge that it would be a popular loan would not have been realized. The untiring efforts of the newspapers throughout the campaign were a constant inspiration to the various other groups of workers. At a time when news space was at a premium the Liberty Loan was featured at length.

Newspapers and magazines, in their news, editorial, and advertising columns, fought for the success of the loan every step of the way. The foreign-language press, in 36 languages, gave daily proof of the undoubted loyalty of peoples of foreign birth.

WILLIAM G. McADOO,
Secretary of the Treasury.

JAIL THEM

Recently we heard a protest about the activities of Motorcycle Officer H. E. Meads, who has become the nemesis of the speed maniacs. It was said that he permitted autoists to pass him and then in an effort to catch the machine raced his motorcycle far beyond the speed limit, thus falsely making it appear that the arrested autoist was going faster than was actually the case. The protest appeared anonymously in the morning newspaper and was so blatantly a defense of fast drivers that its purpose was obvious and called for no comment.

However, the records will show that the speeders arrested by the officer with but one or two exceptions promptly pleaded guilty and were glad to get off with the light sentences imposed by Justices of the Peace Sievers, of this city, and Kelo, of Milwaukie, who have tried most of the cases.

Comes now one W. J. Burns, who claimed to have as his passenger, "Gen. White," and who frankly told Motorcycle Officer Meades he was "licking 'er up when stopped" and that he would lick 'er up as soon as he left the cop. Burns, according to Meades, also said he told Governor Withycombe when he left Salem for Portland that he was going to "go some."

Perhaps he thought that mentioning the fact that he was going to break the law would make him immune from arrest. He was rudely disappointed when Officer Meades stopped him near Barlow Sunday.

After parleying with the officer for several minutes, "Gen. White" told Meades that he would "fix it with Sheriff Wilson and it would not be necessary to take the chauffeur's name." Meades was not satisfied and told the driver to report to Judge Sievers Tuesday of this week. This Burns failed to do and Constable Jack Frost was sent to Portland to fetch the man to answer the charge.

Burns is said to have been arrested two or three times in Portland for racing at 40 to 60 miles an hour. He is the demonstrator of a powerful automobile and probably a small fine does not set him back very much nor develop his respect for the law.

These kind of speed fiends should be given a sentence for a change. And, we shall watch with interest the kind of defense that is put up for them by their anonymous friend.

BE CAREFUL OF FIRE

Though an enemy army may never land on our shores, there is a powerful enemy already here who annually inflicts upon us damages totaling $200,000,000. That enemy is FIRE.

Niles Searls, general fire inspector for the Southern Pacific, explains just what that $200,000,000 annual fire loss means. The money represents:

Total amount paid out in dividends by all the railroads in the country. One half of all the gold and silver mined within the borders of the United States.

If all the buildings destroyed during any one year were erected on the two sides of a single street, they would stretch out along that street for a thousand miles.

To accomplish this annual destruction, fire starting at one end of this street would have to burn at the rate of three miles a day for every day in the year.

Going through such a burned street, at every 1000 feet one would pass the ruins of a building from which an injured person was being removed, and every three-quarters of a mile would meet the ruin of a building in which a life was lost.

During the year 1907 the fire loss of the United States was one half the cost of all the new buildings erected. Now YOU be careful.

BE CANNY

Home preparedness—cans loaded with food. That rubber ring you put on a preserving jar helps you to stretch your income.

The awful question, "What shall I have for dinner?", is easily answered if your shelves are full of home canned products.

Can't eat 'em all in summer? Not enough in winter? Home canning is the answer.

You put a lid on waste every time you seal a preserving jar. Canned berries are bird proof. Frost doesn't nip canned vegetables.

Canned green peas and yellow peaches help fight the blues. See that your garden produces dry beans, cabbage, potatoes and root crops that can be kept without canning.

COMMITTEE INVESTIGATES—ESTACADA CLUB IN ERROR

At the meeting of the Live Wires of Oregon City at Estacada Tuesday evening, as guests of the Farmers, and Merchants Club of that city, a member of the Estacada club made the assertion that the management of the Red Cross Drive for Clackamas county had neglected that part of the county. A committee from the Live Wires was immediately appointed to investigate this charge, and the following letter, which has been sent to Mr. Standish, editor of the Estacada paper explains itself:

Mr. R. M. Standish, Editor Eastern Clackamas News, Estacada, Oregon.—Dear Sir: At our meeting last night we understood Mr. Bartlett to make the statement that no report had been made to Oregon City on the Red Cross Drive because they had received no information or request from Oregon City to that end.

This morning on investigation I find that on June 11th notice was sent by County Manager, T. W. Sullivan, to the school clerk of your district asking that the district organize at once, explaining the purpose and giving all necessary information. This same letter was published in weekly

"Courier" and "Enterprise," with request that all county papers copy, so that no school clerk could "lay down" on the matter.

As no response came Miss Mary Cronin, of Portland, a Red Cross nurse, was sent out to Estacada by request of County Manager T. W. Sullivan, window cards were sent from headquarters here to Postmaster Heylman, of your city, and Attorney Devore on his visit here early in the campaign week was unable to make a personal visit to Estacada, and Mr. Devore was requested to give the matter his every attention.

Information came back here through a missionary sent out to your city that Estacada would not work with Oregon City and intended to report to Portland. Mr. Sullivan immediately wrote to Portland headquarters reporting this and asked that reports of returns be sent to the county manager here.

Someone has evidently not reported facts to your club and we wish you would investigate, for we know you do not wish any wrong impressions to get out, even though we do not both see matters from the same angle at all times.

Yours very truly,
B. T. McBAIRD.
