MORE POWER ON CLACKAMAS

Portland Company to Develop Waters of County

NEW PARK PLACE BRIDGE

Second Cazadero Station to Have 50,000 Horsepower
and Oregon City
Comes Later.

B. S. Josselyn, president of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company, who has just returned from an Eastern trip, has an interview in a Portland paper. It is apparent that the proposed new power station on the east side of Willamette Falls will not be constructed for two years at least. Mr. Josselyn says:

"Soundings are being taken and surveys made on the Estacada line for a second water power development on the Clackamas River, about two miles above the present water power station at Cazadero, that will develop 50,000 additional horsepower. This work is being taken up at this time, so that two years hence, when the demand is at hand, we will be in a position to meet it. In the meantime, work will be taken up immediately to install two additional units at the present water power plant at Caza-dadero, which will develop 10,000 additional horsepower for use when required one year hence.

"When these two additions to our water power plants have been completed, and the demands grow to warrant it, we shall then develop 40,000 additional horsepower on the Willamette River at Oregon City, on the opposite side of the river from our present power-house at that point. These three additions to our present water power plants will take care of the requirements of Portland and vicinity for something over five years, after which, if the city grows and the demand for electric energy increases, as we believe it will, we have two other water power projects within easy reach of Portland that will be developed as needed.

"Contracts have been let for the construction of a new steel truss bridge over the Clackamas River on the Oregon City line to replace the present wooden structure, so that freight and passenger cars of any weight may be safely operated over it. Three miles of the Oregon City line were relaid this Summer with new heavy rails and rails are now on the way for relaying three additional miles, which when completed will put the Oregon City line in strictly first-class condition for the handling of any class of traffic.

"A new double-track main line will be constructed from the Inman-Poulsen mill to Hawthorne avenue, so that passenger cars on the Oregon City, Cazadero and Oaks park lines will have free right of way without delays, such as have been occasioned by running as at present through the freight yards between those points, and will add still more to the efficient service that has been rendered to Oaks travel this Summer.

"A new bridge is being constructed on the main line changed at Milwaukie, making an easier curve at that point, which will be appreciated by our patrons on the Oregon City line.
"Arrangements are now under way to build large additions to the Piedmont car barns, and also a large addition to the car barn at Milwaukie.
These additions involve an expenditure of over $30,000, and the work will proceed as rapidly as possible until completion.

"Another matter in which streetcar people are interested is the building of clubhouses, as promised by the late president of our company, H. W.
Goode. His death delayed this work, and owing to the multitude of matters demanding my attention, was further delayed. Orders will now be given to immediately commence the construction of a clubhouse at Milwaukie and one at the Piedmont barn, on the lines promised by Mr. Goode.

Special Taxes for Roads.

Residents of the country districts are looking ahead in the matter of road improvements and in two road districts this special meeting will be
