The Edison is the GREATEST as well as the LATEST TONE REPRODUCING machine. The NEW EDISON DIAMOND DISC IS THE ONLY Tone Reproducing Machine that absolutely satisfies the love for real music, and the only instrument in existence that reproduces tone naturally, with all the tone color preserved.

BACK TO TEN CENTS

Grand Theatre Management Making Test of Public Feeling

Some weeks ago Manager Charley Schram, of the Grand Theatre, the exclusive home of Paramount Pictures in the county seat, raised the price of admission at his theatre to fifteen cents. Business held up just as usual, people being willing to pay the extra nickel to see extra good films. However, the Christmas season is approaching, and Manager Schram is a strong believer in the Yuletide spirit. So for a short time he will reduce his price to ten cents again, and will continue the same class of pictures as were shown at fifteen cents.

It is not all geniality and goodwill, however, that is making Mr. Schram do this. He reasons that if he can comfortably fill his showshop at fifteen cents, with a high grade of pictures, he ought to be able to pack it to the doors with the same pictures at ten cents. And "standing room only" is good business for any theatre. So with the price of admission reduced to ten cents, and with the seating capacity of his theatre amplified, Manager Schram is expecting more business than ever--and at the same time he will be giving local theatre-goers a Christmas present.

Elsewhere in these columns is a list of the productions that have been booked for the Grand, and for which only ten cents will be charged. These pictures are shown in Portland houses for fifteen and twenty-five cents, so it will pay Clackamas county people to see them at the Grand, in Oregon City. Probably never before in moving-picture history has such a galaxy of feature films been offered to the public at such a low price, and if you want to see how Oregon City will appreciate this Christmas reduction in price, go to the Grand and watch the crowds.

THAT FORD TRIP

Maybe It Is Foolish, Maybe It Is Just Publicity, and Maybe--

Henry Ford and a party of friends will sail shortly for the old world on a couple of ocean steamers which the jitney millionaire has chartered, and will try to stop the European slaughterfest. There has been a good deal about it in the papers. Mr. Ford has been accused of being a plain fool, a meddler, and an unprincipled advertiser; and it has also been hinted that he might embarrass the government.

Maybe all this is true. And also maybe Henry Ford knows just what he is doing. He is spending his own money to do it, and he hasn't the reputation of being a man who throws his money away. There has been a whole lot of indefinite and hazy news in the paper lately about peace, and maybe Henry Ford is better informed than the papers, and knows that the time is just about ripe for peace, and that the warring powers are only waiting for some good excuse to stop plunging into debt and death.

And maybe Henry is willing to be the "goat," the excuse. We wouldn't be a bit surprised to see him arrive at the psychological moment, to sit in on a peace party, and get all the credit for being the man who stopped the war. We have a sneaking idea that Henry-who-made-the-jits knows what he is about; and we are saving some nice big type for him, so that we can fittingly announce his triumph when the time comes.

Ed Olds, Oak Grove's road builder, has a grouch this week; and all because a small morning paper published hereabouts said he was going to run for legislature. Beyond saying that the paper lied, Mr. Olds would not comment on the story--but he seemed mighty sore about being suddenly thrust into the political arena.

DO IT NOW

Get Your Auto License Early, or You May Get Into Trouble

Editor, Courier: The following may be of interest and benefit to many of your readers and it is respectfully forwarded you for such use as you deem the same may warrant:

Indications in the motor vehicle registration department are that unless automobile and motorcycle owners and dealers and chauffeurs respond very soon to notices sent them early this month in the shape of blank applications there will be a congestion of work in the department which will make it impossible to supply many of the licenses, tags and badges by the first of the year when the old licenses become void.

The work of registration for 1916 was begun earlier than usual this year in order to allow ample time to secure number plates by the first of the year. Blank applications were sent to all the 23,000 auto and truck owners, 175 dealers, 4,100 chauffeurs and 3,200 owners of motorcycles nearly a month ago and although the time available for registration before the first of the coming year is nearly half gone only 2,700 applications have as yet been received. This leaves around 31,000 to be issued during the one month remaining. While this office will do its utmost to take care of the business, these figures indicate the great number of licenses to be issued within a very limited time, and those interested may save themselves inconvenience by sending in their applications at the earliest possible time, which they are asked to do.

ABOUT THE RIVER

Prohibitionists Seem to be Worrying About "Rhine of America"

Back East they call the Hudson the "Rhine of America," but out here the faithful apply the same name to the Willamette. And maybe it is because of that, and because "Rhine" suggests Germany, and because Germany suggests beer, a whole lot of prohibitionists seem to be worrying about the Willamette river and what will float over its placid wavelets after Janu-sterfest. There has been a good deal about it in the papers. Mr. Ford has been accused of being a plain fool, a meddler, and an unprincipled advertiser; and it has also been hinted that he might embarrass the government.

Maybe this is so, we don't know. But as the Willamette river lies entirely in territory that is going to be "dry" after the first of the year, and as there will be no active breweries or distilleries on its banks, somehow we fail to see that the Willamette is going to be the menace that it is feared. If the river lies entirely in dry territory, how is the booze going to get onto it in the first place?

Milwaukie Man Dies

Henry Sanders, of Milwaukie, died at his home last week in his 78th year. He was a native of Germany, but had lived in Milwaukie for the past 29 years. The funeral was held in Portland Monday, and the remains were laid at rest in Riverview cemetery. Mr. Sanders is survived by his widow, Mrs. Anna Sanders; daughter, Mary Sanders, and two grandsons, Ralph Howard and George Cooper.

County Seat Boy Hurt

Sam Finucane, of Oregon City, accidentally shot himself in the heel with a 22-calibre gun last Friday afternoon while hunting near the county seat. The boy stumbled, and in endeavoring to regain his balance he pulled the trigger of the gun he was carrying, the charge lodging in the tissues of his foot. He is receiving medical aid at his home.
