

600 WALK OUT IN SYMPATHY STRIKE

ROY OTT SAID TO HAVE BEEN DISCHARGED BECAUSE OF ACTIVITIES

CROWN-WILLAMETTE CLOSED

Men Are Paid Off and Turn In Passes and Announcements Made Mill Will Close

The expected clash between men who have been active in organizing the papermakers' union and the Crown-Willamette company culminated Thursday night when more than 400 papermakers quit work following the discharge of Roy Ott, who was prominent in the union movement. Ott was discharged Wednesday night after he was called into the office by the superintendent, he claims, and was asked to drop the union. Otto M. Hartwig, president of the Oregon Federation of Labor, who has been here organizing the different crafts of the city, addressed a meeting of the workers in Willamette hall Friday morning urging them to stick to their demand that Ott be returned to work. Nearly every man employed at the mill refused to go to work. One union sympathizer estimated that there are 700 men identified with the movement. A union organizer was here Friday perfecting the organization which was started several weeks ago.

The men declare that no demand for higher wages nor shorter hours was made on the mill company and that Ott was discharged in violation of a state law which, they declare, gives them the right to organize.

Over 300 men crowded into Willamette hall Friday night to take part in completing arrangements for the conduct of the strike.

None of the paper machines of the company were operated Friday or Saturday. Plant H, located on the east side of the river, was closed down. The other side was running on part shifts in several departments but operations were practically at a standstill so far as manufacturing the finished product is concerned. One meeting of the union men was held Saturday morning and pickets were appointed to inform working employees of the reasons for the strike. A few men were still working in the pulp and sulphite plants of the mill. At a meeting of the executive committee it was decided to appoint a committee to provide for maintaining a head of steam at the plant at all times to guard against fire.

A statement issued by the company claimed Ott was discharged because he intimidated other employees of the mill who had not joined the union.

The following named men were chosen officers of the new union: Roy Ott, president; Joseph Davenport, vice-president; R. D. Grady, treasurer; D. E. McMahon, secretary, and F. Phillips, financial secretary. An executive committee has been chosen and they will assign the pickets to duty and conduct other phases of the strike. The men have invited Manager McBain, of the Crown-Willamette company, to attend any or all of their meetings.

The Crown-Willamette Paper company's plant ceased operations following a conference of the president and general manager with the local management in Portland yesterday. The management declares the next move must be made by the 600 or more striking employees.

At a meeting of the local company officials and the union leaders Saturday the company proposed to put the men back to work and pay them for the time they had laid off provided nothing was done to continue the organization of the union until September 1, and then a vote to be taken and if a majority of the employees favored a union at that time the company was not to interfere. The men refused to accept.

Four hundred of the strikers marched from their meeting place in Willamette hall yesterday to the office of the company, where they received their pay checks and handed in their passes to the plant. While there was a determination expressed by the workers to stick to their position until Ott is reinstated and the right to organize is recognized, there was no evidence of a desire to start any trouble. Sheriff Wilson spoke to the men in the hall before they began their march and pointed out the necessity of crossing the suspension bridge in small units as the structure is old and may not have stood the strain had the entire number marched over at one time. Many of the single men were preparing to leave the city to seek employment elsewhere.

Approximately 400 striking employees formed in line at the suspension bridge at one o'clock yesterday afternoon and marched to the company's offices for their pay checks and to turn in their passes. It has been announced that the steamboat men have joined the Oregon City workers in a sympathetic strike and have re-

LAND TRADE TURNED DOWN BY CITY DADS

OBJECTIONS AIRD TO CONDITIONS OF SEVERAL LIV- ERY BARN

The proposal to trade certain city property for 13 1/2 acres owned by the water board at the south end of Oregon City, to be converted into a park site, was voted down by the city council 5 to 4 last night. Councilmen Metzner, Tobin, Templeton and Friedman voted in favor of the park. Councilmen Moore, Bridges, Van Auker, Buckles and Cox opposed it.

The vote was reached after considerable discussion of the majority report of the committee appointed April 12 to consider the transfer. The committee recommended that the consideration involved in the matter was too great. The argument advanced for the park was that this is the only city on the coast without a park and that money invested in that way is a good investment.

John Lewellman was elected to succeed Linn Jones, whose term as a member of the water board has expired. Mr. Lewellman was formerly county commissioner. He was nominated by Van Auker, the vote for his election standing five to four.

It was announced that a crusade will be started against objectionable barns and complaints will be sworn out today against some of the owners by City Attorney Story.

The improvement of Prospect street was authorized by the council at a cost not to exceed $10,000. Property owners are expected to pay about $1,200 of the entire cost of $2,000 for this improvement.

The bid of Moffatt & Parker for $298.50 for the construction of a sewer extension on High street was $395 above the engineer's estimate, but it was accepted because it was the only bid offered. Work is to be started immediately.

There was a complaint voiced that all of the pool rooms of the city are violating some sections of the city ordinance regulating these places and it was proposed to amend the ordinance to allow pool rooms to operate cigar stands without paying additional licenses.

Opening of 12th street and Taylor street was turned down on the recommendation of a committee appointed to make the report. At the special meeting of the council June 20, a vote will be taken for the purchase of 450 feet of fire hose. At that time a final reading of an ordinance fixing the grade of Third street from Main to the river will be held.

Chief of Police French was ordered to proceed to collect the annual dog tax immediately. According to his report, four persons were arrested in the past month for drunkenness and two for insanity.

Mariage Licenses

A license was issued Thursday to Adolph E. Wanke and Elfrida I. Strauch, both of this city; and Friday to Gladys L. Tweedle and Lundy M. Case, both of Woodburn, Oregon.

BODY OF BOY KILLED UNDER CAR WHEELS IS SENT HOME

The body of Frank M. Bennett, Jr., youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Bennett, of Willamette, arrived in Oregon City Saturday morning and was taken to the Holman undertaking parlors, where funeral services were held Sunday afternoon by Rev. Abbott, of Salem. Interment was in the I. O. O. F. cemetery. The lad died in a Yreka, California, hospital following the amputation of his leg, which was taken off under the wheels of train No. 13.

The boy had made an attempt to join the navy but was rejected because he was too young. It is thought he then decided to visit his brother, Vestal, who is in the navy and stationed in California. Young Bennett was riding on the front end of a baggage car and was ordered off by the brakeman, he told the nurse in the Yreka hospital, and the brakeman had thrown him off. The parents were told of the accident while the lad was still alive and left here Tuesday, but word was received a short time after they left that the boy was dead. He is survived by his parents, two sisters, Mrs. Grace Massey, of Cascade Locks, Ore., and a brother, Vestal Bennett, of the United States navy.

At the funeral services Mrs. Swift sang "Face to Face," and a quartet, composed of Mrs. Fromong, Mrs. Runyon, Mrs. Spatz and Miss Wirtz sang "Nearer, My God, to Thee." The pallbearers, former schoolmates of the deceased, were Perry Barnes, Burns Britton, Marvin Woolfolk, Edward Buckles, Henry Courtney and Frank Junken.

25 SLACKERS ARE KNOWN TO SHERIFF

MEN WHO FAILED TO REGISTER WILL BE GIVEN TIME TO SIGN UP

ORDER FOR LIBERAL POLICY

Over 2600 Names are Signed to War Census Rolls in Clackamas County Tuesday

That there are 25 or more slackers in Clackamas county known to the sheriff and district attorney was announced by Sheriff W. J. Wilson after the registration cards were returned to his office by the war marshals at 11:30 yesterday morning when all of the precincts were reported. There were 2,700 names registered Tuesday, it was estimated by the officials, who had counted more than 2,600 cards. A telegram from the provost marshal-general to Governor Withycombe was forwarded to Sheriff Wilson and instructed him to give slackers a reasonable time in which to register voluntarily. Sheriff Wilson says he will wait three or four days before making any arrests, and in this policy he has the support of District Attorney G. C. Hedges, who remained in headquarters to answer questions of men wishing to register and war marshals who were in doubt in certain cases.

None of the war marshals turned in any expense accounts and Sheriff Wilson says the returns were brought in in much faster time than has been the case of election returns in the past. By noon yesterday, the cards were forwarded to the provost marshal-general in the hope of getting them in before any other district's report arrived. Registration was conducted quietly throughout Clackamas county, no disturbances of any kind marking the day.

Victor Wolfe, of Oregon City, 26 years of age and a native of Alsace-Lorraine, was the first to register. He has been in the United States about five years and came to this city a few months ago to take a position as clerk in the C. C. department store. Mr. Wolfe comes from a family of soldiers. His father was a veteran of the Franco-Prussian war; another brother is fighting with the French army, somewhere in France; another brother is with the German army and still another is a member of a Swiss regiment.

T. W. SULLIVAN ELECTED CAMPAIGN MANAGER TO RAISE THE FUNDS

L. Adams, of the Adams department store of this city, who has been prominent in the Red Cross movement here, returned Monday from the Red Cross council held in the Portland hotel and announced that Clackamas county would be asked to raise $15,000 of the hundred million the society will attempt to raise in the national campaign, June 18 to 25. Interest in Red Cross work has been increasing rapidly in Oregon City and the rest of Clackamas county and Mr. Adams is confident that the money asked of this section will be contributed before the campaign ends.

Plans were perfected and officers chosen for the campaign at a meeting of the officers and directors in the Commercial club rooms here yesterday. T. W. ERICKSON PLEADS GUILTY TO CHARGE

MAN WHO OWNED FAMOUS PORTLAND RESORT FACES LONG JAIL TERM

"The sixth of June marks the last of August," said District Attorney Gilbert Hedges yesterday, when August Erickson pleaded guilty before Circuit Judge J. U. Campbell to maintaining a nuisance, the Clackamas Tavern, near Baker's Ferry, where Erickson was arrested May 10 after he had gone on a rampage and had taken several shots at his wife and threatened to shoot Sheriff W. J. Wilson, who took him into custody. Erickson pleaded guilty today before Justice of the Peace Sievers to four other charges, which were attacking with a dangerous weapon, manufacturing liquor, operating slot machines and possessing liquor.

Since his arrest August Erickson has been held at the county jail and under the influence of the kindness shown him by Sheriff Wilson he agreed to plead guilty to the charges. Erickson is known from coast to coast by the "down and outers" whom he befriended in his palmy days when he was the proprietor of the famous Erickson's resort in Portland, says Sheriff Wilson. In those days he gave with a prodigious hand. He has very little left of the fortune he accumulated. He told Sheriff Wilson that there are dozens of successful men today whom he stalked to their first start in the early days, some of them being large logging operators, others owning mines and he mentioned the names of several successful real estate men. Erickson was a ship carpenter and a skilled workman, says Sheriff Wilson. He has a set of tools worth hundreds of dollars.

OREGON CITY MAY NOT BE REPRESENTED AT FESTIVAL

The Fallsarians, uniformed pride of the Oregon City Commercial club, may be conspicuous by their absence at the Portland Rose Festival unless steps are taken to gather the shattered ranks, which have been depleted by the call to war. Captain Williams and many of the most active members of the Fallsarians have joined the colors, but it was announced Tuesday that G. F. Johnson, secretary of the promotion department of the club, had accepted an invitation in behalf of the Fallsarians to take part in the Rose Festival. A committee has been appointed by the Royal Rosarians, of Portland, to entertain the Oregon City delegation in case the latter decide to go. A meeting will be held tonight to decide the question.

OREGON CITY IS WELL ADVERTISED

FOOD FOR THOUGHT GIVEN COMMERCIAL CLUB BY COURIER WRITER

(By E. C. Brownlee)

Presidio, Cal.—Here is a bit of food for thought on the part of the Commercial club: There are two or three things that represent Oregon in San Francisco, where a number of Oregon City men and boys are engaged in a practical display of their patriotic spirits by their allegiance to the several military and naval forces. The men from Oregon City stationed at the Officers' Reserve Corps training camp at the Presidio have noticed and delighted in the fact that Oregon's premier representative in this great city is Oregon City. One of the chaps in the 6th company of the training camp regiment, believing that two army blankets were insufficient covering for sturdy Oregon limbs in the small hours of the morning, took an hour off and went to town to get more warmth. In the largest store in the city he sought a blanket. Back in camp he found that he had purchased a covering made in Oregon City and that the paper it was wrapped in was produced on the banks of the Willamette at Oregon City.

On my way about town Saturday I saw a fine looking store displaying under large signs, "Oregon City cassimere" and telling to the passing public that no better cloth is made anywhere. On the other hand Oregon is represented here by the Portland baseball team. The Oregon City men at the training camp attempted to interest themselves in the game—but San Francisco so thoroughly romped on the Beavers that the joy was taken out of the contest.

All branches of the military service here have their Oregon City delegations. The student officers at the Presidio are all well known and at the naval training station at Goat Island there are many others training to take up their duties aboard Uncle Sam's men o' war. The fact that Goat Island is out in San Francisco bay a mile or more and that the Presidio is several miles from the shore opposite that island keeps the two delegations from meeting one another, but both know that whatever is to be done will be done in part, at least.

Majority for, 18,278. No returns from Harney or Walla Walla counties.

Although Clackamas county polled a vote of 6472 to 2273 against the $6,000,000 road bond issue, Oregon City returns show a slight majority in their favor and gratification was expressed over the result in the state by the "twelve disciples of road efficiency" and other members of the Commercial club who were active in boosting for the bonds. In Carus precinct, the home of C. E. Spence, master of the State Grange, who led the fight against the bonds, 71 votes were cast against and not a single vote was recorded for the measure. When informed of the result in the state, Mr. Spence remarked that "It is too darned bad," and refused to make any other comment.

Late returns from Multnomah and various populous up-state counties serve to increase the majority in favor of the $6,000,000 road bond issue carried by the people at Monday's special election.

The bonds now have a lead in the state at large of 18,278, which includes a favorable majority of 18,456 in Multnomah county.

Only Harney and Walla Walla counties are to be heard from, and it is understood that good roads will carry in each of them, but the population is not large in either county. The missing precincts in Multnomah county are expected to add to the majority.

The vote at present stands: Yes, 70,815. No, 52,537. The final result of the other measures on the state ballot remains unchanged.

The following measures apparently have passed: Empowering ports to levy bonds to develop water transportation, providing uniform tax classifications and providing for simultaneous city and state elections.

The following appear to have been defeated: Increasing legislators' salaries, prohibiting repeal of parts of constitution by implication and levying $400,000 tax for new penitentiary.

Marion county, the home of the penitentiary, voted against the new prison, 2,032 to 5,936.
