UPPER HIGHLAND

The flowers are growing here and there
And a spirit of romance fills the air.
Couples strolling everywhere,
All the lads and lasses fair.

Oscar Effenberger and Miss Susie McVay, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Bim McVay and Mr. and Mrs. Will Effenberger, went to Portland last Monday to be married. After the marriage the newly-weds, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Effenberger, left for Nehalem to visit the bridegroom's parents and relatives. They returned to Highland Wednesday, February 19, and were gayly received by all of the people here.

Miss Hilda Chase visited her home in Portland during the week-end. Her brother has just arrived home from Seattle, where he was stationed in the navy.

Mr. Spoolock and Orville McVay went to town with a load of wood Monday afternoon.

Lloyd Schram spent Sunday evening with his parents.

Mrs. Meeker and Earl Meeker were Oregon City visitors last week.

The pupils of Upper Highland are steadily increasing in numbers. With the addition of Elsie Gordon there are now 27 pupils.

Friday afternoon was spent in cleaning the school grounds and disposing of valentines. The mid-term "exams" now being over, the boys and girls can sleep soundly without worry.

There will be Washington's birthday exercises Friday afternoon.

A birthday party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Wallace on Saturday night, February 15th, in honor of Mrs. Wallace's 27th birthday. The evening was spent in dancing and playing games. Supper was served at midnight. Everybody reported a good time.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. J. Wallace, "Grandpa" Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Bim McVay, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Rambo, Mr. and Mrs. A. Martin; Misses Annie and Elsie Baurer, Tillie and Esther Martin, Bell McVay, Helen Slovinsky, Christina Rambo, Esther and Rosalia Wallace, and Messrs. Fred and Harry Baurer, August, Willie and John Martin, Willie Washburn, Willie Schmidt, Henry and Charles Nelson, Bromo Slovinsky, Orvel McVay, Earl and Vernon Martin, Woodrow Rambo.

REFUSED TO OBEY OFFICERS; SENT TO REFORM SCHOOL

Refusing to obey the officers who tried to send him home when found on the streets of this city late at night, a boy by the name of Zaleski, was placed in jail Tuesday night. When taken before Deputy District Attorney T. A. Burke, Wednesday, he was committed to the reform school. The parents of the lad reported that they could do nothing with him. He had been in the Montana reform school, and was paroled. He was taken to Salem Wednesday afternoon.

SANDY GRANGE MEETS AND ELECTS OFFICERS

The Sandy Grange met Saturday and installed the following officers for the coming year: J. G. DeShazer, worthy master; Mrs. Ida Jael, over-seer; Delia Montague, lecturer; James Bell, secretary; A. J. Morrison, treasurer; Mrs. Chown, chaplain; Charles Updegrave, steward; Mrs. Margie Thomas, lady assistant steward; Will Bell, gatekeeper; Mrs. Wm. Updegrave, Ceres; Mrs. J. G. DeShazer, Pomona; Mrs. Perret, Flora.

Married

Marriage licenses were granted Tuesday by the county clerk to Emma Charlotte Benson, 26, and Bernard J. Berg, 30, both of Barlow; and to Bertha Williams, 38, and David N. Marsh, 47, of Milwaukie.

Public Is Warned Against Taking Substitutes For Nuxated Iron

Physicians Below Say That Ordinary Metallic Iron Preparations Cannot Possibly Give The Same STRENGTH, POWER AND ENDURANCE

As Organic Iron—Nuxated Iron

United States Judge Atkinson Gives Opinion

Careful investigation by physicians among druggists and patients has revealed the fact that there are thousands of people taking iron who do not distinguish between organic iron and metallic iron, and that such persons often fail to obtain the vital energy, strength and endurance which they seek, simply because they have taken the wrong form of iron.

Therefore, physicians mentioned below, advise those who feel the need of a strength and blood builder to go to their family doctors and obtain a prescription calling for organic iron—Nuxated Iron—not metallic iron or any other form of iron, but Nuxated Iron.

The remarkable results produced by Nuxated Iron and its widespread sale (it being estimated that over three million people annually are today using it), has led to the offering of numerous substitutes, and these physicians say that health officials and doctors everywhere should caution the public against accepting substitutes in medicines and they especially warn against accepting substitutes for Nuxated Iron, which, instead of being organic iron may be nothing more than a metallic iron compound which may in some cases produce more harm than good. The widespread publication of the above information, has been suggested by Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Quindor Dist.), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital; Dr. Ferdinand King, New York City Physician and Medical Author and others, so that the public may be informed on this subject and protected from the use of metallic iron under the delusion that it is Nuxated Iron or at least something as good as Nuxated Iron.

It is surprising how many people suffer from iron deficiency and do not know it. If you are not strong or well, you owe it to yourself to make the following tests: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength and see how much you have gained.

Stay These Executions

By DAVID HINSHAW

You average American citizen in your average American community imagine if you can, the possibility of a report similar to the following being made of your community at any time and under any conditions.

"Though much saddened, our workers are cutting off whom they must, and continuing with those selected, principally children. All are making winter plans and asking, pleading, for funds now to buy what will cost many times more later on. Can you not cable us that the promised appropriations are certain until the end of June 1919. Such action would double the value of the gift. We must not let go now."

The Committee for Relief in the Near East is doing its utmost to sustain these peoples. Poverty stricken, plague infested, war terrorized Near East, the cradle of the white man's civilization, is perishing. It is perishing because of the faith that is in it. Only the help of an aroused American generosity can prevent this.

It is hard at a distance of thousands of miles for Average American Citizens to grasp the need. Tolerant, Helpful, Kindly, Generous America would never permit relief workers to sign death warrants for thousands of persons, did it but realize the situation. That is exactly what happens when the workers in the Near East are forced from lack of funds to "cut off whom they must." More than 4,000,000 people are destitute, of this number 400,000 are orphans, orphans because they were innocently caught in the net of the great war.

These starving peoples live in the "fester" spot of Europe and Asia. America entered the war that autocracy might be crushed from the earth. We are forever bound to Europe because the blood of our sons is mingled with European soil. We must carry on in their names, we must carry on or their supreme sacrifice will have been in vain.

France, Belgium, Italy can all be helped by governmental aid, but the dying Christians of the Near East have no government through which governmental aid can be given them. The task is America's. Liberty, equality, freedom of speech, freedom of worship, all of these America has given to the world. Slowly the other nations of the world are accepting our ideals. Now we are challenged practically to advance the Brotherhood of Man as taught by the "Man of Sorrows" 1900 years ago. The people of His land by the faith He gave them ask for bread. What shall America give them?

TREASURED CROIX DE GUERRE IS AWARDED FALLEN HERO

A Croix de Guerre, awarded to the late Waldo Caulfield for bravery in action, has been received in this city by Mr. and Mrs. David Caulfield, parents of the late hero. Accompanying the medal was a note from Major Gowenlock, G. S., U. S. A., commanding officer of Caulfield's battalion, which said, "This medal symbolizes the sterling qualities and gallant actions of Sergeant Caulfield. He fell at his post of duty, serving his country's cause, which is the finest thing any one of us is privileged to do in this life."

Sergeant Caulfield was killed October 2, 1918. He was in command of the observation division of the Intelligence Service division of the army, and was stationed in the Argonne section at the time of his death.

NOTICE TO TOBACCO DEALERS: MUST SOON TAKE INVENTORY

The pending revenue bill will no doubt be passed before the middle of February. All dealers in cigars, tobacco and cigarettes must ascertain the date of the passage of the Act and inventory their stock before commencing business on the next day thereafter.

Arrangements have been made to have the inventory blanks in the hands of postmasters in most places and they may be obtained there. In case dealers do not receive an inventory blank in time, they should list their stock and write to Milton A. Miller, Collector Internal Revenue, Portland, Ore., for proper blank.

W. C. T. U. HEADQUARTERS HERE POPULAR PLACE

Many out of town visitors have been registering at the W. C. T. U. rest room in the Liberty Temple recently. Monday more than 30 visitors were noted, and among those from other cities were Mrs. C. H. Schilling and daughter, of Walla Walla, Wash.; Mrs. Ella Smith, Los Angeles, Cal.; Mrs. Helen Cronen, Hill City, South Dakota; Mrs. Effie Ames, Los Angeles; Mrs. L. Dugnette, San Diego, Cal.; Mrs. S. T. Ringe, Katherine and Truxton Ringe, Portland; Mrs. F. L. Newstrom and Wynone Newstrom Canby.

The W. C. T. U. held their weekly meeting Tuesday afternoon at their Liberty Temple headquarters.

TO ALL WOMEN WHO ARE ILL

This Woman Recommends
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Her Personal Experience.

McLean, Neb.—"I want to recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all women who suffer from any functional disturbance. As it has done me more good than all the doctor's medicine. Since I have a fine healthy baby girl and have gained in health and strength. My husband and I both praise your medicine to all suffering women."

—Mrs. JOHN KOPPELMANN, R. No. 1, McLean, Nebraska.

This famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, has been restoring women of America to health for more than forty years and it will well pay any woman who suffers from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, backache, headaches, nervousness or "the blues" to give this successful remedy a trial.

For special suggestions in regard to your ailment visit Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of its long experience is at your service.

Sign of Coincidence.

Some folk are plastered with gobs of hard luck, others have it suddenly thrust upon them, but to have it staring one in the face is enough to get anyone's "nanny." That is what happened to a joyrider on the outskirts of the city last evening. He was bowling along, with a heavy foot on the gas, when suddenly there was a loud report like that of a French 75 and the flivver came to a standstill. The chauffeur muttered something, then jumped out to learn which tire had blown out. Before he had done so there was a merry chuckle from the young woman seated in the automobile. She pointed a finger at a sign on the front of the building where they had come to a standstill. "Look, Billy," she called to him. The sign read, "William Hard-luck, carpenter." What Billy thought he said aloud and the maid held her ears so as to avoid registering his temperament.—New York Sun.

Elephant's Legs.

The legs of the elephant differ from those of the more familiar large animals in the fact that the ankle and the wrist—the so-called knee of the horse's foreleg—are not far above the sole of the hind foot and the forefoot—resembling man's joints in that respect—while the true knee-joint, called the "stifle" in horses, instead of being, as in horses, high up, close against the body, strongly flexed even when at rest, and obscured by the skin, is far below the body, free and obvious enough. In fact, the elephant keeps one thigh and the upper arm perpendicular, and in line with the lower segment of the limb when he is standing, so that the legs are pillarlike. But he bends the joints appreciably in quick movement. The hind legs seen in action, resemble, in the proportions of thigh, foreleg and foot, and the bending at the knee and ankle, very closely those of a man walking "on all fours."

COURT GRANTS WRIT OF REVIEW AGAINST SEIVERS

The Circuit court granted a petition for writ of review Thursday, that had been filed by the Oregon Hassam Paving company against John N. Seivers, justice of the peace in this city, on a decision handed down by the judge. The decision was in the case of G. Stauber, who sued the company for $200, alleged due him for the loss of a horse when he was working for the company. The horse fell over a bank near New Era, and was killed, and Stauber claimed payment for it.

OLDS SUES CARVER FOR BACK WAGES

Failure to pay wages due him is the claim of Ed Olds, of Oak Grove, who has brought suit here against Stephen Carver. Olds declares that he worked for Carver from May to August, 1918, and was to receive $200 monthly. He states further that he sold the defendant machinery to the value of $100.80. Of the total amount owed him, Olds claims that only $488.80 has been paid, and he is asking for the balance at six per cent interest.

TWO DIVORCES FILED WEDNESDAY WITH CLERK

Two divorces were filed with the county clerk Wednesday morning. Nina Hubbard asks divorce from her husband, Fred Hubbard, alleging in her complaint the charge of desertion. The couple was married at Portland, August 21, 1918. Lorena Craig asks divorce from her husband, Elmer Craig, charging desertion. They were married February 8, 1912, at Portland.

RANDOLPH GETS JUDGMENT MONDAY IN SUM OF $875

Judgment on a note and mortgage for $875 was granted E. W. Randolph Monday against E. E. Temple. The note was given October 19, 1915, and was to bear 8 per cent interest. It was secured by some property in Clackamas county, which was ordered sold to satisfy the claim. Besides the amount of the note granted, $31.77 was allowed the plaintiff as interest, and $75 as attorney's fees.

Married

Marriage licenses were granted Saturday to Gertrude Wesenberg, 19, of this county, and Gustaf R. Robertson, 30, of Portland; and to Florence Yoder, 25, of Molalla, and Ernest Gus Guddat, 27, of Portland.

$125,000 TIMBER DEAL IS RECORDED SATURDAY

A land and timber deal, involving 70,974,000 feet of timber, was filed with the county recorder Saturday. Charles A. Sands and Mary B. Sands, of Berkeley, Cal., transferred the timber, which is in the Clear Creek district, to Stephen Carver, who in turn disposed of it to the Roberts Lumber company. The lumber company will also purchase the land. The price is to be $125,000 and $25,000 interest.

MRS. BENDER WANTS INFORMATION FROM HERE

A letter asking for information in regard to the former employers of Leo M. Seese, who worked in or near this city in 1914 or 1915, has been received in this city from Mrs. Mabel F. Bender, 435 East 14th Street, Chicago, a sister of Seese. The young man was killed in action in France, October 25, 1918, and Mrs. Bender is anxious to obtain information in regard to his former position here.

Brodie Goes East

E. E. Brodie left Saturday evening for the East, where he goes to attend a meeting of the executive committee of the National Editorial Association. Mr. Brodie was instrumental last summer in securing the next meeting of the national association from Oregon as a representative of the Oregon Editorial Association. Mr. Brodie expects to be gone about three weeks.

"Somewhere in France"

Arthur Guy Empey
Author of "OVER THE TOP"

The first two Canadians struck out. The third man up got his base on a passed third strike. My error.

Then our substitute first baseman pulled a stunt which turned the tables on the Canadians and we were somewhat appeased.

The Canadian runner was laying a few feet off first base. Suddenly our first baseman shouted to him, "Look out, here comes a shell; duck low!" The Canadian dropped to the ground. Stewart instantly sized up the situation and tossed the ball to the first baseman, who touched the baserunner and three were out. We had got our own back. Stewart and I could have both kissed that rube first baseman of ours. Right then and there we put him in a class with Hal Chase.

Up to the fourth inning neither side scored. Stewart was pitching in fine form. The Canadians just couldn't connect with his delivery. All they were doing was fanning the air. The Canadian rooters commenced to get frightened because they saw their money disappearing into the Tommies' pockets. They had the greatest contempt for the rest of the team, myself included, but realized that if Stewart did not weaken it would be a case of their going back to billets broke.

Then old Mr. Jinx butted in again, and it happened.

In the British army there is an order to the effect that gas helmets must be carried at all times, even while sleeping. To disobey this order is a serious offense, and means immediate confinement. These gas helmets are in a canvas bag and are slung around the left shoulder by means of a canvas strap.

In pitching, Stewart's gas helmet bothered him greatly, and after the second inning he took it off. I warned him to be careful, because I noticed several military police in the crowd. But Stewart would not listen. He always was pig-headed.

One of the Canadian rooters spotted that Stewart had laid aside his helmet, and artfully communicated this fact to the rest of his team's rooters. I noticed the rooters crowd around him for three or four minutes, and then a great laugh went up and they stretched out along the foul lines.

Suddenly, one fellow, getting out in front of the bunch, like a cheer leader, counted, "One, two, three." Then up went a mighty chorus of "Hey, Stewart, where's your gas helmet, where's your old gas bag, where's your old gas bag?" They kept this up and it got Stewart's goat. I went out into the pitcher's box and warned him to put on his gas helmet, but still pig-headed, he refused to do so. He was in an awful state.

A sergeant of the military police was watching the game, and hearing the cries of the rooters he walked out on the diamond and asked Stewart where his helmet was. By this time Stewart had completely lost his temper and answered with a sneer: "Where do you think it is? I sent it home for a souvenir." The sergeant explained to him that it was against army orders to be without a gas helmet, and that he had better put it on. Stewart would not listen to him, and answered: "Well, if

He Was in an Awful Temper.

It's against orders, get them resented." The sergeant immediately put him under arrest and marched him off to the diamond.

Our hopes were dashed; I could see the game going west. We had no other good pitcher to put in.

Upon seeing Stewart's arrest, the Canadian rooters kept up their gleeful shouting. We were sure up against it. Here was the situation. It was the last half of the fourth inning, and two were out. If, by luck, we managed to get the third Canadian out, it would be an easy matter for them to retire us in the next inning because our weakest batting order was up. Then, the Canadians would come to bat and slaughter would commence.

I was in despair. Stewart must have realized that the game was hopeless unless it could be finished in this inning, because he passed me he whispered, "Watch out for gas; I'll make them hunt for their gas helmets. I'll be a long time before that bunch of 'maple leaves' forget this game. Now, get wise. Delay the game as much as possible while getting a dub to pitch in my place. Then watch for happenings. Get me? Are you wise?"

I didn't "get him," nor was I "wise," but I answered in the affirmative. I followed his instructions, while out of the corner of my eye I watched him on his way to the company billet.

He called a man named Stein, a member of our company, who thought no more of losing a franc than he did of having his right arm shot off. Stein went over to Stewart, who whistled

KNOCKS OUT PAIN THE FIRST ROUND

Comforting relief from pain makes Sloan's the World's Liniment

This famous reliever of rheumatic aches, soreness, stiffness, painful sprains, neuralgic pains, and most other external twinges that humanity suffers from, enjoys its great sales because it practically never fails to bring speedy, comforting relief.

Always ready for use, it takes little to penetrate without rubbing and produce results. Clean, refreshing. At all drug stores. A large bottle means economy.

to him and passed him something. What struck me as strange was the fact that Stein, who had fifteen francs on the game, instead of coming back to watch the game, disappeared behind the billet, while Stewart was marched off to "clink."

The rooters were getting impatient, so I put a big Welshman in to pitch. I told the umpire that according to the rules a pitcher being put in "cold" was allowed four balls over the plate to warm up. The umpire agreed to this. I whispered to the Welshman, "Get out in that box and take your time, delaying the game as much as possible between each pitch. Now, you are allowed four balls over the plate in which to warm up. Slam 'em into me, but if you put one of them over, our goose is cooked."

The Welshman was mystified, but followed my instructions to the letter. He threw four balls which nearly broke my back to get. Then the umpire held up his hand and called, "Play ball!" I immediately went over to him and explained that these four balls had not gone over the plate. He fell for this and agreed with me. After that rube of a pitcher had thrown about fifteen or sixteen balls, several passing me, which I chased to the billet to waste time, the umpire got impatient and the rooters were yelling like mad to carry on. I still insisted that none of the balls had gone over the plate, and the umpire was in a quandary. Just then one of our men passed in the rear of me and whispered: "Stewart says to go on with the game." Wondering at this information, I started in.

The pitching of that Welshman was awful. He hit the first two men up and walked the third. I was in despair, bases full and two out. Some of the Canadian rooters were jumping up and down, throwing their hats in the air, and one fellow was whistling "The Star-Spangled Banner." This got my goat completely.

Near every billet hangs a gas gong. This is a triangular piece of steel or an empty shell case. Beside this gong hangs an iron striker. Upon the sounding of the alarm, by striking on the gong with the striker, every man is supposed to put on his gas helmet and repair immediately to his proper station. These gongs are to warn soldiers that German poison gas is coming over.

While I was signaling to my rube pitcher and beseeching him to put one over, the clanging of the gas gong rang out. I dropped my glove, got off my chest protector, and madly rushed for my helmet and soon had it on, the rooters and players doing the same. Then I got wise. I remembered Stewart's instructions: "Watch out for gas. I'll make 'em hunt for their gas helmets." The nerve and daring of his scheme took my breath away. The Canadians had a mile to go to get to their stations, and believe me, it is no fun double-timing for a mile while a gas helmet is choking you with its chemical fumes.

Well, those Canadians beat it, and so did we, but the game was saved and all bets were off.

I nearly smothered with laughter in my gas helmet. To the rest, not being "in the know," it was a genuine alarm. Shortly after the stampede it was discovered that the alarm was false, and a rigid investigation immediately took place. But the Canadians had left and our money was safe. It certainly would have gone hard with the culprit had he been caught. As it was, our battalion got two weeks as extra fatigue on working and digging parties.

Afterward, I was let into the secret. Stewart had given Stein ten francs to sound the gas alarm, which, with his fifteen francs bet on the game, Stein did not have it in his heart to refuse.

Many a time, Stewart, Stein and myself had a quiet little laugh when we pictured the Canadians stampeding for their billets.

Then orders were received to take over a new sector of the line, and baseball was forgotten. The work in front of us was to be of the grimiest nature. "Over the top," that was what it was, and Stein was wounded. I was also slightly wounded.

Thus ended the career of the Fusilier Giants on the western front.

LOYALTY LEAGUE MEETS SATURDAY IN THIS CITY

Deciding to continue the work of the American Loyalty League through the coming year, the League met Saturday at the court house and outlined plans for work. The attendance at the meeting, over which Judge H. S. Anderson presided, was good. The next meeting will be held the second Saturday in March.

Married

Lucy Wells, 49, and Levi Herrin, 48, both of this city, were granted a license to wed Friday at the county clerk's office.

No other paper in Clackamas county publishes as much Clackamas county news as The Courier.
