

NO ONE IN CITY HAS BUSY TIME LIKE PLUMBER

There is no end to the troubles of the plumbers at the present time. They are busily engaged from early in the morning until late at night, and they are like doctors—God sends. More than one time these men have been called "God Sends," for they have assisted in saving property and homes from destruction in many cases.

Among the cases reported by P. C. Gadke, in whose hot water tank exploded on Saturday, this was caused by boiling water, and would have exploded in a short time. Another case is where the breaking of coils in a stove prevented the boiler from exploding. The boiler and stove were adjoining the gas stove, and there would have been a disaster had the boiler exploded.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. White, the coil in the cooking stove broke, causing the stove to fly into pieces about the room. Doors and griddles were everywhere.

Mr. White, who had just built the fire, had passed out of the room a few minutes before and thus escaped injury. The gas stove was nearby, but no damage resulted from that. With ashes, pieces of iron and water, the White kitchen was anything but presentable Friday morning.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Schuebel is also trouble with the pipes, for the coils for heating the water had been placed in the heating stove, and one of the pipes in the wall was broken by freezing. Water soaked through the ceiling and sides of the room, and the Schuebels are now finding that the kitchen stove is a pretty good thing after all to heat up the house.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Milligan, residing at Twelfth and Center streets, are "enjoying" cooking in the basement for the present time. This is due to the fact that pipes have broken in the wall. Mr. Milligan hit upon a plan and banked snow against the windows, thus keeping out any drafts.

Pipes throughout the city have caused many persons to lose their religion for several days, and no doubt the churches will not be as largely attended today as on former Sundays, for there are many who will spend their time in a different manner than attending church today.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. James Brady at Twelfth and Jefferson streets was among those suffering from a broken pipe in the stove. Water splashed in volumes over the floor. Another nearby home was the scene similar to that of Mr. and Mrs. Brady. Ice formed on the floor after this and gushes from the pipes in the stove, and it was necessary to use shovels and hoes to get the ice from the floor.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Milligan, although having taken careful precautions that no pipes should freeze, are among those having to scrape ice from the floor caused by the breaking of pipes in the kitchen.

Many others have suffered similarly as those mentioned above, and all are exclaiming, "We will never complain of a hot summer day again."

CITY REGISTERS 21 STUDENTS AT O. A. C. SETTING NEW MARK

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Dec. 12.—Oregon City is represented by 21 of the 2906 students now registered at the college. This is a new mark in the total enrollment—an increase of 86 per cent over the figure for the corresponding period in 1916-17, the last normal school year. This is by far the largest number of students ever contributed by Oregon City to O. A. C. or to any other institution. Despite the fact that class, laboratory and office room has been at such a premium that every available space in the basement and garret has been utilized, a high standard of efficiency has been maintained.

Twelve of Oregon City's representation at O. A. C. are here for their first year. The school of engineering claims five. Charles L. Andrews is registered for his first year in electrical engineering, and Kenneth Andrews is taking a special course in civil engineering. John R. Armstrong is also enrolled in civil engineering. Rufus W. Baker is here for his second year in the school of agriculture. John M. Beattie is a freshman in the same school. Lillian Harris, of Cauthorn Hall, is a freshman in commerce. Mechanical engineering has attracted Howard L. Hall, who is here for his first year.

Fred J. Kamrath is a sophomore in agriculture this year. Claude Kerr is the only Oregon City boy in the school of forestry, this being Claude's sophomore year at the college. Alma Lieberg lives at Waldo hall and is a freshman in home economics. Thomas Lovett is taking his second year work in mechanical engineering. Helen G. Mattley is a member of the Pi Beta Phi sorority, and is registered for sophomore home economics.

Ray A. Morris is a senior this year. Ray is studying chemical engineering. Robert F. Myers is a freshman in commerce. John M. Risberger is studying electrical engineering and Gus H. Rosenbloom mechanical engineering. Leslie A. Weisvick is here for his first year in civil engineering. Lyle M. Yexley and Myrtle A. Yexley, both juniors in economics, are prominent members of the Alpha Rho women's sorority.

ELECTION OF WEEK AGO IS NOW IN COURT

John P. Risley filed suit Friday in circuit court enjoining the county clerk Fred A. Miller from meeting on Saturday, December 13 as a canvassing board for the purpose of canvassing the vote cast in the special election held on last Saturday in the Oak Grove section of the county for the purpose of creating a special water district.

The complaint is the outgrowth of the special election which was to have been held in four precincts in the north part of the county last Saturday and on which day no votes were cast except in the Milwaukee Heights precinct.

The election was to have been held on Saturday, December 6 in the two Oak Grove precincts, Concord and Milwaukee Heights precincts. The judges of election at Oak Grove refused to accept the ballot boxes from the sheriff on election day and no election was held at any place except at Milwaukee Heights. In this precinct 49 votes were cast for the organization of the water district and four against it. The law requires the county clerk and clerk to meet within a week after the election and canvass the returns and give out the vote.

Early this week the Oak Grove Commercial club met and were advised that the best and quickest way out of the dilemma was to get out a restraining order and to have the election set aside and then allow the old water board created at an election held some two years ago for the purpose of organizing a water district covering the same territory to proceed with the work of bonding the district and raising funds for the laying of mains to supply the people with water. The club decided to take this action and the action filed Friday is the outcome of the club meeting. The suit is a friendly action brought to clear the slate of any incumbency to the old board.

Judge Campbell issued the restraining order Friday and the canvassing board as a consequence will not meet on Saturday to canvass the vote in the election.

OLD RESIDENT OVERCOME BY COLD IN THIS CITY

Fred Weidner, a pioneer of this city, and about 60 years of age, who earns his living by odd jobs about the city, was found almost unconscious by Peter Nehren, janitor of the Weinhard building, and Night Officer Ed Surfass. He was overcome by the cold weather and was almost frozen to death when discovered. Mr. Weidner had gone into the building on the second floor to get warm, as he has no home, and was lying in the hallway leading to Dr. L. L. Pickens when discovered by Mr. Nehren and Surfass.

The night officer was notified, and Weidner was taken to the city jail, where he was provided with a cot, and allowed to remain in the warm room for the night.

Weidner has been employed for several days scraping snow and ice from the sidewalk near the pool room at the rear of the real estate office on Eighth and Main streets.

MILK FREEZES SOLID

PORTLAND, Dec. 13.—"Won't you have a bite of milk?" is one of the questions put to those at the breakfast table in many Portland homes as a result of the freeze-up. The custom of putting the milk on top of the refrigerator on the back porch has proven very disastrous the last few days, and, although the things in the ice box have kept thawed out, everything freezable on top has fallen before the onslaught of the cold weather.

KILLED WRITER, IS CHARGE SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 15.—Edgar and Alice Woodcock, husband and wife, went on trial here today charged with murder as the result of the shooting by Woodcock of Edward Kelly, newspaper man.

SMALL FIRE ON MAIN

What might have been a disastrous fire this afternoon at 3 o'clock was prevented by the presence of mind of Mrs. Elta Verville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Beck, who own the Portland house at Fifth and Main streets, where the fire took place.

Little Raymond Meadows, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Meadows, of this city, and a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Beck, had secured a match, and attempted to make a bonfire in a room on the first floor of the building, in so doing the lace curtains caught fire, and a number of pieces of furniture were damaged by the blaze. Mrs. Verville rushed to the rescue and played the part of a heroine, when she grabbed a heavy blanket and smothered the flames. Quick work had to be done in order to save the home, as the present weather has caused many of the pipes to freeze and the water supply is limited.

The Portland house is a frame structure and other buildings adjoining are of the same construction.

VIENNA WANTS FOOD

LONDON, Dec. 15.—Burgomaster Neumann of Vienna has appealed to the mayors of New York, Chicago and "other American cities" for a loan with which to purchase foodstuffs, raw materials and coal, a dispatch from the Austrian capital reported today.

Steel Magnate, Wonderful Art Gallery He Left to New York City, His Widow and Children

Friends of Henry Clay Frick, the coke and steel magnate who died suddenly, state that by his will he left his $5,000,000 New York residence, his art gallery and $30,000,000 art collection to New York City. To perfect the gift Mr. Frick provided for a large endowment not only for the maintenance of the museum and its masterpieces, but for generous additions to the collection. The estate is estimated to be worth from $75,000,000 to $100,000,000. The residence and its contents are reserved during the life of Mrs. Frick for her use and that of her daughter, Miss Helen Clay Frick, who now becomes the wealthiest bachelor girl in America. The photograph shows the Frick home and art gallery and above, from left to right, are Mrs. Frick, Childs Frick, the millionaire's only son; Miss Helen Clay Frick, his only daughter, and the late Mr. Frick.

FEDERAL BUILDING ASKED FOR THIS CITY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Congressman W. C. Hawley has introduced in the national congress a bill providing for the purchase of a site and the erection of a building in which to house the postoffice, land office and other government offices in Oregon City at a cost not to exceed $150,000.

The bill provides for the advertisement of the proposal to furnish available sites for such a building. The building shall be unexpended to danger from fire by an open space of at least 40 feet on each side, including streets and alleys.

The bill after its introduction was referred to the committee on public buildings and grounds in whose hands it now rests.

SCHOOL SUPERINTENDANT CHECKING UP TO SEE IF SUFFICIENT FUND RAISED

County Superintendent J. A. Calavan began checking up with the county assessor on Monday to ascertain how many of the school districts in the county had conformed with the new law passed at the last session of the legislature requiring each school district to levy sufficient millage to raise $620 for next year for the county fund instead of $400 as under the new law.

The exact number of districts could not be ascertained because Assessor Everhart was out of the city.

As far as he could learn, Mr. Calavan found that few of the districts have conformed to the new law. If on further investigation this is found to be correct then the county court will have to increase the levies in each school district in order to secure the increase necessary.

PEACE NOTE RETURNED

COPENHAGEN, Dec. 13.—The American, British, French and Italian ministers here were reported today to have returned the peace notes of Boris Litvinoff, Bolshevik envoy, without a reply.

Men South Dakota Republicans Want to Head National Ticket

South Dakota republicans have put Major General Wood and Governor Calvin Coolidge of Massachusetts in the 1920 presidential race. They were endorsed for the presidency and vice presidency respectively by the state convention. After Wood, Governor Lowden of Illinois was favorite. The names of those chosen will be submitted to the people at the primary elections.

MRS. S. A. HARVEY DIES AT THE HOME OF DAUGHTER

Mrs. Sophia A. Harvey, wife of R. G. Harvey, died Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. Williams, of Carver, after an illness of several months.

Mrs. Harvey was born in Quebec September 3, 1834, and accompanied her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. George Rous, to Illinois. At the age of 15 she married R. G. Harvey. To this union there were born ten children, five of whom survive, and are C. S. Harvey, of Carver, Clackamas county; W. W. Harvey, of Node, Wyo., who has been at the bedside of his mother, and called back home about a week ago by the illness of a daughter; Mrs. M. A. Williams, of Carver; R. G. Harvey, Jr., of Sioux City, Iowa; Mrs. G. C. Dallas, of Carver.

Mrs. Harvey also leaves two sisters, Mrs. William Church, of Carver; Mrs. E. J. Barnum, of Kearney, Neb.; three brothers, George Rouse, of Mill City, Ore.; Robert Rouse, of Meadow Grove, Neb.; and Charles Rouse, of Kearney, Neb.

Mrs. Harvey came to Clackamas county from Middlegrove, Neb., in company with her husband and daughter, Mrs. A. Williams, arriving here last May. She had made her home at Middle Grove for 3 years, but longed to be near her children in the west and since May she has resided at Carver. A number of Nebraska friends have also taken up their residence near Carver.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey's 70th wedding anniversary had recently been celebrated.

Mrs. Harvey was a woman loved by all who had made her acquaintance. Although she had resided in Clackamas county but a short time she had made a large number of friends. She has been a member of the Baptist church since 10 years of age.

The husband, who is in feeble health, is also making his home with his daughter, Mrs. Williams, of Carver.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 13.—Living costs are dropping. Shoe shines went down to a dime from 15 cents today.

SHIPS ARE BLOCKADED BY ICE IN COLUMBIA

PORTLAND, Dec. 13.—(Special)—With two shipping board steamers, one steel and the other wood, frozen fast in an ice jam in the Columbia river opposite Goble, Or., and other vessels loaded in Portland harbor awaiting an opportunity to get out to sea, the attention of all shipping interests in this city last night was centered on the tank steamer J. A. Chanslor, owned by the Associated Oil company, which was battling her way up the ice-blocked Columbia from Astoria with a cargo of fuel oil for Portland.

If the Chanslor succeeds in breaking through the ice, it is agreed that the other vessels will have more than a chance to escape. If, on the other hand, the Chanslor is unable to penetrate the ice mass, Portland harbor will be admitted as ice-locked as a polar expedition and all attempts to enter or leave this port will be abandoned until the river clears.

Motion Filed in Hawley Case

C. Schuebel, as attorney for Mrs. Marjorie Hawley, suing her husband for divorce, filed a motion Saturday asking that C. D. D. C. and E. C. Latourette be associated with him in the record of the case as attorney for the plaintiff in the case.

Mr. Schuebel also filed a stipulation agreed to by both parties to the suit permitting the addition of several words to the original complaint which in transcribing had been left out of the prayer of the complaint.

OREGON U. MAY GET CHANCE AT HARVARD

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 11.—Harvard's undefeated football team will play at the Tournament of Roses in Pasadena, Cal., on New Year's day.

The Harvard athletic commission rescinded its previous action in declining an invitation to have Harvard meet an as yet unnamed opponent because of the coal crisis and the restriction on railroad travel. With the coal miners' strike settled, Harvard authorities decided that it would be practical now to have the 25 players make the transcontinental trip.

The Harvard athletic committee at the close of the meeting sent the following telegram to W. L. Leissman, president of the Tournament of Roses:

"In view of change in fuel conditions cancellation revoked. Team will come."

The University of Oregon in all probability is to be the team that will represent the west in the New Year's day gridiron classic at Pasadena. Official announcement naming the western team is expected from Pasadena today.

OREGON TEAM WILL TRAVEL SOUTH JAN. 1

EUGENE, Dec. 12.—(Special)—Official announcement that the University of Oregon and Harvard would meet at Pasadena in the New Year's day football classic caused much rejoicing among the followers of the lemon-yellow machine.

Shortly after the Oregon faculty placed its O. K. on the invitation, the players reported to Coach Huntington and Trainer Hayward for practice, and despite the fact that Kincaid field was covered with snow, a long, hard practice was held.

Trainer Hayward faces a difficult task in putting the players in shape for the game, but he is confident that the squad will be in as good shape as the Crimson players for the contest. Oregon will have a slight advantage over Harvard in that they will not be forced to make a transcontinental trip.

SCHOOL LEAGUE HAS MEETING

The Clackamas County School League met in the office of county School Superintendent J. E. Calavan Friday, to formulate plans for the inter-scholastic contests to be held in 1920, including debating, declamatory and athletics in the grammar grades; declamatory, oratorical, short stories and athletics in the high schools. These will be taken up about February.

The board meeting was composed of R. W. Kirk, president; T. J. Gary, secretary; Mrs. H. B. Cartledge, treasurer. Other members of the board are County School Superintendent J. E. Calavan and Superintendent Wakefield, the latter of Milwaukie.

BANNON AND ICE HAVE THRILLING TRIP UP CLACKAMAS RIVER

Local Men Have Great Trip Up River Through Snow and Have Strange Experiences

George Bannon and Dr. L. G. Ice, both of whom have property interests along the banks of the Clackamas situated about seven miles from this city, but seemed to be about eleven or twelve through the snow, left here Thursday morning for their places, walking the entire distance. Business of importance made it necessary to make the trip, and an effort was made to secure snow shoes, but these could not be obtained, so they decided to make the trip on foot.

Provisions were short where the men's property is located, and it was also necessary to carry a supply of medicine for one who was ill. The trip was made in good time, except for the time lost while Doc was digging himself out of a "trench" he had fallen into. Bannon played the part of a hero, although Doc is about twice his size, and succeeded in rescuing the dentist from his perilous position.

Dr. Ice believes that there is a whole lot in a name for the ice he collided with did very little damage except to give him a sensation that he would not care to repeat. He says it would have been more serious had he been on snow shoes or skis.

While making the trip they passed a Japanese gardener bearing the body of his infant child, who had died but a short time before and was brought here for burial. The Japanese is engaged in gardening near the places of these two men.

Those residing at the Bannon and Ice place are marooned owing to the deep snow in that section. These are Mr. McNeal and Mr. and Mrs. Walters.

MOVES TO WEST LINN

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Crusius and baby daughter, Margaret Edith, who have been residing in Portland, where Mr. Crusius has been connected with the engineering department of the Crown Willamette Paper company, have taken up their residence at West Linn. They are now occupying the residence recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Daugherty, the former manager of the Crown Willamette linn. Mr. Crusius is resident engineer of the company.

Mrs. Crusius was a former New York girl, her maiden name being Miss Mable Weiss. The daughter was born on Monday, November 24 at the Portland Maternity home, and Mr. Crusius is said to be one of the happiest men of the state of Oregon since the arrival of his daughter.
