

STRIKE OF SHIPYARD WORKERS NOT CALLED

PORTLAND, Oct. 1.—Late last night word was flashed from the east that the shipping board had reversed its decision and would permit the operators to pay the men 8 cents an hour and give them a 44 hour week, as provided in the agreement of August 15.

This message came from James O'Connell, president of the metal trades section of the American Federation of Labor. His instructions were that the men were to continue working where the new scale was granted, but that a walkout is to take place where the scale is not paid.

As the local yards signed the agreement a month ago, no trouble is expected now.

Although most of the shipyards of the Columbia river district were working as usual today, having taken cognizance of published reports of the temporary adjustment of pending strike troubles, official word was lacking in most instances.

The situation took a new turn at 10 o'clock when the Metal Trades council began ordering out workmen engaged in machine shops about the city whose operators had failed to sign the agreement giving the men an increase of eight cents an hour and a 44 hour week.

It was stated at headquarters of the metal workers that 5000 men would be on strike by noon. Among the shops affected are the Hesse Martin Iron works, where 35 men left work; the Smith & Watson company, the Portland Iron works, Heiler Bros., Overmire & McDougall and a number of smaller shops.

Officers of the metal trades unions assert that all the ship yard workers will be called out in sympathy within five or six days, if the shops at present affected do not sign the agreement. The shipyards, it was asserted, secure considerable material from the machine shops about the city and the shipyards will not be allowed to work on this.

YOUTHFUL PAIR ARE PICKED UP BY SHERIFF AFTER DAY OF THEFT

Shortly after eight o'clock Friday evening the sheriff's office received a call from George Ingram, who resides near Carus, that he had apprehended two small boys in the act of stealing his automobile and was holding them. Sheriff Wilson and Deputy Sheriff Hughes went out and brought the youngsters in and at a late hour Friday night reported that they had been unable to locate their parents in an effort to notify them of the whereabouts of the boys.

The elder of the two boys, George Kline, was but eleven years old, and his partner in crime was a year younger. When questioned at the Sheriff's office they stated that they left Sellwood Friday morning about noon and begged a ride to this city from a truck driver. Arriving here they loitered about the streets until about four o'clock in the afternoon, when they appropriated the horse and buggy of Mrs. Worthington, of Central Point, who had tied her horse on Center street while she did some shopping. The boys then drove out toward Carus and while proceeding along the road saw the auto of George Ingram standing alongside the road with the engine idling. The elder of the boys got into the machine and started off with it. Mr. Ingram heard the noise of the engine and came out of the woods in time to catch up with it and stop the pair. He took the two boys and the horse in tow and arriving at his home notified Sheriff Wilson.

The boys stated that they meant no harm in taking the two rigs and that they were only trying to get to Molalla. From the frequency with which the Sheriff's office is picking up young adventurers during the first days of school it is evident that Molalla, their general objective, has been pointed out to them in school as a most desirable place to get to.

Mrs. Harry Jones and young son, Jack, who have been at Newport, where they have been occupying a cottage, and also visiting Mr. Jones at Salem, returned to Oregon City Saturday morning. Mrs. Jones and son will go to Salem as soon as they are able to find a suitable location, desirable houses being in such a demand in the capital city that Mr. and Mrs. Jones have not been fortunate in securing one. Mr. Jones has been awarded the contract of erecting the large new paper mill.

Bonds and Taxes

Clackamas county is nearly ready to proceed with an election calling for the issuance of bonds to the amount of $1,700,000 for the construction of 145 miles of hard surfaced roads and the building of a new bridge across the Willamette river at Oregon City. The farmers from nearly every section, by a vote of 124 to 13, stoutly affirmed their preference for a bond issue, rather than a millage tax, in the belief that the roads would be ready for travel earlier under the bonding plan. This conception is undoubtedly true, and if the bonds are voted, it will be up to the county court to arrange its machinery so that the pavement can be laid as fast as the grades are prepared by the districts, and should the paving plants of the county be insufficient to do the job, then the court must expect to contract for the excess.

The people who have demanded bonds in preference to increased taxes are not in a mood to brook delay over the construction of roads. When they said they wanted bonds and not a millage tax, they meant they wanted their roads now, or as soon as the roads can be constructed. Under the terms of the bonding act, the people of each road district through which the roads are to go must first prepare the base, levying special taxes for that purpose. It would appear, therefore, that if the bonds are voted, the next step will be for the people in the districts to meet and vote 10-mill levies to care for the construction of the foundation and prepare the roads for pavement. This will be possible under the new plan for the abolishment of the 57 road districts of the county and the substitution of 11 districts, 10 of which are to run tributary and practically parallel to the highways designated under the terms of the bonding act.

BIG DAIRY FARM IS SOLD DURING WEEK AT GOOD CONSIDERATION

Among the important land deals closed in Clackamas county the latter part of last week was the dairy farm of Mr. and Mrs. C. Naegli, of Mount Pleasant, one of the best dairy farms in the county. The purchaser of the farm was a Mr. Busch, who recently arrived from the east. The price for the farm was $18,000. This includes some of the dairy cattle, grain, hay and the silo filled with silage. The barn is one of the most modern dairy barns of that section of the county.

Mr. and Mrs. Naegli have resided in Clackamas county for 14 years, having followed the dairying industry since taking up their residence here. After spending a few weeks at Hot Springs, Mr. Naegli will leave for Switzerland, his native country, where he will visit his parents and other relatives, expecting to return to the United States. Mrs. Naegli, who is at present visiting in Portland, will accompany her husband to Switzerland.

Another dairyman of Mount Pleasant, recently giving up that industry, is E. Frey, who has accepted a position in Portland, and leased his farm. He has disposed of his dairy herd. Mrs. Frey and family will go to Portland as soon as a desirable residence can be secured.

There have been more changes in land owners in Clackamas county during the past two months than at any time in the history of the county, and many newcomers to the state have visited Clackamas county recently with the view of taking up their home here in the near future.

PRESIDENT ILL; REST OF TRIP IS CANCELLED

WICHITA, Kan., Sept. 28.—President Wilson today canceled the remainder of his tour under orders from Admiral Cary T. Grayson, the president's physician, and will return to Washington direct from Wichita. Admiral Grayson gave illness and physical exhaustion as the reason for his action.

Although it was said there was nothing critical about the president's condition, Dr. Grayson, his physician, declared a nervous reaction affecting his digestive organs made suspension of his trip imperative.

Secretary Tumulty issued the following statement:

"The president has exerted himself so constantly and has been under such a strain during the last year and has so spent himself without reserve on this trip that it has brought on a nervous reaction in his digestive organs. Dr. Grayson, therefore, insists upon the cancellation of his remaining appointments and his immediate return to Washington, notwithstanding the president's earnest desire to complete his engagement."

Wilson was ill most of last night and the decision to return at once to the capital was reached just before his train arrived in Wichita. The president himself wanted to continue his speaking program but Dr. Grayson would not permit it.

G. Stoller of Needy has disposed of his farm in the Isaac Wheeloid D. L. C. consisting of 41.25 acres to Frank Stupfel of Mt. Angel.

SPEED PROGRAM AT COUNTY FAIR DRAWS WINNERS

Ed Fortune, who has charge of the racing program at the Clackamas county fair at Canby next month, reports the track in excellent condition and awaiting the advent of the speed events which he declares will exceed anything which has ever been run during any year since the fair was started.

Mr. Fortune has but recently returned from Salem where he has been lining up the racing material participating in the events there, and stated Thursday afternoon that he has secured practically the entire string of the stables there, and that the entire capacity of the Canby stables will be required to house the horses which will be sent down from Salem at the close of the State fair. Mr. Fortune is also arranging for the racing program at the approaching fair in Vancouver, Wash., and has been an exceedingly busy individual during the past few days.

Mr. Fortune reports further that the landing field for airplanes which has been prepared in the enclosure of the race track is all finished and that occupants of the grandstand will be able to enjoy a clear and unobstructed view of the many stunts which will be performed by the fliers who have been engaged to perform during the different days of the fair.

Speaking of the State fair, Mr. Fortune declared that the judges made no mistake in their selection of Clackamas county as deserving of first honors, but that credit is no more due to the products which went into the display arrangement of the booth than to Miss Anthony, Mr. Cook and Mr. Long, whose efforts and work in arranging the display made possible the showing of the products of the county to the best advantage. "A point that made a big hit with the many hundreds of fair visitors who enjoyed the Clackamas county display," said Mr. Fortune, "was the manner in which its representatives welcomed the visitors. All questions were cheerfully answered and every patron was sent away with a 'don't forget the number' and a 'call again' salutation which made a decided hit with the fair crowd."

County Superintendent of Schools J. E. Calavan and Mr. Vedder have done great work with the juvenile department display for the county school exhibit and are deserving of a great degree of praise, according to Mr. Fortune, for the manner in which they have done their work and in which they have boosted their county to all visitors.

Announcement of the opening of the hard surfaced roadway between Portland and Oregon City in ample time for the opening day of the Clackamas county fair gives visitors from Portland and intermediate and tributary points assurance that they will be able to enjoy the finest kind of automobile riding directly to the gates of the fair grounds and this fact in all probability will tend to materially swell the daily attendance. Considerable agitation has been observed during the past several days in the different sections of Oregon City in favor of closing all places of business on Oregon City day at the fair, which is Thursday, October 2, and a number of firms have intimated a willingness to observe a holiday provided all business houses do likewise.

Clackamas county's fair gives every promise of being a winner and preparations are being made to handle a record-breaking crowd.

GARY SAY STEEL MEN TESTIMONY ENTIRELY FALSE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Charges made that steel workers had been ill treated were declared to be "without a vestige of truth" and "based on misinformation" and "absolutely without foundation," Judge Gary, chairman of the board of directors of the United States Steel corporation, declared today before the senate committee investigating the steel strike.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Flat refusal to deal with union labor was made to the senate labor committee today by Judge E. H. Gary, head of the United States Steel corporation. In the face of repeated questioning the industrial leader stood without budging on his contention that to deal with union leaders would result in the closed shop a thing which he declared would be "inimical" to the country and prevent industrial prosperity.

QUARTET OF YOUNG RUNAWAYS CAUGHT BY SHERIFF WILSON

Acting on advices from Portland Sheriff Wilson and Deputy Sheriff Hughes late Thursday evening apprehended four juvenile runaways from that city and turned them over to their parents, who arrived in Oregon City about eleven o'clock to take them home.

Visions of a life of untrammelled freedom in the wilds of Oregon for the two boys of the quartet, and a series of unbroken triumphs on the screen for the two girls, were rudely shattered after two nights spent in the open, and empty stomachs further added to their non-resistance when they were picked up by the sheriff's party.

The young girls, Gladys Wyatt, 15, and Jessie Day, 13, had trimmed their hair off short and donned gingham dresses to camouflage their identity, and the boys, Malcolm Weld, 15, and Lester DeFord, 14, were reported by their parents to the police department in Portland Wednesday afternoon as having run away from school, and the warning was sent out which resulted in their capture by the Clackamas county officials Thursday evening.

Two other youngsters, Rose Douglas, 13, and Warren Douglas, 13, started out with the party from Portland but one night of the free-and-easy was enough for them and they left the party and returned to Portland and something to eat.

The quartet took the electric train from Portland to this city, and according to their story were headed for Molalla and wilds of Oregon to hide until they were given up for lost. Their most evident worry when they were brought to the sheriff's office to await the arrival of their parents was the "guying" they would receive at the hands of their school friends when they were returned to their homes.

Withal, they apparently had had enough of the great outdoors, sans food and money, and were ready to welcome their parents and the chastisement and disgrace which awaited them for the satisfaction of their material discomfort. The girls appeared to feel the apparent disgrace awaiting them more keenly than did the boys, as they were freer with threats of another attempt to make a getaway than were the boys.

OREGON GOVERNOR IS GIVEN AUTHORITY TO ASK TROOPS IN STRIKE

SALEM, Sept. 30.—What is taken as indicative of the policy that will be followed by the government in the future in the handling of domestic disturbances is contained in a telegram received last night by Governor Olcott from Newton D. Baker, secretary of war.

The governor is authorized to ask General Liggett, commander of the Western department, for the use of federal troops in the event of troubles within the state.

While no reason is apparent for the telegram at this time, it is believed the federal government is taking every possible precaution to forestall disorder. Without the authority of the Secretary's telegram received last night it would be necessary in the event of an emergency for the governor first to apply to Secretary Baker for military aid.

John T. Whalley, who has owned a 150 acre grazing ranch near Needy for the past several seasons, was in Oregon City Monday for the purpose of filing papers of sale with the County Recorder. He recently disposed of his ranch to A. F. Willis of Dallas, who takes possession at once.

SPECIAL DRIER MADE BY CLACKAMAS COUNTY FARMER IS SUCCESS

Clackamas county farmers in all sections are busily engaged in harvesting their apples, since the grain has been threshed and stored away in the granaries and barns for the winter or after being disposed of. The apple crop this year is the largest experienced for years, and in every section trees are laden to the ground with ripening fruit. There is a good demand for apples that are in good condition and will stand shipping. Among the farms of Clackamas county that shows interest and energy taken on the part of the owner is that of Arthur Douglas, who resides two miles from Molalla. With trees laden with fruit, Mr. Douglas has hit upon a plan to save much of the fruit as there is no market at the present time. He has built a drier with which he is drying fruit for his own use and also for disposal if he desires at a later date. Apples, cherries, peaches and plums are among the varieties of fruit that have been placed in the drier and the result compares favorably with the product of the higher priced driers.

Mr. Douglas has also tried drying vegetables, among them being corn. He has a process by which he cooks the corn for a brief time while on the cob, and then removes it and places it in the drier. It has been found most successful, and he is now planning to try some of the other fruits he has never attempted to dry before. These will be grapes and other varieties.

About everything in the fruit line can be found on the Douglas farm, and A. J. Bockhold, a reality dealer of this city, says it is surprising what the West can produce on a small farm like this. Apples measuring 18 inches in circumference were found on this farm in large numbers, and some of these were brought to Oregon City to be placed on exhibition, but some Portland visitors being captivated with the handsome fruit, helped themselves and took them to the Rose City to show the people there that Oregon City and vicinity can raise apples if Portland can raise roses, so Mr. Bockhold is planning on taking another trip to the Clackamas farm to bring in more 18-inch apples.

SUCCESSFUL WHEAT RANCHER AND BRIDE ON HONEYMOON TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Hansell arrived in Parkplace Wednesday evening, where they are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Purcell, and are also visiting D. H. Purcell, of that place. Mr. and Mrs. Hansell are on their way home to Lewiston, Idaho, where the former is engaged in farming, owning a portion of 1600 acres. Mr. Hansell, with other young men, have leased a tract of land consisting of 2200 acres. Their crop this year was 12,000 bushels of wheat.

Mrs. Hansell, who was formerly Miss Flossie Hyton, of Grants Pass, was married to Mr. Hansell at Grants Pass last Sunday, and they are making the trip home by automobile. Mr. Hansell is just completing a tour of 2,000 miles by automobile. They will leave for their home this evening.

CONTROVERSY ON ROAD ROUTES SUBJECT OF MEET

Controversy over the designation of a road to be paved under the proposed bonding act in Eastern Clackamas county has reached an acute stage and Tuesday night, following a protest of J. C. Elliott and other citizens of the Damascus district, the chairman of the bond committee, M. D. Latourrette, determined to call a meeting of the general committee of 30 for the purpose of finally settling the matter. This meeting will be held within a few days upon a date to be set by Mr. Latourrette. The road from Damascus to the Multnomah county line connecting the Foster road was designated for improvement under the bonding act, but last week at a meeting of the committee the road was eliminated from the map at the suggestion of Boring citizens and a road from Boring to the Multnomah county line substituted. The only other matter to be considered at the meeting to be called is the organization of the new road district, so that in each road district a central meeting place be established.

At a conference of the sub-committee held Tuesday night it was determined to designate for improvement the Boone's ferry road, the Lake Grove road and the Bryant road, beginning at the Multnomah county line. This distance of two miles will be covered by deducting $11,000 from the Willamette river bridge fund and in the saving of one mile by the alteration of the Wilsonville-Stafford road along the route designated at a meeting of the committee of 30 last week.

The county court has indicated its willingness to assist in having the Macksburg-Liberal-Marquam road designated as a post road, and will use its influence to that end. Part of this road was originally marked for improvement under the bonding act but was later eliminated.

In the judging contest of children Clackamas county won fourth place in the juvenile department.

In the Ladies' Textile department in the main pavilion, Mrs. J. Askew won a number of prizes on her needlework, and among these were first on sofa pillow, $5; second on gown, 75 cents.

11 ROAD DISTRICTS FORMED IN COUNTY

No longer will Clackamas county be burdened with the task of wrestling with the problems of 57 road districts, for at the September meeting of the county court every one of these districts has been wiped out, and 11 districts substituted, 10 of them conforming in a general way to the roads proposed to be improved under the bonding act to be voted upon in this county this Fall. In redistricting the county, the court followed the instructions of the mass meeting of farmers held here last week, when, by a unanimous vote the court was requested to change the boundaries of the districts to conform with the bond road map and to make the number of districts conform to the bonding plan.

The definite geographical lines of the districts have not been announced but in a general way they conform to the following boundaries, and exclude all incorporated cities and towns, which, under the state law, are separate road districts:

- No. 1—Combines districts Nos. 1, 47 and 38, all north of the Clackamas and East of the Willamette, with a valuation of $3,646,000, the largest of any district in the county. Practically all of the main roads in this district have been hardsurfaced and the district will not have roads coming under the bonding act.
- No. 2—All of the territory in the county west of the Willamette river, with a valuation of $2,560,000.
- No. 3—Embraces the entire north boundary of the county east of the Willamette except that comprised in District No. 1, and taking in about half of the territory north of the Clackamas. Valuation $3,650,000.
- No. 4—Includes all territory lying south of District No. 3 to the Clackamas river, with a valuation of $1,900,000.
- No. 5—Bounded on the north by the Clackamas river, and including the territory tributary to the Logan and Springfield road. Valuation $1,400,000.
- No. 6—Includes the territory tributary to the Redland road from the pavement between Oregon City and Parkplace to a point near Viola. Valuation $800,000.
- No. 7—Comprises the Highland road from Oregon City eastward to beyond Clarks. Valuation $1,231,000.
- No. 8—Combines the districts of Carus, Central Point, McCord Hill and Kelland Hill. Valuation $1,010,000.
- No. 9—Extends from the limits of Oregon City south to Carus and west to the Willamette river and south to New Era, and combines the districts of Molalla, Dickey Prairie, Colton and Willhoit and connects with the Pacific Highway at the O'Neil turn south of New Era. This district has the largest area of any in the county, with a population of $3,500,000.
- No. 10—Connects with the Pacific Highway at Canby, running south to Marquam and Scotts Mills. Valuation $1,310,000.
- No. 11—Connects with the Pacific Highway at Barlow and extends south to Monitor, with a valuation of $1,310,000.

GYMNASIUM BONDS WIN ELECTION

The taxpayers of the Oregon City school district, at a special election Friday, authorized the expenditure of $35,000 for the construction and equipment of a gymnasium and manual training building. Bonds for that amount were authorized by a vote of 144 to 141, and only a narrow margin of three votes saved the proposal from defeat. There were three blank ballots in the box when the count was made by Frank Moore Mrs. Della Green and Mrs. M. P. Chapman, judges, and E. H. Cooper, clerk.

Not in several years has a school election excited so much interest. The total vote of 288 was the heaviest ever cast at an election for the issuance of school bonds. Opponents of the measure were out early, and voted heavily, but after school closed, the students rounded up their friends and saved the day.

Steps will be taken at once to sell the bonds and arrange for the construction of the building, which will be located on the high school block, south of the main building. The new structure will be of brick and will provide accommodation for a well equipped and commodious gymnasium and for a manual training department. The present portable building, now used for a manual training room, will be taken down and moved to either the Eastham or Barclay grounds to take care of overflow pupils in the grades.
