THOMAS MOORE CAUGHT AFTER NIGHT IN BARN

After spending the night in a barn in the Mount Pleasant district, Thomas Moore, youthful roustabout, was found Friday morning by Sheriff W. J. Wilson and Deputy D. E. Frost. Officers spent the entire day Thursday searching the woods for the lad and this morning he advised his captors that they couldn't have taken him if he had cared to continue his flight.

"I'm just tired of dodging you fellows," Thomas said. Deputy Frost pulled him out from a hay mow in a barn near the Moore home.

The boy admits stealing the automobile owned by Gordon McKilligan, but says he traveled so far and so fast that he doesn't remember just where he went. The machine was stolen from West Linn on Sunday morning and when the officers got too close for the lad's comfort on Wednesday he deserted the machine and took to the woods. He has lived for days at a time, Moore says, while on his escapades with nothing more than apples for food. He was recently paroled from the state training school and his latest trouble involves attempts to steal two other cars before he finally got away with McKilligan's machine.

Judge Grant B. Dimick says that Moore gave the juvenile court more trouble while he (Dimick) was county judge than any other lad in the county, yet he is a bright, good-looking boy. Moore seems to have a penchant for the theft of automobiles and uses them only for his own pleasure, never attempting to damage or to sell them. The residents in the Mount Pleasant district Thursday posted a reward of $20 for the apprehension of Moore, as they feared he would take another machine to again make his escape.

Moore was returned to the reform school on Saturday morning, although he requested, when arrested, to be sent to the penitentiary. The lad became an accomplished cook while he was at the school before.

AGENT PROPOSES CURE FOR CATTLE AILMENT

(R. J. Werner, County Agent)

During the last spring and summer a very serious outbreak of disease (hemorrhagic septicemia) similar in many ways to black-leg among calves, occurred in eastern parts of Clackamas and Multnomah counties. During this time there has been about 150 deaths reported and many of them have not been heard of at this office.

Many of the cases which come to the attention of the County Agent, formerly of Multnomah county, were investigated and with but two, or possibly three exceptions, the disease was a contagious blood poisoning, called hemorrhagic septicemia. This disease, like black-leg, can be PREVENTED by vaccination but cannot be cured. Of the 275 head which were vaccinated last spring only one died and it was in the last stages of the disease when vaccination took place.

Last year Clackamas county had no agricultural agent, but your county court has agreed to keep one this year providing the majority of the taxpayers are willing and if so it will be his duty to control the spread of this disease among the stock of eastern Clackamas county. If you are interested in the control of this disease or if you want a complete discussion of its symptoms and treatment, write to your county agricultural agent, who will gladly send you the information.

If you want your stock vaccinated next spring before the disease gets a chance to spread say so in your letter giving directions about how to reach your place.

COMPANY GIVES BONUS TO ALL ITS EMPLOYEES

In keeping with the promise made to its employees at the Christmas season, the Oregon City Manufacturing company, operating the Oregon City Woolen mills, has announced that it will pay a 5 per cent bonus on all wages earned between January 1 and September 30.

The company last Christmas advised its employees of a profit-sharing scheme whereby they would be paid a 5 per cent monthly bonus and share in a year-end bonus as well. It is the latter that will be distributed this month. Following the payment of the first annual bonus, the company will adopt a straight 10 per cent monthly bonus, according to A. R. Jacobs, president and manager of the mill company, to cover all those working in the big garment factory. Other employees will be paid a bonus on the basis of the production of their department, and Mr. Jacobs says this will equal or exceed the 10 per cent paid in the garment factory.

SUES FOR $333

Teacher Asks for Contested Wages from Willamette Board

Asking $333 as the balance due on his salary as a school teacher in district 105, Willamette, Frank S. Paul Monday filed suit against the district and its directors. Paul charges that he made a contract with the board to teach from September, 1914, to June 1915, at $100 a month. The board paid all his salary with the exception of the amount claimed. There was some mixup in the matter of Paul's certification to teach in Oregon schools and he explains it in his complaint against the board.

SHOCKED

By OSCAR COX

"It's all over between us."

"But, sweetheart!"

"Don't sweetheart me!"

"For heaven's sake, what can have made this change?"

"I'll never marry a medical man; that's what! I'd rather marry an undertaker."

"But you have made no objection to my studying medicine before now."

"A sexton in a cemetery would be far preferable to a sawbones."

"Come, tell me what has happened to excite this antagonism to the noblest of the professions."

"You don't deserve to know."

(Haughtily) "No one is more competent to pass on my deserts than you. I dare say it is better that I should not know. Where is my hat?"

"You shall know. I shall punish you by telling you. Answer me. Weren't you and Dick Trimmingham riding in a trolley yesterday on College street?"

"I was."

"And who was the third person of the party?"

"We had a skeleton with us. We were taking it to our rooms."

"And who was the person you called Billy?"

"Why, that was what we called the skeleton."

"So, indeed, you called it Billy? And who put the cigarette between its jaws and said, 'Don't smoke, Billy; it isn't allowed?'"

"Oh, you must have been told this yarn by some mean, contemptible fellow. Not a bit of it. No one told me."

"Then how did you get on to it?"

"Never mind that. Was it necessary that you should put a nickel between the skeleton's finger bones and say, 'Here, Billy, pay your fare like a man?'"

"Did we do that?"

"Yes, you did."

"You mean Dick did it?"

"It doesn't matter which of you did it. You were both acting like ghouls. And if you didn't do it you did something equally frightful."

"What was that?"

"You said: Billy, you ought to have worn your overcoat. You'll catch cold."

"I—I was thinking of the real person the skeleton was before he died."

"Oh, you were! Then why did you laugh when Dick said, 'He slipped out the back door and got away from his poor old mother, who was chasing him with his rubbers?'"

"Did I laugh at that?"

"You know very well you laughed at it."

"It wasn't funny at all, was it?"

"Funny! It was shocking!"

"Well, Dick, he—"

"Oh, yes; it's always 'Dick, he' that's the way you crawl out of everything. Whose hat was on the thing's head?"

"I put my hat on it, but only for a minute."

"And said, 'There's too much draft for a bald head.'"

"That wasn't funny either."

"It was revolting!"

A pause.

"I wish you'd tell me how you got on to all this."

"Perhaps you don't remember a girl who got into the car with a thick veil over her face to protect her from the storm and hung on to a strap. The thing was sitting on your lap?"

ADAMS QUIT BUSINESS SALE

NOW GOING FULL SWING

Oregon City probably never before witnessed a sale where the people took such a deep interest as in this sale. They know our dry goods are all new and dependable—none better. They know our clothing, shoes, furnishing goods, and furniture are the best that money can buy—they know this store gives exactly what it advertises—they know that merchandise of all kinds is going sky high in price and many a man, woman and family are not only anticipating their present wants, but buying their future needs as they realize that they may never again have an opportunity to buy goods at such prices as are now offered at this MIGHTY CLOSING-OUT SALE. This is no clearance sale or sale to reduce stock and unload—it is a real, genuine, bona fide closing-out sale and without regard for present high cost of merchandise we are sacrificing our entire $100,000.00 stock bought before the big advance—at prices very much less than wholesale costs in many instances. REMEMBER every dollar's worth of goods in this store must and will be sold and there will be no let up to the cutting and slashing of prices until every dollar's worth is disposed of. All our fixtures, show cases, safe, adding machine, etc., are for sale and no reasonable offer will be refused.

GRAIN SMUT CONTROL IS AIM OF BIG DRIVE

To control the smut disease of wheat and other grains in Oregon the U. S. department of agriculture has appointed five students of O. A. C. to go into the field and assist farmers in treating the seed. These men are all specialists in smut control and were carefully selected by the heads of the farm crops and plant pathology departments. The entire expense of their work is borne by the office of cereal investigations. These men will demonstrate the college methods of treatment, hold public meetings, and distribute directions for treatment. Smut is one of the worst diseases that affects wheat in many parts of the state, and its eradication will go far to increase the yield and better the quality of Oregon grains.

Catarrhal Cough

Mr. W. S. Brown, R. F. D. No. 4, Box 32, Rogersville, Tennessee, writes: "I feel it my duty to recommend Peruna to all sufferers of catarrh or cough. In the year 1909, I took a severe case of the latter. I then took a bad cough. I had taken all kinds of cough remedies but got no relief. I then decided to try Peruna. I used five bottles. After taking five bottles my cough stopped and my catarrh was cured. My average weight was 115 and now I weigh 148½. Any one suffering with catarrh in any form I will advise them to take Peruna."

IRRITABLE NERVOUS

Was Condition of Indiana Lady Before Beginning to Take Card-u-i, the Woman's Tonic.

Kokomo, Ind.—Mrs. H. Hankemeier, of this town, says: "I look so well, and am so well, that it does not seem as if I ever needed Cardui. But I was not always this way... I think I have taken a dozen bottles... before my little girl came. I was feeling dreadfully bad, had headache, backache, sick at my stomach, no energy... I was very irritable, too, and nervous. I began taking Cardui about 6 months before my baby came. As a result all those bad feelings left me, and I just felt grand, just as if nothing at all was the matter, and when the end came I was hardly sick at all. Since that I have never taken Cardui at all... It has done me good, and I know it will help others, if they will only try it."

Many women have written grateful letters like the above, telling of the good that Cardui has done them. Why should it not help you, too? If you suffer from any of the ailments so common to women, and feel the need of a safe, reliable, strengthening tonic, we urge you to begin today and give Cardui a fair trial.
