

CANBY AND SOUTHERN CLACKAMAS

ATTEMPT TO ROB CANBY STORE IS THWARTED

Two men entered the large department store of Carlton & Rosenkrans at Canby Wednesday morning about 2:30 o'clock, and had it not been for the presence of mind of one of their employees, P. L. Newstrom, who sleeps in the second floor of the building, the men would have succeeded in getting away with a large amount of goods.

Newstrom heard the men when they first commenced working their way into the building by trying to break the lock, and he was ready for the robbers when they entered. He watched their movements for some time. After gaining an entrance one of them proceeded to the side door in order to open this to carry away their plunder without attracting the attention of those passing along C street, one of the main thoroughfares. After gaining their entrance, the men commenced gathering their plunder. Mr. Newstrom, watching from the balcony, with his Smith-Wesson ready for action, was ready to shoot at any moment, and was anxiously awaiting for the men to come to the office by coming up the stairway where he was on guard. The men, being described as one tall and the other short, were too busy to think of the office. Their eyes were on the men's clothing department. The tall man was gathering men's suits from the rack, also overcoats, while the short man, who was busy in getting together a select lot of neckties and caps. Just as they were the busiest Newstrom took aim and fired. There was a general scattering of the robbers, who did not stop to pick up the clothing they were arming on the floor to be carried away. Their first thought was to make their escape. They did this by rushing through the front door, the way in which they entered. Two shots were fired by Newstrom, one hitting the side of the door, and almost hitting the men, but the second bullet has not been discovered, and it is believed by several in Canby that the bullet is being carried by one of the men as a relic of his experience in the Canby store.

A number of residents of Canby heard the shots fired by Newstrom.

Mr. A. Koehler, who resides several blocks from the Carlton & Rosenkrans store, hearing shots and also that of a man running later, believes that this was one of the men engaged in the attempted robbery. He also heard a few minutes later an automobile passing down Main street going at a breakneck speed. John Dozier, who was sleeping in a tent in the yard of Mrs. R. Soper, heard an automobile rushing past the Soper home about 3 o'clock, and his curiosity was aroused by the speed at which the machine was going, and spoke about it before hearing of the robbery. Dozier says the machine was going towards the Molalla country. It is believed by many here that this was the automobile in charge of these robbers, for the goods they had prepared to take away could not be carried in their arms for any distance.

When Mr. Newstrom investigated after the robbers had gone, he found they had gathered three men's overcoats, six men's suits, three dozen neckties and a cap.

Mr. Newstrom when taking aim was at the rear of a railing on the balcony, and it was necessary to place the revolver between the spindles. His aim was good for the distance he was to shoot, and many visited the store today to see the good shot Newstrom had made. Newstrom has been employed by the company for the past seven years and was highly complimented by the members of the firm and others.

ACCIDENTAL CUT IS NEARLY FATAL TO RESIDENT OF CANBY

Mr. Klose, of Canby, accidentally cut the artery of his wrist at his home Tuesday morning. Dr. H. A. Dedman, of Canby, immediately gave medical attention and saved the man's life, but Mr. Klose lost considerable blood.

Canby to have New Auto Sales Room.

Canby is to have a new automobile sales room and garage. Graham Brothers, of Tacoma, Wash., have arrived here and have leased the large two-story building of Andrew Koehler on Main street for the new establishment. Besides doing repair work, these men will also carry a line of automobiles. The Koehler building has been vacant for a number of years. This was formerly used as a hardware and farming implement establishment.

There are a number of other buildings on Main street, desirable locations for business houses, that will probably be rented in the near future.

Rheumatism, Stomach and Liver Trouble and all forms of female weakness, scientifically and successfully treated.

DR. FULLER
Druggist Physician
At the Cottage Hotel,
Canby, Oregon

SPARKS CAUSE HEAVY LOSS OF NEW GRAIN CROP

A barn and granary and contents of both buildings, owned by Mrs. Emily Mathews, located one mile south of Canby, were totally destroyed by fire Tuesday evening.

As the threshing outfit had been at the Mathews farm the previous day, it is the opinion of several residents of that section the fire was caused from a spark from the engine of the threshing outfit.

A large amount of grain owned by John Heinz, which was to have been moved away, was also destroyed. The livestock in the barn was saved.

Auto Attracts Attention.
A Ford automobile made in 1901, owned by Mr. McCarthy, who resides near Barlow, and making a trip to Canby the first of the week, where it is being repaired by F. Zollner, of this city, attracted no little attention.

This is probably one of the first automobiles that Henry Ford tried his hand at making, and as far as the speed is concerned it still has the power to go over the roughest kind of roads.

The machinery for operating the automobile is beneath the car. The two rear seats are reached by a rear door and step to alight into the machine. The front seat is as large as any ordinary automobile, and the crank is at the side.

The automobile is in the best of condition, and when being taken to Portland attracted great attention. Strange to say he refused to work after stopping in front of the Ford establishment on the East Side. Employees there tried to persuade "Lizzie" to move on, but she refused. Mr. Zollner, being acquainted with "Lizzie," was telephoned for, and within a short time she was racing up Washington street in Portland, and in charge of Mr. Zollner and Mr. McCarthy. The way she went over the new highway to Canby wasn't slow, for she kept right up with the automobile of Mr. Zollner. She is some high speeder.

Mr. McCarthy "Imported" "Lizzie" from Seattle, Wash., and her license is 95456.

Clarence Eld On Way Home.
John Eld, the hardware man of this city, received word from his son, Clarence, saying he would arrive in a short time at his home in this city. Eld, who is a member of the Second Division, and one of Canby's first boys to respond to his country's call. He was at Camp Mills when heard from, and thought he would leave the camp about August 10. He had been overseas, and was stationed on the Rhine at Coblenz. Melvin Eld, brother of Clarence, is still with the S. O. S. Company and was stationed on the Rhine at Coblenz.

These young men left in 1917 for the service. Melvin on May 23, and Clarence April 10. They were members of the 162nd U. S. Infantry, but since arriving in Europe have not seen each other.

Mrs. Jones and Son Improve From Injuries.

Mrs. G. M. Jones and son, Jack, who were badly injured in an automobile accident while traveling over the highway recently, were in Canby on Wednesday, where they were having their injuries attended to by Dr. H. A. Dedman.

Mrs. Jones and son, accompanied by several others of Lone Elder, had made the trip to the highway, and their automobile was capsized. Mrs. Jones' arm was badly sprained and her son's leg also sprained and he is now compelled to walk with a crutch.

More Realty Transfers Are Made.

J. J. Sandness, a real estate man of this city, closed a deal this week when the John Evans' place of two lots and modern bungalow were sold to Herbert Johnson, of Canby, who also has a ten-acre tract of land here.

Mr. Johnson will soon take possession.

Canby State Bank Improved.

The Canby State Bank is undergoing improvements. The exterior now presents a most attractive appearance, and the interior as well. The latter is being retinted in dainty colors of cream and pale pink, blending most artistically.

CANBY LOCALS.

Miss Lorraine Lee spent Tuesday in Portland, where she visited relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bair left for Klamath Falls Tuesday morning, where Mr. Bair is to attend the Elks' state convention.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Garrett and little daughter, Dorris Edna, of Newberg, arrived in Canby Sunday morning in their new automobile and while here visited Mrs. Garrett's mother, Mrs. R. Soper. They were accompanied home by their little daughter, Virginia, who has been visiting her grandmother for the past three weeks.

Dr. and Mrs. J. Fuller and Miss Lotta Horning, of Canby, motored to Oregon City Wednesday afternoon, where they transacted business.

Mrs. Bertha Hurst visited friends at Oregon City Wednesday afternoon.

Glen and Eddie Coleman, of Molalla, were in Canby Sunday, where they visited friends.

Arthur Seaton, of Portland, formerly of this city, was a Canby visitor Sunday.

O. L. Barbur, who has been spending some time in California, was among the Canby visitors Sunday.

CANBY BOY SERIOUSLY INJURED BY GUNSHOT

Charles Bates, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Bates, of Canby, was seriously injured about three o'clock Wednesday afternoon near Liberal when a gun carried by Champ Vaughn was accidentally discharged, the bullet passing through his chest and penetrating the lung.

Champ Vaughn, who is the son of Stonewall Vaughn, of Liberal, was entertaining the Bates boy for the day and the two youths had gone into the nearby woods for a hunt.

The Vaughn boy was carrying the rifle, a .22-cal. Winchester, over his shoulder and it was accidentally discharged, the bullet striking the Bates boy as he was walking in the rear.

The injured boy was given first aid attention and will be brought to Canby Thursday afternoon for surgical attention, at which time an attempt will be made to locate and extract the bullet by probing. Reports late last night stated that the youth was in no immediate danger.

Miss Lottie Samson is visiting her sister, Mrs. Stevens, and other relatives at Seaside.

Mrs. E. C. Shull, Miss Neva Shull and Miss Florence Rider formed a party leaving for the highway Sunday, having a most enjoyable time.

Miss Sophie Koehler is very ill at her home in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. William Rider are receiving the congratulations over the arrival of a daughter at their home in this city. The little one weighs 10 pounds.

Mrs. Harry Smith, of Newberg, has been visiting friends here during the week.

N. O. Fuller, of Gresham, was among the Canby visitors Tuesday and Wednesday. While here he made his headquarters at the Cottage hotel.

C. W. Collier and family, of Milwaukie, were among those registered at the Cottage hotel Tuesday and Wednesday.

E. A. Stapleton, of Salem, was transacting business in Canby Tuesday and Wednesday.

The new Nazarene church is being painted, and will soon be ready for the dedication exercises.

CANBY YOUNG MAN IS HOME AFTER VARIED EXPERIENCES IN ARMY

Paul S. Schabel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schabel, prominent residents of Canby, who returned from service in France two weeks ago, was among the Oregon City visitors during the week. Mr. Schabel, who made a careful study of ancient history prior to the time of entering the service, says his experience overseas has been very valuable to him, and that he saw many historical spots while in England and France.

At the time of Mr. Schabel's enlistment he was engaged as a gas mechanic, having followed that trade for eight years, and his training was valuable to him in the 223rd Aero Squadron, of which he was a mechanic.

Mr. Schabel left Oregon City January 14, 1918, for Kelly Field, Texas, where he was stationed for one month, and then transferred to Rantoul, Ill., where he went into training on Chanute Field, remaining there for six weeks, and being employed in the shops, where he assisted in constructing airplanes, receiving much valuable information.

The next training camp he was sent to was at Garden City, Long Island, N. Y., arriving there on March 27, and here he went into infantry training. On May 19 he sailed for Europe, arriving at Liverpool, England, May 16, having sailed from the United States on the Albatross. After being stationed at Liverpool for four months, he was sent to Stamford, the oldest town in England, which is claimed to have been built in the year 300 B. C. There were many historical spots still remaining in this city, among these being the old Roman tower built by Caesar, where part of the old Saxon road still remains in use. Under this city was the hiding place of the Roman soldiers. Another place visited was Bureleigh House, containing 365 windows and 120 doors. Here he saw the historic bed used by Queen Elizabeth. From this city he went to Winchester, arriving August 26, and remaining for ten days. There were also many historical places visited here, among these being the Cathedral, a magnificent structure in its day. This building is still used by the Episcopalians, and service was attended by Mr. Schabel. There are two gates, one the east and the other the west gate, which are still in good repair and are used, but the old drawbridge close by is not used. There still remains some of the lead clinging to the rocks that was fired from the besiegers' guns. King Arthur's round table, seen by Mr. Schabel, was a beautiful piece of art work.

While stationed in this country Mr.

On April 15 Schabel started his homeward journey, remaining at Colomby Les Belles for 17 days, and then proceeded to Le Mans, where he was deloused (although he had not been afflicted with the cooties during his time in the service). Here he remained for two weeks, and was then transferred to Brest, traveling by way of the "side door pullmans."

Arriving in Brest he visited the Brest chateau, which was built in the 13th century. He visited various dungeons, one of which had cells located below the basement and was without windows, and in order to see one's way through it was necessary to use a lantern. One of the dungeons pointed out to Schabel while visiting here was of solid rock, which had only one entrance and this was through the roof. Schabel was told that in the early days the prisoner below was bombarded with knives until killed, and then water turned in and his body washed out to sea. Here were found underground passageways extending from the dungeons to the Pontenezen barracks. The passageways were about 12 feet wide and three miles long. Another passage extended to the ocean. These were made in order to allow defenders to escape in case they were attacked from outside.

On the 2nd of June Schabel sailed for the United States on the U. S. S. Liberator. This is an 11,000 ton vessel, 400 feet in length and she carried 2300 men. The trip home was much enjoyed.

After arriving in the United States Schabel says he was offered a commission in the field service at Hazelhurst field, L. I., but being anxious to return to his home, did not accept the offer.

While stationed in New York after returning from overseas, Schabel visited the Oregon State Headquarters. Here he was given a most cordial welcome by some of the young women of Oregon. Among these were Miss Harriet Monroe, a former Oregon City young woman, and teacher of this city, but now a teacher in Portland. Miss Peggy Curtis was also among those who extended the young man and others a welcome. Schabel was accompanied to the headquarters several times by boys of other states, and he says they were always given as cordial a welcome by the Oregon women as were the boys of their own state. They were given "cats" and will long remember the day upon which they arrived there.

Schabel received his discharge from the service at Hazelhurst field, and arrived in Portland July 18. He was much impressed with his experiences while overseas, and has made many flights, among these being one to an altitude of 4000 feet. He has worked on nine different types of planes, and believes the Handley-Paisage plane the best for bombing, and the S. E. 5 the best for scout work.

DAILY AUTO STAGE
Effective July 1st, 1919.
DAILY AND SUNDAY

Leave CANBY	Leave OREGON CITY
7:45 a. m.	9 p. m.
9:45 a. m.	11:00 a. m.
12:45 p. m.	2:00 p. m.
4:15 p. m.	5:00 p. m.
6:15 p. m.	7:00 p. m.
7:45 p. m.	8:25 p. m.

*This trip omitted on Sunday.
Fare 25 cents to all points between Canby and Oregon City.
M. J. LEE, Stage Driver
Canby, Oregon

NEWS FOR CANBY
Any one having news for the Canby department of the Oregon City Enterprise, can leave it at the Cottage hotel, or leave word, and Miss Nan Crochran, representative, will call for it, as she makes weekly trips Wednesday morning.

If you have any letters from your boys overseas or still in the service these will gladly be published. Good care will be given to these and returned to the owner. News of all kind will be appreciated by the Enterprise.

Schabel says the English people were very hospitable to the boys of his company and others stationed there.

On the 16th of September he was transferred to a Casual Squadron, No. 1108, and arrived in La Havre, France, the same day. Here he remained for two days at the rest camp, then was transferred to St. Maixent, France, and later transferred to the 223rd Aero Squadron. At St. Maixent he was billeted in a cathedral used by Napoleon as quarters for his troops, and here was seen a cell where Napoleon was kept a prisoner before being sent to St. Helena. This building is constructed of stone, and was built in the 12th century. From St. Maixent Schabel was sent to Colomby Les Belles, the first air depot of the American Air Service. Here he went to work in the field, testing and dispatching planes for the front. Several times this center was bombed by the Germans. There were about 12 squadrons stationed here at this time. While stationed here the armistice was signed, but there was no demonstration whatever when word arrived that peace had been declared. Work was continued uninterrupted by the men here.

On the 15th of November Schabel proceeded to Toul, France, where he was attached to the Second Headquarters and motor transport repairing was taken up for the Second Army division. Among the other places in which he visited were Nancy, which Schabel believes a second Paris, which has many beautiful buildings, many of which show signs of the enemy's bombardment. He also visited Verdun, went into the underground city, which will accommodate 40,000 soldiers, and which was used for four years by the French. He passed through villages that were total wrecks, some of which had no buildings remaining standing. He also visited St. Mihiel, and drove from Verdun to Pont-a-Mousson, about 55 kilometers back to the old German lines. One of the villages completely destroyed was Flirey. Pont-a-Mousson also showed the effects of the bombardment received, and as this is a farming section in France, many farm buildings were leveled to the ground and fruit trees torn from the roots. As Mr. Schabel was visiting these villages the villagers were commencing to return to what were once their little homes and to start life anew.

One of the places visited by the Clackamas county soldier while on leave of absence was Chambrey, in the province of Savoy. Here he visited the Duke of Savoy's castle, built in the 13th century, and also the church of the Black Madonna, and the hospital where John D. Rockefeller had been for medical attention.

On April 15 Schabel started his homeward journey, remaining at Colomby Les Belles for 17 days, and then proceeded to Le Mans, where he was deloused (although he had not been afflicted with the cooties during his time in the service). Here he remained for two weeks, and was then transferred to Brest, traveling by way of the "side door pullmans."

Arriving in Brest he visited the Brest chateau, which was built in the 13th century. He visited various dungeons, one of which had cells located below the basement and was without windows, and in order to see one's way through it was necessary to use a lantern. One of the dungeons pointed out to Schabel while visiting here was of solid rock, which had only one entrance and this was through the roof. Schabel was told that in the early days the prisoner below was bombarded with knives until killed, and then water turned in and his body washed out to sea. Here were found underground passageways extending from the dungeons to the Pontenezen barracks. The passageways were about 12 feet wide and three miles long. Another passage extended to the ocean. These were made in order to allow defenders to escape in case they were attacked from outside.

On the 2nd of June Schabel sailed for the United States on the U. S. S. Liberator. This is an 11,000 ton vessel, 400 feet in length and she carried 2300 men. The trip home was much enjoyed.

After arriving in the United States Schabel says he was offered a commission in the field service at Hazelhurst field, L. I., but being anxious to return to his home, did not accept the offer.

While stationed in New York after returning from overseas, Schabel visited the Oregon State Headquarters. Here he was given a most cordial welcome by some of the young women of Oregon. Among these were Miss Harriet Monroe, a former Oregon City young woman, and teacher of this city, but now a teacher in Portland. Miss Peggy Curtis was also among those who extended the young man and others a welcome. Schabel was accompanied to the headquarters several times by boys of other states, and he says they were always given as cordial a welcome by the Oregon women as were the boys of their own state. They were given "cats" and will long remember the day upon which they arrived there.

Schabel received his discharge from the service at Hazelhurst field, and arrived in Portland July 18. He was much impressed with his experiences while overseas, and has made many flights, among these being one to an altitude of 4000 feet. He has worked on nine different types of planes, and believes the Handley-Paisage plane the best for bombing, and the S. E. 5 the best for scout work.

On the 16th of September he was transferred to a Casual Squadron, No. 1108, and arrived in La Havre, France, the same day. Here he remained for two days at the rest camp, then was transferred to St. Maixent, France, and later transferred to the 223rd Aero Squadron. At St. Maixent he was billeted in a cathedral used by Napoleon as quarters for his troops, and here was seen a cell where Napoleon was kept a prisoner before being sent to St. Helena. This building is constructed of stone, and was built in the 12th century. From St. Maixent Schabel was sent to Colomby Les Belles, the first air depot of the American Air Service. Here he went to work in the field, testing and dispatching planes for the front. Several times this center was bombed by the Germans. There were about 12 squadrons stationed here at this time. While stationed here the armistice was signed, but there was no demonstration whatever when word arrived that peace had been declared. Work was continued uninterrupted by the men here.

On the 15th of November Schabel proceeded to Toul, France, where he was attached to the Second Headquarters and motor transport repairing was taken up for the Second Army division. Among the other places in which he visited were Nancy, which Schabel believes a second Paris, which has many beautiful buildings, many of which show signs of the enemy's bombardment. He also visited Verdun, went into the underground city, which will accommodate 40,000 soldiers, and which was used for four years by the French. He passed through villages that were total wrecks, some of which had no buildings remaining standing. He also visited St. Mihiel, and drove from Verdun to Pont-a-Mousson, about 55 kilometers back to the old German lines. One of the villages completely destroyed was Flirey. Pont-a-Mousson also showed the effects of the bombardment received, and as this is a farming section in France, many farm buildings were leveled to the ground and fruit trees torn from the roots. As Mr. Schabel was visiting these villages the villagers were commencing to return to what were once their little homes and to start life anew.

One of the places visited by the Clackamas county soldier while on leave of absence was Chambrey, in the province of Savoy. Here he visited the Duke of Savoy's castle, built in the 13th century, and also the church of the Black Madonna, and the hospital where John D. Rockefeller had been for medical attention.

On April 15 Schabel started his homeward journey, remaining at Colomby Les Belles for 17 days, and then proceeded to Le Mans, where he was deloused (although he had not been afflicted with the cooties during his time in the service). Here he remained for two weeks, and was then transferred to Brest, traveling by way of the "side door pullmans."

Arriving in Brest he visited the Brest chateau, which was built in the 13th century. He visited various dungeons, one of which had cells located below the basement and was without windows, and in order to see one's way through it was necessary to use a lantern. One of the dungeons pointed out to Schabel while visiting here was of solid rock, which had only one entrance and this was through the roof. Schabel was told that in the early days the prisoner below was bombarded with knives until killed, and then water turned in and his body washed out to sea. Here were found underground passageways extending from the dungeons to the Pontenezen barracks. The passageways were about 12 feet wide and three miles long. Another passage extended to the ocean. These were made in order to allow defenders to escape in case they were attacked from outside.

On the 2nd of June Schabel sailed for the United States on the U. S. S. Liberator. This is an 11,000 ton vessel, 400 feet in length and she carried 2300 men. The trip home was much enjoyed.

After arriving in the United States Schabel says he was offered a commission in the field service at Hazelhurst field, L. I., but being anxious to return to his home, did not accept the offer.

While stationed in New York after returning from overseas, Schabel visited the Oregon State Headquarters. Here he was given a most cordial welcome by some of the young women of Oregon. Among these were Miss Harriet Monroe, a former Oregon City young woman, and teacher of this city, but now a teacher in Portland. Miss Peggy Curtis was also among those who extended the young man and others a welcome. Schabel was accompanied to the headquarters several times by boys of other states, and he says they were always given as cordial a welcome by the Oregon women as were the boys of their own state. They were given "cats" and will long remember the day upon which they arrived there.

Schabel received his discharge from the service at Hazelhurst field, and arrived in Portland July 18. He was much impressed with his experiences while overseas, and has made many flights, among these being one to an altitude of 4000 feet. He has worked on nine different types of planes, and believes the Handley-Paisage plane the best for bombing, and the S. E. 5 the best for scout work.

On the 16th of September he was transferred to a Casual Squadron, No. 1108, and arrived in La Havre, France, the same day. Here he remained for two days at the rest camp, then was transferred to St. Maixent, France, and later transferred to the 223rd Aero Squadron. At St. Maixent he was billeted in a cathedral used by Napoleon as quarters for his troops, and here was seen a cell where Napoleon was kept a prisoner before being sent to St. Helena. This building is constructed of stone, and was built in the 12th century. From St. Maixent Schabel was sent to Colomby Les Belles, the first air depot of the American Air Service. Here he went to work in the field, testing and dispatching planes for the front. Several times this center was bombed by the Germans. There were about 12 squadrons stationed here at this time. While stationed here the armistice was signed, but there was no demonstration whatever when word arrived that peace had been declared. Work was continued uninterrupted by the men here.

On the 15th of November Schabel proceeded to Toul, France, where he was attached to the Second Headquarters and motor transport repairing was taken up for the Second Army division. Among the other places in which he visited were Nancy, which Schabel believes a second Paris, which has many beautiful buildings, many of which show signs of the enemy's bombardment. He also visited Verdun, went into the underground city, which will accommodate 40,000 soldiers, and which was used for four years by the French. He passed through villages that were total wrecks, some of which had no buildings remaining standing. He also visited St. Mihiel, and drove from Verdun to Pont-a-Mousson, about 55 kilometers back to the old German lines. One of the villages completely destroyed was Flirey. Pont-a-Mousson also showed the effects of the bombardment received, and as this is a farming section in France, many farm buildings were leveled to the ground and fruit trees torn from the roots. As Mr. Schabel was visiting these villages the villagers were commencing to return to what were once their little homes and to start life anew.

One of the places visited by the Clackamas county soldier while on leave of absence was Chambrey, in the province of Savoy. Here he visited the Duke of Savoy's castle, built in the 13th century, and also the church of the Black Madonna, and the hospital where John D. Rockefeller had been for medical attention.

OLD-TIME RESIDENTS VISIT OREGON CITY AFTER LONG ABSENCE

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Gregerson, who left Oregon City 19 years ago for California, where they have been making their home, have arrived in Oregon City, where they are to visit a few days, and may decide to locate here. Mr. and Mrs. Gregerson, who have been living at Pacific Grove, came as far as Portland with their daughter, Mrs. Carrie Whipple, formerly of Oregon City, now of Juneau, Alaska. They will visit their son, Ben, and family now residing in Alaska before they decide upon a location.

Mr. and Mrs. Gregerson have noted many changes since leaving here, and while on Washington and other streets that have been improved since they left they became confused and could not find their "bearings," so they are to make another trial and see if they can find any familiar spots. One of the familiar places was where they formerly resided at Thirteenth and Main streets. They have met many of their old time friends, but some of their former friends here have died during the past few years.

Mr. and Mrs. Gregerson's sons, George and William, are also former residents of this city. George is residing with his family in California, and William is making his home for the present at Wedderburn, Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. Gregerson say the climate of Oregon cannot be beat, although they have enjoyed their winters in California.

LIFE OF TOOZE TWINS BE TOLD BY BROTHER WHO SURVIVED IN WAR

There is a romantic as well as a dramatic appeal in the life and death story of the Tooze twins. Lieut. Lamar Tooze, the survivor, will give his lecture upon his impressions while overseas at Oregon City in the near future for the benefit of the Women's Building of the University of Oregon.

The two boys were born in the small logging town of Falls City, in Polk County, Oregon, where they later went through the school side by side and on through high school, but also looking so much alike that few could tell them apart. They took the same courses and almost invariably obtained the same grade.

At the University of Oregon they majored together in economics. Registered together for the same courses, had the same outside activities, slept together, ate together, and in short because they adored one another lived such a happy life that everyone admired them for it. After graduating from the University of Oregon they entered Harvard Law together.

Before their first year was finished the United States was called into the great war and it was then that the two boys had their second separation, the first coming when Lamar Tooze went to Europe with Henry Ford, as a representative of the University of Oregon student body.

September 28th, 1918, at 4 o'clock of this, one of the memorial days of the battle of the Argonne, the two boys were together again, commanding platoons in the same sector against the crack battalions of the Prussian Guard. A few words had passed between these twin brothers in the dark of the morning just before they led their men into action, which were the last, for it was here that Lieut. Leslie Tooze, of Company K, 34th Infantry, met his death.

LOCAL FRUIT GROWER HAS GOOD SUCCESS GRAFTING APRICOTS

Fred McCausland has apricots growing on his place in this city at Seventh and Jackson streets that are attracting unusual attention. Mr. McCausland has grafted a number of branches of this fruit onto branches of plum trees, this having been done three years ago. Last year the branches of the apricots commenced bearing, and this year the crop will be over a bushel and a half of the finest fruit tasted. They are far superior to those received from California, both in size and flavor. Some of the fruit measures eight inches in circumference.

The fruit is of the Tilton variety, and it is the intention of Mr. McCausland to graft other branches of the same strain.

A branch displayed by Mr. McCausland Tuesday bore 12 large apricots and measured but twenty inches in length.

If your eyes bother you in any way.

THEN—
Come to See

Prudden
OPTOMETRIST

Edward, young son of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Gregory, met with a painful accident a few days ago when he had his left hand injured in a pulley. A horse in the barn was operating the pulley, and the horse started suddenly, the hand being caught between the rope and block.

Drs. H. S. and Guy Mount are attending the lad, and the hand will be saved. There were no bones broken, but the member was severely mashed.

Watch this column for cheap peaches.—Adv.

INFORMAL PARTY AT MILLER-PARKER CO. GARAGE IS SUCCESS