

OREGON CITY ENTERPRISE

FIFTIETH YEAR—NO. 21

OREGON CITY, OREGON, FRIDAY, MAY 26, 1916

ESTABLISHED 1866

QUEEN ROSE AND KING EARL WILL RULE SATURDAY

CANDIDATE OF HAWLEY MILLS WINS CONTEST BY MARGIN OF 1,344,000 VOTES.

ARRANGEMENTS TO ENTERTAIN RECORD CROWD ARE BEING MADE

Values Invited to Eat Lunches in City Parks—Streets Set Aside for Parking of Wagons and Automobiles.

"Thanks," Says King Earl. I want to express my most sincere thanks to the scores who have supported me in my successful campaign for king of the booster day. Rose and Earl, now county assessor, and Earl Latourette will probably be the other two Democratic nominees for the legislature from this county. All these names were written in by the voters of the minority party.

Queen Rose and King Earl will reign supreme in Oregon City Saturday. The entire town will be under their control, every citizen their willing subject. Even Governor Withycombe will lose his authority as chief executive in the state as far as Oregon City is concerned for the day. All his powers will be theirs.

The committee in charge of the celebration selected Miss Rose as queen—the queen to be—several prizes, but it was not until Wednesday night that the contest for the king was completed and the election of Earl Hutchinson, the candidate of the Hawley Pulp & Paper company, was determined.

Mr. Hutchinson won the honor by a wide margin. Harold A. Swafford, of the Crown Willamette Paper company, stands second, but he is over a million and a half votes behind the successful candidate. The standings follow:

Earl Hutchinson, Hawley Mills	4,121,500
Harold A. Swafford, Crown Willamette Mills	2,577,500
E. Mass Jr., Wooten Mills	579,500
John C. Busch, Auto Club	460,000
C. T. Parker, Fallarrians	379,500
J. David Olson, Live Wires	412,900
Henry L. Price, Elks Lodge	410,000

Contest Is Money Maker. As a money maker, the contest was a big success. A total of $25,641 was spent for votes during the week the contest was conducted, while $578.24 was taken in at the close. This money will assist greatly in financing the celebration.

Arrangements for the entertainment of the visitors are being made by the publicity committee and Manager Kelly. Those bringing their luncheons are invited to hold family picnics in the city park blocks, and the only street the committee desires to keep clear of parked automobiles and teams is John Adams, which will be used for drills.

The committee desires to keep Main street clear of automobiles and wagons as far as possible. The elevator at the hill section and Main street for those who have their teams or automobiles on residence streets.

List of Donors Published. Entries for the races must be made with Miss Clara Tate, secretary of the publicity department of the Commercial club, as soon as possible.

Local merchants have been liberal with their donations. A complete list of those who have given financial assistance up to Wednesday afternoon follows:

Jokers Have Good Time With Ballots

WIDE ASSORTMENT OF NAMES WRITTEN IN—FEW VOTE FOR FORD FOR PRESIDENCY.

A perusal of the tally sheets of the recent primary election reveals either an amazing ignorance of practical politics or an overdeveloped sense of humor on the part of Clackamas county voters.

With the Democratic ballot practically empty, the voters of that party at the primaries Friday wrote in the names of scores of men for the offices for which there were no candidates. It made little difference to the Democrats whether the name they wrote in was a Democrat, Republican, Prohibitionist or Socialist. W. J. Bryan, Albert A. Cummins, Henry Ford and Theodore Roosevelt received a vote or two each for president of the United States. The Republicans, too, wrote in the names of Roosevelt and Ford.

County Clerk Iva M. Harrington, County School Superintendent Calavan and Dudley C. Boyles, Republican nominees for recorder, probably received the Democratic and Progressive nominations as well as the Republican, George C. Brownell, Republican nominee for representative, also was given the Democratic nomination. J. E. Jack, now county assessor, and Earl Latourette will probably be the other two Democratic nominees for the legislature from this county. All these names were written in by the voters of the minority party.

Of course, there were those voters who look lightly upon their privileges. For instance, in the fifth ward here, J. E. Toose received a couple of votes for coroner and Miss Evelyn Todd, a high school teacher, was favored by a voter or two for constable.

Mrs. Belle Boyan, wife of Fritz Boyan of Hotel Belle fame, received a vote for constable in Milwaukie.

A. Walter Lafferty, who was snowed under by the voters of Multnomah county in his race for representative in congress, received many Democratic votes in this county and a few Republican. William J. Wilson, Republican sheriff who has the nomination of his party for re-election, also received a number of Democratic votes.

TWO MORE SCHOOLS IN STANDARD LIST

BEAVER CREEK AND MULINO MEET STATE REQUIREMENTS AND GET PENNANT.

Beaver Creek and Mulino have joined that already long list of Clackamas county schools which meet the requirements of a standard school as set down by the state department of public instruction.

County School Superintendent Calavan presented a standardization rally to the Beaver Creek school Friday. The event was much of a holiday. A program was given by the pupils, lunch served and the boys of the school played a baseball game with Carus. Miss Minnie Lewis is the teacher.

School Supervisor Brenton Veldner was at Mulino Friday to present a standardization pennant to that school. A program was given by the pupils, and the work of the school was displayed in much the same manner as a juvenile fair. Lunch was served. Miss Flora Grice is the teacher.

NEW DISTRICT WILL SUE FOR SCHOOL SITE

CONDEMNATION PROCEEDINGS TO BE STARTED SOON AGAINST MRS. CLARA W. OAKLEY.

District Attorney Hedges is preparing papers in a suit to condemn a site for a school in Clackamas county's newest district, No. 126. The new district is situated in the Maple Lane section and is composed principally of the old Maple Lane school district.

The directors of the new school district have selected two acres for a site. The property desired belongs to Mrs. Clara W. Oakley, a resident of California, and the district has offered her $150 for the land.

In case the matter can be settled without serious delay, the new school building will probably be built during the coming summer and will be ready for occupancy by the opening of the school in the fall.

GOVERNOR NAMES OREGON CITY DRUGGIST FOR STATE BOARD

Clyde G. Huntley, of the Huntley Brothers Drug company, has been appointed a member of the state board of pharmacy by Governor Withycombe, according to word received here from Salem Tuesday. Mr. Huntley will take the place of Dr. Leon B. Haskins, of Medford.

Drain—Leona Mills Lumber company is making many improvements and building neat bungalows for its employees.

FULL PROGRAM OF BIG CELEBRATION IS MADE PUBLIC

DEMON OF PESSIMISM WILL BE SHOT AND ELECTROCUTED WHILE BAND PLAYS.

TWO PARADES TAKE PROMINENT PLACE IN BOOSTER DAY EVENTS

Children Will Have Much to Do With Success of Day, Owing to Their Part in Maypole Dances and Races in the Afternoon.

The program for the celebration next Saturday, made public Tuesday, provides a day full of amusement from 8:30 o'clock in the morning until late that night. Every minute of the day is utilized and a person who takes in every feature of the celebration will be busy from early morning until night.

The program reveals several features of a rather unusual nature. The demon, "Pessimism," will be dragged from the water of the Willamette 1:20 o'clock Saturday afternoon and taken before Queen Rose for sentence. She will order that the demon be paraded through the streets as an example to all knucklers and then shot. To make certain of the death of the demon, it will also be electrocuted.

Children take an important part in the events of the day, first with a May pole dance in the morning under the direction of County School Superintendent Calavan and later in a series of races. Two parades, the stock parade in the morning, and the grand parade in the afternoon, are on the program.

Music furnished by several bands will be liberally provided. The Portland Rosarian band will give an open air concert at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon on the court house lawn.

The complete program follows:

9:20 A. M.—Arrival of King and Queen at Booster Throne, Court House Square. Coronation Ceremony.
Address, Mayor Hackett.
9:45—Address by Governor Withycombe at Court House Square.
10:00—Stock Parade. Forming at Fifth street, north on Main to Twelfth and return.
10:30—Address by Prof. R. E. Reynolds, of O. A. C., Stock Show tent. George Lazelle, Superintendent.
10:30—Drill by Oregon City school children, Library Park, Seventh and J. Adams, direction of F. J. Toose, City School Superintendent.
11:00—Stock Judging by Professor R. E. Reynolds.
11:15—Maypole Dance Contest by County Schools, Library Park. Direction J. E. Celevan, County School Superintendent.
1:15 P. M.—Return of King and Queen to Booster Throne. King orders capture of Salmon for Queen and sets forth to assist fishermen.
1:30 Salmon Caught—also the Demon

GOVERNOR TALKS TO 700 FARMERS AT THE BEAVER CREEK HALL

STATE EXECUTIVE IS GUEST OF FARMERS UNION—PROGRAM IS GIVEN.

Governor James Withycombe spoke before 700 farmers in the Beaver Creek hall Saturday night on agricultural questions. He talked for 40 minutes, dealing with subjects in which the farmer is vitally interested.

The executive described what he believed was the principal needs of the farmers of western Oregon. He praised the fertility of the Willamette valley and forecasted a time when it would have many times its present population.

The Farmers' union, of which Governor Withycombe was a guest, gave a short program and a supper was served.

W. S. Harris brought the governor back to Oregon City after the meeting and the executive spent the night in this city.

Brewing in Oregon Favored.

PORTLAND, Ore., May 22.—A committee comprising business men representing all sections of Oregon has been organized to popularize a movement for an amendment to the prohibition law making it lawful to manufacture within the state malted liquors containing not more than four per cent alcohol and to sell the product direct to consumer.

A bill has been drafted providing for the amendment and will be placed on the ballot at the November election. It is announced that petitions for the required number of signatures of voters will be put in circulation at once.

GAUNTLET OF THE MISSING JITNEUR FOUND ON BYROAD

CLUE MAY LEAD TO FINDING BODY OF RITSMAN—HUNT RENEWED TODAY.

FARMER MAKES DISCOVERY SOON AFTER HELEN JENNINGS MURDER

Stains on Clothing Now Worn by Bennett Thompson May Be Blood and Make Still Stranger Case Against Suspect

RITSMAN'S BODY FOUND

The body of Fred Ristman, the missing jitney driver of the "jitney murder mystery" was found Thursday morning in a thicket of brush about two miles south of the Gore farm where Mrs. Helen C. Jennings was murdered Monday night, May 15.

It was about a mile and a half from the spot where Sheriff Hurlburt found one of Ristman's gloves and in a southerly direction from the town of Tualatin. The glove which led to the discovery of Ristman's body had been picked up the morning after the murder by Chris Ladiges, a farmer, and fitted on a fence post.

PORTLAND, Ore., May 24.—A buckskin gauntlet, such as is worn by automobile drivers, was found by Sheriff Hurlburt and deputies a mile and a half from Tualatin, on a byroad today, and has been identified as one worn by Fred Ristman, the chauffeur who disappeared the night of the Helen Jennings murder.

This latest clue in the search for the body of the missing jitneur is expected to prove a valuable one, and Deputy Sheriff Bob Phillips will leave Portland at 5 o'clock tomorrow morning with a party of deputies to scour the woods along what he is now convinced was the probable route of the machine carrying Ristman and his murderer.

Don Du Mas, jitneur and friend of Ristman identified the glove as Ristman's.

Deputy Phillips figures that the automobile reached the spot at which the glove was found as night settled down and a wind came up. He thinks that Ristman drew his gloves from under the seat to relieve his cold hands, and either dropped one accidentally or had it torn from his hand in a death struggle. If he was killed near this place, the body must be between there and the Gore ranch, a distance of two miles. It is reasoned.

Sheriff Reeves, of Washington county today discovered spots on the sleeve lining of the blue serge suit Bennett Thompson is wearing, and believes they will respond to the blood test.

It matching of the undershirt of Thompson's and the shirt found near the murder is the most important clue the authorities have, they assert, to incriminate Thompson.

EMMA ZOE INGLIS IS DROWNED NEAR CANEY.

Emma Zoe Inglis, aged 20 and unmarried was drowned at 8:30 Wednesday night by falling in a well on the farm of her brother-in-law, O. F. Frontress, with whom she lived, about a mile from Caney near the cemetery.

She went out with Frontress to help with the evening work and was drawing water from the well when she fell in. Frontress heard her scream and rushed to her aid, and started to climb a ladder that reached to the bottom of the well, when he slipped and fell in six feet of water. Just as he started down the ladder he heard Miss Inglis say, "I am all right," but when he fell he may have struck her. Frontress fell about 20 feet and was nearly drowned and when he came to the surface a second time he seized Miss Inglis and held her up until his wife, who had heard his shout for help arrived and he was rescued. When she was brought to the top of the well, the girl was dead.

COMMERCIAL CLUB OF CEMENT CITY BACKS JITNEY PROPOSAL

Delegation from Town Down Willamette Will Put Matter Before Oregon City Council—Schedule for "Jit" Being Made.

Action will be taken by the Oswego Commercial club at its next meeting looking toward the establishment of better transportation facilities than are afforded at present between that place and Oregon City.

It is a well known fact that a great deal of business from that point and others on the west side of the river goes to Portland, which would otherwise come here were there some better means of communication between this and other inter-county points.

"I find that I can do much better in Oregon City than in Portland," was the statement of Mrs. V. M. Cooper, of Oswego, who has been recently on a shopping tour. "For one thing there is not such a fierce scramble for so-called bargains in the stores; one has more time to make selections of goods and the merchants as a rule treat one better. They are desirous of extending their trade into all portions of the county, and take a personal interest in pleasing their customers—something that cannot always be said of the metropolitan stores."

This statement is borne out by others, many of whom made purchases here during the Mary C. Wells trial and have returned to make others.

G. W. Wright, member of the Portland Jitney Drivers' association, is establishing a regular schedule and within a few days will have two automobiles on the run between Oregon City and Portland, via Oswego. He has been encouraged in establishing this route by citizens of the cement city, many of whom have signified their willingness to guarantee regular service if the business people of this city will co-operate.

One of the Oregon City ordinances provides that outside jitneys cannot enter the city without securing a franchise, and this means an expenditure of $50 before Mr. Wright may be allowed to cross the bridge to deliver passengers or secure new ones. A few weeks ago a driver managed to get around the ordinance by taking his sign down and carry passengers into Oregon City from West Linn free of charge, but it is thought that better recognition may be secured if the schedule is maintained and reliable drivers placed on the route.

At the next meeting of the Oswego Commercial club steps will be taken to present this matter properly before the Oregon City council to see if this city may not be finding a way out of the difficulties in the way of the jitney driver.

PAVING OF ROAD TO PARKPLACE IS BEGUN AFTER MANY DELAYS

COUNTY REFUSES TO ACCEPT TRAIN LOAD OF GRAVEL—ASPHALT ARRIVES.

The improvement of the Oregon City-Parkplace road with a five-inch surface of asphaltic concrete begun Tuesday under the supervision of Paving Superintendent Harry Worswick and Roadmaster T. A. Roots.

The road will not only be the first hard surface laid outside of an incorporated city in the county, but also the first hard surface laid without a contract.

A paving plant leased by the county is used in mixing the paving materials and county road rollers and other equipment employed in laying the surface are county property. The paving will be 16 feet wide and will cover a mile and a third.

The beginning of the work was seriously delayed by the delay in the arrival of asphalt. The first of the 300 tons ordered by the county did not arrive at Parkplace station, where the plant is located, until Sunday. Monday afternoon the county refused to accept a trainload of gravel, taking the stand that there was more dirt in the trainload than gravel.

If the county council is satisfied with the work on the Oregon City-Parkplace road, the mixing plant will be bought and probably moved to Milwaukie and two of the main traveled roads leading south from Portland into this county will be improved.

Toledo—J. B. Miller sells Miller Logging company, including 5 1/2 miles of logging railroad to Mr. Pendleton, who represents large capital.

Ex-Sheriff Mass Loses to Victor

WITH EVERY PRECINCT HEARD FROM, MASS FALLS BEHIND ONLY FEW VOTES.

The one outstanding feature of the election was, according to complete unofficial count, the nomination of Maxwell Victor, a resident of Milwaukie, as sheriff nominee for the Democratic party of Clackamas county, defeating Ernest T. Mass, who had served two terms. Victor won by 12 votes and his victory was not certain, even considered possible, until in the afternoon when the last precincts brought in the winning ballots.

The race between Mass and Victor would furnish an ideal theme for a first class political story. Victor, unheralded and unwelcome by the leaders of his party in Oregon City, led two minutes before the time for filing ended. Mass, who by common consent was to be given the nomination, did not know of Victor's action until it was too late for himself to file, and Victor held the advantage of having his name on the ballot, while Mass had to be written in by his supporters.

Nevertheless, Mass was in the race, heart, body and soul. The local leaders united in their frantic effort to prevent the nomination of Victor. Word was sent to every section of the county and the faithful lined up in a "boy for the ex-sheriff."

Early returns showed Victor far behind. When the complete returns from 22 out of 81 precincts in the county had been totaled, Mass had 176 votes, Victor 166. But as the day wore on and the ballots from those districts removed from the influence of the local leaders were heard from, Victor slowly shortened the distance.

The counting was like a race. With 66 precincts in, Mass' lead had been cut down to 18. Slowly it went down. It was merely a matter whether there were enough country precincts to be heard from to cut down Mass' vote so that Victor would be nominated. Finally it was down to a lead of one, with three precincts to be heard from. The last three took away Mass' majority and gave it to Victor. The vote stood 464 to 452.

MT. HOOD PARK PLAN TAKES ON NEW LIFE

SENATOR CHAMBERLAIN HAS BILL READY TO BE INTRODUCED AT RIGHT TIME.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—Plans for including Mount Hood in the national park system, which have been slumbering for a season, are expected to take on new life within a short time, with the expectation that objections heretofore made will be largely removed or obviated.

Senator Chamberlain who has been holding the bill in cold storage until all interests were heard from, expects to introduce it and work it into practical form. While some other national park projects have been having hard sledding, Mount Hood has such pre-eminent claim to consideration that it stands on a somewhat different footing.

For one thing, unusual effort is being put forth just now for advertising the national parks. Sixteenth railroad systems have joined with officials of the government in plans for putting out 300,000 illustrated booklets on the various parks. These booklets will be works of art, and they will go to carefully made mailing lists containing the names of people who travel and go sight-seeing.

Mount Hood will lose the benefit of such advertising so long as it is not a national park. Crater Lake park will be included, and so will Mount Rainier, but Mount Hood, lying between the two on the route of tourist travel, and one of the most accessible beauty spots of the nation, cannot be mentioned because it lacks official designation as a national park.

There has been antagonism toward the creation of new national parks because of the confusion of administration that now exists, opposition to the forest service to park projects that do not possess features making them distinctive and of national importance, and difficulties arising from exclusion or limitation of grazing privileges. These antagonisms seem all to be in a fair way toward reconciliation in the case of Mount Hood.

REV. F. WEVESICK TO REMAIN IN O. C.

The Oregon conference of the Evangelical association, just closed at Beltingham, re-elected Henry Schuknecht district elder for the Portland and Puget Sound districts, returned E. D. Hornsby to Portland English church, H. R. Giel to Milwaukie and N. Shupp to Portland mission. A few of the appointments made by the conference are: Canby, F. W. Laune; Liberal, under Chemeketa church's care; Milwaukie, H. R. Giel; Oregon City, F. Wevesick.

W. E. HEMPSTEAD

The complete unofficial returns on Friday's primaries compiled Saturday, do not change the results announced in the early election returns. A full count of the votes from every one of the 81 precincts in the county only gave the victors a still greater lead, the only really close race being between E. T. Mass and Maxwell Victor for Democratic nomination for sheriff.

The Republican county ticket will be: For representative, George C. Brownell, H. A. Dedman and Harold C. Stephens from the sixteenth district, and A. H. Burton from the seventeenth, which comprises Clackamas and Multnomah counties; for district attorney, William M. Stone; for sheriff, Miss Iva M. Harrington; for recorder, D. C. Boyles; for circuit judge, J. U. Campbell; for treasurer, M. E. Dunn; for assessor, W. W. Everhart; for commissioner, W. A. Proctor; for school superintendent, J. E. Calavan; for surveyor, H. H. Johnson; for coroner, Dr. W. E. Hempstead.

Democrats Write Many Tickets. The Democratic county ticket is surrounded for the most part by a thick fog of uncertainty, resulting from the number of names being written in. Gilbert L. Hedges for district attorney, C. W. Raley for commissioner and G. F. Johnson for assessor, of course, received the united support of the party at the primaries.

J. E. Jack, at present county assessor, received the party's nomination for the legislature from the sixteenth district. He received a large number of votes, when the fact is considered that his name was written in. As nearly as could be ascertained Saturday, E. C. Latourette stands second and George C. Brownell third with almost a score of other men mentioned for a seat in the house.

While Henry Koehler, of Oswego, had his name written in on the Democratic ballot 11 times for county clerk, Miss Harrington's name appears 46 times on the ballots of that party, giving her the Democratic as well as the Republican and possibly the Progressive nominations.

Democrats Endorse Republicans. Miss Harrington, however, will probably not be the only person to have the endorsement of more than one party. Mr. Brownell, with a good vote from the Republicans, apparently has also received the nomination from the Democrats. Circuit Judge Campbell, County School Superintendent Calavan, Surveyor Johnson and Treasurer Dunn may all find themselves nominated by the minority party when the smoke of battle has cleared away.

The Progressive vote amounts to nothing at this election. In many precincts not a vote was cast, while in others one lone Progressive appeared. Here follows the vote of Clackamas county on all contested offices, according to the complete but unofficial count. Totals were not made for the unopposed candidates and do not appear below:

DELEGATES to national convention (state at large)—Charles W. Acherson 1116; Daniel Boyd, 2245; Mrs. G. L. Buland, 1178; George J. Cameron, 2405; Charles H. Carey, 1837; F. H. Case, 768; C. W. Fulton, 1864; Russell Hawkins, 1406; Samuel D. Peterson, 807; Arthur C. Spencer, 1282; Frank M. Warren, 648; J. H. Worsley, 1038.

DELEGATES to national convention (first district)—Albert Abraham, 1968; C. P. Bishop, 2402; C. W. Calkins, 2051; B. L. Steeves, 1196.
