

CONGRESS IS TO INVESTIGATE RED ACTIVITY IN THIS NATION

Washington, Dec. 23.—Institution early next month of a general congressional inquiry into radical activity in the United States was announced today by leaders in both the senate and house.

Chairman Johnson of the house immigration committee, returning from New York, where he saw the red boat load of undesirable leave American shores for soviet Russia, said that his committee planned to resume its hearings on radicalism soon after the holidays at eastern ports and that in the meantime members of the committee would review the large mass of seditious documents seized in recent department of justice raids.

SIMS REFUSES SERVICE MEDAL AWARDED HIM

Washington, Dec. 23.—Secretary of the Navy Daniels today stated that he has received a letter from Admiral Sims, commander-in-chief of the American naval forces in European waters during the war, in which the admiral refused to accept the distinguished service medal awarded him. The secretary stated that he had not replied to the letter.

Admiral Sims, in his letter, stated that he felt impelled to invite attention to a special class of awards which is the subject of such condemnation and ridicule that the effect upon the present and future morale of the service must necessarily be "deplorable to the last degree."

The letter continues:

"This must necessarily result in serious discontent and a sense of injustice. The commanding officer of a vessel that is sunk by a submarine should not receive the same rewards as the commander of a vessel which sinks a submarine."

"Some of the recommendations for awards which Admiral Sims made were disregarded. Of the 19 members of his own staff recommended for medals only six were decorated. The letter declares that the awards have been affected by 'outside influence.'"

SENT HOME FROM ASYLUM.

Salem, Dec. 22.—George W. Chenoweth, committed to the state hospital from Curry county last August, when he was acquitted of the charge of murdering George Sydnor, on the grounds of insanity, was discharged from the institution this morning and left immediately for his home.

Chenoweth expects to spend Christmas with his family, but has declared his intention of disposing of his present interests near Denmark, Curry county, and removing to Gold Beach.

Chenoweth served with the Canadian forces in the recent war and represented Curry county in an advisory capacity during the last session of the state legislature, occupying the seat of Representative Stannard, deceased.

USES AIRPLANE.

Salinas, Cal., Dec. 22.—The ghost of Ichabod Crane and his angular "rack of bones" might well amble on the country road here while School Superintendent George Schultzberg of Monterey county utilizes the more modern method of airplaning.

Superintendent Schultzberg lays claim to the distinction of being the first superintendent of schools to make his rounds via airplane.

The country schoolmaster thus emerges into the class of high fliers.

RECRUITS TO BE SOUGHT

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—The war department on January 1 will inaugurate a three-months' advertising campaign in more than 900 communities and in 400 cities of the country where auxiliary army recruiting stations are located, it was announced here today.

KIDNAP ATTEMPT FOILED.

Vienna, Dec. 22.—A plot to kidnap Bela Kun, former Communist dictator of Hungary, and hand him over to the Hungarian authorities, has been frustrated by the Austrian police.

Captain on Trial on Charges of Cruelty to American Soldiers in French Camp

Captain Karl W. Detzer, at left and Lieutenant Thomas L. Heffernan

This photograph was taken while Captain Karl W. Detzer was being tried by general court martial at Governor's Island on charges of cruelty to prisoners at Le Mans evacuation camp in France. Seated beside him is Lieutenant Thomas L. Heffernan, his counsel. American soldiers tell of being beaten and tortured with Detzer's knowledge or consent, while they were in the hands of the military police.

EMMA GOLDMAN AND OTHERS OF THAT TRIBE ARE DEPORTED

New York, Dec. 22.—Rioting broke out at the Battery Park today when 200 friends and sympathizers, both men and women, of the 249 anarchists deported on the transport Buford, stormed the government barge office. Coast guardsmen, customs officials and policemen battled for 30 minutes with the mob.

The trouble started when the "re" sympathizers were refused permission to visit Ellis Island to ascertain whether friends and relatives who were being detained there had been sent out upon the so-called "soviet ark." One woman who gave the name of Clara Broke was seriously injured when she drove her fist through a plate-glass window. She was arrested.

"This is the beginning of the end of the United States; I shall be back in America; we shall all be back. I am proud to be among the first deported. The czar in all his career never treated his subjects as we are being treated."

Standing between two husky khaki clad marines, at the rail of the "Soviet Ark" the transport Buford, Emma Goldman, high priestess of anarchy, shouted this vaudeville greeting as the transport carrying her, Alexander Berkman, and 247 others of their ilk headed down the bay Sunday morning en route for an unknown port, presumably in soviet Russia.

Emma, dressed in a dark blue suit and wearing the sealskin coat presented to her by Elizabeth Gurley Flynn and other admirers, was the most conspicuous member of the party, but she kept quiet until the ship got under way; then she broke forth with her tirade against the government.

GRAVES ARE IDENTIFIED.

Paris, Dec. 22.—The grave registration service, which has been tabulating the identity of American heroes buried in Belleau cemetery, has completed the work. It has been announced. Out of the 2000 graves of American soldiers only 100 are without identification.

NITTI TO HOLD ON.

Rome, Dec. 22.—The small major ity obtained by the government in the chamber of deputies when the order of the day expressing confidence in the ministry was carried by a vote of 242 to 216 will not, it is believed, cause the Nitti cabinet to resign.

THREE MEN ARE RESCUED WHEN SHIP STRIKES

MARSHFIELD, Dec. 20.—Apparently only three men are alive of the 42 who were aboard the Associated Oil company's tanker J. A. Chanslor when she struck a rock in the fog a mile and a half north of Cape Blanco Thursday night.

The known saved are: CAPTAIN A. A. SAWYER, master, WILLIAM KAZLER, seaman, EARL DOOLEY, seaman.

The Chanslor went ashore at 6 o'clock Thursday evening about a mile and a half north of Cape Blanco and a half mile north of the mouth of the Sixes river. There are many rocks off Cape Blanco and it is believed that the tanker must have struck a rock as she went ashore and apparently broke in two. Only the bridge is above water, while the bow pointing up indicates the vessel is broken in the center.

Unless the tanker had first struck a rock, it is not believed she would have gone to pieces on the beach so quickly. The wreck is out some distance from shore.

Several years ago the Sinifca went ashore near the same point, but was saved by a salvage company and no one was lost. Other vessels in the past years have been lost off Cape Blanco. There is no chance of anyone having got ashore from the wreck excepting the 12 who put off in the lifeboat, and of whom only three reached shore.

The steamer City of Topeka arrived here from San Francisco this morning. She was at the vicinity of the wreck of the Chanslor last night and searched for possible boats, but found no one either alive or dead. The steamer G. C. Lindauer also arrived this morning, but had not found any trace of survivors or dead. The incoming vessels reported they had to fight a very strong current inshore at Cape Blanco.

Of the three men who were rescued, Captain Sawyer is in a hospital at Bandon, suffering with pneumonia as a result of the exposure, one sailor is at the Bandon light house and the third survivor is being cared for in a private home in Bandon.

In his bed at the hospital Captain Sawyer gave a statement of the wreck, saying there is practically no hope that Francis C. Jackson of Portland, a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Jackson, who was making the trip on the Chanslor as a second assistant engineer, had been saved.

"I am sure Francis Jackson did not get into the lifeboat," said Captain Sawyer, who is ill with pneumonia in a Bandon hospital. "The lifeboat was the only one to leave the ship and carried 10 men. Two others were picked up from the water as the boat drifted away, but both died from exposure."

A sailor named Dooley and another sailor whose name I have not learned were saved.

"The ship struck a rock and the fore part was torn away. The stern was washed ashore. The boat struck between a mile and a half and north of Cape Blanco."

The three men who were rescued were picked up by Captain Johnson of the Bandon coast guard, about four miles north of Bandon, Friday night. They had attempted to make a landing in the surf, but the boat capsized and all others in the boat were drowned. Only the three got ashore alive.

Three bodies also were found, but they have not been identified. About all that was learned from the survivors was that this one boat was the only one that got away from the wrecked tanker. There were originally 12 men in the boat. Two died of exposure and there were 10 on board when the boat attempted to land. It is practically certain that the three found alive on the beach, including Captain Sawyer, are the only survivors of the vessel.

Captain Johnson was notified of the wreck Friday night and patrolled the beach for miles with the result that the three survivors were found. The one lifeboat which got away drifted 30 miles north and the occupants were subjected to exposure, which resulted in the death of two of the 12 who originally left the vessel.

NEEDLESS PRECAUTION.

(By O. Lawrence Hawthorne.)

Geese, but I'll be glad when Christmas comes.

An I can be myself again an' play like other boys.

Geese, now if I forget an' only run across the room, or even make a little, quiet noise.

My mother yells, "Now, Wilbur, settle down."

Or Santa Claus won't bring yop any pretty Christmas toys!

I wish old Santa Claus'd hurry up. An' bring me what he's goin' to. I don't care what he brings.

Just so he comes, and then I guess my dad.

Won't tell me, when I'm playin' train, jest 'cause the train bell rings.

"Here, son, you cut that awful racket out."

Or Santa Claus'll pass you up on all his toys and things!

I wish that Christmas time was here right now.

I'm gettin' mighty tired of jest waitin' every day.

Fer Santa Claus, an' all the time my folks.

Are 'ollerin' about the noise. Of course I'm good but say.

I'll bet if I did do things sorter bad.

An' have some fun, ole Santa Claus would stop here anyway.

Lincoln, Neb., Dec. 22.—The Lincoln Woman's club's boycott on eggs was lifted today.

First-class cold-storage eggs sold in Lincoln today for 55 cents a dozen, as compared with 85 cents two weeks ago, when 2000 members of the Woman's club united and refused to buy until lower prices prevailed.

"Our boycott has been a success," said Mrs. M. E. Hildreth, chairman of the civics department of the club.
