WILSON DEMANDS PREPAREDNESS AT ONCE IN SPEECH

PRESIDENT DELIVERS FIRST ADDRESS IN SERIES ON NEED OF NATIONAL DEFENSE.

EXECUTIVE SAYS HE ALWAYS ACCEPTS INVITATION TO FIGHT

Peace Advocated, But Liberty and Honor of Nation Declared More Important—Keynote of Address Sounded.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—President Wilson tonight opened his personal appeal to the country for national defense. He gave warning that plans for the readjustment of the army must be formulated and carried out without delay, and solemnly declared he could not predict that the outlook for the United States would be as bright as tomorrow as today.

Speaking at banquets of the Railway Business Association and the Motion Picture Board of Trade, he sounded the keynote, of addresses that he will deliver during the next 10 days in the middle west.

Mr. Wilson was in a fighting mood throughout his address. In a speech delivered early in the day he declared he always accepted an invitation to fight. Tonight he told the railway men he was an advocate of peace and had struggled to keep the United States at peace, but he considered the liberty and honor of the nation even more important than peace.

"We to any man who plays marplot or who seeks to make party, political or personal ambition take precedence over candor, honor and unselfish, unpartisan service," said the president, in speaking of his defense plan before the railroad men.

He declared that the country expects action; this is a year of accounting, and the accounting must be definite on the part of the parties and on the part of every individual who wishes to enjoy the public confidence.

"For my part, I hope every man in public life will get what's coming to him," said Mr. Wilson, amid laughter and applause.

The president at both banquets and all during the day's visit to New York was greeted with enthusiasm. On his ride between the hotels where the banquets were held tonight he was escorted by a band and the Ninth Company of Coast Artillery of the New York National Guard. Thousands of persons packed the streets and cheered as he passed.

THE WHIP IN RIFLE BARRELS.

It is Caused by the Pressure of Modern High Power Powder.

The use of high power powder in rifles has given rise to a phenomenon which did not exist in black powder days. This is known as "whip" and is due to the pressure and vibration set up by the powder. It is constant with given loads and is always in the same direction.

Sights are aligned by the manufacturer to compensate for this whip in proportion to the powder charge used in firing auxiliary cartridges it will of ten be found that the rifle shoots off center. As a matter of fact the bullet from the auxiliary is traveling in a true line with the bore, and it is the sights that are wrong. The lighter charge of the auxiliary does not produce the usual whip, with the result that the line in prolongation of the bore of the rifle along which the bullet travels is not the line given by the alignment of the sights.

Two other rifle terms that must not be confused are upsetting and keyholing. Keyholing is the tendency of the bullet to turn over in flight, while upsetting is the slight shortening of the major axis of the bullet due to the force of the charge. It was peculiar to black powder fired behind lead bullets and does not exist in any appreciable extent in metal jacketed bullets with smokeless powder. In the latter case the charge burns more slowly and the jacket stiffens the bullet against the sudden blow from behind.—Outing.

ORIGIN OF THE PERISCOPE.

The Reflecting Spyglass Used at the Siege of Sebastopol.

Speaking of the origin of the periscope, the following extract from the writings of the well known inventor of "Pepper's Ghost" gives the credit to the clerical profession. "Pepper wrote soon after the Crimean war:

"During the siege of Sebastopol numbers of our best artillerymen were continually picked off by the enemy's rifles as well as by cannon shot, and in order to put a stop to the foolishness and ineffectiveness of the men, a very ingenious contrivance was invented by the Rev. William Taylor, the chaplain of the British forces. The contrivance was the first 'Big Ben' bell. It was called the reflecting spyglass, and by its simple construction rendered the exposure of the sailors and soldiers who would look over the parapet or other parts of the works to observe the effect of their shots perfectly unnecessary, while an other form was constructed for the purpose of allowing the gunner to 'lay or aim his gun in safety."

"The instruments were shown to Lord Palmer, who was so convinced of the importance of the invention that he immediately commissioned the Rev. William Taylor to have a number of these 'telescopes' constructed, and if the siege had not terminated just at the time the invention was to have been used no doubt a great saving of the valuable lives of the skilled artillerymen would have been effected."—London Express.

GYPSY BAND MADE GIRL, 16, A SLAVE

Was Sold to Rovers When Her Mother Died Nine Years Ago.

RETURNS TO HER FATHER

Escaped After Extensive Traveling and Was Caught by Oakland Authorities, Who Aided on Her Story. Taken From Orphan's Home by Gypsies, Who Gave Fictitious Names.

Helena, Mont.—When Evelyn Mitchell, a sixteen year old girl, who for nine years has been the slave of gypsy bands in this country and the old world, threw herself into the arms of her father, a ranchman residing near a Montana town, it was the first time since the day of the mother's funeral in Helena nearly ten years ago. M. L. Rickman, secretary of the state bureau of child and animal protection, escorted the girl to the ranch from Glacier park, where he met her in charge of Miss Georgiana Allen, a Havre school teacher, who agreed to chaperon the girl to Montana from a house of detention in Oakland, Cal.

H. A. Davee, state superintendent of public instruction, who was attending the National Teachers' association, was brought by the Oakland authorities to provide escort for the girl back to Montana. The city paid her expenses. Superintendent Davee learned that Miss Allen, a teacher, was shortly to come home, and the latter went to the house of detention, where the girl has been kept two months to guard her against kidnapping by the gypsy band from which she was taken.

These arrangements were made for bringing her home, and the teacher and the girl departed secretly from San Francisco, embarking on a steamer for Astoria, from which point they went by train to Glacier park.

The necessity for keeping their whereabouts secret was urged by the girl, who was in terror of being seized by the band. The history of the young woman reads like a romance. For several years she has been trying to escape from the gypsies; but, alone and friendless, she was given no opportunity until about three months ago, when the Oakland officials secured possession of her after a desperate fight in the courts. The Marjano band, to which she was sold for $2,000 in 1912, is rich, and money was spent lavishly to defeat justice.

About ten years ago, following the funeral of the mother, the girl and a sister were placed in an orphan's home. There they remained for perhaps six months, when Evelyn was taken to Butte and in Judge Donnan's court upon the representations of an attorney adoption papers were made out for "Marry" Mitchell, placing her in charge of a couple named Griffith. It developed later that the Griffiths were members of a gypsy band.

Evelyn was an attractive little girl, and she was soon dressed in rags and started out as a beggar. Her pretty face and sad eyes affected the charity disposed, and her collections were not the least of the loot of the band.

As the girl grew older she longed for a return to "American life," as she called it. Living in wagons or tents along the highways, half starved and beaten by the Gitchi couple whenever she did not bring home as much money as they considered adequate, her existence was unhappy.

Recently the girl escaped from the band after extensive traveling and was picked up by the Oakland authorities on complaint of the Marino gypsies, and thus she was given an opportunity to tell her story in court. As a result she was consigned to the care of Matron Rich of the Oakland Detention home.

Gam's Dry Humor.

When the gallant Welsh captain, the vid Gam, was sent forward by Henry V. to reconquer the French army before the battle of Agincourt he found that the enemy outnumbered the English by about five to one. His report to the king is historic.

"There are enough to be killed enough to be taken prisoners and enough to run away."

This quaint forecast of the result of the battle at once spread through the camp and doubtless every veteran archer of the valiant company felt an inch taller. We know that it was an inch literally justified by the event. Poor Gam's dry humor was equaled by his courage. He was killed while in the act of saving the life of his prince.—London Standard.

Distilled Water.

Distilled water after having been exposed to the air is one of the most salubrious of drinks. Its daily use in measured quantities is helpful in cases of dyspepsia and greatly assists the general functions of the body. Every large steamer carries a water distilling apparatus by which sea water is made fresh. In the days before steamers primitive distilling apparatus was used on warships and vessels carrying passengers.

Well Fitted.

"Yes, grandda: I am to be married next month."

"But, my dear," said grandda earnestly, "you are very young. Do you feel that you are fitted for married life?"

"I am being fitted now, grandda," explained the prospective bride sweetly. "Seven gowns!"—Kansas City Journal.

Lorraine.

Before Lorraine was united with France in 1793 it belonged to the de-throned king of Poland. Before that it belonged to Austria.

It happens many times that we deem much deceived in others because we first deceived ourselves.

An egotist is an I specialist.

Luke McLuke Says:

"The high cost of living didn't worry people much in the old days when the tumbler was regarded as part of a woman's jewelry."

It must worry a reformer to have to let other people out of his sight overnight.

Give an old fashioned housekeeper her choice between an earthquake and a rainy washday, and she will take the earthquake any old time.

If there is one man that the devil hates more than another it is the fellow who minds his own business and tries to earn an honest living for his family.

Give a woman all the feathers she wants in this world, and she will take a chance on getting wings in the next world.

There was a time when a wife put all of her time trying to retain her husband's affection. But nowadays she puts in most of her time keeping him busy trying to retain her affection.

Keep your mouth shut when the other fellow is telling all he knows and you can get up and go away with the consolation that he can't tell all you know.

If marriage doesn't make a man wise there is no hope for him. Ever notice that when you get up and give your street car seat to a girl who is carried by her fellow she always manages to squeeze around and make room enough for her fellow to sit down beside her while you do a strap hanging act?

What has become of the old fashioned mannerly boy who took off his cap when he spoke to a man?

FRENCH LOSS IS 800,000.

BRISTOL, England, Jan. 27.—Eight hundred thousand Frenchmen have given their lives to France in the world war.

This was the declaration here today of E. M. Longuet, a French socialist, to the British labor conference when questioned regarding French losses.

Longuet gave the French losses as follows: Killed, 800,000; wounded, 1,400,000; captured, 300,000. Total, 2,500,000. At the end of the first year of the war the total French war loss was estimated at 1,700,000.

RACING MEN PLAN OWN TRACK AT SALEM

SALEM, Ore., Jan. 28.—If the tale fair board decides to make the race card for the next fair of small importance, it is possible that racing men will establish a track at Salem and hold a meet at the same time the fair is being held.

A well known racing man of the northwest has already broached the subject of establishing an independent track here and keeping it running during the six days the fair is held.

With the resignations of J. H. Booth, a member of the National Trotting association, and N. K. West, an enthusiastic racing man, from the board, it is feared by horsemen and those who like good track bets that the performances at the famous old Lone Oak track may be unduly curtailed by the new board.

Governor Withycombe has looked with scant favor on the amusement features of the fair, despite the fact that it was pointed out that the agricultural features would not alone attract the crowds and it was necessary to please all classes. With Booth and West out, it is feared that the radicals will put racing down and out for good.

HOP DEAL IS CLOSED.

SALEM, Ore., Jan. 27.—The Oregon Hop Growers' association has announced the sale of blocks of hops to E. Clements Horst, T. A. Lively and Co. and Louis Lachmund, but declined to state the price or exact quantity. However, it is understood that it was not a large total.

An Interesting Talk.

In the days of Henry Clay, a Kentucky farmer sent a servant to Lexington with a note for the president of a certain bank. When the man returned he said to his master:

"I met Marse Henry Clay in the bank and had a conversation with him."

"Indeed! And on what topic did you and Mr. Clay converse?" inquired the master with interest.

The darky removed his hat and made a sweeping bow. "Says Mr. Clay to me," "And another very low bow. 'And I the same to Mr. Clay.'—Every day's."
