

WEEKLY SOLDIER LETTER

The following letter has been received by J. E. Hedges of this city, from his son, Joseph Hedges, Jr., who is with the American Expeditionary Forces in France.

Paris, France,
March 15, 1919.

"Dear Father:

"Since my last letter a few days ago, I have arranged a definite course, which I think I will maintain throughout the term. I am taking ten hours a week of language at the Alliance Française, and six hours at the Carbone. At the latter I have registered in two courses—one, the "History of France," lectures given in French, and the other advanced geography—lectures in English.

"I am still staying at the place I mentioned in my last letter. However, in writing, address me care of, Army Educational Comm., Sorbonne Detachment, 76 Rue du Faubourg, Ste. Honoré, A. P. O. 702. All mail for the students must go there, so do not address letters to any other place.

"By the time this reaches you, you will have received a cablegram, which I sent day before yesterday.

"Yesterday, Paris celebrated President Wilson's second arrival in the city. As I was crossing the Place de la Concorde to the metro station yesterday I saw the President and Mrs. Wilson in company with M. Clemenceau as they left the Hotel Crillon. The President is very popular here, and is received with cheers everywhere.

"I am sending a couple of packages home, one of them containing a couple of German saw-tooth bayonets.

"JOE."

Miss Mary Mitchell has just received several letters from her brother, Private Harry Mitchell, who is with the American Expeditionary Forces in France. One of these letters is dated March 5 and the other March 9. The one written March 5, is as follows:

Gleaves, France,
March 5, 1919.

"Dear Sister Midge:

"How is everybody at home? I am feeling fine as usual.

"I hope Roy and Arlie will locate each other soon.

"Our skipper put in for a relief from this job a few days ago, but we are not certain of getting it. No other outfit ever held this job down longer than six weeks before. We have been here for four months now.

"General Pershing inspected the camp and reviewed the troops.

"I hope we go to Bordeaux if we are relieved here. I might get to see Ari when he comes into port. (Arlie Mitchell is in the navy).

"The hospital buildings up at Beaune are being remodeled into school buildings and universities. That's where Roy was, you remember, Beaune was the largest base hospital the United States army had.

"We haven't received much mail for a week. I suppose we will get 'beau coup' mail when it does come.

"I am getting so that I can 'parley voux' French a little. If we stay over here ten years or so I might be able to call the dog in French without any difficulty."

The second letter is as follows:

Gleaves, (Lolret-Cher), France,
March 15, 1919.

"I received your letter of February 12, yesterday, and was sure glad to get it, as it was the first letter I had received from home for two weeks.

"You said you had received a letter from Roy (brother), and that he was stationed at St. Aignan. St. Aignan is only about ten miles from here. It is a big casual camp, but there is no telling where he is now. Usually, as soon as they draw their equipment they are sent to another camp. I am going to try to locate him though, if he is over there.

"Was so glad to hear that all at home were well, and that the 'flu' epidemic was practically a thing of the past.

"It is beginning to look a little like spring here. It rains about two days out of every three though. When we do have a nice day it is real warm for this time of the year.

"The farms used to look sort of queer to us, but we have been here so long now that they are commencing to look natural. The farmers do all their farming with one horse, and their farming tools look like relics of about 200 years ago. They use the two-wheeled carts for every kind of hauling and pleasure trips.

"The people here are the finest kind of people, and treat the Yanks fine.

"We have a lecture or a movie here at the 'Y' but almost every evening. A school will start soon, and the classes will be held in the evenings.

"We haven't been relieved yet from our job here. It was rumored around a few days ago that we would relieve the Military Police down at Romorantin, and the Military Police would relieve us.

"News is rather scarce here, so must close for this time.

"Love from your brother,

"HARRY E. MITCHELL,
"Eleventh Reg., Third Batt., Co. K,

Oliver Ferguson, one of the Clackamas county boys, who has just returned to the United States from overseas service, having suffered from wounds and gas, has written his father, Lawrence Ferguson of New Era, the following letters, one having been written at Newport News and the other at San Francisco, where he is now stationed.

The letter written at Newport News is as follows:

Newport News, Va.,
March 17, 1919.

"Dear Dad:

"Just a short note to wish you luck and the best of health. We are stationed at Camp Stuart, Va., but will leave soon. I do not know where I will be stationed during the remainder of my enlistment, but hope it will be on the West Coast.

"I am enclosing a duplicate of our first citation by the French government while in the outer defense of Paris.

"Our section, or what remained after the war, had their pictures taken yesterday, and I think the picture will be real good, and will send you one soon.

"The following is a copy of the citation by the French given Ferguson: "Gouvernement Militaire de Paris, Translation.

"Le General de Division Dubail, Gouverneur Militaire de Paris, Cdi les Armees de Paris.

"Ordre Particulier:

"Now that the U. S. A. Battery D, A. A. is leaving its post to report to Arronville, the G. M. P. (Military Government of Paris) is happy to express its satisfaction for the efficacious help it has rendered to the defense of Paris against hostile planes, particularly when opening fire for the first time during the raid which took place during the night of the 21st to the 23rd of May, 1918.

(Signed) DUBAIL.
"The General Superior Commander of the A. A. defenses of the entrenched camp of Paris."

The other letter follows:

San Francisco, Cal.,
March 29, 1919.

"Dead Dad:

"Well, I am back in Frisco again. I arrived here on the 27th. Would have written sooner, but was waiting to see if I could get furlough to come home. I guess there is no chance at all though.

"I saw Elmer McArthur at the Oakland pier when we came in, but had only a chance to talk to him a minute or two.

"I am so disgusted I don't know what to do. I guess I will have to stay in the army seven years, unless I figure some way to get out. I can't write much just now, dad, because I am in an awful bad humor. I will be writing nothing but 'cus' words pretty soon. I am either disgusted or lonesome or sick. I really don't know what is wrong.

"Give my best regards to all my friends, and with lots of love for yourself.

"As ever your son,

"OLIVER."

Jake Michels, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Michels of this city, who has been in France with 75th Company, 166th Depot Brigade, who has recently arrived from France at Camp Lewis, Wash., has written the brief letter to his parents on board the ship Nancy Mord, March 10:

"Dear Dad and Mother:

"Well, folks, land is in sight, as also is the end of our campaign, but we won out, and therefore it has been easy for us.

"I have had a nice trip across, and have been two weeks on the way. I expect we will be in camp here for about ten days, and then go to American Lake, Wash., where I expect to be mustered out. Feeling fine.

"JAKE."

A message was received through the Red Cross at Newport News, Va., dated March 11, 1919, to the mother of the young man from Jake, and is as follows:

"I have just returned. Well and glad to feel the good soil of the United States under my feet. May stay here. Will be too short for you to try to see me. We go quickly to camps nearest home. Red Cross Message.

"JAKE."

Several letters have been received from the young man since his arrival in the West, and these were written after he arrived safely at Camp Lewis. One was written to his brother, J. J. Michels, and the other to his parents. They are as follows:

"March 27, 1919.

"Dear Dad and Mother:

"Well, here I am only a few miles from home now. I suppose you are aware of it long before now. We got in Saturday afternoon. I had intended wiring you, but could not get away to do so.

"I am expecting to be out Wednesday, and will be home as soon as you get this letter more than likely."

The letter written to his brother, J. J. Michels, dated April 3, is:

"Dear Brother:

"Received your letter and was glad to get it. I am glad to hear that you are out and have secured a position so soon. It seems to be my special brand of hard luck to be held up somewhere all the time.

"I am glad to hear everyone is well at home. I am getting fat here. There are eight of us here and occupy one billet. We have a player piano and do not do much except to 'pump' it and play a little ball.

"I don't know just how much time I shall be able to spend at home. It all depends upon what Mac has for me in the line of work. If it is nothing of immediate importance I may be able to spend two weeks at home. I expect to be home Wednesday, April 9, but not sure whether I will be able to make it by that time or not.

"Your loving brother,

"JAKE."

YOUNG LADIES ARE GIVEN FRIGHT BY MYSTERIOUS MAN

Several complaints have been made the past few days that a mysterious man has been annoying young ladies on Washington street at night. The man is described as tall and with a full growth of whiskers.

Last Saturday night a girl living on Washington street had been visiting with a friend and when she started home she noticed a man behind her and walked on faster but could not get away from him.

She then started to run and the man called to her that he would not hurt her. She ran all the faster and the man caught her at the gate of her home. Just as he placed a hand on her shoulder an automobile came by and he became frightened and released the girl. She was so badly scared she could not scream but ran to the porch of her home, where she fell in a faint. The man evidently lost sight of her and in a few minutes left the place.

A few nights ago a young lady reported she was followed by a man whom she described like the other. Both incidents happened on Washington street near Fourteenth.

PROGRAM GIVEN BY STUDENTS VERY PLEASING

Success was the first word of the benefit given at the high school Friday night. The building was packed with spectators, and all of them went away very well pleased with the performance put on by the students of the school.

The program commenced promptly at 8 o'clock, the orchestra giving a number before the curtain was raised. The first act put on by the Sophomores was "The Obstinate Family." It was a little skit where obstinacy reigns throughout the act until the husbands gave very suitable gifts to their wives. And Lucy, the maid, said to James, the butler, "Thank goodness, the table is spread." Then their reign of obstinacy ended with every one happy ever afterward.

"The Dearest Skule" put on by the Freshman class was a scene from beginning to end. The school master was very much attracted by the village belle who pays a visit to school. Very much mischief was done by the students and the sleeping parson is awakened from his peaceful slumber by a spit ball alighting on his tender nose.

Miss Brown's school for girls was the center of attraction in the play "The Heavenly Twins." Two college chums are sent to a farm by one of the boys' mother, but on the way to the farm two chums stop off and visit the school. They see two beautiful girls and decide to dress as girls and attend the school. This is done and by a letter of recommendation they are admitted. Perfect harmony reigns until a detective discovers the chums and places them under arrest. The mother of one of the boys arrives and identifies her son and the accused are dismissed.

The last but not least is the Senior stunt, "Before the War," a black-face comedy. Uncle Rufus, the old colored man is mourning over his son who ran away from home fourteen years ago with a tin can and five cents for no-lashes. The prodigal son returns and much rejoicing is made over his return. A love scene between Lew and Rose is a very funny affair but more so by Lazy Bill's solo Symphony.

Presbyterian Church
Elects New Officers

The annual meeting of the congregation of the Presbyterian church was held in the church parlors Monday evening. There were many members in attendance.

Business of importance was transacted, among which was the election of an elder, Judge H. S. Anderson, trustee, N. W. Bowland; deacon, J. W. Aldredge; treasurer, F. J. Meyer; Sunday school superintendent, Mrs. Cora Eberly. The reports of the various committees were also given.

Plans were made to take up the new year's work, and J. C. Cochran was appointed chairman, and C. Schuebel, secretary.

Following the business session, the remainder of the evening was devoted to a social time. Ice cream and cake were served.
