

A. I. HUGHES WRITES OF GUERNSEY CLUB EFFORTS

Oct. 29, 1917.

To The Courier: Can Clackamas county become a Guernsey center for Oregon? To answer this I will say that it is possible and can be done if the Guernsey breeders stick to their breed and co-operate with each other in advertising and selling and keeping up the quality of their stock. To further this line of reasoning, what has been done by one locality may be done by another, and to prove the argument I will cite Waukesha county, Wisconsin.

Waukesha county is called, and justly so, "the Guernsey capitol of America." There are more pure bred Guernseys in Waukesha county, than in any other county of the United States. The number at the present time is between 2000 and 3000 head.

Men that have been there buying say that there are buyers there constantly buying from a few head to a car load at a time, besides they have two sales a year, an annual sale in the summer and a semi-annual sale in the fall and can hardly keep enough stock to fill these sales. At their semi-annual sale to be held October 31, 1917, 75 head are consigned by 20 breeders and they have a membership of 165 breeders.

The writer sent 26 letters to as many different breeders in this county alone, and received answers to not quite one-half of the letters sent. Those that did not answer evidently had no stock for sale. Of the answers received about one-half had stock to offer, the other one-half acknowledged receipt of letter and said they had nothing to offer, and several offered to assist in any way they could to find the stock we wanted and said that there would be no trouble in securing a car load in their county. Those offering and pricing stock were more reasonable in their prices than we had expected.

This is probably due to high prices of feed, scarcity of feed and scarcity of help combined. Those factors are depressing the stock market at present, while in another year the real scarcity of dairy stock will be more fully realized than it is now and prices will rise accordingly, for all kinds of dairy cows both grades and pure bred.

I will give a letter in full written by F. E. Fox, secretary, to the Guernsey Breeders' Journal of Sept. 1, 1917.

"The Waukesha County Guernsey Breeder's association was organized in 1906, with a membership of 12. For over 20 years prior to 1904, Waukesha county had but one Guernsey breeder. In 1906, other farmers in the county were convinced of the wonderful merits of the Guernsey cow and began adding pure bred to their herds.

"With these members as a nucleus, the association has grown until it now embraces 165 members, all having pure bred or very high grades, and each herd is headed by a pure bred sire. It is one of the strongest organizations of its kind, as well as one of the largest, and because of the hearty co-operation of its members, very creditable results have been obtained."

Waukesha county held its first annual sale in 1910 and animals of all ages and both sexes averaged $250 per head. At the second annual sale the average price per head was $266. The average price per head has increased until at the annual sale June 7, 1917, the average price per head was $361 or $111 more per head than at the first sale. To draw comparisons, Waukesha started with twelve members eleven years ago. The Clackamas County

Guernsey Cattle club has 18 members and nine more are eligible to membership by reason of having their herds headed by pure bred Guernsey sires. The census of Guernseys owned by members of the club and others not members is 25 bulls and 45 cows and heifers. The cows and heifers are owned by seven breeders. The bulls head 21 herds.

In another issue I will give a list of members of the club, also of breeders signing for the car load of Guernsey cows and heifers that will arrive at Oregon City within the next two weeks. And will give an account of Guernsey progress in Clackamas county from the time the first pair of Guernseys were purchased by F. S. Hutchins, Oregon City, route 2, in 1910, seven years ago, until the present time when the county is being mentioned as a place where they own some Guernseys.

The breeders signing for the new cattle have arranged with Dr. W. H. Lytle, state veterinarian, to have their herds tuberculin tested before the arrival of the Guernseys from the east. This will cover about 225 head of cattle six months old or over. The club considers it good business to be on the safe side and know that its home herds are free from disease before introducing valuable cattle into the herds, but might add that herds in the country districts are usually healthy.

A. I. HUGHES, Secretary.

DEPENDENTS BENEFIT AT GOVERNMENT'S HANDS

A telegram from the provost marshal general, transmitted through Adjutant General J. M. Williams to County Clerk Iva Harrington, contains considerable information relative to the operation of compensation to be allowed dependents of soldiers who are serving the nation. The telegram in full is on file in the county clerk's office and Miss Harrington will exhibit it to anyone interested.

Briefly, it covers the arrangement made by congress and the war department, for aiding the wives and families of drafted men, whose wages of $30 a month is far from sufficient to keep them from want. A family allowance not to exceed $50 a month is to be paid out of the United States treasury upon application of enlisted men or their beneficiaries. The enlisted man is compelled to turn over, in addition, not less than $15 a month from his pay, and may add any amount he is able from the total of his pay. The benefits are:

Wife, but no children.....$15.00
Wife and one child..... 25.00
Wife and two children..... 32.50
And $5 per month for each additional child.
No wife but one child.... 5.00
No wife but two children 12.50
If there be one parent..... 10.00
If there be two parents..... 20.00
For each grandchild, brother, sister and additional parent..... 5.00

COMPLAINT ALMOST GONE

"Foley's Honey and Tar is great," writes L. W. Day, 65 Campbell Ave., E. Detroit, Mich. "It relieves bronchitis quickly. My complaint has almost gone and I hope never to have it again." The experience of thousands proves there is no better remedy for coughs, colds or croup. The genuine costs no more than substitutes, and this old reliable family cough medicine should be in every home every winter. Insist on Foley's Honey and Tar—time tried and never failing.—Jones Drug Co.

WING BUYS A BOND

Wong Wing, a Chinese who has sold vegetables in Oregon City for many years, and is known to every housewife in the city, is the owner of a Liberty bond, and proudly wears his little red button. Wing pushed his check for $100 through the window in the Bank of Commerce on Saturday and thereby became the first Chinese Liberty loan bond owner in the county. Wing, who is old enough to have seen a good many wars, speaks a fluent German, and it is said that he once was employed in German government offices. Between shifts in his large gardens north of Oregon City, Wing gets time to devote himself to a study of current events and alternates in reading of the war in Chinese, English and German.

MRS. CLARKSON HONORED Native Daughter of Pioneers Prominent in Southern California

The Los Angeles Times, October 13, says: "In the presence of a remarkable group of men and women, whose names are linked with important events in American history, a service flag, symbolical that a member of the household has been given to the country's service, was formally raised yesterday afternoon at the residence of the Rev. Charles E. Locke."

Included in the group which witnessed the ceremonial were: Maj. Judson, who served with Gen. Robert E. Lee in the Confederate army; Capt. Charles A. Phelps, who during the entire Civil war operated as a scout and secret service agent under Gen. U. S. Grant; Mrs. Lillian Clarkson, widow of Maj. Thaddeus Stevens Clarkson, once commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic; Dr. H. F. Longdon, niece of Gen. Ben Butler, and Mrs. Sarah Bond Roundtree, a lineal descendant of Betsy Ross, who is credited with fashioning the first American flag.

"Mrs. Clarkson, who, in addition to being the widow of a former head of the Grand Army, is a daughter of one of the early pioneers of the northwest, spoke on 'The Flag.' She spoke especially of what the flag meant to the men who are already on European soil."

Mrs. Clarkson is a daughter of William Berryman Jennings, who located, in early pioneer days, upon the donation land claim now known as Jennings Lodge. She is well known in this part of the country, having worked several terms in the Oregon legislature. Clackamas county folk are pleased to learn of the success of a native daughter. Mrs. Clarkson has been elected orator and lecturer for the California Loyal League.

AGENT NEEDS BACKING

How to Start and Manage Farm Bureau Described in Handbook

That the active cooperation, advice, and assistance of farmers themselves is necessary to the success of county agent work is one of the most important lessons impressed upon officials of the United States department of agriculture after six years of experience with this work in the northern and western states. The best means of securing this local support has proved to be the establishment of a county organization usually known as a farm bureau.

To enable the county agent and local farmers to organize and conduct a farm bureau most effectively, the department has just published detailed suggestions as to methods of procedure in a guide known as "Handbook on Farm Bureau Organization for County Agricultural Agents." The plan represents the fruit of experience in this field thus far, it is said. It can be adapted readily to the varying conditions of different counties. It may be established in counties contemplating the employment of an agent and in places where the agent is now unsupported by a local county organization.

The chief functions of a farm bureau, as outlined in the handbook are: To co-ordinate the efforts of existing local agricultural forces, either organized or unorganized, and to organize new lines of effort. To bring to the agent the counsel and cooperation of the best farmers in the county in planning and executing an agricultural improvement program. To furnish the necessary local machinery for easily and quickly reaching every community in the county with information of value to that community or to the county as a whole. To encourage self-help through developing and exercising leadership in the rural affairs of each community. To reveal to all the people of the county the agricultural possibilities of the county and how they may be realized.

BOYS PROMOTED

Agricultural College Rewards Efficiency of Cooper and Dye

Among the Clackamas county boys who have been rewarded for their work in the department of military tactics at the Oregon Agricultural college are Everett W. Dye, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Dye of this city, and Howard W. Cooper of Milwaukie. Mr. Cooper has been appointed a captain in the cadet regiment, according to information from the college, and Mr. Dye gets the same honor. Other young men from this county have been appointed to minor military ranks.

STARKWEATHER IS AN ACCEPTABLE CANDIDATE

Jennings' Lodge, Ore. Oct. 30, 1917.

Editor of The Courier: I noticed in recent issues of the papers H. Starkweather's announcement of his candidacy for the office of governor of the state of Oregon. I, among many others, would welcome his advancement to the office of chief executive of this state, knowing of his capacity to handle those interests for the benefit of the state. Also, he has the recommendation of a clean record in life, interested from childhood; as a member of a pioneer family and by his marriage made a member of another prominent family, one member of whom has served the state, why should he not be an unusually capable man?

The knowledge of state affairs must have been very keenly associated with him in his every day life and the intimate knowledge thereby gained would surely befit him to administer the laws of government in an understanding, intelligent manner.

Whilst others were sleeping their minds in city vice, he was filling his mind with useful knowledge, which will be an incentive for the clear, concise administering of his judicial duties. We want a governor whose signature cannot be found upon bills passed for selfish graft or gain, and one whose clean judgment will protect the legislation of the state of Oregon from the hissing protest of the public, which has been thoroughly disgusted upon more than one occasion.

In Mr. Starkweather we find a candidate thoroughly trained for administering good government. Let us enter the contest with a zest which will result in the seating of a non-bribing aspirant.

Yours for the good government of old Oregon,

W. B. JENNINGS.

POST RATE RISES

New Schedule Becomes Effective Everywhere Tomorrow

Three-cent letter postage goes into effect Friday of this week, as an additional measure to increase the revenues of the United States during the war period. Postal cards double in price.

The postage on letters will be at the rate of 3 cents for every ounce or fraction thereof, excepting drop letters mailed for delivery from the office at which they are posted, which may be mailed at the rate of 2 cents an ounce or fraction.

Postal cards are required to be prepaid 2 cents, and therefore 1-cent postal cards must have a 1-cent stamp affixed to them in addition to the 1-cent stamp impressed on such cards.

Private mailing cards with written messages sent openly in the mails will be transmitted at the rate of 2 cents each, payable by stamps to be affixed by the sender.

If less than 3 cents is prepaid on a letter or other first-class matter it will be returned to the sender, if known, for the deficient postage. If the sender is not known, it will, if prepaid at least 2 cents, be marked in the sum of the deficient postage and sent to its destination for collection of the amount due upon delivery.

The new rates are applicable to letters addressed for foreign delivery, as follows: The Bahamas, Canada, Cuba, Barbados, British Guiana, British Honduras, Dominican Republic, Dutch West Indies, England, Ireland, Scotland, Wales, Leeward Islands, Mexico, Newfoundland, New Zealand and Panama.

With all of the above countries, by mutual agreement, the same rate of postage as that prevailing at home was charged for foreign delivery.

Postmasters have been instructed that the provisions of the order do not affect the rates applicable to letters to foreign countries other than those named, the rates for such remaining at 5 cents for the first ounce and 3 cents for each additional fraction.

ARMY CAMP FOR OREGON

Business Men Will Ask that Site at Hermiston be Considered

Oregon at last seems to have an opportunity to secure an encampment of at least 25,000 soldiers. Major Richard Parks on the staff of the commander of the western division has been ordered to make an examination of a site of some thirty odd thousand acres of ground near Hermiston in Umatilla county. This examination is reported to have revealed a very satisfactory condition of soil and climate as well as topography of country desired for a large training camp for United States forces.

Too Many Operations

The Right Medicine in Many Cases Does Better than the Surgeon's Knife. Tribute to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Doctor Said Operation or Death—But Medicine Cured.

Des Moines, Iowa.—"My husband says I would have been in my grave today had it not been for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I suffered from a serious female trouble and the doctors said I could not live one year without an operation. My husband objected to the operation and had me try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I soon commenced to get better and am now well and able to do my own housework. I can recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to any woman as a wonderful health restorer."—Mrs. BLANCHIE JEFFERSON, 708 Lyon St., Des Moines, Iowa.

Another Operation Avoided.

Richmond, Ind.—"For two years I was so sick and weak from female troubles that when going up stairs I had to go very slowly with my hands on the steps, then sit down at the top to rest. The doctor said he thought I should have an operation, and my friends thought I would not live to see my new house. My daughter asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as she had taken it with good results. I did so, my weakness disappeared, I gained in strength, moved into our new home, do all kinds of garden work, and raised hundreds of chickens and ducks. I cannot say enough in praise of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. M. O. JOHNSON, Route D, Box 190, Richmond, Ind.

Of course there are many serious cases that only a surgical operation will relieve. We freely acknowledge this, but the above letters, and many others like them, amply prove that many operations are recommended when medicine in many cases is all that is needed.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

ELKS MAKE MERRY

Hallowe'en Party to be Featured by a Splendid Program

The local lodge of Elks is making great plans for a Hallowe'en stag party to be held at the club rooms following the regular lodge meeting tomorrow evening. Many novel features have been arranged by the committee in charge and one of them will be a Hooverized dinner to be served during the evening. The program will be staged entirely by members of the order. The committee in charge of the affair consists of, Thomas A. Burke, chairman; Charles Bollinger, H. F. Tschirgi, Harry Draper and E. L. Johnson.

A society item in a Portland paper says: "The bride chose a tailleur of blue kittens' ear cloth, worn with a chic toque of taupe velvet. Her corsage was of orchids." May-be we are Scotch, but we do not get the full meaning of this Chinese lingo. Wonder if "kittens' ear cloth" is made of pussy-willows?
