

CANBY AND SOUTHERN CLACKAMAS

CANBY, Dec. 15.—E. G. Robinson's home caught fire Sunday while Mr. Robinson was engaged in thawing some frozen pipes, and by a heroic effort of himself and several men and boys the blaze was extinguished, but not until a portion of the side of the building had been badly damaged, but this is covered by insurance.

The pipes were frozen between the walls and Mr. Robinson believed by using an electric coil the thaw could be easily accomplished, but in some manner the woodwork became ignited.

The alarm was immediately sounded by Mrs. R. Sloper, the accommo- dating telephone operator, and excellent work done in extinguishing the flames. The home is owned by Mrs. Wallace, of Lebanon.

Mr. Robinson had been working without sleep for days in order to see that the city of Canby was not without electric lights, and the people of this city appreciate his untiring efforts.

With the zero weather and the deep snow, the people of Canby had enough to stand without the use of lights, and Mr. Robinson was aware of this fact.

MRS. SOLLE DIES

CANBY, Dec. 13. Mrs. Paul Solle, aged 77 years, and a native of Norway, died at the family home in this city Wednesday morning, after a few days' illness of pneumonia.

Mrs. Solle came to the United States 48 years ago, and for some time made her home at New Era, later coming to Canby, where she has resided for the past six years.

Mrs. Solle is survived by her husband and the following children: Joseph Solle, Miss Alla Solle and Mrs. Mary Hviding, all of Canby.

The funeral services are to be held from the Norwegian church at Canby Friday morning at 11 o'clock. The interment will be in the Mount Zion cemetery. Holman & Pace undertaking establishment of Oregon City, have charge of the funeral arrangements.

YOUNG MEN HAVE HARD TRIP.

CANBY, Dec. 17.—Dewey Cox and Kenneth Hornig, who had been in Portland during the cold weather, and at the starting of the snowfall, decided they would try and make the trip by foot since there were no trains operating to Canby that day. They made the trip as far as Oregon City by the Portland Railway, Light & Power company, believing that remainder of the trip could be easily made by foot.

They left Oregon City at 9 o'clock a. m. and it was 5 o'clock p. m. before they reached their home. Upon arriving here they were about "all in," suffering from the intense cold and the deep snow.

In many places over which they traveled the drifts were of unusual depth, and say they had no idea of the trip, and would have not attempted making it had they known the condition of the road.

BRIDGE ROOF CAVED IN

CANBY, Dec. 17.—Good's bridge, spanning the Molalla river, looks somewhat dilapidated since the snow storm of last week. The heavy blanket of snow caused the roof to cave in, thus cutting off the travel, except by those going on foot.

Judge H. S. Anderson, of Oregon City, has ordered the repairs to be made immediately so that the travel will be resumed within a short time.

MOTHER DIES IN EAST

CANBY, Dec. 17.—Dr. J. Fuller has received the sad intelligence of the death of his mother, Mrs. Ella Fuller, who died at her home in Cleveland, Ohio, a well known resident of that place. Mrs. Fuller is survived by several children, including a daughter, Mrs. Frontz, of Cleveland, and Dr. Fuller of this city.

LEE ANXIOUS ABOUT ROAD

CANBY, Dec. 17.—M. J. Lee, owner of the Canby bus, is anxiously awaiting the time when he will be able to resume his regular trips. A large number of people of this city being employed in Oregon City, are now compelled to remain in that city at night, owing to the lack of traveling facilities.

Many have depended upon the bus and Mr. Lee has made several attempts to operate it in the snow, but there being about two feet on the highway, his efforts were in vain. It is probable that the bus will be one of the first vehicles through when the snow has disappeared enough to permit traveling.

CANBY SCHOOL IS OPENED

CANBY, Dec. 17.—School opened Thursday morning, after the week of cold weather, several days registering zero. The attendance is small, owing to the depth of snow, and many of the students attending the school live at a distance.

Owing to the depth of snow on the highway, Mrs. Pearl Gregory Cartledge, not being able to make the daily trip, is remaining in Canby. Mrs. Cartledge braved this trip until the snow became so that it was impossible to make the trip.

The school will close Wednesday for the Christmas holidays.

NEWS FOR CANBY

Any one having news for the Canby department of the Oregon City Enterprise, can leave it at the Cottage hotel, or leave word, and Miss Nan Crochran, representative, will call for it, as she makes weekly trips Tuesday morning.

News of all kind will be appreciated by the Enterprise.

LOCALS AND PERSONALS

CANBY, Dec. 16.—Grant White and several other residents of this place made a desperate effort to clear the highway of the heavy snow during the past week. White Brothers, representing the Ford tractor, took one of the machines out and the way the snow was tramped wasn't slow. The tractor did exceptionally well until the big drifts were tackled. It was found almost impossible to continue the work to Oregon City as was anticipated. New Era was reached. A plow was attached to the tractor.

The Rebekah lodge met at the I. O. O. F. hall Tuesday evening and elected the officers, who are as follows: Noble grand, Mrs. Andrew Kocher; vice grand, Mrs. Cassie Fuller; secretary, Miss Hattie Bowby; financial secretary, Mrs. Ida Knight; treasurer, Miss Hazel Vinyard.

Miss Lena Pierce and Miss Sunshine Jennings, of Oregon City, were in Canby on Sunday, where they were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hampton.

Miss Vera Carpenter, of Portland, who has been visiting at the Neustrom home of this city, has returned to her home.

Mrs. C. H. Hoover and Mrs. Ralph Fisher, of Kelso, Wash., have arrived in Oregon City, where they have been called to the bedside of their sister, Miss Della Neustrom, who is seriously ill at her home. Miss Neustrom is suffering from inflammatory rheumatism. Miss Neustrom is connected with the Canby State bank.

O. Sturgis is very ill, suffering from pneumonia. Miss Ruth Raddatz, an operator for the Pacific Telephone company in Portland, visited her sister, Mrs. Stewart of this city, last Friday.

Joseph Steffani, of this place, went to Oregon City on business Wednesday.

Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Fuller and Mrs. W. L. Peterson, of this city, were among those to transact business in Oregon City Wednesday.

Mrs. Helms and children were Oregon City visitors Wednesday.

Walter Rothenburg, of Portland, has been visiting at the home of his parents in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bair went to Portland on business Wednesday. Believing in safety first they did not attempt to make the trip, as is their custom, by automobile, but made the trip by the Southern Pacific. Mr. Bair left early last week for Portland expecting to return the same day, but owing to the heavy fall of snow, he was marooned in Portland until the following day.

Mrs. August Rothenburg, who has been at the bedside of her daughter, Miss Augusta, in Oregon City, has returned to this city, the daughter being much improved.

Mrs. Phillips visited in Portland Wednesday.

M. P. Saylor, formerly a business man of this city, now of Molalla, where he is engaged in business, passed through Canby Wednesday on his way to Portland, where he visited his wife, who recently underwent a critical operation at a hospital. Mrs. Saylor is much improved, and will soon be able to leave for her home. During her stay in Portland a number of her friends of this city have visited her.

Walter Leisman, of Oregon City, who is connected with the Huntley Drug company of that place, but formerly of Canby, visited friends here Sunday.

Mrs. R. Soper, operator for the telephone company, of this city, was in Oregon City on business in connection with the telephone company Wednesday.

Postoffice Employees Having Hard Time

The employees of the local postoffice, including Postmaster J. J. Cooke, have had a siege of it during the past week. The intense cold weather has worked a hardship on each man employed and already many Christmas packages are arriving daily and being sent on their way to other places, the men have had to trudge through the snow, reporting for their two daily trips about the city.

The men employed in the office besides the carriers have also suffered from the cold, and were among the happiest men to see the old "Oregon mist" once again on Tuesday.

Owing to the conditions of the roads of the country, where snow was unusually deep, the rural mail carriers did their best to deliver their mail and stayed with it until it was impossible to deliver the mail. The snow was too deep, and not even a horse could travel through this.

The local postoffice employees have been highly commended upon the excellent work they have accomplished to benefit the patrons since the storm of last Tuesday, and there is not one patron of the office that has not appreciated the efforts of the postmaster and efficient employees.

Some of these men had to trudge through snow over two feet deep, and in places the drifts were over that depth.

DEMOCRAT IS ELECTED

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Dec. 17.—Almost complete returns early today from yesterday's special election in the ninth North Carolina congressional district showed Clyde R. Hoey, democrat, winner over his republican opponent, John M. Morehead.

NEVER HAS THIS CITY SEEN MORE CHRISTMAS BUSINESS

With but seven more shopping days until Christmas the streets and stores of Oregon City took on an air Wednesday resembling the famous "county court days" back east. When the snow storm came a week ago the merchants felt that they were almost as helpless as the rest of the city. They had their shelves piled high with the choicest goods for the selection of their customers.

Never in the history of this city had there ever been a superior line of goods of every description brought in to please the critical buyers of the city and county. At first it seemed that the storm had killed the holiday trade.

But as soon as the thaw came, the "sporting blood" of the true westerners came to the front and all this week there has been a veritable flood of people from all parts of the county trooping in to make their purchases.

It can now be safely said that never before have the business houses of this city done as much business in the same length of time as this year.

And do you notice this fact. Walk down the street and for every person you see with a frown on their faces you will see hundreds whose faces simply radiate joy and happiness.

All day Wednesday the people sloshed through the water and melting snow, but in the place of the usual complaining naught was heard but laughter and merry bantering as acquaintances from some distant part of the county would run across friends from some other section.

Never has Oregon City seen as happy a Christmas as is now upon us.

G. A. R. Elects Officers For Ensuing Year

At the regular meeting of Meade post No. 2 G. A. R., December 7, the following comrades were elected officers for the ensuing year, 1920: Commander, J. F. Butler; senior vice, E. Stroup; junior vice, J. B. Hayworth; chaplain, H. L. Clyde; quartermaster, G. A. Harding; guard, J. Dumas; officer of the day, E. Scruton; surgeon, J. J. Gorbett; quartermaster, J. Martin.

At the same time the following comrades were elected delegates to the next encampment at Astoria in June, 1920: Comrades Brown, McClellan, J. J. Gorbett, Meade, Stroup and Graves.

A very pleasing report was made to the post that out of about 80 members, none had been called by death during the past year.

At the same meeting a very friendly and fraternal invitation from the Elks lodge was received requesting the Grand Army to meet with them at their memorial exercises on Sunday, December 8. The invitation was accepted and a good representation from the post was present.

Answers to the resolution sent Senator Chamberlain and Representative Hawley a week ago were received by the post, thanking the post, and to the effect that both houses will go the limit to rid our country of all these undesirables.

Newsy Briefs From All Over the County

Meadowbrook

MEADOWBROOK, Dec. 16.—Those who have been tired of the Oregon rains are having some other kind of weather for a change. The snow is the deepest any one around here can remember seeing, and was about 25 inches in most places.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Blair of Hubbard are visiting at their daughters home, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph L. Holman.

School started again Monday after being closed several days on account of the deep snow.

Amos Millard returned home Sunday after being held up by the snow since Tuesday.

Richard Orem of Cedarvale visited at A. L. Larkins Sunday. He had just returned from Blodgett where he has been working in the Shay mill. He says the snow was about the same there as here when he left Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Edgar Horner, who has been quite sick is better at the present time.

Several of the young folks are enjoying the skating at Union Mills.

Interesting Brevities From Oswego

OSWEGO, Dec. 12.—Mrs. J. K. Worthington took a trip to Westminister, Ore., to visit her granddaughters, Florine and Mavine Worthington, Tuesday of last week. The children were delighted to see their grandmother.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Worthington were visiting relatives in Oswego this week.

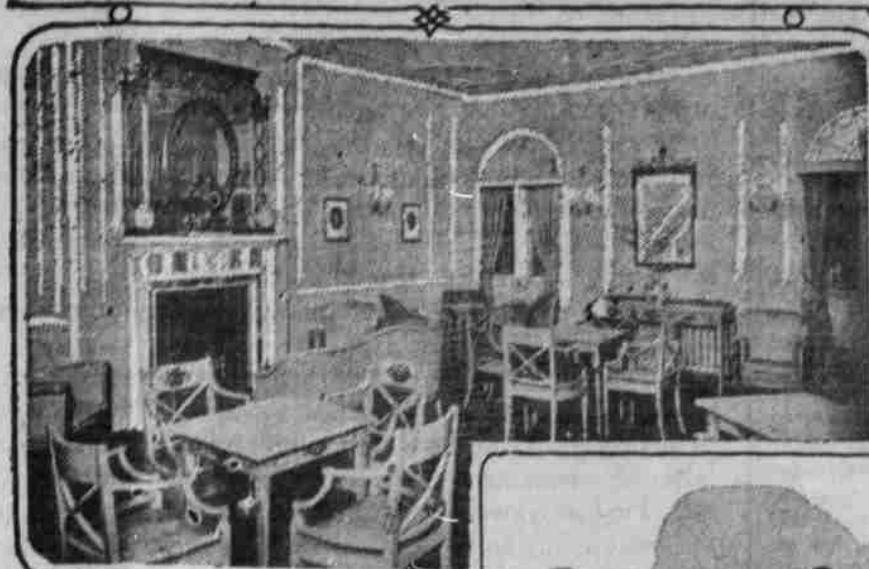

Mr. Otto Larson has returned to Altona, Wash., he has been home during Thanksgiving.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Cline have moved back to their home in South Oswego again. Mr. Cline was living in Portland while working at the ship yards.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Bakers and family, who have been sick with small pox, are reported getting along nicely.

The young people of Oswego are having fine sport skating on the Duck

EMPRESS OF FRANCE, ONCE ARMED CRUISER. HONORABLY DISCHARGED FROM THE NAVY

Card Room.

During Salon

The Empress of France, formerly called the Albatross, was requisitioned by the British Navy in 1914, and after being armed and a navy crew put on board under Capt. Phillimore, D. S. O., was attached to the 10th Cruiser Squadron, consisting of 24 vessels, most of them armed Merchant Marine Cruisers, later becoming the flagship of the squadron. The main duty of this squadron was intercepting, boarding and examining vessels and detaining those whose cargo or crew aroused suspicion.

In 1918 she was assigned to convoy duty and finally, on January 17, 1919, was Honorably Discharged from the Navy. Shortly afterward she was turned over to the Canadian Pacific Ocean Services, which had acquired the vessel during the war. She has just made her maiden trip for the company and might well be called the "Queen" ship of that company's "Empress" fleet—her sister ships all bearing "Empress" in their names also—as she is the finest and best equipped vessel making the European trip via the St. Lawrence route.

The Empress of France is 600 feet long by 72 feet beam and of 18,500 tons gross register and has eight decks. The dining saloon, 60 feet long by the full width of the ship, is oak-paneled in Jacobean style, the central portion being open, surrounded by a spacious gallery and topped by a large dome which adds materially to its magnificent appearance. The smoking room is also Jacobean, the special feature being the chimney piece copied from a celebrated example at Lindfield, Sussex. The library is in the style of William and Mary's reign. The card room is "Adams" and contains a very beautiful marble mantelpiece. The first class lounge is after the designs of Sir Christopher Wren for the Royal apartments at Hampton Court Palace and is considered very fine. There is also a gymnasium and a veranda cafe. An unusual feature in the first class accommodations is the "en suite" cabins, each of which consists of two bedrooms, sitting room, bath and dressing rooms. Three hundred and seventy-one first class, 398 second class and 1,000 third class passengers can be accommodated.

IN SOCIETY CIRCLES

The marriage of Mr. Andrew V. Ovall and Miss Neva Ellen Vaughan has been announced and a reception will be given in the Temple Methodist Episcopal Church, at Spokane, Wash., Saturday, the 20. Program of high order will be rendered and refreshments served.

The bridegroom, Andrew V. Ovall, is the son of Rev. John Ovall, of the Temple Methodist Episcopal Church, Spokane, Washington. He represents the Bradstreet's Merchandise Agency in the South-eastern Washington, and Southern Idaho territory, having his headquarters at Walla Walla.

The bride is Miss Neva Ellen Vaughan, a graduate from the National Methodist Deaconess School of San Francisco, class of 1916. She was Deaconess with the First Methodist Church, Salem, Oregon for one year and later in Cleveland, Ohio. She then took a post graduate course in Social Service, and became Field Secretary. Early in the present year she was appointed secretary to Dr. Stevens, president of the school in San Francisco.

Miss Vaughan as well as the bridegroom, comes from a family of Methodist preachers. Both grandfathers were Methodist preachers, also two uncles. Her sister, Eunice, and her brother-in-law are missionaries in China.

Their address after January 1, 1920 will be 203 Boyer Avenue, Walla Walla, Washington.

BEAVER CREEK, Dec. 12.—One of

England's Little Boxing Sensation and New Yorker Who Defeated Him in Milwaukee

This photograph gives fight fans an opportunity to compare Jimmy Wilde, the British boxing sensation, and Jack Sharkey of New York, who met in a ten round bout in Milwaukee. As far as looks go, the interesting social affairs of last week was the reception given Thursday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. John Bohlander, by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Holman in celebration of their 15th wedding anniversary. The affair held at Beaver Creek came as a complete surprise to Mr. and Mrs. Bohlander. They received many beautiful gifts.

About 10:30 a mock ceremony was performed by Mr. F. Stiner when Mr. and Mrs. Bohlander were re-united in marriage. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Holman, relatives of the bride.

The bride was becomingly gowned and carried a shower bouquet of white chrysanthemums.

Following the ceremony a delicious supper was served places being laid for the following: Mr. and Mrs. John Bohlander, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Holman, Mr. and Mrs. F. Stiner, Mr. and Mrs. C. Richter, Mr. and Mrs. B. Sauterson, Mr. and Mrs. C. Stiner, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Herman, Mr. and Mrs. Bohlander and son, Walter, Miss Payne, Miss Vada Rihm, Miss Clara Bohlander and the Messrs. Geo. Holman, Henry Richter, Fred Holzman, Albert Weidner.

Mrs. J. M. Warnock entertained at her home last Sunday afternoon with a beautifully appointed dinner in honor of Mr. Warnock's birthday.

Covers were laid for eleven, and a delicious dinner was served by the hostess. Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Warnock entertained this same group with twelve additional guests with a musical program. Lyman W. E. Warnock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Warnock, gave several vocal selections accompanied by Silas Vann, of Portland.

Mr. Warnock has a rich baritone voice and his friends predict for him a bright future.

Mrs. Vann gave two numbers and delighted her hearers.

E. T. McAlain, of Portland, who has been studying for the past two years also gave several selections and pleased the guests with his sweet tenor voice.

Mrs. Hornock's decorations consisted of pink and lavender chrysanthemums, ferns and Oregon fir.

Mr. Finley was removed from office, it is announced, because he was unable to work in harmony with members of the commission. The statement is made also that he was to have been given an opportunity to resign had he so desired, but this he failed or declined to do. The office of state biologist has been declared vacant, effective December 31.

Lack of harmony is given as the sole reason for Mr. Finley's removal, in an official statement issued yesterday by F. M. Brown, secretary of the commission, and written under the direction of the commission.

SWEET CIDER TO FRONT

NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—New Yorkers, who in years past have heretofore each new year with the popping of corks from champagne bottles, and attendant festivities in the "white light" district hotels and restaurants, will drink to the health of 1920 with sweet cider.

COUNTY COURT RE-ORGANIZES FOR ROAD WORK

In anticipation of the expenditure of $1,700,000 worth of road bonds, and funds to be derived from general and special taxation, the county court has announced a complete reorganization of its highway department, effective January 1, with Harriet A. Rands as roadmaster, and H. C. Compton and Leo J. Caulfield as district engineers.

Details of the organization are yet to be worked out, but it is understood that Mr. Caulfield will be selected. The other two appointees are definite. Mr. Compton will retain the office of roadmaster, which he has filled for several months, until the end of December. Mr. Caulfield is at present district engineer for the state highway commission, with headquarters at Albany.

County Judge Anderson said Wednesday that the roads marked for early improvement under the bond issue would be surveyed and located without delay and that the engineering work of these sections would be completed in time for actual construction work next spring as soon as weather permits. There is an immense amount of preliminary work to be accomplished in advance of construction.

The new roadmaster is a Cornell man, and had wide engineering experience. He was in charge of the location and construction of the south fork of the Clackamas river line that supplies Oregon City and West Linn with water.

He was in Alaska on government railroad survey and has recently been in charge of the engineering incident to the development of additional power on the Clackamas river for the Portland Railway, Light & Power company. He has been a resident of Oregon City for many years.

LOCAL BRIEFS

Captain H. B. Dixon, a former resident of Gladstone, and during the past two years having been a military instructor at St. John's Military Academy at Delafield, Wis., has been appointed by the government to teach military science at Cornell college. Captain Dixon and family left Gladstone about two years ago, when Captain Dixon was given the position as military instructor. He has had much experience in military life, having been in the army previous to moving to Gladstone.

Mrs. M. Meeds, mother of Mrs. O. E. Freytag and Miss Alice McKinnon, is very ill in a hospital at Zanesville, Ohio. Mrs. Meeds left here on the G. A. R. special for Ohio, where she attended the convention of the Relief Corps, and since that time has visited her daughter, Mrs. A. M. Merrick, of Merrick avenue, Zanesville.

Dr. and Mrs. J. Fuller, accompanied by Mrs. W. L. Peterson, of Canby, were in Oregon City Wednesday, where they transacted business, and also visited friends before returning to Canby. Mr. Peterson recently arrived from Kansas City and did not feel the effects of the recent cold weather as others of Canby did, but says that the slush we are experiencing now is unusual for the place from which she comes.

Miss Evangeline Dye, who is an instructor of the Raymond, Wash. school, has returned to Oregon City to spend her Christmas holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Dye. The vacation days started unusually early at Raymond, this being due to the fact of the pipes freezing in the school during the intense cold weather at that place. This was one of the coldest seasons ever experienced at that place.

The Misses Lyle and Merte Yexley, students of the Oregon Agricultural college, arrived in Oregon City Tuesday evening, and are to spend their holidays with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Yexley, of Mount Pleasant.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland Sturdivant are receiving congratulations over the arrival of a son, weight nine pounds, born at the family home at Sixteenth and Harrison streets Sunday, December 14.

W. E. Griffith, one of the well known residents of Redland, was in this city Wednesday.

C. E. Stewart, one of the well known farmers of Clackamas county, transacted business here Wednesday.

N. A. Morris, of Beaver Creek, was an Oregon City visitor Wednesday.
