PORTLAND JUDGE FIXES THE BLAME FOR DELINQUENTS

HOME, SCHOOL AND SOCIETY, IN ORDER NAMED RESPONSIBLE HE DECLARES.

DOMESTIC RELATIONS COURT IN HOME COUNTY URGED BY CLEETON

Parental School on Cottage Group Plan Declared Need in Portland—Institutional Children Make Poor Citizens, He Says

The home, the school, and society, in the order named, are responsible for delinquent and delinquent children, declared Judge T. J. Cleeton, of the Multnomah county juvenile court, in an address before the Live Wires of the Commercial club, Tuesday.

Judge Cleeton took up and discussed at length the various phases of juvenile court problems. He urged the establishment of a domestic relations court in Multnomah county, giving the judge of such a court jurisdiction in divorce cases where there are minor children and compelling the parents of such children to arrange for their maintenance and support before a decree of divorce could be obtained.

He also urged the creation of a parental school, on the cottage group plan, with not more than 15 children in each school, the object being the securing of a personal interest in each child by the teacher.

Judge Cleeton maintained that the school could render great aid in the solution of questions incident to the juvenile court. He went on record against the placing of children in institutions, stating that institutional children did not make for good citizens.

The "letter writing week" committee reported and announced that the Commercial club had prepared 1200 pieces of literature for enclosures in letters. These have been placed in the hands of Secretary M. D. LaFour, of the club, and may be obtained from him.

WAR UPON PAIN!

Pain is a visitor to every home and usually it comes quite unexpectedly. But you are prepared for every emergency if you keep a small bottle of Sloan's Liniment handy. It is the greatest pain killer ever discovered. Simply laid on the skin—no rubbing required—it drives the pain away. It is really wonderful.

Mervin H. Solister, Berkeley, Cal., writes: "Last Saturday, after tramping around the Panama Exposition with wet feet, I came home with my neck so stiff that I couldn't turn. I applied Sloan's Liniment freely and went to bed. To my surprise, next morning the stiffness had almost disappeared, four hours after the second application I was as good as new." March 1915. SON OF OWNER OF PAPER MILL WILL WED PHONE GIRL

ENGAGEMENT OF WILLARD P. HAWLEY JR. TO MARJORIE FRAKER ANNOUNCED.

WEDDING WILL COME IN SPRING AFTER ROMANCE OF FEW MONTHS

Mr. Hawley First Met Miss Fraker When He Offered to Aid Repair of Auto Belonging to Her Party Last Fall.

The engagement of Willard P. Hawley, Jr., son of the president and general manager of the Hawley Pulp & Paper company, and Miss Marjorie T. Fraker, an operator employed by the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company, was announced Thursday.

A definite date for the wedding, which will be in Portland some time in the spring, has not been set. They will make their home in Portland, although Mr. Hawley is employed here as assistant to his father.

The announcement of the engagement comes three and a half months after a chance meeting on a road near Oregon City. The Hawley family was driving from Oregon City to Wilhoit when they saw a disabled automobile on the roadside. Mr. Hawley, Jr., ordered the driver to stop the car and climb out on the road to offer his aid.

A wheel on the disabled machine had broken and the party was waiting for the arrival of a new one from Oregon City. Mr. Hawley offered his help, but nothing could be done until the new parts arrived.

Mr. Hawley turned to climb back into his machine when he saw, for the first time, Miss Fraker, who was standing by the machine. Evidently, it was a case of love at first sight for he now confesses that he spent most of his time on the trip to Wilhoit and back thinking of her.

On his return to Oregon City he learned that the young woman was Miss Marjorie Fraker and a few days later the two were introduced.

Although Miss Fraker and Mr. Hawley met less than four months ago, the engagement does not come as a surprise to friends of the two. Miss Fraker has presented her resignation to the telephone company.

Mr. Hawley was born in 1890 in Watertown, N. Y., and was brought to Oregon City by his parents when two years old. He lived here and attended school until his 16th year when the Hawley family moved to Portland. They now live at 445 Holladay avenue, in the Irvington district.

He is a member of the Oregon City Commercial club, the Portland Chamber of Commerce, the Portland Automobile club, the Portland Heights club, the Irvington Tennis club and the Multnomah Athletic club.

Miss Fraker is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Fraker. Her father is a traveling salesman. She was born at Humbolt, Neb., and came to Oregon City three years ago from Hobart, Okla. She has been employed here as telephone operator for the last eight months.

PORTLAND FORGER MAY HAVE WORKED HERE

TERRILL POPE FOLLOWED PLAN WHICH WAS USED ON H. P. BRIGHTBILL.

Oregon City police are inclined to believe that Terrill Pope, confessed forger arrested Monday by the Portland police, is the one who passed a bogus check for $27 on H. P. Brightbill, a local grocer, one Saturday night several weeks ago.

A man walked into the Brightbill establishment and bought about $5 worth of groceries. In payment he gave a $27 check on a Portland saloon and asked to have the goods delivered to a south Main street address. The groceries were taken to the address, but the man who had ordered them was not there and the goods were returned. Investigation showed that the check was no good.

The method of operations of the man who passed the check here tallies exactly with Pope's system, and their descriptions are identical.

PORTLAND WATER BOARD ENGINEER FAVORS PROJECT

CHIEF ENGINEER CLARK SAYS OREGON CITY-PORTLAND MAIN IS FEASIBLE.

WATER BOARD IS ADVISED TO SEE PORTLAND COMMISSIONERS

Oregon City Faces Necessity to Making Arrangements for Supply of Water in Case of Breakdown of the South Fork Pipeline.

Chief Engineer Clark of the Portland water department told H. A. Rands, engineer on the South Fork pipeline project and the new chairman of the Oregon City water board, that the plan of laying a main from Oregon City to Milwaukee to connect onto the Portland system there was practical and advised Mr. Rands and the local water board to take the matter up with Commissioner W. H. Day Monday.

Mr. Rands believes that Oregon City should provide some source of supply to be used in case of emergency. Three ways are open to the local board. They are:

1. The purchase of more ground at Mountain View and the enlargement of the reservoir there, so that in case of an accident to the South Fork line, shutting off the supply for several days, the supply would last until the pipe was repaired.

2. The purchase of more grounds at Mountain View and the installation of the filtration plant there. In case of an accident to the South Fork pipeline the pumps could force the water to Mountain View, through the filters and into the present reservoir.
