PURE SEED NEEDED

Expert Shows New Source of Farm Revenue

(By Prof. Thomas Shaw)

If there is one need greater than any other in the northwestern states in relation to its agriculture, it is the need for pure seed. This need is greater in the area referred to than in many other parts of the United States for the reason, first, that the northwestern states are so exclusively devoted to the growing of grain, and second, that it is much more difficult to keep grains from mixing in these states than in states where the rainfall is greater. Because of the first reason, the mixing of grains will lead to serious loss, if allowed to go unchecked. The difficulty next mentioned, that is, the mixing of grains by volunteering, is the outcome of the dry conditions which keep the shattered grain from sprouting from one year to another. When conducting demonstration work in these for the railroads, we invariably tried to begin with pure seed. Notwithstanding, the resultant crop was seldom absolutely pure. If grown on new land, the threshing brought in some admixture and if grown on older land, the admixture was further increased by volunteer grain.

The farmer is usually anxious to get pure seed. He is usually willing to pay a price for it higher than the market price if he is sure that the seed is absolutely pure. By absolutely pure is meant absolutely true to name and free from all admixture of other grains and weed seeds. If asked where can such seed be obtained in the northwestern states, I would have to say that I cannot tell. From the above the extent of the opening for growing pure seed will be apparent.

This work can be conducted with greatest success in a co-operative way and on new land. The reason for co-operation lies in the fact that the grower or growers of pure seed should have their own threshing machine. New land will furnish soil approximately free from foul weeds. While the grower of pure seed may be able to grow more than one species of seed grain on the same farm with success, he will probably succeed better by confining his attention to one species, and to one variety of that species. For instance, if the seed grower begins with Turkey Red winter wheat he should grow no other seed than that variety of winter wheat. Of course he may if he so desires, grow some variety of seed flax, also seed oats and seed barley, but in such instances he will find at least some difficulty from the mixing of these.

Of course it is essential that the grower begins with absolutely pure seed. To be quite sure of this it may be necessary for him to select heads by hand in the matured grain. This is a very tedious process, but in the end it will probably prove that the time was well spent. One peck of grain thus selected and sown on good land and well prepared, will in an average year grow enough of seed to sow about 10 acres. The first seed sown would not, of course, furnish any for sale. The second year a very large amount could be sold. It does not take long, therefore, to get started in this business. As a safeguard it would be well to treat for smut in the case of wheat, and for wilt in the case of flax.

This does not mean that it would not be possible to obtain seed absolutely pure from some grower when commencing this work, but it does mean that it is greatly important to be absolutely sure that the foundation seed is free from all impurities. If there are only a few grains of admixture by some other variety, these will continually increase. If that increase were unchecked, the time would come when that other variety would form half the crop, providing the inherent vigor of the two varieties is equal.

Once started with pure seed, the work of keeping it pure is relatively easy, providing the grower uses his own threshing machine. But should the admixture at the first be even so slight with some other varieties of the same species, it is scarcely possible to separate completely these varieties afterwards. Here then is a sure and profitable line of work for many growers. Who will be the first to take it up?

CAMP REINHABITATED

Captain Williams Assures Recruits They Will Join Regiment

At Camp Withcombe, Clackamas station, the military camp is being rapidly restored to normal conditions. The number of tents is constantly increasing to supply the recruits. Regular routine of camp life was put into effect by order of Captain K. P. Williams, U. S. A., commanding the camp, last week.

The following is the program for each day, subject to some variations when there will be "School of the Soldier" classes and drills, and on Saturdays inspection:

First call for reveille, 6:20 a. m.; reveille, 6:30 a. m.; assembly, 6:35 a. m.; mess call, 6:45 a. m.; fatigue call, 7:30 a. m.; first call for drill, 8 a. m.; assembly, 8:10 a. m.; recall, 10 a. m.; mess call, 12 noon; fatigue call 1 p. m.; sick call, 1:30 p. m.; mess call 5 p. m.; first call for retreat, 6 p. m.; assembly, 6:10 p. m.; retreat, 6:20 p. m.; first call for guard mounting, 6:30 p. m.; assembly 6:35 p. m.; taps, 10 p. m.

Captain Williams assures the recruits that they will be forwarded to the Mexican border for regular duty with the Third regiment as soon as there are sufficient numbers to enable a troop train to be chartered. These troop trains consist of a cook car, dining car, two or more passenger cars and such additional cars as are required for equipment and supplies.

Bulletin No. 6

Suppose this was Your Business!

If the Government had asked you to invest your money in a plant to supply Government needs; and after the plant was built, and had become useful for no other purpose, the Government built a plant of its own, making your plant useless and your investment valueless—would that seem fair?

That is precisely what Congress is planning for the Government to do with reference to our investment of $7,000,000 in an armor plant.

Reporting to Congress, Hon. H. A. Herbert, then Secretary of the Navy, said December 31, 1896:

"The two armor contractors, the Bethlehem Iron Company and the Carnegie Steel Company, both entered upon the business at the request of the Navy Department."

Is it wise—is it fair—for the Government to destroy a private industry brought into existence to serve the Government, unless for reasons of compelling force? To show that no such reasons exist, we make this offer to the United States Government:

The Bethlehem Steel Company will manufacture armor plate for the Government of the United States at actual cost of operation plus such charges for overhead expenses, interest, and depreciation as the Federal Trade Commission may fix. We will do this for such period as the Government may designate.

Isn't that fair? The question is now before the United States Senate.

road district number 1, had no solid foundation as because the county court feared a repetition from other districts of the expressed dissatisfaction with supervisors, the court on Friday tabled charges of incompetency, negligence and political maneuvering filed against Mullan by residents of his district.

A hearing on the charges was held some time ago by the court and at that time action was set for Friday of last week. On Friday the court again considered the matter and decided to drop the charges. The court saw an endless procession of complaints, worthy and otherwise, in case they ousted Mullan and that reason was one the court had for not dispensing with the supervisor's service.

Mr. Mullan, who was a candidate at the recent primaries, for the republican nomination as county commissioner, was charged with using his position for political advantage, of misdirecting the use of funds and of neglect in the matter of road repairs. It was also stated in the complaint that Mr. Mullan was not competent for the duties he has.

Oregon Metal Mines in 1916

No changes of moment in the mining situation in Oregon are noted by Charles G. Yale, of the United States Geological Survey, for the first six months of 1916. The bullion receipts of the mint and smelters at San Francisco show that the output of gold has increased $107,000 and that of silver 14,000 ounces in the first five months of 1916 over the output of the corresponding period in 1915. The increase in gold is due entirely to dredging operations. The Powder River Gold Dredging Co., which in the first half of 1915 had but one dredge operating, near Sumpter, Baker county, has been working with two dredges during the first six months of 1916. With the exception of three deep mines, all in Baker county, this is the largest gold-mining enterprise in Oregon.

STATE TO GET SHARE

Application for Federal Aid Must Go to Department of Agriculture

Chief Forester Graves has stated that Oregon forest roads will receive their share of consideration in the matter of federal aid in road building made possible by the recent adoption of the Walsh amendment to the good roads law, appropriating $1,000,000 a year for 10 years for the construction of roads and trails within or partly within the forest reserves. Plans for particular projects and the sums to be spent the first year will be worked out as soon as possible. Under the law the forestry service will act upon formal requests from state authorities to the secretary of agriculture, so that cooperative arrangements will be made. These arrangements will in some cases no doubt require considerable correspondence, and the states that act most promptly, other things being equal, will be in best position to secure the first work under the new law.

The U. S. Public Health Service co-operates with state and local authorities to improve rural sanitation.

How to Get Rid of a Cold

Summer colds are serious. Read how C. E. Summers, Holdrege, Neb., got rid of his: "I contracted a severe cough and cold and could hardly sleep. I got a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar and the very first dose relieved me. I took a second dose before going to bed and can truthfully say I did not cough all night. By using as directed the next two days my cough was entirely cured and I give Foley's Honey and Tar full credit for my speedy recovery." Foley's always soothes and heals.
