

Do You Really Know What a Victrola Is?

Of course you have seen it and heard it and have read Victor advertising, but unless you have actually owned one and used it intelligently you have no conception of the value to be gotten out of it.

The amusement of an idle hour is only a part. Its usefulness for dancing or entertaining guests is only another part. The education it can give you in music and in languages is important, but still only an item. The high artistic enjoyment of the world's best music which it puts at your command is another item.

All these—and many more items together—make a Victrola something more than a luxury.

Obituaries

Robert Lund

The funeral of Robert Lund, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. David Lund, of Gladstone, was held from the Holman chapel Monday morning, with interment at Mountain View cemetery. The youth died at his home in Gladstone on Sunday after an extended illness. The services at the chapel were conducted by Dr. W. T. Milliken, of the Baptist church.

Thomas J. Singleton

The death of Thomas J. Singleton, pioneer Oregonian, occurred at Jennings Lodge yesterday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. David Clements. The six children were with Mr. Singleton at the last. They are Mrs. S. I. Thornton, Thomas E., William L., and Walter Singleton, all of Roseburg. Mrs. W. R. Richardson of Portland and Mrs. Clements of Jennings Lodge. The body will be sent to Roseburg by R. L. Holman.

Mr. Singleton was a native of Louisville, Ky., where he was born on April 30, 1836. At an early age he came to Oregon with his parents and lived at The Dalles before going to Roseburg, where he made his home for a number of years.

Mrs. Louise Praeger

Funeral services for Mrs. Louise Praeger, who died some years ago, Parkplace on Sunday, were held from the Congregational church at that place Tuesday afternoon and were directed by the Rev. Howard N. Smith. Mrs. Praeger died on Sunday at the home of her son, Paul, after suffering for some time from the effects of an accident in which she sustained a broken hip bone. She was a native of Hanover, Germany, where she was born on November 18, 1836. She came to America when she was 10 years old and settled in Texas. In that state she was married to Louis Praeger, who died some years ago. Three children survive, Mrs. Bertha Bryant, of Robtown, Texas; Mrs. Lena Zinderling, of Parkplace, and Paul Praeger, of Parkplace.

Benjamin Howes

The late Benjamin Howes, who died at his Mulino home on Friday, was buried from the Methodist church at that place Monday and interment was made in the Zion cemetery at Canby. Rev. Mr. Snyder, of Molalla, conducted the services. Miss Mildred Maple at the organ accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Edward Maple and Miss Lois Ashby, of Mulino, who sang "My Jesus, as Thou Wilt," "I Know My Savior Cares" and "We May Not Climb the Heavenly Steps." Pallbearers were G. Ashby, J. J. Malhatt, G. W. Smith, A. Woodside, E. J. Maple and A. Erickson. Mr. Howes was 70 years of age and leaves a wife. A wealth of floral pieces covered the casket and the grave.

CRISIS OF WOMAN'S LIFE

Change Safely Passed by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Wagoner, Okla.—"I never get tired of praising Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because during Change of Life I was in bed two years and had two operations, but all the doctors and operations did me no good, and I would have been in my grave today had it not been for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backaches, dizziness, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and dizziness should be heeded by middle-aged women. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has saved many women safely through the

a. m. She was born in Newcastle, England, on January 24, 1831, and was in her 87th year at the time of her death. She came to Oregon with her husband and six children from Iowa in 1865, crossing the plains by ox team and settling in Clackamas county, where she had lived continuously since. Her husband died in 1896. Surviving Mrs. Johnston are nine children, 42 grandchildren and 27 great-grandchildren. There are also two half-sisters who live in England.

The funeral was held from the Episcopal church, Oregon City, Tuesday at 3 o'clock, with interment in Mountain View cemetery. The body was at the Holman parlors.

The surviving children are: Mrs. P. M. Rinearson, Mrs. G. A. Walling, Mrs. William Hickey, Mrs. Charles Risley, Mrs. Fred Patterson, Miss Cary Johnston, William T. Richard and Jacob Johnston.

DOLLARS GIVE COURAGE.

To Be Penniless Makes a Man Feel Dependent and Cowardly.

There is this to be said about wealth: It gives courage to the owner. Poverty makes cowards of us all.

"The man who is suffering with fear," says a writer, "because he does not know where the next dollar is coming from is in no condition to earn or to attract dollars. Fear always makes a man think he is weak, a nobody. It always pictures the worst sees no light ahead."

We hear a great deal these days about efficiency and about inefficiency. The fellow who has saved a few dollars and has them in the bank or where he can put his hand upon them is more efficient than the fellow who is penniless. Start out to find a job with never a dollar in your pocket. You'll have a hard time. You appear at a disadvantage when you approach a business man. You feel your dependence. You have a cowardly air about you, an inefficient air. You realize that you will have to accept anything that is offered. You are in no position to look the business man in the face and tell him your qualifications. Want is at your back, causing you to cringe.

But with money in your pockets you assume a different attitude. You realize that you are to that extent independent. You meet the business man more nearly upon an equal footing. You are more courageous, more self assertive, more efficient. You know that you are not compelled to accept the first job offered you. You can discuss wages and contracts and conditions of employment if you are not "broke." So if for no other reason the young man should seek first of all to have a bank account, to have something right in the beginning.—Dayton News.

PUFFBALLS ARE GOOD FOOD.

And of All the Edible Fungi They Are Called the Safest.

Puffballs are the safest of all fungi for the beginner, none of them being poisonous, and they are at the same time excellent and easy to obtain. writes William A. Murrill, assistant director of the New York botanical garden, in the American Museum Journal. Being tender, they cook quickly and are easily digested. They should as a rule be cut open before cooking to see that they are not too old and that they are really puffballs. If they are white and firm like cream cheese inside, showing no yellow or brownish discoloration, they are of the right age to use. If the interior shows no special structures, but is smooth and homogeneous, then one may be sure he has a puffball.

The "egg" of the deadly Amanita contains the young cap and stem inside, which are readily seen when the "egg" is cut, and the "egg" of the stinkhorn shows the stem and a green mass inside, surrounded by a layer of jelly-like substance.

Puffballs may be cooked alone in various ways or used in stews and omelets and for stuffing roast fowls. When used in omelets they should be stewed first. All kinds except the very small one should first be peeled and cut into slices or cubes, after which they may be fried quickly in butter or dipped in beaten egg and fried like eggplant or cooked in any of the ways recommended for the ordinary mushroom. The smaller kinds are much inferior in flavor to the larger ones and need a few specimens of some good mushroom to make them attractive.

Seasickness.

The old fashioned notion that a good dose of seasickness was beneficial was due wholly to the fact that upon recovery the victim of mal de mer is usually so delighted that he is apt to imagine that he never felt better in his life, while feeling normal again is merely so great a contrast to the exceedingly wretched condition which this disorder brings about that exaggeration of one's feelings is the most natural thing in the world. Seasickness is far from pleasant. It is not beneficial, and in rare cases it terminates fatally.

Round Shoulders.

An excellent exercise to straighten round shoulders—good for girls or women who have to sit a good deal—is performed by placing a thin stick or wand across the back and letting it run out through the belt above the chest. Keep the arms and shoulders pressed back and down and walk about the room in this way for five or ten minutes.—Chicago News.

Moisture and Temperature.

A cubic foot of air at the temperature of zero (F.) can contain only 5 of a grain of water vapor, at 32 degrees it can hold 2.13 grains, at 65 it can contain 6.8 grains and at 98 it can hold 18.96 grains of moisture in suspension. These figures go to show that summer air can hold at least nine times the quantity of dampness that air can when reduced to the temperature of freezing.

School begins here next week. The fire fighters have returned, except a few patrols, and the fire is pretty well under control.

Dr. and Mrs. Botkin have returned after a visit with relatives near Ashland.

Mr. Couper returned from Portland Saturday to assist his family in moving to Sandy, where his boys will go to school this winter.

The writer was on the fire line last week "somewhere on Still Creek" above Zig-zag. This fire, which raged along the fire-seeding camp, utterly destroyed the young fir trees which were planted two years ago at such great expense. As was predicted by the old-timers, when the planting was done, there was a lot of money and time expended for nothing. The sensible thing to do is to sow grass seed when the rain comes, as we need grass more in Oregon than we do trees, which grow wherever it is possible for them to grow. There is no use to plant them in old burns among a lot of old snap and stubs, which are sure to burn in a dry time. The fire fighters on Still Creek were under the charge of Dan Bodley, who proved to be a very able and efficient boss. One of the strangest sights at this camp was a huge snow bank, 150 feet long and 15 feet deep, which was deposited by an avalanche last winter and is now almost solid ice in spite of the heat of summer and forest fires.

Everybody is looking forward to rain, which is expected no later than the middle of the month, and some say about the last of this week.

People here are after huckleberries, which are quite abundant on Wild Cat mountain.

Proclamation

State of Oregon, Executive Department, Salem, Sept. 1, 1917.

Whereas, the women of America, as well as the men who are giving themselves to our Nation's cause, can now perform a great and timely public service; and

Whereas, The Woman's Committee of the Council of National Defense is organizing local councils in every community in this state with the purpose of systematizing and making effective women's patriotic services; and

Whereas, The Oregon Division of the Woman's Committee of the Council of National Defense desires that Saturday, September 15, 1917, be set aside as the day for the registration of women in this State for service;

Now, Therefore, in view of the foregoing premises and by virtue of the authority in me vested, I James Withycombe, Governor of the State of Oregon, do hereby proclaim Saturday, September 15, 1917, as WOMEN'S REGISTRATION DAY, and I do earnestly ask that all patriotic women register on that day for patriotic service.

In Testimony Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Seal of the State of Oregon to be hereunto affixed this 1st day of September, A. D., 1917.

JAMES WITHYCOMBE, Governor.

Accused of Fraud

In default of $250 cash bail, C. H. Felsenstein, of Spokane, is held in the county jail here under charge of obtaining money by false pretenses. Henry Kerbs alleges that Felsenstein traded land in Benton county for a five-acre tract in this county, and when Kerbs went to claim the Benton county property he found that Felsenstein did not own nearly all of what he had traded. Felsenstein was bound over to the grand jury.

"Carry it home," is the new slogan for women shoppers. That also was a slogan for the man of the house until California storm ports were closed to the thirsty, although, of course, the packages were of a different nature.
