SUES CANBY FOR $10,000 DAMAGES FOR INJURIES

Claiming he is permanently injured because of the carelessness of the city of Canby while he worked in the pumping station of that city, Peter Hornig has started suit to recover $10,000 damages, $300 doctors' fees and $185 for his attorneys. Hornig, according to his complaint, was employed as a helper by Kenneth Hornig, who had charge of the pumping station. He says his clothing was caught in the shafting of the machinery while he was engaged in putting the driving belt in place after starting the engine, which he claims, would not start when the driving belt was in position.

He declares he was confined in a hospital for 39 days with his left leg fractured and ligaments of his right leg torn and several broken ribs. He is a well digger and was capable of making $15 a day before he was hurt, the complaint recites, but he did not say how much he received as helper at the pumping station.

Spiritualist Camp Meeting

CEREMONIES MARK 70th ANNIVERSARY

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH OF THIS CITY HAD FIRST CHURCH
HOUSE

The First Baptist church of Oregon City celebrated its 70th anniversary Sunday with appropriate exercises. Old members of the church gave memories of the history of the church and members of the Gladstone church, which was organized by former members, took part in the ceremonies. Rev. S. P. Davis, who was pastor from 1885 to 1887, D. C. Latourette and Harvey E. Cross, old members of the congregation, were the speakers in the morning.

At the young people's meeting Sunday the services were led by Miss Maude Cook, a granddaughter of Rev. Hezekiah Johnston, who was the first pastor.

Rev. Jos. Beaven, general missionary superintendent of the Baptist denomination for Western Washington, who holds the record for the longest pastorate in the history of the church, was the speaker at the services Sunday evening and told some interesting history of the congregation.

The First Baptist church of Oregon City was founded July 4, 1847, with seven members. Its present membership is 540. Sixteen pastors have served the church since its foundation. The first was Rev. Hezekiah Johnston. The sixth pastor, Rev. J. H. Tealey, is still living and sent a message which will be read at a meeting of the congregation Thursday evening. It was during Rev. Tealey's administration that the church became self-supporting and it celebrated its 33rd anniversary.

The first Young People's society was organized by Rev. S. P. Davis, who still resides in Oregon City. The first Baptist church-house in Oregon was built on the site of the present church and one of the treasured possessions of the congregation is a photograph of the old structure.

A Baptist college was conducted in Oregon City for several years but was later moved to McMinnville, where it is now located. Last year the church gave $231.00 to home missions; $468.50 to foreign missions and $600.00 of the $1,000 given to county missionary work, the latter being interdenominational.

A big rally and greetings from prominent workers of former days will be held at the church Thursday evening. On Friday evening refreshments will be served and Dr. W. B. Hinson, of Portland, will deliver an address on "Looking to the Future." Visitors will be welcome to the meetings this week.

Total liabilities are shown at $122,820.24, with resources of $87,353.02. The big cut in the indebtedness figures is due to the fact that the report is for six months of tax paying time.

On their way out of the Miller-Parker garage here yesterday after having a tire repaired, Privates J. C. Kendall and Watson, of Company M, 3rd Oregon, picked up a new tire and rim. They were accused of the theft by Sheriff W. J. Wilson last night and confessed. The rim was thrown away on the road to Canby after the men discovered it would not fit their machine. Bringing a radiant Message of Warmth
Ang singing a Joyous Song of Hope
And Happiness!

And awaken and arouse the Best that's in you!
I bring you Joy! I bring Ambition, and I send
New Life and Energy coursing through your veins!
I am the sworn Enemy of Sadness,
And with one fell swoop, I rout
Discouragement!

I take the little children by the hand—
Upon their rosy cheeks I leave the Kiss of Health
And the sweet lingering Breath
Of Christian Inspiration!
And together we laugh—and we sing, and play—
And dance beneath the giant firs—along the velvet paths,
That lead toward the Dreamy Land of
"Better-Men-and-Women!"

For I am the Gladstone Chautauqua!
And I come to you and yours—bringing my Joyous song
Of Love, and Hope and Happiness!

FIND A TRUE BILL AGAINST AUGUST

WILLIAM NEIMANN DISMISSED
BY GRAND JURY FOR ALLEGED ATTACK

When August Erickson, erstwhile proprietor of the Clackamas Tavern, who is serving several sentences in the county jail, was sentenced by Judge J. U. Campbell, June 5th, District Attorney Hedges remarked that the "Fifth of June marked the last of August," but he was evidently "spoofing" Erickson, for the grand jury, which made its report Friday, indicted the latter on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon pressed by Mrs. Erickson on May 10.

The true bill against Erickson was the only one returned by the grand jury. William Neimann, who was charged with threatening to kill by G. F. Gibson, of Barlow, was dismissed.

More misfortune was heaped upon Erickson Friday. His demurrer to his wife's divorce suit was overruled and a request for temporary alimony and suit money which was included in the motion by his attorney, Jos. E. Hedges, was denied, but he was allowed ten days further time in which to prepare his defense.

Erickson is serving time in the county jail on five charges. He pleaded guilty before Judge Campbell, June 7, to maintaining a nuisance and was sentenced to six months and a fine of $150 and costs. The day previous he had pleaded guilty before Justice of the Peace John N. Sievers to four other charges on which he received sentences aggregating six months. All of the sentences were to run concurrently. The charges were manufacturing liquor, operating slot machines, having liquor in his possession and selling liquor.

According to Sheriff W. J. Wilson, the prisoner's troubles are the result of a "spre" which started several days before May 10 and culminated in his arrest after he had gone on a rampage at the Clackamas Tavern. Erickson is alleged to have taken several shots at his wife and to have threatened to shoot the sheriff and his deputies when the latter answered the S. O. S. call sent out by Mrs. Erickson. Sheriff Wilson says Erickson has been a model prisoner since his incarceration.

CARPENTER MIRACULOUSLY ESCAPES DEATH BY FALL

Marion H. Gaston, 6517 E. 88th street, Portland, who was working on the new auditorium at the Gladstone Chautauqua grounds Monday, fell from the top of the arch just before quitting time and miraculously escaped death by landing on his feet after he had grasped a rope, which broke his fall to the ground.

Gaston was working on the roof of the immense structure and missed his footing. He grabbed a loose guy rope which had been used to hold a pole for hoisting the arches to their positions. The rope ran through a block until the end was reached, when the knot in the end held it taut. Gaston's hand was severely burned and he was rendered unconscious, but he struck the ground standing upright.

The injured man was taken to the home of H. E. Cross and Dr. Orel Welsh, county health officer, who lives near by, was called. Dr. Welsh said no bones were broken, but Mr. Gaston was bruised about the ankles and hips.

If the Clackamas county court will provide $15,000 toward the elimination of the New Era hill, the state highway commission will appropriate a like amount for the purpose, it was announced at the meeting of the commission. The state commission has also given assurance that five miles of road will be paved in this county this year to connect with a piece of road leading into Marion county, where five miles more will be paved by that county, giving a continued stretch of paved road ten miles long.

Clackamas county will appropriate $15,000 for road work to meet the proposal of the state highway commission to spend an equal amount for the elimination of dangerous grades on the New Era hill and at other places, it was announced by Judge H. S. Anderson, of the county court, Saturday.

JIM ADKINS KILLED BY S. P. ENGINE

PROMINENT LUMBER DEALER
OF THIS CITY MEETS ACCI-
DENTAL DEATH

While crossing hurriedly in front of the north bound train on the Molalla branch of the Southern Pacific railway at Kraft station Saturday morning, James Adkins, of the James Adkins Lumber company, of Oregon City, was killed when struck by the engine. The train was in charge of Conductor Knight and Engineer Gittings and left Kraft at 7 o'clock.

Mr. Adkins' home is near Kraft station and it was necessary for him to cross the track in order to board the train to this city. He was late Saturday morning and the train was leaving Kraft when he approached the depot. In an effort to catch it he attempted to cross in front of the engine and it is thought he miscalculated the distance. He was thrown a short distance from the track and died before aid could be given him. Mr. Adkins was 62 years old.

Funeral services were held at Canby Monday afternoon. Oregon City lodge of Elks having charge of the arrangements, as Mr. Adkins was a member of that lodge. He was also a Redman. Mr. Adkins was a widower and is survived by four brothers and three sisters. They are Lee, Oren, Silas and Ren Adkins, of Mulino, and Mrs. Ola Fisher, formerly of this city.

$634.50 AWARDED TO PETER ERICKSON

JURY FINDS W. O. GRANT
GUILTY OF ASSAULTING
FOREMAN OF MILL

Peter J. Erickson, who claimed that he was assaulted by W. O. Grant on the Fourth street viaduct here April 23, was awarded judgment for $650.50 against Grant by a jury in the circuit court Saturday.

Erickson is foreman of the "beater room" at the Hawley Pulp and Paper company's plant and Grant was working under him in March when they had a dispute over the display of the Kaiser's picture. Erickson claimed Grant circulated rumors that the former had insulted the American flag. Grant was subsequently discharged from the mill.

On the night of April 23, the complaint alleged, Erickson was attacked by Grant and struck over the head with an 18-inch iron pipe, while he was on his way home from work. Testimony at the trial showed that Grant had gone to the police and said he knew who made the attack. He was asked to write the man's name on a piece of paper which it was claimed he did. He denied this at the trial.

After considerable investigation by the police, Erickson brought suit for $1,000 damages through his attorneys, Brownell and Sievers. Chief of Police Lee French continued his search for the man who made the attack. He testified in Erickson's behalf and by showing a chain of circumstantial evidence convinced the jury that Grant made the assault.

BRITISHER DEPARTS WITH GOLD WATCH

MAN NAMED WILSON ALLEGED TO HAVE STOLEN VALU-ABLE TIMEPIECE

A man, apparently of British extraction, giving the name of Wilson, asked for credit for board and lodging at the home of Herman Thoen in this city Monday. Wilson said he was a music teacher and expected to engage in his profession here. His request was granted. Tuesday evening the boarder disappeared; also there disappeared a 17-jewel, B. W. Raymond model, Elgin watch, in a solid gold case, owned by Mr. Thoen. The latter told Chief of Police Lee French yesterday morning. Mr. Thoen's name was engraved on the inside of the rear lid of the hunting case.

He described Wilson as being about 49 years old, five feet seven inches in height, and weighing about 160 pounds. The man had several upper teeth missing and those remaining are in bad condition. He has a habit of holding two fingers of the right hand over his mouth while talking, apparently to hide his teeth, said Mr. Thoen. Wilson speaks with a pronounced "cockney" accent.

AUTOMOBILE GOES OVER EMBANKMENT

OSWEGO PARTY MIRACULOUSLY ESCAPE DEATH IN FALLING CAR

LANTERN THREATENS FIRE

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Rosentreter, Miss
Edith Myers and Gilbert Johnson in Car

While riding in an automobile about 11 miles from this city Tuesday night, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Rosentreter, their 10-months-old baby, Miss Edith Myers and Gilbert Johnson, of Oswego, escaped with only slight injuries when the machine skidded in loose gravel and fell over a 15-foot embankment.

The party were on their way to Eagle Creek to spend the Fourth of July fishing. Mr. Rosentreter was driving and allowed the car to run too close to the edge of the embankment. The machine turned completely over and pinned the occupants under the frame. Mr. Johnson and Mr. Rosentreter managed to free themselves and lifted the car sufficiently for the others to get out.

An improvised danger light—a lighted lantern wrapped in a red cloth, attached to the rear of the car—caught fire and for a time the flames threatened to burn the car, but Mr. Johnson finally succeeded in extinguishing them.

The party was brought to this city and Dr. H. S. Mount rendered medical assistance. Aside from slight bruises to the older people and several cuts on the child's body, they were uninjured.

Twenty-three speeders were taken in the net of Motorcycle Officer H. E. Meades Saturday and Sunday. Eleven of them have been fined and the others will be tried before either Justice of the Peace John N. Sievers, of this city, or John R. Kelso, of Milwaukie.

One motorcycle rider, H. Hachold, was arrested at 8:30 Sunday night after he is alleged to have past an Oregon City car which was discharging passengers at Milwaukie, at 50 miles an hour. Officer Meades caught Hachold at the top of the hill outside of Milwaukie and the speeder was fined $25 by Justice of the Peace Kelso Monday morning.

YOUNGESTER WALKS SEVEN MILES FOR FIREWORKS

William Howard Connell, six years of age, is imbued with the spirit of patriotism. So much so that he left the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard, of Redland, Monday and walked seven miles to Oregon City to get a supply of fire crackers with which to celebrate the birth of the nation.

The youngster was dressed in a light linen suit Monday afternoon and his grandmother told him he could paddle around in the water near his home and that if he behaved nicely, grandpa would come with him to Oregon City and purchase the cherished fireworks.

William became impatient, and walked into this city. Unnoticed he wandered into the Star theatre during the performance and fell asleep. He was found by Howard Mass, son of E. T. Mass, former sheriff of this county, who took the boy to the Mass home and notified his grandparents.

New Consumers

The report of the Oregon City Water Board shows a profit of $2,206.50 for the six months of 1917 ending June 30. This amount is left after interest was paid on two heavy bond issues, and several large pipe purchases were made. There have been 49 new consumers added in the six months, a gain
