CROSS SAVES DAY AT STATE CAPITAL

COUNTY DIVISION QUESTION BOBS UP AGAIN AND MEETS DEFEAT

BILL WITHDRAWN BY SPONSOR

Dimick and Schuebel Start Row Which Almost Causes Division of County

Clackamas county people came within an ace of losing a goodly chunk of territory at Salem Tuesday when the McFarland bill, taking Oswego and adjoining districts into Multnomah county, was brought forth from the archives and placed before a mighty mad House of Representatives. Thanks to Representative Harvey Cross, who made one of the most powerful and timely extemporaneous talks heard during the present session, the bill was definitely killed and laid away in cold storage early Wednesday morning.

The psychological time for the McFarland forces to present their bill, which had been placed on the table several weeks ago, came following the most bitter fight of the present assembly over the road bond issue. The fight centered around C. Schuebel who has vigorously opposed the paving corporations throughout the session. The battle began early Wednesday morning and lasted almost the entire day on the bond bill and during the afternoon Representative Bean of Lane and Representative Schuebel almost engaged in physical combat, following charges of graft and corruption on the part of the paving companies, by Mr. Schuebel. When matters were in wild tumult and the Bean and Multnomah forces were seeking for revenge against Mr. Schuebel the McFarland measure was brought out for passage. Members stated Wednesday that the measure would have carried by a big majority had not Mr. Cross risen to the occasion and saving the house back again to oppose the bill, in a witty and forceful talk that turned the tide.

"My election pledge," stated Mr. Cross, "was for an undivided Clackamas county. You are attempting to pass this bill out of spite and against Mr. Schuebel and Mr. Dimick and you must admit it. I say it is not right. I am under bonds to bring Schuebel and Dimick back alive, but I confess I may not be able to do it. I brought down a half a ton of ice to soothe their fevered brows at various times during the heat of the present session, but gentlemen, I must confess now that I am out of ice and when you fellows punish my constituents, you are at the same time beating me to a pulp."

"You can pass this measure if you feel you must do it—in the heat of passion and prejudice. Give me ten men in this House and I, too, can raise hell. What constructive work are you doing when you take this means to punish Chris and my friend Dimick? Ten or twelve men in this House can do bad things, as well as do good things. If you take this occasion, and I admit you have the upper hand right now—to punish us, let me tell you all right here and now that it may be your turn next."

"No two counties in the state should be more friendly than Multnomah and Clackamas. We send you our trade. We feed into Portland in every way imaginable, and you men from Multnomah county should be the first to realize that this relationship should continue—and will as long as you play the game square."

Mr. Cross talked nearly an hour and when he finished the crowd and galleries were with him to a man. McFarland withdrew his measure immediately, realizing that it would never do to try and cut old Clackamas in two at that particular time. Early Wednesday morning Mr. Cross insisted on a vote and the result was that the McFarland forces were laid on the shelf once and for all.

She had been a student at McMinnville college and at the Oregon Agricultural college previous to taking up the government work.

FARM BUREAU MEETS WILL AID FARMERS

MEETINGS PLANNED—EXPLAIN WORK OF COUNTY AGENTS AND LEADERS

At an executive meeting of the Clackamas County Farm Bureau held last week it was decided to hold a series of meetings in the communities about the county to explain the work of the county agent, home demonstration agent, and club leader. Already, three of these meetings have been arranged.

On Thursday, February 20, there will be a meeting held at Concord, with people from Oak Grove and Jennings Lodge attending. The meeting will be held in the school house at that place at 8 o'clock in the evening.

On Friday evening, February 21, at the meeting of the Carus Loyalty League, the county extension workers will explain their programs, and arrange for the agricultural and household economics work in that community for this year.

On Saturday, February 22, a meeting of the same sort has been arranged to be held at the Crescent school, at the meeting of the Loyalty League at that place.

OLD RESIDENT OF CARUS DISTRICT DIES IN WALES

William Davis, an old resident of the Carus district in this county, who had been visiting at his old home in Flintshire, Wales, for the last three years, died at that place January 22, according to word received here. Mr. Davis had been trying to get passage home recently, but was unable to do so because of the crowded condition of the boats. Bright's disease was the cause of his death. He was born in Flintshire, Wales, January 7, 1851, and came to this country in 1880, coming directly to Oregon and settling at Carus. He was one of the earliest settlers at that place, and had made his home there ever since. In 1916, wishing to visit his old home once more, he returned to Wales, and visited a brother living there.

Mr. Davis leaves his wife, who is at the St. Vincent's hospital at the present time; three sons, Richard, of Carus; William and John, who are in the service in France; and two daughters, Mrs. Annie Evans, and Mrs. Hannah Evans, of Pennsylvania. Mr. Davis had been a member of the Welsh Congregational church at Beaver Creek for many years.

WALTER KELLY DIES IN MARYLAND FRIDAY

Walter L. Kelly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. W. Kelly of this city, who had been stationed at Camp McHenry, Maryland, died at that place Friday evening of influenza, according to word received here Friday night by the parents. The young man was well known in this city, where he had lived all his life, until his enlistment May 30, 1918.

Although word was received Friday morning that he was critically ill, his death came as a great shock to his family and friends. He had been home on a furlough about a month ago, and expected his discharge in the spring.

Mr. Kelly was born in Oregon City October 10, 1895, and attended the public schools here. His company, a part of the 63rd Infantry, was ready to sail for France when the armistice was signed, and has been held in Maryland since that time. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. W. Kelly; two sisters, Mrs. L. G. Lee, and Mrs. Lloyd Bernier, all of Oregon City. Another sister, Mrs. Louis Barry, died in this city from influenza in November. The body will be shipped here for interment.

SUES TO QUIET TITLE; MANY INTERESTED PARTIES

To quiet title to land in Clackamas county, Mary Van Donge started suit Saturday against A. B. Baker. A note given to Martin Van Donge, late husband of the plaintiff, by B. J. Zerba and Estella Zerba, was secured by the property involved in the suit, and to clear up the claim, is the desire of the plaintiff. The note was for $2,800, and it is claimed that only $500 of the amount has been paid. T. J. Kayler and wife, A. K. Badger and Edwin L. Badger, also claim some interest in the property.

WIFE ARRESTS HUSBAND FOR ATTEMPTED VIOLENCE

Michael W. Korman was arrested Monday night on complaint of his wife, who alleges that he threatened to shoot her and the children. When brought before the judge, Korman acknowledged that he wrote a note to this effect, but did it in the heat of passion. Mrs. Korman is suing her husband for divorce, and the judge allowed Korman to leave the city with the promise that he would not show up here again or molest his wife further, which Korman promised to do. Korman is employed as a shipworker in Portland.

NATIONS' LEAGUE UP FOR DEBATE

RABBI JONAH WISE AND RICHARD MONTAGUE TO TALK ON PERTINENT QUESTION

SPEAKERS TO DEFEND LEAGUE

"Live Wires" Stand Sponsor for Discussion Tonight in Club Parlors

Some learned gentleman, if he be opposed to the League of Nations, which is occupying the center of the world stage at the present time, can work himself into a nice job tonight (Thursday), at the new Commercial Club parlors, by taking the negative of a big debate on the subject scheduled for that time.

A committee consisting of M. D. Latourette, W. A. Humley, O. D. Eby and A. A. Price, was appointed to arrange such an occasion when the matter of the League of Nations was brought up before the regular weekly meeting of the Live Wires Tuesday. A resolution favoring the League of Nations was presented at that meeting, and then the action was rescinded that the matter might be given a public hearing at which all citizens interested in the international pact, will be given an opportunity to study the arguments for and against the proposed league.

Rabbi Jonah B. Wise, of Portland, and Richard W. Montague, president of the state League to Enforce Peace, have been secured as speakers of the evening. Rabbi Wise is known throughout the northwest as an eloquent speaker. Both he and Mr. Montague have studied the work of the League closely, and are well qualified to defend it.

Louis Adams was appointed a committee of one to start the ball rolling for an enlarged payroll for Oregon City and was given authority to commandeer the assistance of any club member or the county agent, to bring about tangible results and get a tentative plan to going on this mighty important project. With characteristic "pep" Mr. Adams started work immediately.

In addition to the public meeting next Thursday night, the regular Live Wire luncheon will be held at 6:00 o'clock instead of Tuesday noon, the usual hour. The debate will follow the banquet.

John Humphrys of the Bank of Commerce, called attention particularly to two bills now before the legislature at Salem and a resolution was unanimously passed opposing the measures. They are Senate Bill No. 60 and House Bill No. 440, both relating to income tax and both adding an additional high tax to the present.

PHONE RATE HEARING TO BE HELD MONDAY

PACIFIC STATES CO. ASKS TO RAISE TOLLS; BOTH SIDES TO ARGUE

Are you interested in the matter of paying a higher rate for your telephone? If so, you had better attend the hearing to be held before the Public Service Commission of Oregon on Monday, February 24th, at 10:00 a. m., in room 252 court house, Portland, Oregon.

At this time and place the application of the Pacific States Telephone company to increase its rates is to be considered before the state commission and all interested parties will be given ample opportunity to be heard on the subject.

It is almost a cinch that those seeking the increase will be on hand at the appointed hour. Those who are not altogether in favor of paying a higher rate should likewise be on hand that their position in the matter may be made clear to the commission. The matter of local exchange rates only is to be considered, according to an official announcement of the commission.

ARMENIA'S FATE IS DEPENDENT ON U. S.

COUNTY DRIVE NEARS CLOSE; ONE-FOURTH OF QUOTA SECURED HERE

Poor, bleeding, ravished Armenia! The blackest picture of the great war still stands out in terrible gruesomeness—even though Peace has been declared and Freedom once more reigns the world over.

Armenia must not be forgotten—cannot be forgotten, in fact, for her millions have not yet recovered from the staggering deathblows dealt during the past three years. Armenia still is starving and unless big hearted Christian people come once more to her relief, that page of the war will still be blacker than ever before.

Clackamas county is rallying in splendid shape and one-fourth of its drive for $5,500 has already been raised, according to Chairman Prudden, who is superintending the work of securing tangible help for the Near East sufferers, in this county. Dr. Prudden, with the assistance of Raymond Caulfield, is confident that the drive will be cleaned up by Wednesday evening, if big plans now under way for a systematic canvass, are carried out.

The work of Chairman Prudden and his assistants, has attracted the attention of Ben Selling, Portland's well known philanthropist, who has written a letter of congratulation to the local committee for its early activities.

TAX SLACKERS WILL GET NO QUARTER

REVENUE DEPARTMENT WARNS ALL AS TO FILLING OUT RETURNS ON INCOME

BUREAU WILL GIVE ADVICE

No Relief or Compromise for Man Who Wilfully Neglects Report

The income tax dodger will find himself in a sorry plight this spring, if his fickleness to the Internal Revenue department can be shown in a clear and convincing manner. A new federal act, greatly increasing the penalty for all tax slackers and tax lagards, has just been passed recently and it behooves the man, whose financial condition brings him within the favored class, to get a jump on himself and seek out the internal revenue collector in the not far distant future.

As there are a large number of Clackamas county firms and individuals interested in the income tax procedure, the following interesting bulletin has just been sent to this county by Commissioner Daniel C. Roper, through the Portland Internal Revenue department. It is a piquant message for the man who would shun his duty to the government's financial department and is well worth reading. It follows:

"Any person who deliberately conceals tax liability, or who falsifies a return in order to evade or reduce any Internal Revenue tax, or who deliberately abets such concealment or fraud, finds arrayed against him the entire strength of this bureau pressing for the full civil and criminal penalties. This is the attitude toward the tax-dodger, expressed in one sentence. Whether he is a moonshiner, a stealthy trafficker in habit-forming drugs, or juggler of income figures, a delinquent in making the sworn return the law requires, or a revenue violator of any other kind, the bureau is charged with the duty of hunting him out and exacting the full punishment provided in the law.

"Toward the taxpayer who means to comply with the Internal Revenue laws, fully and honestly, the bureau extends a helping hand. Cooperation with the taxpayer is our watchword and objective.

"There are three distinct classes of delinquency with which we have to deal. First, the taxpayer who had reasonable cause, brought about by exceptional conditions beyond his control; secondly, the fellow who didn't look up or didn't realize his obligations; and thirdly, the person who wilfully evaded compliance with the law.

"As for the man who shows a reasonable cause within certain lines established by the bureau, no penalties are asserted. All other delinquents are more carefully investigated before prosecution is begun. Many of these offenses are caused by ignorance and negligence. Failure to make the reports required by law may in some cases warrant severe penalty, as where the delinquent continues his delinquency after being warned of the penalty for failure to make return. However, if the delinquent takes immediate corrective action, and it is clearly established through investigation that he did not wilfully violate the law, the bureau allows him to compromise his liability to specific penalty by tendering a nominal sum of money.

"But there is no relief, no compromise, for the man who wilfully evades, wilfully neglects, or wilfully falsifies. He is classed with other law-breakers, in the eyes of the bureau, and is vigorously prosecuted in the courts."

ONE BOOTLEGGER IN MONTH CAUGHT HERE

The first batch of bootlegging whiskey caught in this county for many days was captured late Saturday evening when Walter Bonasky and Bill Melmort were taken in charge by Sheriff Wilson at Coaleo with about 40 quarts in their possession. The men say they are from Aberdeen, Wash., and when captured, had the booze in suit cases. Several bottles of the stuff were broken when the officers nabbed them. A bundle of bedding, which the men carried, also contained some of the contraband liquor. When brought to this city Monday night, they were unable to furnish bail, and are now in the jail here awaiting a hearing.

WOMAN HOME AGENT STARTS COUNTY WORK

MISS MARIE ANTHONY, O. A. C. GRADUATE, TO AID WOMEN IN THIS COUNTY

Miss Marie Anthony, who is known as the County Agent for women, or officially as the Home Demonstration Agent, has taken up her duties in Clackamas county. Her office is in the Publicity building. Her work is along the lines of community health, sanitation, household economics, and conservation of food and clothing.

She believes that the work of the home-maker deserves to be studied as much as the work of the farmer who earns the money to maintain that home. She proposes to help the women of the county by providing a medium of exchange of ideas. She will be a publicity agent for the best things in housekeeping whether those best things come from this county or from some other state.

She has had a considerable experience in the business of food preparation, and with food values. The past summer she spent in Iowa in this same kind of work, though she is a graduate of O. A. C. and lives in Albany. She desires to be of service to all the women of the county, and with this idea in view, a series of meetings will be held in all parts of the county to explain the service which she can render, and to organize in order to carry on the work to the best advantage.

BOYS'-GIRLS' CLUB IN COUNTY BEING ORGANIZED

A feature of the work this year will be lessons in cooking for the girls. Each club is to have officers, and a club leader chosen from among the adults of the community. Entries are to be made by the members at the county and state fairs, and an achievement day is to be held throughout Clackamas county during the summer or fall.

T. Milliken, pastor of the local Baptist church, has appointed the following on the local drive committee: D. C. Latourette, chairman; J. E. Armstrong, Dr. O. A. Welsh, J. A. Calavan, C. O. Poland, Dr. Ross Eaton, and J. D. Renner. The meeting will be in charge of Harley Hallgren, of Portland, state director for Oregon.

MANY PEOPLE FROM HERE SEE RETURNING HEROES

Many people from this city attended the celebration in Portland Monday night in honor of the returning soldiers of the Coast Artillery. Several auto loads went from here, and the 4300 electric car for Portland, was packed with Oregon City citizens.

Mr. and Mrs. Rayl, of this city, have a son, John Rayl, who arrived with the 65th Monday evening. The returning hero has seen hard service in France during the past year, and has gone "Over the top" many times during the big fight. His parents, accompanied by many friends from here, greeted the young man as he stepped off the train in Portland Monday.

STATE COMMERCE CLUB DRIVE ON

NEW OREGON CHAMBER OF COMMERCE IS SEEKING MEMBERS HERE

L. ADAMS, COUNTY CHAIRMAN

Purpose of State-wide Organization Explained; Safeguards So All May Benefit

A Clackamas county membership drive for the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce is the latest thing in the drive line, and Louis Adams has been named as county chairman to prosecute the work of tagging members for a state-wide Chamber of Commerce in this locality. The drive has just been launched by John L. Etheridge, of Portland, state chairman of the membership committee. Mr. Adams has named the following assistants for ten districts of the county and the work will be carried on during the next few weeks. Every citizen, with the interests of Oregon at heart, will be asked to become a member. The local committeemen are:

W. H. Bair, Canby; Geo. Brown, New Era; W. A. Beck, Molalla; H. C. Stephens, Estacada; W. A. Proctor, Sandy; E. E. Brodie, Oregon City; Joe Thornton, Wilsonville; Philip Strieb, Milwaukie; W. W. Thompson, Oak Grove; and Thomas A. Burke, Gladstone.

The purpose of the state-wide organization is clearly set forth by Mr. Etheridge:

"The State Chamber of Commerce is laid out on the broadest lines. Its organization plan is so safeguarded that no one section of Oregon, not even the metropolis, can control it. Portland has a representation of only two members on the board of fifteen directors, the other thirteen members of the board residing out in the state.

"Eastern Oregon is represented by six directors, residing in different sections of that great region, the development of which contributes so heavily to the taxable wealth and commercial prosperity of the state. Seven directors reside in different parts of Western Oregon, including representation from the Rogue River Valley, the Coos Bay country, the port region at the mouth of the Columbia river and the East and West sides, as well as the Northern and Southern ends of the Willamette Valley.

"Such a representation precludes the possibility of the state organization being used selfishly to promote the interests of the metropolis or of any other one section as against the interests of any other section or of the state as a whole.

"Industrially, the diversified interests of the state are also represented. Livestock, agriculture, fruit, timber, manufacturing, merchandising and foreign commerce are all represented on the board.

"Such an organization can be made a gigantic power for the material progress of Oregon. Its work is needed. The success of its mission depends primarily upon the character, number and geographical distribution of its members."

SHERIFF RUNS OUT OF GAS; GETS HOME LATE

Sheriff Wilson was an angry man Tuesday morning. He started for Portland in his auto Tuesday night, about 5 o'clock, to see the returning soldier boys come in. He hadn't gone far when he discovered the machine needed "gas." After pushing the machine to the nearest garage and having the tank filled with the power-producing liquid, he merrily started on his way.

He arrived in Portland too late to see the parade, so decided to go to the theatre. On parking his machine, he opened the hood and took therefrom some part of the machinery so that an auto thief could not get away with the car.

When he came out of the theatre, he put back the removed part of the mechanism and stepped on the starter. But the car wouldn't start. As the sheriff said Tuesday morning: "I never knew there were so many mechanics on the streets of Portland before. Every man that came along had a different remedy to fix the 'boat.' When they were all through with it, it took the garage people about two hours to fix the car right." The sheriff arrived home very late, very much out of humor.

The bank is asking for settlement of the balance, and $150 as attorney's fees.
