Portland Brakeman
Seriously Injured

Canby, Or., Dec. 24.—J. R. Martin, of Portland, a brakeman employed by the Southern Pacific, was seriously injured the later part of the week, when a freight train collided with another. The accident was due to the heavy fog, and it was impossible for the trainmen of the incoming train to see the work train standing near the front of the depot. The rear of the freight train was badly demolished, and the engineer called to the brakeman to jump, but he failed to hear the orders and was caught. His leg was badly mangled, but it is hoped this can be saved.

Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Prouty went to Portland Monday.

A. H. Knight went to Oregon City on business Thursday. This week Mr. Knight has a force of men engaged on the highway removing some boulders that have fallen during the past few days. These rocks became loosened when the snow was melted by the rain.

The railways of the United States are more than one-third, nearly one-half, of all the railways of the world. They carry a yearly traffic so much greater than that of any other country that there is really no basis for comparison. Indeed, the traffic of any two nations may be combined and still it does not approach the commerce of America borne upon American railways.

—United States Bureau of Commerce.

Ask Any Doughboy Who Was "Over There"

and he will tell you that American railroads are the best in the world.

He saw the foreign roads—in England and France, the best in Europe—and in other Continental countries—and he knows.

The part railroads have played in the development of the United States is beyond measure.

American railroads have achieved high standards of public service by far-sighted and courageous investment of capital, and by the constant striving of managers and men for rewards for work well done.

We have the best railroads in the world—we must continue to have the best.

But they must grow.

To the $20,000,000,000 now invested in our railroads, there will have to be added in the next few years, to keep pace with the nation's business, billions more for additional tracks, stations and terminals, cars and engines, electric power houses and trains, automatic signals, safety devices, the elimination of grade crossings—and for reconstruction and engineering economies that will reduce the cost of transportation.

To attract to the railroads in the future the investment funds of many thrifty citizens, the directing genius of the most capable builders and managers, and the skill and loyalty of the best workmen—in competition with other industries bidding for capital, managers and men—the railroad industry must hold out fair rewards to capital, to managers and to the men.

American railroads will continue to set world standards and adequately serve the Nation's needs if they continue to be built and operated on the American principle of rewards for work well done.

Peanuts and Road Money

The expenditure of several million dollars upon Clackamas county roads cannot be handled without a comprehensive program. The people have sanctioned the disbursement of $1,700,000 for the paving of 145 miles of road, and have also taxed themselves as district units for the grading and base where required. In response to a popular demand, the county court is arranging to have preliminary surveys made, so that the roads to be improved next year will not suffer from improper engineering.

The large amount of money to be spent justifies the organization and equipment of a highway department that will be something more than a name. The appointment of a few engineers, with very limited authority, is not sufficient. The county should begin at the beginning, permit the department chiefs to hire their own subordinates and make a liberal appropriation that will permit the operation of the department in a broad way.

Peanut methods of handling road construction in this county came to an end with the passage of the bond measure. We have fiddled away thousands of dollars on so-called maintenance, without engineering, without supervision and with little organization. During recent years conditions have improved, it is true, but they are far from ideal now.

Successful road and bridge building calls for the best brains obtainable. It is no job for men without experience. We believe the county court has used wisdom in selecting its engineering heads. In justice to these officials and to the taxpayers who are spending the money, the highway department, when correctly and thoroughly organized, should be told what to do and then given a free hand for the execution of the court's plans. No other arrangement will be successful.

Neighbor Accused of Killing Billy Dansey
and Little Son Who Was Billy's Playmate

Charles S. White of Hammonton, N. J., declares that his arrest on a charge of murdering little "Billy" Dansey is unwarranted. White is seen here with his son Charlie, a playmate of the Dansey boy. Billy disappeared on Oct. 8. The New Jersey authorities disagree as to whether the bones of a child found recently are those of Billy Dansey and the mystery has grown daily.

Hat Which Created a Sensation in Paris

Although undoubtedly he should have, the photographer furnished no name with this photograph, which he prospectively describes as "showing the latest hat from France." It was one of the most stunning creations seen on the Bois de Boulogne. A velvet crown is circled by a broad, sweeping brim and a paradise plume on the side adds a dash of brilliant color.

WOMEN EXCEED MEN IN JAPANESE FACTORIES

850,000 Japanese Women Work at Average Daily Wage of Ten to Twenty Cents for a Twelve Hour Day.

There are more women in industry in Japan than there are men, according to a statement recently made by the War Work Council of the Young Women's Christian Association.

The world war has brought 850,000 women and girls into the daily grind of industry according to this statement; 30,000 of them little girls under fifteen years of age who work twelve hours a day at a wage of ten to twenty cents a day, that the world may have silk dresses and munitions.

In Tokyo alone, a city of two and one-half million people, there are 100,000 women employed in sixty-two industries and businesses varying from work as telephone operators, clerks, stenographers and bookkeepers to work in silk and other sorts of factories and domestic work.

Each year thousands of these women go back to their homes in the country, broken in health and victims of tuberculosis because of the poor conditions under which they work and live. They are housed in dormitories in the factory compound. These dormitories are frequently unsanitary. The girls work long hours, have no recreation and on finishing their long day go immediately to bed, oftentimes a bed which a girl who works at night has been sleeping in all day.

As part of its world service for women, the Young Women's Christian Association plans to build dormitories in manufacturing towns where girls may live cheaply under healthful physical and social conditions, to send out secretaries who can introduce recreation into the factory compound and direct games and social life.

This is done with the co-operation of the factories' managers and proprietors. One of the most influential of these is Mrs. Suzuki, the most prominent woman manufacturer in Japan, who is owner and manager of a firm which exported $11,000,000 worth of bean oil to America last year.

Recently Mrs. Suzuki decided to employ one thousand women in her offices. She could not find enough well trained ones so she established a permanent school where Japanese girls may be trained to enter the business world. The greatest danger ahead of Japan, she says, is in its growing materialism, and Japan's greatest need, the development of her women.

+ NATIONAL FRIENDSHIPS
+ DEPEND UPON WOMANKIND +
+ Japanese Diplomat Says Men +
+ Alone Cannot Create International Friendliness. +
+ International friendship be- +
+ tween nations depends largely +
+ upon the friendly feeling between +
+ the women of those nations, ac- +
+ cording to representatives of the +
+ Japanese embassy in Washington. +
+ Their theory is that there can +
+ be no firm friendship between +
+ two nations unless the women of +
+ those two countries know and +
+ like one another, as co-operation +
+ between nations, as in the state +
+ and in the family, is based on co- +
+ operation between men and wo- +
+ men. +
+ Therefore, if Japan and Ameri- +
+ ca are to have a real, lasting +
+ friendship, to really know and +
+ understand one another, the wo- +
+ men of the two nations must +
+ learn to play together, to study +
+ together and to think together. +
+ The Y. W. C. A. is one of the +
+ best mediums for bringing about +
+ this friendship between the two +
+ nations, according to diplomatic +
+ representatives of Japan, as that +
+ organization is teaching Japanese +
+ women recreation, showing them +
+ how to enjoy out-of-door life and +
+ sports. It is particularly neces- +
+ sary that Japanese women learn +
+ to enjoy and appreciate recrea- +
+ tion, they say, since the great +
+ influx of women into industry +
+ and business, as Japanese wo- +
+ men, formerly so conservative, +
+ are going into business and doing +
+ many things which they had +
+ never thought of doing before the +
+ war. +
+ The Y. W. C. A. has been as- +
+ sured the fullest possible co-op- +

The pictures of Santa Claus

Look somewhat

As if the old saint

Was a trifle given

To joking

Wonder if the old fellow

Don't get a little joy

Out of life in that way.

There are forty or fifty

Citizens of Clackamas county

Good and true

All aspiring to some office

Within the gift of the people.

Hope the old fellow

Slipped each one

A certificate of nomination

For the office they desire.

And whispered

In their ear

Go to it

Your election is assured.

Nose Dives

Will then have material enough

To keep this column

One of joy

Until the returns

Are all in

And then to some

There will be darkness

In the land.
