

NEWS OF THE COUNTY AND SUBURBS

Local and County Items of Interest to Courier Readers

DAMASCUS

Lovely weather again. Mr. Kigan has just completed threshing in the neighborhood. Mr. Hall lost one of his work horses last week.

Quite a number of the Damascus people visited the fish hatchery on the Clackamas last week.

Grange meets again next Saturday.

Mr. Hafother is busy picking apples.

Mrs. Summer returned from the hospital Sunday and is feeling much better.

Noah Royer, who has been confined with a sprained foot, is around again.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Moore and son attended the fair at Salem last week.

Mrs. Edith Cline Robinson, whose husband has gone to North Carolina with the Oregon 3rd. Infantry, is stopping with her father.

The school is soon to have a play shed, as all the lumber has been hauled; also the sand for foundation.

The hunting season opened Monday and for a while we thought the Germans had landed, but on investigation found it to be a few neighborhood boys shooting China pheasants.

EAGLE CREEK

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Woodie were the guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Woodie, for a couple of days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Douglass accompanied by Miss Dora Judd and Carl Douglass, motored to Salem last Thursday to attend the state fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hoffmeister were state fair visitors last Friday.

Miss Mary Woodie and Mrs. R. B. Gibson visited the school last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Douglass went to Shubel Sunday and visited at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. Moehnk.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Glover, accompanied by Thomas Withycombe and son, made a trip into the Dover country Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Douglass were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Gibson Sunday.

PAMPHLET PLANS MORAL

TRAINING BY STORIES

Under the caption "Moral Instruction in the Public Schools Through the Story," State Superintendent of Public Instruction Churchill has issued a pamphlet for teachers urging that moral instruction in the schools be given through the use of stories illustrating cardinal virtues.

"This department believes that results can be obtained in moral instruction through the use of stories which illustrate the virtues," says Superintendent Churchill in his introductory remarks in the pamphlet, after saying that a national movement has been launched with the view of obtaining the best possible plan for character building.

"In this pamphlet, arranged according to grades, are listed a number of stories illustrating particular virtues, which, as a result of a questionnaire sent out to the teachers of one state, it is considered desirable to try to inculcate in the lives of the children. Under each virtue several stories are given, with reference to the books where they may be found. All of the stories are selected from books of the state library list for the elementary schools. Under the name of the story is given the number of the book in the state list, the author, the title and the page reference.

"The method which it is designated should be followed in carrying out this work is the indirect method. The teacher should read or tell the story to the children without any direct attempt to enforce the moral. Let the child do his own moralizing. He is perfectly capable of doing it, and that which he does for himself is far more effective than that which the teacher does for him. Of course, it is vital that he should grasp the point of the story. If he fails to do so at first, tactful questioning will bring out the moral lesson, but by all means preaching should be avoided. It is best that the child should not know that the story is being presented to him for any ulterior purpose."

The national movement contemplates the appointment of a group of nine collaborators in each state, who during the coming year, will work out and submit plans for character education in the public schools. A prize of $20,000 is to be given for the best plan.

PATRIOTISM COMMANDED

BY CAPT. TUPPER'S NOTE

There is little question in the average American's mind about the rock-bottomed foundation of his inherent patriotism, but it takes a letter like the last message of Captain V. G. Tupper of the Canadian troops, and well known in Oregon, to arouse us to that spirit that would see our flag triumphant in its battle for world freedom. It takes such a letter to make us discard the last flickering vestige of doubt we might have cherished about America's propriety in this war or any other. Human beings do not send their sons to even the glorious death of Captain Tupper unless the honor of the nation demands it. The following is the last word that the hand of this gallant soldier will ever write. He "went over the top," and there he found the peace that is everlasting, the democracy that is eternal. The last letter says:

My Dear Father: I am writing one of these "in case" letters for the third time, and, of course, I hope you will never have to read it—if you are reading now you will know that your youngest son "went under" as proud as Punch on the most glorious day of his life. I am taking my company over the top for a mile in the biggest push that has ever been launched in the world, and I trust that it is going to be the greatest factor toward peace.

Dad, you can't imagine the wonderful feeling—a man thinks something like this, "Well, if I am going to die, this is worth it a thousand times."

I have been over two or three times before, but never with a company of my own. Think of it—a hundred and fifty officers and men who will follow you to hell if need be.

I don't want any of you dear people to be sorry for me, although of course, you will in a way. You will miss me, but you will be proud of me. Mind you, I know what I am up against and that the odds are against me. I am not going in the way I did the first time, just for sheer devilment and curiosity. I have seen this game for two years, and I still like it, and feel that my place is here.

So much for that. I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart for all your loving kindness to me. This war has done wonders for me and makes me realize lots of things which I would not have known otherwise. I could write a book about it, but you know what I mean.

Good-bye, dear father and mother, and all of you. Again I say that I am proud to be where I am now.

GORDIE.

CLARKE COCHRAN FOUND GUILTY OF CHARGE

Judge J. U. Campbell, sitting Tuesday in Judge Littlefield's department of the circuit court at Portland, heard the trial of Clark W. Cochran on a charge of non-support, preferred by Emma Cochran. The family formerly lived at Wichita in this county and last January Mrs. Cochran won a divorce from her husband in Judge Campbell's court here. They achieved much notoriety when Sheriff Wilson went to their home to investigate Mrs. Cochran's repeated threats to commit suicide. They were living in most squalid conditions, with several children and much dirt, says Sheriff Wilson. Mrs. Cochran had left a note on the streets saying that her body could be found floating on the river after a certain time. Sheriff Wilson arrived at her home about the same time and found that she had given up the idea of suicide.

In the case which Judge Campbell heard Tuesday Cochran was indicted on complaint of his divorced wife, for failing to provide $25 a month for the support of his six children as directed by Judge Campbell at the time he granted the wife a divorce last January.

The testimony showed that Cochran paid the monthly allowance for two months and then left the county, being located afterwards in Nebraska. Sickness was given by Cochran as the reason for his failure to keep up the payments.

Mrs. Cochran was married again last Saturday, but this fact had no bearing on the case from the fact that the husband, on order of the court, is obliged to support his children when physically and financially able to do so.

A PILL FOR READERS

"Support" of Newspaper is by No Means Charitable Proposition

The following is from the Smithville, Tex., Times, but it is a nice pill for the chap to take who thinks he is subscribing to a charity when he "supports" the home town paper.

"A subscriber recently remarked in our hearing with reference to certain news suppressed from these columns: 'It should have been published, for the people "support" the paper and are entitled to the local news that interests them.'"

"The writer takes exception to this remark, and desires to set right any other well-meaning, but mistaken, readers who may entertain the same ideas.

"First: the inference that people 'support' a paper in the same sense that they do charitable or eleemosynary institutions—that its proprietor draws a pension from them in return for which he is under obligations to subservise his independence and self-respect for such gratuity, is a gross injustice.

"A newspaper represents an investment—the average good country town shop approximately $10,000.00. The proprietor pays for this, not the people. He is usually a pretty hard-worked individual, and in most cases amply earns his 'pension.' In other words, a newspaper is someone's business investment, and he sells his wares over his counter in exactly the same sense as does any other merchant. The individual patronizing him gets all he pays for, and the people as a unit, get more. Probably no other business is called upon for gratuitous service and donations in a greater measure than the newspaper.

As for the subscriber, the raw stock of the fifty-two issues costs more than the price of his yearly subscription. Hence the paper owes him, individually, nothing.

"But, ethically, a good paper should build for forces of constructive public welfare—good schools, good roads, good citizenship, etc.

"If the conduct of certain individuals acts as a destructive influence, it is not only the privilege, but the duty of the paper to rebuke this conduct, no matter how unacceptable the rebuke may be to the individuals.

"If this rebuke can be most effective in the suppression of certain news, then it is the duty an editor owes his community to suppress this news.

"It is to be conceded, we believe, by those who have consistently followed these columns during the year and one-half of the writer's incumbency as editor, that we have done a very little 'tooting of our own horn.' But recently we have had it 'rubbed in' as to our public obligations by individuals whose public contributions are by word of mouth strictly 'until, lest they forget, we are moved to remind them that:

"The Times gives, either in money, space or job work, to every worthy public enterprise promoted. When the Chautauqua was unable to get their advertising folders here in time for the advertising trips promoted by the Mothers' club, the Times printed 3,000 programs free of charge. Approximately $100.00 was given in gratuitous advertising space to help the Mothers' club win out. When the sale of tickets was lagging, the Times donated $50.00 in subscriptions as premiums to help the sales. And the money derived by the Mothers' club

OREGON CITY COURIER

MAKES CLUBBING ARRANGEMENT WITH

THE OREGON FARMER

Offers Unusual Opportunity To Its Readers

AMONG our large circle of readers there are a great many who are interested directly or indirectly in fruit growing, dairying and other branches of farming. All of these naturally wish to keep in close touch with agricultural activities throughout the state; and to know about any fight which is being waged for the measures Oregon farmers want and against all sorts of schemes that are detrimental to the people and agricultural interests of this state.

We have, therefore, made a special clubbing arrangement with THE OREGON FARMER whereby any farmer or fruit-grower, who is one of our regular subscribers and who is not now a subscriber of THE OREGON FARMER, will be entitled to receive THE OREGON FARMER in combination with this paper at the same rate as for this paper alone.

This offer applies to all those who renew or extend their subscriptions as well as to all new subscribers. If you are interested directly or indirectly in Oregon agriculture, do not miss this unusual opportunity but send your order in now.

THE OREGON FARMER is the one farm paper which is devoting itself exclusively to the farming activities and interests of Oregon. It has a big organization gathering the news of importance to farmers, dairymen, fruitgrowers, stockraisers and poultrymen; and it has the backbone to attack wrongful methods and combinations and bad legislation, and support honest leaders and beneficial measures. We are confident that our readers will congratulate us on our being able to make this splendid and attractive clubbing offer.

Two Papers for the Price of One

Oregon City Courier, one year . . . $ 1.00

Oregon Farmer, one year . . . 1.00

$ 2.00

Our offer, both papers for one year . . . . . $1.00

OREGON CITY COURIER

PROSPERITY

THE FRUITS OF LABOR

THE FRUITS OF LABOR should be preserved as well as any other form of fruit. Deposit the fruits of your labor with us at 4 per cent compound interest and they will not only be preserved but multiplied.

Just as with a harvest of edible fruit, the harvest of your industry should be stored away against the winter of want. Money in the bank is the stored up energy of the harvests gathered in youthful vigor to be used as necessity, old age or lack of employment demands. It's the insurance of the future. Let us talk with you about opening an account today.

Total Resources Over One Half Million Dollars

Bank of Commerce

Owned, Operated and Controlled by Clackamas County People

THOS. F. RYAN, President. DE. H. S. MOUNT, Vice President. JOHN R. HUMPHREYS, Cashier.

ultimately finds its way into benefits for the public school!

"We furnished the advertising necessary to secure the pulmotor for Smithville besides giving our pro rata in cash. We give our pro rata each month for the support of the Smithville band. Today the county demonstration agent called upon the business people for donations for prizes for the Bastrop County Girls' Canoeing club. We gave $10.00 in subscriptions. These are but recent instances. Every week the year round there are such calls upon the business people to build for Smithville.

"Mr. Reader, you who are telling these business people what their obligations are—what are you doing for Smithville? Remember, please, that business interests can better support community building if the community better support the business interests."

Take Notice

The continued call for piano tuning has induced us to establish a school for piano tuning. It is a trade which brings large returns for the money invested. It is a business which affords travel, as pianos are to be found in almost every home, and must be tuned from time to time. NO MUSICAL EDUCATION REQUIRED, as piano tuning is strictly a mechanical training. This school is conducted by experts of long experience. Call or write to Thoroux Music House, 519 Main street, Oregon City. Phone 423.

NOTED CASE SETTLED

Submerged Island Declared Property of Transportation Company

The suit of the Willamette Transportation & Locks company against A. M. Draper, W. T. Burney and W. G. Cox, involving the historic Willamette river island that disappeared when a breakwater around the falls was built more than 25 years ago, was settled Thursday when Judge Campbell dismissed the case. The suit was brought to quiet title to the island and has incumbered the docket for a quarter century. Another case incidental to that of the locks company, Portland Railway, Light & Power company, vs. W. T. Burney and George A. Harding, was also dismissed Thursday.

M. E. PULPITS FILLED AT STATE CONFERENCE

The annual state conference of the Methodist Episcopal church of Oregon closed this week at Springfield and appointments of pastors for the year were announced at the closing session on Monday. Many appointments of interest to Clackamas county were made and a group of Oregon City folk were at the session to hear the announcement of new charges. Dr. T. B. Ford of this city, district superintendent, will remain in that office, of course, since he has a six-year term to complete.

The Rev. E. E. Gilbert was returned to the Oregon City Methodist church. His conference report was a creditable document, showing much progress for the year just closed in church affairs and a healthy condition for the start of the new year's work. The Rev. Dow DeLong was transferred from the Oak Grove church and that charge will be supplied by the Rev. R. C. Young. Other appointments are: C. A. Spiess, Sandy and Boring; C. R. Carlos, Canby; Paul Green, Carus; A. B. Calder, Clackamas; Henry Spiess, Estacada; J. F. Coleman, Marquam; F. W. Snyder, Molalla; F. R. Royston, Oswego and Tualatin. J. M. Brown will fill

THE GOOD JUDGE VISITS ARMY HEADQUARTERS.

COLONEL, HOW IS YOUR REGIMENT TO-DAY?

FINE, GENERAL, BUT YOU KNOW THE BOYS IN THE RANKS ARE WANTING W-B CUT-THAT REAL TOBACCO CHEW.

GOOD TOBACCO IS THE SOLDIER'S COMFORTER.

WHEN you trim your outfit down to military bedrock, W-B Cut Chewing scores a bull's-eye. A soldier gets more from his pouch of W-B than from a bulky ordinary plug—rich leaf plump full of sap, all tobacco satisfaction, every shred of it. And the water-proof pouch keeps it clean and fresh in the pocket of his khaki.

Made by WETMAN-DRUTON COMPANY, 1207 Broadway, New York City

the Gresham pulpit and H. O. Cooper has been assigned to Hubbard.

Cut This Out—It Is Worth Money

DON'T MISS THIS. Cut out this slip, enclose with 5c and mail it to Foley & Co., 2835 Sheffield Ave., Chicago, Ill., writing your name and address clearly. You will receive in return a trial package containing Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, for coughs, colds and croup; Foley Kidney Pills, for pain in sides and back, rheumatism, backache, kidney and bladder ailments; and Foley Cathartic Tablets, a wholesome and thoroughly cleansing cathartic for constipation, biliousness, headache and sluggish bowels.—Jones Drug Co.

NOTED CHINAMAN HERE

Commissioner of Education in Peking Inspects Paper Mills

Hsieh Tehyi, commissioner of education in the district of Peking, China, was a noted visitor in Oregon City Monday. He came here from Portland for the purpose of visiting the paper mills and while here was a guest of the Commercial club. The commissioner will spend some time in America, he says, looking further into the country's educational systems.