An Everyday Cake

Here is a simple and inexpensive cake that can be varied in many ways with different frostings and icings. It looks a little nicer baked in a tube pan, but will be equally as good baked in a square loaf.

K C Gold Cake

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine.

1 cup butter; 1 cup sugar; yolks of 4 eggs, beaten light; 1 cup flour, less 2 level tablespoons; 2 level teaspoonsful K C Baking Powder; 1 cup milk; grated rind of 1 orange.

Sift flour and baking powder together three times; cream butter and sugar, beat yolks of eggs, add these to creamed mixture, and lastly add the moisture and flour alternately, beating batter until smooth. Gold Cake can only be made successfully by beating yolks of eggs, very, very creamy and light lemon colored, using a rotary beater. The rotary beater is the only beater that will do justice to the yolks of eggs. The beating kills all egg taste and improves the texture of the cake.

Cocoa Frosting
Beat the whites of 2 eggs dry; gradually beat in half a cup of sifted confectioner's sugar and continue the beating until the frosting is smooth, thick and glossy; then beat in grated coconut, fresh or prepared, and spread upon the cake. This frosting is made thick by beating rather than by sugar.

Save this recipe. You will want to use it frequently. Or better, send us the colored certificate packed in each 25-cent can of K C Baking Powder and we will mail you "The Cook's Book" containing this and 89 other baking recipes equally good—all by Mrs. Hill. Jaques Mfg. Co., Chicago.

CHILDREN AS JUDGES

Education and Fun Go Hand in Hand at Stock Contest

The second annual boys' and girls' stock judging contest at the Oregon Agricultural College, arranged by the Boys' and Girls' Industrial Club workers of the Extension Division, will take place in the College Armory the afternoon of January 7, during Farmers' and Home Makers' Week.

A comprehensive programme has been arranged which includes in addition to the judging contest a dairy and pig judging demonstration by College specialists, inspection of the college barns, livestock and farm, and the awarding of prizes to the winning contestants by Governor Withycombe. The second annual horse show under the direction of the faculty and students of the department of animal husbandry, for which entries have been received from leading horse men of Portland and the Willamette Valley, will be held in the evening and a section will be reserved for seating the young stock judges. On January 8 there will be a general assembly of all contestants followed by a moving picture exhibition, and a series of addresses by Governor Withycombe and members of the college faculty will be given.

Any boy and girl in the State between the ages of ten and eighteen years, who is enrolled or shall enroll before January 1 in either the Dairy Herd Record Keeping Project or the Pig Club Project, is eligible to enter. The classes of stock to be judged are dairy cows and market hogs. Eighteen cash prizes ranging from $9 to $1 will be awarded to the winners.

At the first contest held last year, there were 100 contestants but Club membership was not a requisite to enter. Ample accommodations free of charge will be available to the visiting contestants and the entire resources of the College will be devoted to various entertainment features.

SHIRT CAUSES WOE

Friends Can't See Why They Should Pay for Man's Apparel

Men have fought before now to keep the shirt on their backs, but they haven't often fought to keep from putting a shirt on another man's back. Yet if Joe Morvik, Mike Davich and Martin Smith can be believed, that is what led to a Christmas stabbing match at Cottrell last week that sent Joe Miller to a Portland hospital with a badly carved anatomy. Smith admits that he did the carving, but says it was in self defense, and that Miller started the rumpus.

Miller will be out of the hospital shortly, and will then tell his side of the fracas. In the meantime Smith Morvik and Davich are sojourning in the county jail; Multnomah county deputies having captured the first for Sheriff Wilson. The four men were having a Christmas celebration at Cottrell, and all were perfectly willing to pay their share of the bill, the three here say; only Miller insisted that they should also pay their share of a shirt that he bought.

Discussion of the ethics of paying for another man's shirt led to a fight, and in the fight Miller was badly cut about the face and body.

LET BOYS DO IT

If You Want to Build a House, Help Out Manual Training Class

One of the greatest difficulties of teaching carpentry in the public schools is lack of projects that give the class carpentry work, says F. H. Shepherd, manual training specialist at O. A. C. Some teachers, among them Philip Pacher, now in The Dalles, Oregon, high school, have successfully taught carpentry by having students build houses, barns and out buildings in miniature, cutting all lumber to scale and fully completing each project.

Another teacher has been successful in carrying out the plan of building and completely furnishing (plastering and excavation excepted) a house of five rooms with bath, pantry, closets and porches and built-in furniture. In this case material was furnished by the owner of the lot who is interested in the school and in boys.

Mrs. Woodward's Father Dies

Mrs. George Woodward, wife of Patrolman George Woodward, of the county seat police department, received the sad news Tuesday of the death of her father, G. T. Stevenson, in Minneapolis at noon Monday. Mr. Stevenson had been in poor health for some little while.

River Breaks Record

With a rise of 12 feet at Salem in 36 hours, and a rise of nine feet at Oregon City below the dam, the Willamette river broke all its records last week, and piled up to a flood stage throughout the greater part of its lower length. Back water from the Clackamas and Columbia rivers is responsible for most of the height of the river below the falls.

SALT AS A LUXURY.

In Most European Lands It is Dear and Used Sparingly.

Along many parts of the Brittany coast where the land is low you may see the sea salt industry being carried on on a large scale. In the United States salt is cheaply produced at inland points by evaporation from salt water pumped from deep wells, but in most of the countries of Europe the bulk of the salt which is consumed is made by the evaporation of sea water.

Sea salt is not so pure as salt which is produced from wells, as it contains a percentage of salts of magnesium, potassium and lime, with traces of iodine and other elements in addition to the sodium chloride which is the desired substance. But it answers the purpose about as well.

The sea water is let into great shallow basins or ponds at high tide, the flow being controlled by gates. The sun, which shines very powerfully on the south Breton coast, gradually evaporates the water, and the brine becomes constantly stronger. More water is let in from time to time until a certain point of saturation is reached, and then the water is allowed to dry up, and the salt is left behind as a thin crust or coating on the bottom of the ponds.

The salt is then gathered by means of rakes and scoops. In this form, of course, it is very impure, for in taking it up a large amount of dirt is taken up with it. It is piled up, and in due course the action of the rain and weather serves to filter out most of the dirt, and the salt is left in fairly pure condition.

As you go along through the salt districts you will see hundreds of these white piles of salt, containing perhaps a ton or so each. The crude salt is finally taken to mills, where it is put through refining processes and made ready for market.

Salt brings high prices in most European countries. It is such a luxury that the people have to be sparing of it. You might wonder why this is when Europe has such a huge coast line and all that is necessary is to let the sea water evaporate under the influence of Old Sol to produce all the salt anyone could want.

But here is where the law steps in. The government assumes that the sea is its property, and it will not allow ordinary citizens to make salt from it or in fact make any other private use of it without a license.

Poor fishermen in Turkey were put in prison because they boiled sea water and made their own salt. This illicit making of salt was against the law, just as the making of spirituous liquor without a proper license from the government is against the law in this country.

Literary Beginners.

Robert W. Chambers gave this advice to the literary beginner some years ago, says the London Strand, and it holds good today:

"Have something to say and learn by experience how to say it. The important thing, to be sure, is something to say. The trouble with most people who try to write stories is that they have nothing to write about. Next, don't talk about it; do it. A writer can make his own mark."

"It is the only way to do. Write what appeals to you and find a publisher who will take it. Don't go to a publisher and ask him what he wants. Make him want what you have to offer. If it is the real thing you won't have much difficulty. You will 'break into print' with your first effort."

The Janizaries.

The Janizaries were the most fearless soldiers the Turkish empire has ever known, and they were not Turks. It has been said that the most zealous religionist is the convert to the faith, and so it was with these converted Christians. When they took the faith of Mohammed under Sultan Orkhan in 1330 and formed the nucleus of his bodyguard they became the most extreme Mussulmans. It was they who stormed the walls of Constantinople in 1453, the city that had hitherto been considered impregnable.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Franklin's Fate Prefigured.

The fate of Franklin, the famous explorer, was unwittingly prefigured on the eve of his starting on his last voyage at the hands of his own devoted wife. As he lay dozing on a sofa Lady Franklin threw something over his feet, on which he awoke in consternation, saying: "Why, there's a flag thrown over me! Don't you know that they lay a union jack over a corpse?"

Road Edges.

Experts estimate that unused land lying at either side of the country roads is capable in many cases of bearing 500 bushels of corn to the mile strip. Thousands of miles of the best European roads are only a row wide, but Uncle Sam's edge trimming is largely a matter of theory.—Exchange.

Advancing Ideals.

"How is your daughter progressing in music?" "Well," replied Mr. Cumrox, "I think her taste is improving. She is getting so she thinks enough of some of those songs not to try to sing them."—Washington Star.

Collision Hurts Five

When his auto crashed into an Estacada train Sunday morning, Walter Douglass, of Eagle Creek, was severely hurt, and his wife and three children were badly bruised. Mr. Douglass was taken to a Portland hospital on a special car, and Estacada physicians attended his family. At the time of the accident the Douglass family was returning from a Christmas party at the home of B. P. Cogswell.

TWO MILL IDEA HIT

District Attorney Says County Court Has No Right to Divide Tax

In reply to a request from County Judge Anderson for an opinion upon the two-mill levy for hard surface road work, as ordered by the taxpayers' meeting, District Attorney Gilbert Hedges has completed a written report on the matter and forwarded the same to the county court. Mr. Hedges informs the county court that the division of the road levy as proposed is contrary to the provisions of the budget law and to the general road laws.

According to the law, says Mr. Hedges, each district must receive a flat percentage of the road funds, and may expend these funds as seem best to them. If the districts themselves desire to set apart a portion of the tax yield for hard surface purposes, that is their privilege, but the county court is not empowered to make this division for them.

The plan proposed at the taxpayers' meeting was that the eight mill road levy be divided into two mills for permanent road work, one mill for bridge work, and five mills for general road work.

BALL TEAM FINED

Players Charged with Stealing Suits of Opposing Nine

John Timbrooks, S. Base, J. C. Barenburg, W. Simonsen, Roy Poppenburg, C. Wicklund, E. A. Thiel, H. Barnard and H. S. Clifford, members of a Portland baseball nine, were convicted of larceny in the justice court at Oswego Monday, and were allowed to settle for the suits in lieu of being fined $25 apiece. In addition to this Thiel was fined $50 for contempt of court when he expressed too violent an opinion of the testimony of some of the witnesses.

The trial grew out of a ball game at Oswego some time ago, when the Portland team won, and was not given its share of the gate receipts. To get even members of the Portland team broke into the lockers of the Oswego players, and appropriated their suits. Philip Hammond, of the county seat, represented the district attorney's office in the case.

RIVER ROUTE TO STAY

Motorboat Mail Delivery from Milwaukee to be Permanent

Two hundred and fifty families living along the Willamette river north and south of Milwaukee have been getting their mail for the past several months by swift motorboat, in command of W. T. Jacks; and so successful has this service been that the Post Office Department has approved it and ordered it a permanent "R. F. D." route. The "marine route" was the idea of Postmaster Haggemann, of Milwaukee, and has carried mail to its patrons with the greatest of speed.

Under orders from Washington the route, known as "River route 3," will now become a daily service, and the launch carrying the mails will fly the United States ensign and have right of way over all other water traffic. It is the only river free delivery route in the state, and has attracted much attention.

MILLS GIVE GIFTS

Employees Made Happy with Cheques, Cigars and Big Fat Turkeys

Oregon City mills made the past Christmas somewhat more joyous than it might otherwise have been for the employees by distributing a bountiful supply of largess in the form of turkeys, cigars and cheques.

The Crown Willamette company gave each of its workmen a cheque for Christmas, and also gave its employees an extra day of rest. The Hawley company gave every married man in its employ a fat turkey, and the single men got boxes of "bit" cigars.

Men who were engaged in repair work over the holidays got double time cheques, aside from their regular gifts; making the Christmas pleasant even for those who had to do emergency work. From Christmas morning to Monday morning not a wheel turned in any of the big plants.

MRS. G. W. DOTY DEAD

Bolton Woman Succumbs to Illness of but Four Days Duration

Mrs. George W. Doty died at her home in Bolton last week after a brief illness. Funeral services were held in St. Paul's church Sunday afternoon, and interment followed at Mountain View cemetery.

Mrs. Doty is survived by her husband, one daughter, Mrs. Eugene Worthington, of Oswego, and two sons, Frank T. Doty, of Bolton, and George W. Doty, Jr., of St. Louis, Mo.

She was born in Newart, N. J., November 9, 1843, and married in 1864. They came west as far as North Dakota in 1876 and in 1898 came to Oregon, settling first in Oregon City. She was a member of the Women's Relief Corps.

MANY ATTEND WEDDING

Miss Edith M. Lillie and D. A. Pritchard Married at Parkplace

With a host of friends present, and with the Rev. George Nelson Edwards performing the ceremony, Miss Edith Mary Lillie and David A. Pritchard were married at the Parkplace church Christmas day. They room is a native of Colorado, and the bride was a popular school teacher of Colton. Following the wedding a reception was held, after which the happy couple left on their honeymoon.

The church was beautifully decorated for the ceremony, and the invited guests numbered over a hundred. Miss Ruth Hudson was bridesmaid, and Harry French was best man. Elvira Hiller and Frances Vallet were flower girls, while Winifred Knight and Frank Peckover acted as ushers. Music for the ceremony was furnished by Misses Myrtle Holmes and Grace Barnett.

SAMUEL WOLFER DIES

Pioneer of the Needy Country Passes Away at Canby

Samuel Wolfer, a pioneer of the Needy section, and more recently a resident of Hubbard, died last week at the home of his son Charles, at Canby. One of his daughters is the wife of Judge Grant B. Dimick, of the county seat. Another daughter is now Mrs. Coleman Mark, and aside from the son in Canby he is survived by another son, Henry Wolfer, of Portland.

Mr. Wolfer had been ill for the past year, and left his farm at Hubbard to be with his son Charles at Canby. Throughout his life he was one of the most progressive farmers of the county, and was always interested in all lines of rural development.

EAST COUNTY UNITES

Taxpayers Form Organization to Look After District Needs

Eastern Clackamas county taxpayers met at Barton early in the week and formed the East Clackamas Taxpayers' association, and outlined a program of reform in taxation and urging greater economy and efficiency in public affairs. The betterment of roads and a more complete system of schools will be among the matters advanced.

The association will also demand that the eastern and northern part of the county get more consideration from the county court; and will have a hand in boosting the referendum on the proposed purchase of the county fair grounds.

Most Eminent Medical

Authorities Endorse It.

Dr. Eberle and Dr. Braultwalte as well as Dr. Simon—all distinguished authors—agree that whatever may be the disease, the urine seldom fails in furnishing us with a clue to the principles upon which it is to be treated, and accurate knowledge concerning the nature of disease can thus be obtained. If backache, scalding urine or frequent urination bother or distress you, or if uric acid in the blood has caused rheumatism, gout or sciatica or you suspect kidney or bladder trouble just write Dr. Pierce at the Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N.Y.; send a sample of urine and describe symptoms. You will receive free medical advice after Dr. Pierce's chemist has examined the urine—this will be carefully done without charge, and you will be under no obligation. Dr. Pierce during many years of experimentation has discovered a new remedy which he finds is thirty-seven times more powerful than lithia in removing uric acid from the system. If you are suffering from backache or the pains of rheumatism, go to your best druggist and ask for a 50-cent box of "A. C. Pierce" put up by Dr. Pierce. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for weak women and Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for the blood have been favorably known for the past forty years and more. They are standard remedies to-day—as well as Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets for the liver and bowels. You can get a sample of any one of these remedies by writing Dr. Pierce.

Doctor Pierce's Pellets are unequalled as a Liver Pill. One tiny, Sugar-coated Pellet a Dose. Cure Sick Headache, Bilious Headache, Dizziness, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of the Liver, Stomach and Bowels.
