OUR OLDEST FRIEND

The Dalles Chronicle Says France and America Alike in Instinct

If we are dragged into the war, there will be many Americans who rejoice that while fighting our own battle we shall be helping England. There will be others who rejoice that we are making a little easier the victory of Russia or Italy. But there is one belligerent power that almost every man and woman imbued with American spirit and tradition will be proud and glad to stand beside. That is France.

The extent of our obligation to France is seldom fully realized. There was an eloquent reminder of it the other day in a speech by Ambassador Jusserand, on the anniversary of the first treaty ever made between our country and a foreign nation. It was signed by Benjamin Franklin in 1778, only two years after our declaration of independence. And it deserves to be forever memorable. Never in history had there been a treaty like it. Never has there been there one since. As Jusserand says, "the oldest of the nations of Europe pledged itself to place all its resources—military, naval, financial—at the disposal of a young people, of a new-born nation, at a time when no one could tell whether it would survive or perish." Our service to Cuba, though somewhat similar, was far less generous and heroic.

What did France expect to get out of it? Absolutely nothing. "But one condition was stipulated in return for the support promised—France was to derive no material advantage." The American delegates offered commercial advantages, but France refused them. "We wanted to fight for liberty, for honor, and nothing else."

After the decisive surrender at Yorktown, due largely to French aid, England made every effort to eliminate France from the war. She went so far as to offer to return Canada to France as the price of withdrawal. But France steadfastly refused. And as a result, our independence was won.

We have never repaid that debt. We never could repay it. But there has been between the two great democratic peoples ever since a close bond of sympathy. The Statue of Liberty that stands in New York harbor is a token of it.

Different as we are in temperament and culture, we are alike in our instinct for freedom. "As soon as the soldiers of Washington and Rochambeau met, they understood one another." It has been like that with our American legion that is fighting in France today. It will be like that if we send new legions over there.

Church Services

The subject of the morning sermon by the Rev. J. W. MacCallum at the Congregational church on Sunday is "National Revival and National Prosperity." In the evening the Knights and Ladies of Security will attend the service in a body and Mr. MacCallum will preach on "The Gospel of Good Work." The orchestra will play the "Coronation March" by Meyerbeer and "Confidence" by Mendelssohn. The choir will have special numbers.

NEW COUNTY ROAD CODE

Legislature Says County Can Have Full Road Jurisdiction

Two new county road codes were adopted by the legislature; one providing for the laying out of county roads, and the other for their construction and maintenance. The provisions of the first, as described by C. C. Chapman, are:

County courts given full jurisdiction over all county roads and bridges. Road location may be initiated by petition, resolution, grant or condemnation.

All roads shall be 60 feet wide. Twelve freeholders, or a majority must sign road petitions. Bond of $200 required. Petitioners must pay all costs if road not allowed.

Board of viewers shall consist of two disinterested freeholders and one representative of the county court, who may be county surveyor or roadmaster or deputy. Viewers must include plat with report.

Remonstrance by more remonstrators than petitioners shall terminate proceedings.

Appeal allowed from county court to circuit court.

Complete code of procedure outlined.

All the county road laws covering the scope of this act are repealed.

The second act provides the construction and maintenance code, with provisions as follows:

Office of supervisors and roadmasters, as formerly fixed by law, are abolished, to take effect Jan. 1, 1918.

Employment of roadmaster by each county optional with county court. Deputies, patrolmen and assistants the same. No supervisors for districts; only such deputies, patrolmen and assistants as are appointed by the county court or roadmaster.

Duties of roadmaster are outlined. Authority is conferred to drain through private lands. County court may allow damages, subject to appeal.

Division of county into road districts mandatory; cities and towns to be separate districts.

Upon petition of three freeholders, county court shall call road district meeting; all legal voters in district entitled to participate, but only taxpayers may vote. Rules outlined for procedure in road district meetings.

Meeting may vote tax up to 10 mills.

Proceeding of county court in letting bids is outlined. County court may reject any and all bids, and do work by day labor. Bids must be asked on all work over $2,000.

County court may levy general road tax up to 10 mills.

Counties authorized to co-operate through state with federal government in joint construction of forest and post roads.

All the old road code laws within the scope of this act are repealed, including the provision requiring that 70 per cent of county road money shall be expended within the district whence it was raised.

Drs. Mount Bring Suit

Alleged default in the payment of a bill for professional services rendered is the cause of a suit brought here Friday by Drs. Hugh S. and Guy Mount against M. L. Hayford. The amount of the bill the doctors seek to collect is $95.50.

RECALL AGAIN THREATENED

Peace in Council Will Save Official Necks of Three

Another bomb of municipal contention was thrown into the opposition trenches on Friday night when recall petitions were put into circulation by the Schuebel faction of the Schuebel-Story army of council members against Mayor E. C. Hackett and Councilmen Van Auker and Templeton. The latest feature of the fight for the city attorney job was a surprise to the city, and all but two of the councilmen, excepting Andrews, whose seat is in question, will be replaced if the recall movement against Councilmen Albright, Buckles, Cox and Metzner is successful. Those who are responsible for the petitions put into circulation on Friday night say their action is the result of public opinion, which, they say, demands that if one member is recalled all must go.

E. B. Andrews, holding his seat because his elected successor, Isom C. Bridges, was declared unqualified, and C. W. Friedrich, who was elected last December, are the only councilmen not involved in the recall. Mr. Bridges threatens to circulate petitions against Mr. Andrews, but they have not materialized. Mr. Friedrich has not been in office a sufficient length of time to permit of a recall against him.

The entire squabble comes from the fact that the city council appointed C. Schuebel to be city attorney at a salary of $60 a month after George L. Story was supposed to have been elected legal adviser of the city. Mr. Story and Mr. Schuebel have patched up their differences to the extent that Mr. Story will not complain if Mr. Schuebel continues as special prosecutor for the city's case with the P. R. L. & P. Co., and retire following the trial. But the factions that have lined up behind the two men do not take their settlement to mean that the council should not be changed. Mr. Story is said to be responsible for the movement against Albright, Buckles, Cox and Metzner, and Mr. Albright, aided by his colleagues, is said to be sponsor of the recall directed at Mayor Hackett and Councilmen Templeton and Van Auker. E. L. Moore is the only member eligible who is not named on either recall petition.

G. A. R. SUSTAINS WILSON

Passes Resolution Confirming Faith in Chief Executive

On Pension day, observed here by Meade post No. 2, G. A. R., the old soldiers were entertained by their program committee and transacted considerable business of importance to the order. At the noon hour the members of the Womans' Relief corps served a delightful luncheon. The following resolutions, supporting President Wilson, were passed by the well-attended meeting:

Whereas, the country is now confronted by the gravest crisis that has existed since the dark days of 1861, and

Whereas, the president of the United States has patiently submitted to many outrages committed on our commerce by the German government, the loss of many lives of American citizens, and the destruction of millions of dollars worth of property in the hope that some way might be found to settle our trouble without a resort to the arbitrament of war, now therefore be it

Resolved, that this post unqualifiedly endorses the actions of the president in severing diplomatic relations with Germany, and favor the immediate armament of American merchant ships in order that they may protect themselves from the murderous assaults of the German submarines, and be it further

Resolved, that we condemn the actions of the United States senators who prevented legislation providing for the protection of American lives and American commerce, believing them to be unpatriotic and enemies of the republic.

J. C. SAWYER, Commander.
L. P. HORTON, Adjutant.

PRESIDENT PRAISED

Woman's Club Assures Executive of Loyalty Whatever May Come

The Oregon City Woman's club at its last meeting, held at the Commercial club parlors, passed the following resolution in support of President Wilson in the grave crisis which he is handling for the United States:

Whereas, our beloved United States now stands under the threatening menace of a dreadful war, and

Whereas, Our honored president, Woodrow Wilson, is by this menace placed in a soul trying ordeal to steer the ship of state with its people safely through the danger; though never forgetting the nation's motto, "Peace with honor," and

Whereas, we recognize the great helpfulness to him to know that all peoples of these United States stand behind him in this time of stress with loyalty and willing service, therefore

Be it Resolved, that the Woman's club of Oregon City assure him of our loyalty and patriotism, and of our support to him, whatever may come, and that we will ever ask that the Great Guide will endow him with strength, wisdom and love through it all; and further

Be it Resolved, that this, the Woman's club of Oregon City, forward these resolutions to President Woodrow Wilson, attested by the president and secretary of the club.

Felt like 90; Now Like 21

Many persons complain about feeling old before they should. Like a weak link in a chain, a weak organ enfeebls the whole body. Overworked, weak or disordered kidneys lower vitality. A. W. Morgan, Angora, La., writes: "I suffered with pains in the back. I am 43 years old, but I felt like a man of 90 years old. Since I took Foley Kidney Pills I feel like I did when I was 21." SCHOOLS HAVE FAIRS

Calavan Standardizes Two Schools in County. Snow Was Handicap

Friday was parents' and school fair day in about 130 schools of Clackamas county and in some cases elaborate plans for the entertainment of parents and the display of school work were carried out. Only those schools which were partly snowbound omitted the day's program. Superintendent J. E. Calavan started to visit as many of the schools as he could during the forenoon. At the lunch hour he was a guest at Twilight school and in the afternoon was at Springbrook. Supervisor Brenton Vedder was at Estacada for the day.

Practically all the schools observing the day had special programs of entertainment and at the noon hour lunch was served. The work done by the pupils was on display for the parents, who had been asked to make it a point to visit the schools Friday.

Thursday Superintendent Calavan standardized the Wichita four-room school, where Mrs. Emily Shaw, Miss Grace Reed, Miss Pauline Ausicker and Miss Iva Shelton are teachers. Friday afternoon the superintendent standardized the Springbrook one-room school, taught by Miss Adele Lovell.

The recent snow storms have resulted in delays in the work of several of the remote schools of the county. Wichita school paused briefly during an especially heavy snow fall and the Dickey Prairie and Parrot Mountain schools were closed for a time. The Jennings Lodge school was closed three days recently because of an epidemic of chickenpox and two deaths in the family of Miss Lena Thomas, teacher at Hill Crest, near Sandy, caused the closing of that school for several days.

$45,000 TO BE SPENT

Governor Makes Appointments of Men to "Sell Scenery"

As soon as the Washington state legislature passed the bill authorizing the expenditure of $45,000 as its share of the money to be raised for advertising Oregon, Washington and British Columbia, Governor Withcombe announced that Phil Mettsch, Jr., and W. J. Hoffman would compose the finance committee for Oregon. These men will have full charge of the money to be spent by this state for advertising the scenic resources and to induce tourists to come to the great northwest.

It is expected that British Columbia will provide its share this month and then the various committees and directors of the Northwest Tourist association will prepare full plans for the expenditure of the money. Oregon and Washington will spend $22,500 each this year to induce railroad and automobile travelers to come here.

The directors representing Oregon in the Northwest Tourist association are: C. C. Overmire, Phil Mettsch, Jr., W. J. Hoffman and Mark Woodruff, of Portland; R. E. Scott of Hood River; H. A. Latta of Medford, and J. H. Hoke of Eugene. Emory Olmstead is the Oregon vice-president of the association and J. C. Ainsworth the general treasurer.

ROAD RALLY AT ENGINE

Delegates From all Counties Asked to Discuss Road Matters

Delegates from all counties of Oregon are invited to a Western Oregon Road rally to be held in Eugene next Saturday, March 10.

"What is Uncle Sam's proposition?" is a question that will be asked of government representatives, and separate replies will be made as to forest roads and post roads. Competent engineers will tell the costs of different widths and types of paving, and cost of getting grade ready for paving under the varying conditions existing in different sections. The state highway commissioners will discuss their policies.

That the bonding act will insure improvement of all the designated highways within the five year limit at low cost to the counties in preparing grades is asserted, and facts and figures will be presented to throw light on every financial question involved in the highway program.

TO VOTE ON SCHOOL BOND

West Linn Will Have Special Election on Saturday, March 10.

A special election will be held at West Linn on Saturday, March 10, for the purpose of giving the voters of the school district an opportunity to decide as to whether they will authorize a $14,000 bond issue for the erection of a new grade school building.

The school board has already approved plans for the structure which they hope to be authorized to build. It will be constructed along lines similar to those of the school built last summer at Milwaukie. The district is suffering from lack of school room facilities and there is little doubt in the minds of the members of the school board that the voters will approve the bond issue. A mass meeting has endorsed the issue, and at the meeting practically a majority of the voting strength of the district was represented.

GIVENS SUES KERKES

Alleges Slandorous Statements Made About His Private Life

Walter Givens, an Estacada business man and an ordained minister in the Christian church, is in circuit court with a $25,000 damage suit against M. J. Kerkas, author of alleged slanderous statements made about Mr. Givens and involving a woman not his wife. The complaint filed by Givens Monday charges that Kerkas told many people about Estacada of the immoral life Givens was alleged to have been leading in Portland and away from his family. The stories, Givens says, have damaged him to the extent of $25,000. Givens was the leader of the Cascade county forces in the fight for a division of Clackamas county. He is a commission merchant and spends part of his time in his capacity as a preacher.

Mrs. Emma A. Wilkinson, 1207 Main St., Oregon City, gave the following account of her experience on April 4, 1913. She said: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills for backache and kidney trouble and have received relief."

On April 17, 1915, Mrs. Wilkinson said: "I gladly confirm my former endorsement for I still consider Doan's Kidney Pills a medicine of merit and very reliable for kidney disorders. Since taking them, I have had very little trouble from my kidneys."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Wilkinson has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

NEW FLAG IS FLYING

Court Official Buys New Banner and It Will Remain Up

Explaining what appeared to be a lack of patriotism in not displaying the county's national banner over the court house, Judge H. S. Anderson said Saturday the flag was too heavy for the flagpole, and that it could be hung at half-mast only by taking chances on breaking the pole. The explanation came with the arrival of a new and smaller banner, which was put in place Monday and left on the pole. The flag is reached only after climbing a series of narrow stairs, and the courthouse janitors have voted to let the flag remain up.
