WHERE SHOE PINCHES

BUT PINCH IT DOES

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Charles Borgel, of Havana, Ill., appearing before the Illinois Agricultural association to-day, related an instance of "how the high cost of living hit the farmer."

He said: "Recently I bought two pairs of shoes for my children. They cost me $12.50. 'Leather is very expensive these days,' was the explanation at the store. Soon after that one of my cows died and then I lost a calf. I got $8.50 for the two hides. 'We can't pay as much as usual; leather is very cheap now,' was the explanation. As near as I can figure it, each of my children is wearing the equivalent of a hide on each foot. There is a great big gap somewhere between the producer and the ultimate consumer."

IMPROVEMENT CLUB HAS ACTIVE PLANS

A community improvement and social club was organized at the Oak Grove school, Monday evening, August 4, for the purpose of furnishing such needs of the community as the lighting, paving and water systems. The territory covered by the club will comprise the two school districts of Oak Grove and Concord. Club rooms will be provided for the members, that they may spend their evenings in social intercourse or reading, and in the near future a gymnasium will be an added attraction.

A permanent name for the club will be decided at the next regular meeting, on next Monday evening, August 11. The city engineer of Portland will appear before the club, at a special meeting to speak on the water question. He will be prepared to answer any questions pertaining to placing a water system in the district. Officers elected are J. H. Yearsley, President; H. E. Abell, Vice-president; J. A. Paul, Secretary; O. W. Barnett, Treasurer. Board of directors, John Risley, Percy Day, H. B. Green.

His wife lay sick on a feather bed, under a bark lean-to. His children were shivering in a cold rain. In spite of all this the man was singing as he worked. He greeted the newcomer with a merry jest, and the latter said to him:

"My friend, how in God's name do you manage to keep so cheerful?"

"I've got to," said the mover in a low tone as he paused in his task. "I see, I've got to make them believe that we're havin' a good time, an' it keeps me awful busy. Today, I can hardly believe it myself."

Half Hose is Cool But Reporter Fails To See the Point

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Half hose for women are passe.

They're wearing 2.75 hose. An enterprising reporter braved the shopping district to find out just how popular half hose were. He discovered he was several days too late.

"Do the girls wear them much?" echoed one salesgirl, to his query, regarding the new 2.75 hose. "My goodness, yes; look!"

The reporter blushed and admitted they did.

"What's the excuse for them?" "They're so nice and cool," gurgling, "and they—well, they have other advantages."

"Er—how are the kept in place?" The salesgirl picked up a pair of shimmering blue silk things, about as long as a split second, and said: "They turn down the edges like this and put a rubber band under the roll."

"They're so popular," she added, "that we rather expect a demand for them even next winter."
