DOING THINGS.

I am only one,
But still I am one.
I cannot do everything, But still I can do something.
And because I cannot do everything I will not refuse to do the something which I can do.
—Edward Everett Hale.

Russian Art.

Before a statue is erected in Russia it is customary to submit the design for the approval of the people concerned.
In many cases a wooden model of the proposed statue is erected in the exact spot where the complete statue is to stand. If the majority do not approve of the design it is withdrawn and another is substituted. This custom has resulted in Russia having probably the best memorial groups and statues of any country.

Russians call the city of Moscow "Holy Mother Moscow," because it is the center around which grew the great empire of the czar. There are 500 churches and cathedrals in Moscow and many hundreds of smaller shrines.

Physical Formation of Mexico.

Mexico possesses a curious physical formation. Rising rapidly by a succession of terraces from the low, sandy coasts on the east and west, it culminates in a central plateau running in a northwesterly and southeasterly direction and having an elevation varying from 4,000 to 8,000 feet above the sea. High above this plateau tower the snow capped crests of several volcanoes, most of which are extinct. Ten of them are over 12,000 feet in height, and three look down upon fertile valleys from altitudes of 11,782, 17,356 and 18,060 feet. These are Popocatepetl, Orizaba and Iztaccihuatl.—San Francisco Argonaut.

Hindu Superstition.

When visits are exchanged by the friends of the Hindu bride and groom to complete arrangements for the wedding great attention is paid to omens, which are considered especially potent then. For instance, if the groom's messengers should meet a cat, a fox or a serpent they turn back and seek a more propitious time for the errand.
After the bride's father has received the offer he must delay replying until one of the ubiquitous lizards in his house has chirped.

The Abyssinians.

"The handsomest people in the world," said a university lecturer, "are the Abyssinians, slender, high browed, copper hued—these people who have reduced stealing to a science and begging to a fine art. The color of the healthy man is a black and a greenish bronze hue, of a shade often seen in statues, but generally believed not to be found in real life. These men, by the way, have the most luxuriant hair in the world, and yet they never can grow more than the scantiest, scrawny beards."

Speaking of Mottos.

This is on a tablet at the home of Spencer Trask in Saratoga: "Time is too slow for those who wait, too swift for those who fear, too long for those who grieve, too short for those who rejoice, but for those who love time is eternity."

It was Edward Wallis Hoch, one time governor of Kansas, who said, "There is so much bad in the best of us, there is so much good in the worst of us, that it hardly behooves any of us to talk about the rest of us."—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

City's stores. It is not to be thought for a moment that Mr. Adams is the only local merchant who has seen the opportunity in the "buy-it-at-home" movement. But it appears that he is the first to take advantage of it—and that is why the Adams' store has become known as "Oregon City's busy store."

COUNCIL ASSISTS HISTORIC FOLK

Schubel expressed curiosity as to the date of the banquet, and Councilman Albright regretted that it was after election, because otherwise the "two mayors" (Long and Hackett) might have taken all the council down to an election feast.

A letter from the P. R. L. & P. company calling the attention of the city to the poor condition of planking on the Abernathy bridge was referred to the street committee. The South Fork water commission sent in a preliminary report favoring the acceptance of a pipe line, and promising a complete report before the end of the month. This went on file.

The water board reported the resignation of Mr. McCausland, and Councilman Metzner nominated Mayor Linn Jones to fill the vacancy. Mr.
Metzner paid a profound tribute to Mayor Jones and his faithfulness, and President of the Council Meyer declared the nominations closed and entertained a motion that railroaded the mayor into the job.

It is understood that Mr. McCausland, whose resignation takes effect the first of the new year, is slated for appointment as superintendent of the water system, to replace William Howell the present superintendent.
Mr. Howell has not yet resigned, and has given no intimation that he will resign. It is further reported that the water board members have decided that Mr. Howell will have four days in which to resign, and that if he doesn't do so, he will be fired. One of the prettiest municipal fights in some years is thus forecasted, but efforts are being made to cover up the mining and counter-mining that is going on before the fight opens.

Mr. Templeton said he wanted permission of the council to install an arc light on the Singer Hill road. Mr.
Cox opposed such a plan, saying lights were more needed elsewhere.
Councilman Albright got the matter referred to the street committee with power to act, with Cox voting the negative vote.

Immediately following this Mr. Cox brought in a verbal report of a special committee on the assessment of the Newton property at Tenth and J. Q.

Adams street. Mr. Templeton "called" him, pointing out that the charter or something else provided that all committee reports must be in writing, and that he would not sanction the discussion of a verbal report.

To stall off a fight Councilman Meyer moved that the committee be given more time, and Councilman Cox moved that the committee's findings be accepted and that Mrs. Newton be allowed to settle all claims against the property for $500 cash.

"Mr. Mayor," said Councilman Templeton, rising and putting on his glasses and a severe look, "this committee was appointed to investigate this matter and bring in a report.
They have brought in no report."

Thereupon City Attorney Schuebel volunteered to get certain records concerned in the case, and Mr. Templeton tried to slip over a motion for adjournment to cut the things short, but the mayor couldn't see him when he sought to obtain the floor. A twenty minute wrangle over the matter followed, and in the end it was voted to give the committee until December 15 to bring in a written report.

Councilman Albright got to his feet to start something, Mr. Hackett moved adjournment and put on his hat, Councilman Cox got up to say something, and the mayor left his chair. Thus did the meeting adjourn.
